MELBO'S SLAYER IS DISCHARGED

Jury in Oakland Acquits A. C. McDonald of Murder Charge. One of Twelve Raises Voice for Verdict of Manslaughter.

OAKLAND, June 21.—A. C. McDonald was acquitted this afternoon by a jury of the murder of Joseph Mello, whom he shot and killed at Pleasanton on the night of March 22 last, for taking liberties with his wife. He claimed that he was attacked by Mello and that he shot him in self defense. There was practically no evidence against McDonald, but the jury found him guilty of at least manslaughter. William Austin was the juror of this opinion. He held out against the arguments of the rest of his fellows until time for the adjournment of court this evening and then realizing the hopelessness of bringing the majority of the jurors to his way of thinking, he gave in and voted for acquittal. There was an affecting scene just outside of the court room, when McDonald's pretty wife stood weeping to meet her husband, and after she had greeted him she had a fainting spell and restoratives had to be applied to revive her. McDonald, who had been overcome by the long strain he had been under, and when he heard the verdict, arose from his seat and had to be ordered to sit down until the proceedings were closed. The argument in the jury room lasted all day, and for a time it was believed there was a sufficient division to hang the jury. The members retired for deliberation shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, and at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon before the balliff was notified that a verdict had been reached. At 3:30 o'clock they had sent in word to Judge Ellsworth that they were unable to agree. Husband and wife went away together and will probably go to the home of Mrs. McDonald's parents at Santa Rosa for a time, until McDonald makes up his mind just what he wants to do. The defense was conducted by A. V. Mendenhall, R. M. Fitzgerald and T. M. Bradley. Mendenhall and Fitzgerald made the arguments. Chief Deputy District Attorney P. M. Walsh prosecuted.

DECEASED OF MEDICINE COLLEGE OF BERKELEY

Dr. A. A. D'Ancona Completes Preparations for the Transfer. First Two Years of Course Will Be Given at the University.

BERKELEY, June 21.—Dr. A. A. D'Ancona, dean of the medical college of the university, is arranging for the transfer from San Francisco to Berkeley of all the instruction in the first two years of the college of medicine. The securing of suitable rooms on the campus and other incidental features of the matter have engaged Dr. D'Ancona's attention for several days. The transfer is regarded as an unusually important step in medical education in California. It has been authorized by the university regents. Students desiring admission to the medical department of the university must have completed certain studies in physics, chemistry, zoology, German and French, which ordinarily require two years of residence at a university or college of good standing. The first two years of the strictly professional work is devoted to anatomy, physiology and pathology. It is believed by the university that training in these disciplines may best be received at the seat of the university, where the opportunities of laboratories and libraries in allied subjects are immediately available and where a thoroughly scientific atmosphere prevails. These departments of anatomy, physiology and pathology, with their very complete and thoroughly modern equipment, will be removed to Berkeley during the present summer. Instruction in the other departments is given by men who devote their whole time to instruction and research, not engaging in practice. As heretofore, the work of the last two years of the medical course will be carried on in San Francisco, in the affiliated college buildings overlooking Golden Gate Park. The removal of the other departments to Berkeley will make available increased room in the medical building for clinical purposes. The dispensary, heretofore situated in what is now the burned district of San Francisco, will be established in the medical building, Jacques Loeb, professor of physiology, Joseph M. Flint, professor of anatomy, and Altonzo E. Taylor, professor of pathology, are the heads of the three departments affected by the change.

POLICE FIGHT BELL GANG

Oakland Officers Trying Hard to Round Up the Sharpers. Merchants Give Good Money for Worthless Notes.

OAKLAND, June 21.—The bunco men that have flooded Oakland of late with $20 bills on the defunct Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Georgia are still operating. Yesterday five additional victims were added to the list of those victimized by the swindlers. From the new developments in the methods that the swindlers use it appears that a woman is acting as confederate in the swindling system to flood the town with bad money. Late yesterday afternoon a man and a woman, both well dressed, entered Olson's market at Eleventh and Clay streets, and going to opposite counters in the market, passed off two bills. In one case the twenty was changed for the same amount in gold coin and in the other a small chicken was purchased for 50 cents and $19.50 received in change. George Albion, a restaurant keeper at 469 Seventh street, was the next victim. Two men entered his place of business and, having been served with a meal, laid down one of the bills in payment. The two left the place with over $19 of Albion's good money. J. Garfinkle, who conducts a notion store at 467 Seventh street, is the first man that has been able to give a good description of the miscreants. He lost over $9 last night by having a $10 bill passed off on him, but as business was light was able to remember the men, who were described to the police by the party of swindlers, as far as known two men and a woman, will be rounded up in a short time. Chief of Police Wilson has a corps of similar looking men, but it is believed the men are probably the same as those that worked a similar swindle in San Francisco about six months ago. The Merchants' and Planters' Bank of Georgia has been a dead issue for many years, and the notes of the old State banks of antebellum days.

We assure you that if taken when you first discover indications of an attack, they will drive it away, and thus not only save you the misery and distress, but the weakening influence of pain upon your system. Used in this way the attacks become less frequent, and eventually entirely disappear. They relieve pain by strengthening the nerves and overcoming the turbulent, excited condition, which is the cause of pain.

I have a great deal of neuralgia around the heart, and the Pain Pills also relieve that. I now take them when I think I will have an attack, and they stop it right then. I also notice that I do not have these spells nearly so frequently as formerly."
