

SAN FRANCISCO, SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1906.

TWENTY LOOTERS ARE CAPTURED BY BODY OF MARINES

They Gather Up Copper Wire and Other Metals.

Taken at Meiggs Wharf with Tons of Plunder.

A detachment of marines from the United States cruiser Chicago captured twenty young men at Meiggs wharf yesterday morning with many tons of loot in their possession. The loot consisted principally of copper, copper wire and other metals which the looters had gathered from the surrounding territory.

The men are now under guard, and will probably be forced to work in one of the chain gangs, which are now being established. They had evidently formed an organization to gather in junk, for which the junk men are offering good prices. Their headquarters were at Meiggs wharf, which they also made their sleeping quarters. One man was detailed to do the cooking for the gang, while several others were sent out to forage for food. The rest made it their business to gather junk, and find dealers who were willing to pay for it.

Pick Up a Waif.

Mrs. Kritch, formerly of San Francisco, is in South Berkeley, and with her is a little child with brown hair and black eyes, evidently of Italian descent, who was picked up on Powell street the morning after the earthquake. Any information as to the parents of the child will be gratefully received by Mrs. Grace Youman, secretary of the relief committee at South Berkeley.

FISHERMAN LIVES FOR EIGHT DAYS IN REFRIGERATOR

Runs Into Storage Box at Inguglia Market.

Dies Soon After Being Found by Comrades.

For eight days and eight nights Antonio Compagna, an Italian fisherman, lived in a refrigerator without food or water. Compagna was employed in the fish market of J. B. Inguglia, 516 Clay street, and with several Italians was in the place when the terrible shock of the earthquake came. Most of the men were terrified and knelt in prayer while the building crumbled about them. Compagna rushed into a large refrigerator and slammed the door after him, thus cutting off any possible escape.

For days the fire raged on all sides. The Inguglia building was dynamited, but the refrigerator still stood. After the fire had devastated the district marines and soldiers looked for the bodies of the unfortunates who had lost their lives in the catastrophe. No one thought of looking into the large refrigerator and the fisherman was held a prisoner. On the eighth day after the quake some of Compagna's comrades remembered that he had gone into the safe just before the fire. They returned to the ruins and after much difficulty broken open the door to the prison. The unfortunate prisoner was found lying on the floor and was dragged into the street, where he died a few moments later.

Compagna's brother took charge of the remains and they were later interred in Laurel Hill Cemetery.

J. B. Inguglia, who owns the market at 516 Clay street, says that the loss of life in that district must have been very large. He says that he saw the men in his own market struck down by falling debris as they knelt in prayer and nothing can induce him to revisit the spot.

ADJUSTERS WILL SOON BE READY

The insurance adjusters will be ready to receive claims in about ten days. President Charles Spear of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners has allotted the adjusters office room in the Ferry depot. The waiting-room of the nave at the north end will be insurance headquarters until the complications arising from the recent disaster have been straightened out.

Within ten days the adjusters will have a staff of 150 clerks installed in their Ferry depot office and will be ready to receive and act on all claims that may be filed.

Due notice will be given of the exact date when the adjusters will be ready to begin work.

Oakland Schools Open Monday.

OAKLAND, May 4.—The Board of Education has decided to reopen the public schools Monday, May 7. The board also decided to notify the general relief committee to vacate the Lincoln Grammar School, which has been used by the organization as a receiving and distributing depot for clothing for refugees.

District Attorney John Allen was present at the request of the School Directors to advise them as to what course the board was to pursue with respect to the contractors who were erecting the new school buildings that were badly damaged by the earthquake. Several of the contractors have said that if they are required to repair the damage done by the temblor they will be financially ruined. It was decided to hold a conference with the builders before taking definite action.

The student teachers of the State Normal School of San Francisco will report at the common school assembly hall here next Monday.

Santa Rosa's Losses.

OAKLAND, May 4.—Governor Pardee today corrected an erroneous impression as to statements touching losses at Santa Rosa. By a misconception citizens there gained the idea that the Governor had said $147,000 would cover the loss. What the Governor said was that $147,000 would be required to clear away the debris. The earthquake loss at Santa Rosa is estimated at $3,000,000.

Many Men Are Wanted.

The following telegram has been received from Reno, Nev.: "The Western Pacific can use a good man to run a transit, also a topographer. The mine at Barth can use ten or fifteen good miners at $3 a day or laborers at $2.75 per day. Showell Brothers' Construction Company is looking for 200 men at Salt Lake."

OLYMPIC CLUB MUST FIND OTHER QUARTERS

Temporary Home Cannot Be Located at Hobart Mansion Owing to Repairs.

The temporary home of the Olympic Club will not be located in the Hobart mansion. This decision has been reached by the directors of the club. An examination of the building disclosed that extensive repairs were needed and the agents of the Hobart estate do not feel disposed at this time to incur the expense of restoring the mansion.

The directors of the club have accordingly made preparations to locate elsewhere, and expect within a few days to make some definite announcement to the members.

Good Words of Optimism.

Editor Call: Though one-half our city is in ashes and 200,000 of our citizens are homeless and $300,000,000 is her loss and hundreds are dead, yet the world is with us, and our suffering has united us and strengthened us, and soon the ring of hammers will make music to an energetic and loyal people, and God willing, our greater San Francisco will vie with the proudest and most beautiful cities of all the world.

Yours,
GEO. D. SHADBURNE.

NO SACKS FOR CROP OF GRAIN

All Stocks Destroyed in Warehouses by Flames.

Business Men Urge Prompt Action Be Taken.

Supply Available Is Held Up at Hongkong, China.

All the grain bags in San Francisco were burned by the great fire. There are none in the State in which to sack the grain, harvesting of which will begin next month. Unless sacks can be at once secured great losses will result to the farmers.

This condition of affairs has been brought to the attention of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco by prominent grain firms, which set forth in a letter addressed to Chester W. Burks that grain bags are held up at Hongkong on account of a fear of congestion here. Burks has communicated with R. P. Schwerin of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to see what can be done to insure immediate movement of sacks from Hongkong to San Francisco. As three weeks are consumed in a voyage from Hongkong to this port the necessity of immediate action to avoid great losses is obvious.

In both the Sacramento and the San Joaquin valleys the prospect of an unusually large crop of grain is in view. Unless it is to be allowed to ripen and to be marketed in the usual way the farmers will be compelled to turn it into hay while it is green. For their guidance immediate communication with Hongkong by cable is indispensable. Secretary Burks has asked the advice of Mr. Schwerin as to what can be done at once.

The grain firm that has communicated with the Chamber of Commerce are the Moseley-Bresse Company, the Gulf Bag Company and Girvin & Eyre.

"It comes to our knowledge," they write in a joint letter, "that shipments of grain bags are being held up at Hongkong on account of fear of congestion here. There is nothing, we think, so important at this juncture as to have forwarded bags for the coming crops. We hardly need tell you why, in view of existing conditions.

"There are none here, and a good many were destroyed by fire. They can be handled readily at Port Costa if not here in San Francisco, and we earnestly request you to take the matter up with the Pacific Mail people at once, as delays are dangerous. Bags shipped now will hardly get here for this season's usage."

If the grain is cured as hay, it is estimated that the farmers will lose two-thirds of the value of the crop. If it is cut and stacked, says Burks, there is not enough machinery in California to trash it before the rains come.

IS WILLING TO MARRY SEVERAL HOMELESS GIRLS.

Brave Seattle Man Makes Wholesale Response to Supposed Matrimonial Bureau on Water Front.

From the imagination of some newspaper correspondent there was evolved, during the recent excitement, the fiction of a matrimonial bureau at the Harbor Hospital where 25 young women of good family had organized, so ran the tale, for the purpose of securing homes and husbands. This dispatch was given wide circulation and the Harbor Hospital mail is now heavy with letters from bachelors and widowers in all parts of the country willing to take another plunge in the troubled waters of matrimony.

The latest offer comes from a Seattle man who, taking his letter as it reads, is willing to risk the penalties attached to bigamy for the sake of aiding the homeless daughters of the fire scarred city by the Golden Gate.

The Seattle letter follows: "April 29, '06. 'If you have any good girl that is without a home and who has been working in a family that desires to get married please have them correspond with me. They must be between the age of 18 and 22. I am 27. I would be glad to help, give a good girl a home. They must have a No. 1 character. I will marry them as soon as they arrive if they are as I ask. Yours respectfully, 'WILLIAM HOWARD, Seattle, Wash.'"

Of all the letters received the following contains probably the most

PLAGUE OF RATS ONLY PESTILENCE FOLLOWING FIRE

Housewives Plant Poison to End Nuisance.

A plague of rats is the only form of pestilence that has followed the great fire. As strong an agent to drive them as the flute of the Piel Piper was to lead, the fire sent the rats scrambling from the burned two-thirds of the city, in which they were thickest, all of them that could escape with their lives rushed, as did the people, into the one-third that the flames left. Leaving their habitations and stores to the flames, the rodents scurried from warehouse and grainery, bohemian restaurant, cellar and sewer and worked their way into the residence districts left standing.

These rats have found ratons very scarce in the field they have invaded. The plenty on which they thrived in the spots they had populated the most thickly is not to be found in the cleaner portions of the town. The brown monster that attained his size on the offal in the dark passageways of Chinatown or filled himself to bursting among the grain bags of the seawall grows morose over the few remnants left on the tables of the Western Addition and Pacific avenue since the earthquake. The garbage cans contain few treasures. The rats are becoming gaunt and hungry.

In some houses the rodents have gnawed in a night under pantry doors holes big enough for the passage of their bodies. Everywhere they can be heard gnawing, gnawing in the night and sometimes in the day, trying to reach a morsel of food or even a grease spot they may have scented.

Housewives are daily being scared into fits by the flash of a long, gaunt body with gleaming eyes. They have to hide all food well. The pampered tabby cat that used to sweat in triumphant pride when her claws sank into a timid mouse or the refined house rat cowers in fear at the ruffian invaders from the lower districts that seem to fear no feline foe.

But there will be an end to the rats. They'll eat arsenic in their hunger just as quickly as cheese, and the housewives will not need to use club or broom. They are planting destruction before which rats, big or small, must go down.

If they'll only choose the right places in which to die the ladies will be happy.

CLERGYMAN WILL COME TO FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Earthquake Has No Terrors for Rev. George E. Burlingame, Who Hastens to This City.

Rev. George E. Burlingame of Chicago, who accepted a call to the First Baptist Church of this city just before the earthquake, was asked by wire two days ago if his acceptance still held good. Dr. Burlingame wired back asking if he should start at once for this city with a big tent in which to hold services; if he should apply to Dayton, Ohio, for relief, and if he should leave his family in Chicago to save expense. Professor A. A. Marcurda replied "yes" to all three questions and Dr. Burlingame is expected to arrive here by June 1 next.

This Week's News Letter.

Several graphic illustrations, showing striking features of the great San Francisco fire, are published in this week's News Letter, together with special articles on the insurance, real estate, rebuilding and other timely subjects. A different editorial policy is promised by the News Letter for the future.

business-like proposition ever made in the name of Cupid.

The letter speaks for itself and the offer is still open. Here is the offer: "Fresno, Cal., April 29, 1906.

"Ladies—I note from my paper there are twenty-five eligible young ladies who have formed a matrimonial association near the Harbor Hospital. If there is one who wishes to come to Fresno to live I will be glad to aid a case of beauty in distress. Am trainmaster's chief clerk on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway at $75 per month. If any one should choose to come and we do not agree I would cheerfully furnish transportation to any point in the United States. Show this to any Santa Fe conductor, who will carry you, and get pass at office. Have no objection to high temper or kids. Am an old bachelor of 44.

"Very truly,
"GEORGE F. CARD."

PARDEE STANDS UP FOR GUARD

Sends an Answer to Slanderous Article.

Asserts Criticism of Soldiery Is Unjust.

OAKLAND, May 4.—Governor George C. Pardee has taken official cognizance of an extraordinary series of falsehoods regarding the work of the National Guard during the recent fire printed by the Seattle Times under a San Francisco date line. The Seattle newspaper declared that the State militia was running amuck in San Francisco, terrorizing the town, stabbing and shooting citizens on the slightest provocation. So monstrous were the accusations that Governor Pardee took time to address the following letter to the northern editor: "Editor Seattle Daily Times, Seattle, Wash.—Sir: In your issue of April 26 appears an article headed 'Guardsmen Cause a Reign of Terror. Citizens of San Francisco fear for their lives because of actions of soldiers of State militia companies. Officers and privates, drunk with suddenly acquired authority, shoot and stab at every opportunity.' The article then goes on to describe scenes which Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Mackintosh is said to have witnessed and described.

"I have been, in one way or another, connected with the National Guard of California, almost continuously since 1872, having begun literally at its lowest rank and being now its commander-in-chief. I also know what has taken place in San Francisco since the earthquake on April 18 and up to date. I therefore know the National Guard of California thoroughly and unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly brand the stories attributed to Mr. Mackintosh as absolutely untrue and without even the slightest foundation in fact.

"I also have been assured by a number of the officers of the regular army that the State troops have behaved admirably, and lying on my desk at this moment is a petition signed by several thousand of San Francisco's people who have been taken care of by our State troops, stating emphatically that the stories of our National Guard's lawlessness are unfounded and asking me to continue them in their present service.

"Finally let me call attention to the fact that the members of the National Guard of this State are the sons of California's citizens; that very many of them lost all they had in the world when San Francisco's great catastrophe came upon her; that their fathers, mothers, sisters, wives and children are among those who were rendered destitute by the destruction of our chief city; that they are equal in intelligence, patriotism and the virtues of citizenship to any equal number of young men from any State in the Union; that many of them are veterans of the Spanish war, and that it is a cowardly, an infamous and utterly inexcusable thing for any man to falsely accuse them at any time, much less in times of widespread distress, destitution, suffering, loss of life and property such as have come upon San Francisco.

"GEORGE C. PARDEE, Governor of California."

SAFE FALLS THROUGH FLOOR OF THE CROCKER BUILDING

Man Engaged in Clearing Out Bank Offices Struck by Debris and Badly Hurt.

Sim Kerr, who is employed at 606 Diamond street, and is involved by Mahoney Bros., contractors, was seriously injured yesterday in the Crocker building as the result of one of the floors giving way. Kerr was taken to the Harbor Hospital, where he now lies in a precarious condition.

Kerr was working on the first floor of the building, in the premises occupied by the Crocker-Woolworth National Bank. On the floor above men were engaged in opening a safe. Suddenly the safe disappeared through the floor, carrying much heavy debris with it. The falling safe missed Kerr by a narrow margin, but enough debris fell on him to break his left leg, cave in his chest and partly scalp him. He is suffering from concussion of the brain and may have sustained a fractured skull.

Fractures a Leg.

While working on at adder Thursday Angelo Gardino, an Italian gardener, fell a distance of fifteen feet and sustained two compound fractures of the right leg. The injury was treated at the regimental field hospital in Golden Gate Park. The number of patients at this institution is increasing hourly, and the tents sheltered over 20 sick at noon yesterday.
