

OUTROTES POTRERO NEEDS

Laurel Hall Is Filled With Citizens Who Are Anxious for Better Conditions

DISTRICT IS GROWING

Residents, Wishing to Keep Abreast of the Advance, Petition the Supervisors

Every seat in Laurel Hall, 1180 Kentucky street, was filled last night in response to a call from the promoters of the fight for better conditions in the Potrero district. Not only were the property owners and those interested in the welfare of this section of the city present in large number, but also many teachers and laboring men whose welfare lies in this manufacturing section of the growing district.

After the following summary will give an idea of what the improvement club seeks to accomplish:

Better school accommodation for the 500 children of school age who are deprived of their studies, condemnation and closing of the Potrero channel, five feet on each side of Kentucky street and raising the grade from Fourth street to Mariposa; better system of sewerage for East Potrero; extension of street from East Potrero to Townsend to the Potrero; better emergency hospital service, as one adequate to meet the requirements of laboring men who may need surgical attention during the night time.

In advocating all of these measures President Frank J. Weise of the club, Gwan Graham, H. B. Davidson, John Davani, R. Rasmussen, W. Simmons and other prominent club members made an address to the assembly.

It was shown by actual figures that there are over 1000 children of school age, with only one school building capable of accommodating about 300 pupils. With the thousands of working people employed in the Potrero, the increasing number of manufacturing plants, and the coming increase in virtue of new railroads and repair shops, Southern Heights will be the coming center of manufacturing in this city.

The closing of Mission Creek and the removal of the Potrero channel works are among the first steps to bring the business section in closer touch with the new Potrero.

A petition asking for the desired improvements was read among the assembled citizens. It will be presented to the Board of Supervisors and also the Board of Public Works in the near future.

WOMAN IS WANTED ON CHARGE OF FORGERY
Warrant Is Obtained for the Arrest of Mrs. C. E. Anderson.

H. G. Wolfe of Wolfe & Hawley, 192 Kearny street, obtained a warrant from Police Judge Shortall yesterday for the arrest of Mrs. C. E. Anderson on a charge of forgery. It is alleged that she purchased some shirt waists from a firm in Los Angeles, and in payment made a check for $15 on the Donohoe Kelly Banking Company, bearing the forged signature of William P. Levy, a business man of this city.

Dwellings Damaged by Fire.
A small dwelling-house at 601 1/2 Point Lobos avenue, occupied by Samuel H. Leavitt, was damaged by fire yesterday forenoon. The blaze originated from a defective fuse and before the fire department got his lines on the building the roof had completely destroyed. The damage amounts to about $600, which is fully covered by insurance.

JAPANESE WOMAN DEPORTED.—Sai Tsuya, alias Mrs. S. M. ... was deported yesterday by United States Immigration Commissioner Hart H. North. It was shown that she was an immoral woman.

GRAPE-NUTS.
A Rhythmic and Grateful Chant.
A teacher in a Terre Haute public school joins in the chorus:

Teaching is a business which requires a great deal of brain and nerve force. Unless this force is renewed as often as it is exhausted, the teacher is exhausted before the close of the school year. For 3 years I struggled against this almost complete exhaustion, getting what relief I could from doctor's tonics. Then in the spring of 1903 I had an attack of malaria and my work left me too weak to continue my work. Medicine failed to give me any relief, a change of climate failed. I thought I should never be able to go back in the autumn.

Dr. Foster Declare Lakes and Streams of State Are Becoming Very Unwholesome

State Association Considers Important Matters at Its Sixth Annual Session

The California Public Health Association held its sixth semi-annual meeting yesterday in the rooms of the local Board of Health at the City Hall. Twenty-five delegates were present. The papers and discussions had for subject mainly the water supply and sewage of the State.

In his paper on "The Condition of California Water Supplies" Dr. N. K. Foster, secretary of the State Board of Health, sounded a note of alarm. "The lakes and streams of this State, which were once our pride," he said, "are fast becoming open cesspools and sewers, a blot upon our civilization and a menace to our health. The waters once so pure are now polluted with the collective excrement of thousands of human and domestic animals. Their beds are a mass of decomposing slime and their banks a dumping ground for the waste of country and city life."

After describing the condition of the Sacramento and Truckee rivers, which he termed particularly bad, Dr. Foster said of the water supplies of San Francisco and Oakland: "They are little better off. Much of the watershed of the reservoirs is used for agricultural purposes. In summer camps use them for their sewers as well as their supply."

As a remedy for these conditions Foster recommended that a State engineering department be organized, without the present agricultural department or water plant could be installed.

The paper of Professor Charles S. Hyde of the University of California on "The Sanitary Quality and Purification of Public Water Supplies" was rich in documentation and original research. Hyde said that death from "water-borne" diseases were twelve in 1900, with properly filtered water, eighteen with pure ground water, twenty-four with impounded protected supplies, twenty-eight with water from long rivers, thirty-nine with water from inland lakes, forty-four with upland streams and from seventy to 1000 with polluted waters.

"Sanitary Disposal of Sewage" was the subject of George L. Hoxie, City Engineer of Fresno. He recommended the sea where possible, and septic tanks for inland towns, the sewage then being used for irrigation.

Dr. Charles F. Clark of Willits then opened the discussion, in which nearly every one took part.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Dr. William James of San Jose; vice president, Dr. James W. Ward; secretary, Dr. N. K. Foster.

In the evening the association was banqueted by the Bohemian Club. The next meeting will take place in San Jose in October.

It was decided after a discussion to appoint a committee to confer with the Mexican Government toward the establishment of a vaccination zone of three miles on each side of the State line.

The committee on tuberculosis presented a model ordinance for cities. The ordinance makes drastic provision for the compulsory reporting of cases of tuberculosis. The committee also presented a list of medical associations before reporting fully in favor of this ordinance.

IS RESCUED AFTER DUE DELIBERATION

If you fall overboard from a steamship at night and care at all about being picked up again, do not elect for your tumbling-off place a vessel manned by any large extent by the easy-going sons of the Pacific coast. The Acapulco of the Pacific Mail Company's San Francisco-Panama fleet, which arrived here yesterday from the isthmus, is a good boat from which not to fall overboard.

This happened on the outward voyage. The Acapulco left about dusk and darkness found her speeding south as fast as her engines would drive her. F. Guardaw is the Acapulco's boatwain. As the mate's chief deputy should, he was busy himself straightening up the decks, and when the disaster of departure from Acapulco. In climbing over a pile of freight he lost his balance and tumbled overboard.

Several Mexican sailors witnessed the boatwain's disappearance, but instead of giving the alarm they merely speculated calmly as to the identity of the man overboard. Somebody suggested that it might have been the boatwain. They decided to investigate. The boatwain's room was vacant. He was not to be seen on the deck. The boatwain must be overboard.

Rolling another cigarette and stopping to light it as he went, one of the sailors suggested to Captain Trask's room and reported that the boatwain had fallen overboard about ten minutes before.

White Boys Agree to Work in Alaska Canneries as Chinese, but Are Sorry

SANTA CLARA DELAYED

Rough-House in Steerage Is Made When Chopsticks Are Supplied at Meals

There was trouble on board the ship Santa Clara yesterday because seventy white men who had contracted to work in the Alaska Canneries as Chinese objected to being treated as such on board ship. Some of them returned their advance money and were allowed to go ashore. The others had spent the money, and after long and noisy argument bowed to the inevitable and decided to make the best of a bad bargain.

At this time of year the Alaska Packers' Association sends north on the ships that will bring home the season's salmon pack the men to catch the fish and the men to man the cannery. The fishermen are engaged directly. The cannery hands are usually Chinese and Japanese, and these are supplied to the association by a contractor, who agrees to deliver so many men to such a ship at such a date. The contractor makes his terms with the association and the best he can with the men he hires.

Chinese cannery hands are scarce this year, and the Japanese are holding out for more money. E. Levin was the labor contractor who agreed to supply for shipment on the Santa Clara 300 Chin. He submitted the contract to Bock Hoo of 721 Commercial street.

Bock was able to get only 230 Chinese, so he filled up the number by hiring seventy white youths. The Alaska Packers' Association had made provision in the forward end of the ship for 300 Asiatics. Clerks and superintendents filled the cabin, the fishermen's quarters were crowded, and when it was found that among the Chinese were seventy whites there was no room for the Caucasians but among the Chinese.

Hence the trouble. The whites were nearly all boys of the Chimmie Fadden type, and many of them were under the influence of liquor when they boarded the Santa Clara on Sunday night. It was not until yesterday morning when they awoke and found Chinamen bunked all around them that they realized what their contract really meant. At breakfast time each youth was given a bowl of rice and chopsticks. The steerage went crazy, and for an hour or so pandemonium reigned.

The Santa Clara was hauled into the stream, and all afternoon on her aft deck Levin, Bock Hoo and their seventy contractors were busy with the work as the latter would have said. Those who had not spent their advance returned it and were set ashore. The others will go to Alaska as Chinese, with Bock Hoo's contract to pay them a dollar and a half three times a day, and hunder forty dollar wen you come back.

SAYS HE WAS SHANGHAIED.
Boy Accuses Japanese Cannery Contractor With Forcing Him on Ship.

George Aoki, a Japanese contractor, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Conlan and McGowan and brought to the police station on a charge of kidnaping of Joseph Silva Perato, a 15-year-old boy who resides with his mother at 30 Alta street. The story the lad told to the police and which was responsible for the arrest of the brown man bristles with all the features of a shanghai tale.

According to young Perato he was walking along Dupont street early Saturday evening, when he was taken into custody by a Japanese. Despite crowded streets and the earnest appeals he made to those who witnessed his predicament, he was roughly dragged to the top of a three-story building at Pine and Dupont streets and there he was imprisoned until early yesterday morning.

Behind a padlocked door, with four Japanese on guard, the lad remained for two nights and one day. During this time he was given but two pieces of one cup of weak tea. The lad was confined in an inner room and his cries for assistance were heard only by his captors. He slept on the floor, when he could sleep, and was given no covering. The room was poorly ventilated and when he was taken forth yesterday morning into fresh air and daylight he looked wan and haggard.

Mrs. Perato learned from one of his companions, who was with him at the time he was taken by the Japanese, of the kidnaping. She at once reported that the purpose of his capture was to force him to go to the Alaskan fisheries on the bark Electra, which sailed yesterday. She procured a warrant charging the boy with vagrancy and it was given to the Harbor police to serve as soon as the boy was produced aboard the ship. The police were not quick enough, however, for the Japanese had an early start and young Perato was landed two hours before the ship about 6 in the morning. A little while afterward Policeman Heneberry arrived, but was refused admission on deck by a watchman.

The petrolman displayed his warrant, after threatening the watchman with arrest, was led to where the boy had been placed. Then a search was made for Aoki and he was found yesterday afternoon. The Japanese claims that Perato signed to go to Alaska and received $20 in advance on salary that would be coming to him. He believed, as the Chinese do, that it would be proper to enforce the compact, though force and imprisonment be necessary.

Perato claims that he never saw the Japanese before. He says he never received any advance money from him nor did he sign any contract to go to Alaska. It may be possible that some one else signed City and the youth will endeavor to ascertain if such was the case.

BITTEN BY A DOG.—Martin Justit, who lives at 1317 Church street, was bitten on the right leg by a vicious dog yesterday as he was in front of 753 Bush street.

PROPOSITION IS MADE THAT STORY SHALL BE ADDED TO MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE FOR SHOW PURPOSES

Out of the Scheme to Join the Commercial Bodies New Idea Is Brought Forth

Committees representing the Pacific Commercial Museum and the Manufacturers and Producers Association of California will meet to-day to discuss a fusion of the two bodies mentioned. The subject has been talked about for some time quietly, but no action has been taken. The original proposition was to join several commercial organizations in one body. Perhaps the preliminary step will be to fuse the Commercial Museum and the Manufacturers and Producers.

A large scheme is connected with a proposition for union that has been made by Herbert Furlong, secretary of the Pacific Commercial Museum. This is to establish a commercial exhibition in the Merchants' Exchange building, the plan involving the purchase of an additional story to the building, to be roofed in with glass.

E. R. Lillenthal, president of the Commercial Museum, has submitted this plan to the Merchants' Exchange, and Secretary Friedlander of the exchange has gone so far as to write to Mr. Burnham, the architect under whose direction the Merchants' Exchange building was constructed, to get a view of the matter. It has been kept as quiet as possible. When questioned Mr. Furlong said yesterday:

"While it is true that I did propose such a plan to President Lillenthal of that institution, and while he is also true that our board of directors favors the plan, it is yet far too early to discuss the matter as a practical certainty. That San Francisco needs just such an exhibit is unquestionable, and that the exhibit the Pacific Commercial Museum now maintains in the ferry building was a move in the right direction, its location, far from the business center and too close to salt water, was undoubtedly bad features. Business men cannot reach it without going out of their way, and the excessive dampness injures many articles it is desirable to exhibit. San Francisco will within the next few years have such an exhibit installed in some central and prominent location, I feel sure."

San Francisco merchants have not exhibited the same amount of energy and push in such matters as our southern neighbors. They have not worked together to exploit the commercial possibilities of their city. The unqualified success of the California Promotion Committee along its chosen lines of work, however, that when our people do get together and work as a unit practical and valuable results are immediately forthcoming.

The commercial interests of San Francisco are more varied and so vast that without some centralization of interests justice cannot be done to ourselves or to the rapidly increasing possibilities now opening up before us. The committee on the exchange building, but one feature among many, suggested the commercial possibilities of their city. The unqualified success of the California Promotion Committee along its chosen lines of work, however, that when our people do get together and work as a unit practical and valuable results are immediately forthcoming.

"Eastern and foreign concerns write us daily requesting space in which to exhibit their wares before the public. Our own manufacturers and producers have much questioned the benefit of such exhibits, and it is only within the past year or two, as the increasing number of buyers from all parts of the world have been attracted to San Francisco, that they have begun to change their views. The change of attitude is apparent even now, and I can safely say that the next year will show so much advance in our methods of dealing with this subject that no longer will we be criticized by our visitors for our lack of facilities and be told so frequently how far in advance of us they respect for our smaller sister cities."

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS GIVE SOCIAL AFFAIR
Brilliant Gathering Marks Event in Native Sons' Hall.

There was a large gathering of knights and ladies last night in the grand ball given by the combined lodges of the Knights of Pythias in aid of the project for building a new Pythian castle in this city. There were about 1800 persons in the hall, which was lavishly decorated in the colors of the order with American flags and Pythian emblems.

The grand march, in which more than 200 couples took part, was led by Assistant Floor Manager J. W. Cushing and his sister, Mrs. F. Schow. The march terminated in a waltz, and then dancing was kept up with short intermissions until midnight.

During intermissions light refreshments were served in the large dining hall.

IMAGINES SHE IS ROOSEVELT'S SISTER.—A woman, about 35 years old, named Anna Ludlow, who has been seen at the home of Mrs. Laura Shields, at 427 First avenue, for nearly eleven years, and who has been acting queerly of late, took it into her head yesterday that she is a sister to President Roosevelt. She dressed herself in her best garments to await his return. She is now confined in a cell in the Detention House, where she will be examined by the Commissioners of Lunacy today.

STEAMSHIP MARRIAGES FINED.—Fines ranging from $25 to $500 were imposed by the United States Customs Collector Stratton yesterday upon the crews of the following named vessels for violations of the passenger act: Peru, Coptic San Juan, City of Sydney, New Zealand, H. S. Export, Itairi, San Jose, Korea, Mariposa, Hongkong Maru, City of Para.

Irene Heisch Exonerated.
The legal proceedings little Irene Heisch intended to press through her guardian, S. M. Shorridge being her attorney, against Mrs. F. A. Drake have been abandoned. Mrs. Drake having made the child satisfactory reparation. Mrs. Drake some time ago lost her purse on a ferry-boat. It was picked up by Irene, who returned it to the police. It contained $60. Mrs. Drake said the bag had contained $100 and was reported as having said the child had stolen $100. In a signed statement, now in Mr. Shorridge's possession, she denies that she ever made such accusation and declares she never thought Irene dishonest.

IMPANELING MEYER JURY.—A jury is being impaneled in Judge Cook's court to try the case of Bernard E. Meyer, charged with murder. Only seven jurors were passed yesterday, the venire having been exhausted. Attorneys Eddy and Ogilvie are representing the defendant and Assistant District Attorney Hanley is prosecuting. Meyer and Eugene Pegulla quarreled in the streets of San Francisco and decided to fight a duel. Pegulla was shot dead by Meyer.
