Bureau of Labor Finds Rise in Food Prices Has Not Kept Step Hours the Same

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A report was issued by the Bureau of Labor today recounting the results of an investigation into wages and hours of labor in 1905 in the principal manufacturing and mechanical industries of the United States. The report gives the average wages per week for the laborer and the number of employes in identical establishments in both 1904 and 1905. While the figures presented are not exhaustive for the United States, it is said they are fairly representative of the industries investigated.

The results show that in 1905 the average wages per hour in the principal manufacturing and mechanical industries of the country were 1.6 per cent higher than in 1904; that the average hours of labor per week remained the same as in 1904, and that 6.2 per cent more persons were employed in the establishments investigated. As there was no reduction in the average hours of labor per week, the average weekly earnings per employe were 1.6 per cent higher than in 1904.

When the figures relating to wages and hours of labor and those relating to retail prices of food are brought together, it is seen that the price of food was 0.6 per cent higher in 1905 than in 1904. As the average wages per hour increased more than the retail prices of food, the purchasing power of wages increased. In 1905 the purchasing power of an hour's wage was 1.1 per cent higher than in 1904, or, in other words, an hour's wages in 1905 would purchase 1.1 per cent more food than an hour's wages in 1904.

The report adds that the average wages per hour in 1905 were 15.9 per cent higher than the average for the ten-year period from 1890 to 1899 inclusive. The number of employes was 32.6 per cent greater and the average hours of labor per week 4.1 per cent lower. The average earnings per week in 1905 were 14 per cent higher than the average during the ten-year period from 1890 to 1899 inclusive. The aggregate weekly earnings of all employes, that is, the total amount of payrolls, was 52.3 per cent higher in 1905 than the average during the ten-year period from 1890 to 1899.

The retail price of the principal articles of food, weighed according to family consumption of various articles, was 12.4 per cent higher in 1905 than the average during the ten-year period from 1890 to 1899. Compared with the average for the same ten-year period the purchasing power of an hour's wages in 1905 was 10.5 per cent greater and of a week's wages only 1.9 per cent less than the average during the hours of labor during the period.

FORCE OF TWENTY WOMEN CLERKS TO GATHER STATISTICS ON MATRIMONY MUSTY RECORDS

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—For the purpose of obtaining data for use by the United States Government and also by Congress in aid of universal divorce laws throughout the country, twenty clerks from the Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, called upon the County Clerk today to begin their work of investigation of the circumstances and causes of each divorce or separation case for the last twenty years.

The majority of the clerks, who are engaged to collect all the facts regarding divorce, are women and it will be their duty to make a thorough search through all the musty records of matrimonial disputes for years and to disclose skeletons for public records that have been regarded as sealed to the eye of the people forever.

There are eighteen questions to be answered after an investigation of each case, including the date of marriage and separation, by whom the suit was brought and to whom the decree was granted if at all, the number of years the parties were married, the number of children by the union, the occupation of the husband, the nature of the divorce and if alimony was requested or granted.

It has often been said that divorces have been granted to certain influential persons of social and financial standing in the community that have been secretly put away and so safely guarded that information of them has never come to light. These will now be made a subject for a thorough search and the results of the investigation them will be placed in the public records at Washington. The secrets thus disclosed will not be for publication, but for the use of the Government.

FIRE IN CROWD AND FOUR BUR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—While Oceanic Walk, in the Bowery at Coney Island, held a crowded early today, an unidentified man fired a revolver and two shots into the back of a waiter at Stauch's restaurant, and then turned the weapon into the crowd and fired four times as quickly as he could pull the trigger. Four persons lay writhing in agony on the board walk, while the man fled toward the ocean, threatening any person who would pursue him.

The injured, three of whom may die, are: Thomas Fitzpatrick, 25 years of age, 218 East Fifth street, Brooklyn; shot in the breast and side; may die. Thomas McDonald, 19 years old, 106 Conners street, Newark, N. J.; shot in the back; may die. Annie Egan, 29 years of age, 223 Eckford street, Williamsburg; shot in thigh and leg; serious. George White, 26 years old, Coney Island; shot in the back; may die.

As the shot rang out and the men and women fell to the walk screaming, a panic broke out. Women were thrown to the walk as men ran over them to reach a place of safety. The stranger defied any one to follow him. He held the revolver in his right hand and laughingly shouted, "The man who follows me, I will kill him."

No one ventured to approach him. He fled in the direction of the ocean, and though fully 10,000 saw him and clamored for his life, and the police took the most extraordinary precautions to guard against his escape, he has thus far eluded them.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 13.—The Campo-Camarillo case, which has been referred from Ventura, will be called for trial in the Superior Court of Santa Barbara County tomorrow. This case involves possession of the rich ranch Calleguas of the late Juan Camarillo, and the evidence, which follows the charges of the complaint and the counter allegations of the defendants, will be sensational.

The ranch of more than 10,000 acres and other properties of the late owner of the Campo-Camarillo family in Ventura County are valued at more than $1,000,000. The net income from the ranch alone is more than $100,000 per annum and constantly increasing. This property is now held by Adolfo and Juan Camarillo, sons of the late Juan Camarillo, and they are the defendants in the action. The plaintiffs are other children and heirs of the deceased grandee.

The disappointed members of the family who are attempting to set aside the ruling of the Ventura court where by a portion of the estate has been already distributed, and who attack the ruling of the court, are the late widow of Juan Camarillo, who favored the action. The plaintiffs are other children and heirs of the deceased grandee.

The details of the proposed budget were gone into at length. The board asks for $33,012, with $2712.50 additional for pay for certain hauling. But this total of $35,724.50 for the department of camps for work done heretofore by the Board of Health. The Board of Health is thus relieved of that expense. On the basis of the budget of last month the board wants almost $4,000 more in July. The budget retained $27,914, of which $2500 remained unexpended at the end of the month.

"I have suggested to the Board of Health," replied Spreckels, "that it find out what needs to be done and then those in camps as householders are not to be found. The department has power to compel householders to abate nuisances. It is clear that additional inspectors are needed. But the expense of abating the nuisance should be borne by the householders and not by the relief fund."

It was then that De Young made his emphatic statement as to the duty of the Relief Corporation in undertaking expenses that, in his opinion, should be borne by the householders.

F. W. Dohrmann of the Relief Corporation warned those present that the relief fund was none too large for the purpose of yesterday's meeting. The meeting adjourned with the understanding that the Board of Health should be notified of whatever action might be taken.

Rudolph Spreckels spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon working on the budget. He states that he will recommend to the executive committee a reduction in the budget of about $5000.

CHARGE OF SISTERS

The plaintiffs claim first that this paper was signed when they were without knowledge of the wrongful acts of the defendants whereby those defendants secured the estate; and they demand that the estate be restored to the $25,000 if permitted to come into their rightful shares in the distribution of the property.

These wrongful acts, the complaint charges, consisted in securing the signature of the widow to the deed of gift through deceit and with intent to prevent the proper distribution of the estate; and of failing to destroy Mrs. Camarillo's will which requested to do so by her. It is asserted in the complaint that in the month of December, 1896, the widow desired to destroy the will whereby she left the property not conveyed by the deed of gift to Juan E. Camarillo; that she called her other favored son, Adolfo, into consultation, and asked him to burn the will, which she placed in his hands for the purpose. It is alleged that the respondent tore up and burned into the fire another paper and retained possession of the will for the purpose of adding his brother.

Judge J. W. Taggart of the Superior Court of Santa Barbara County will preside during the trial.

LITIGATION OVER RIGHT NEVADA MINE

Famous Litigation Hill Property the Stake at Issue in the Suit HISTORY OF CASE

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

TENOPAH, Aug. 13.—The trial of the case of Nash and others against MacNamara and others in the District Court in this city, Judge Peter Breen presiding, has developed into the most important mining litigation brought up for settlement in this locality this year. The question at issue involves the famous Litigation Hill property in Manhattan, which is generally admitted to have the most promising prospects of any mine in that sensational camp. The hearing of the case has lasted for over a week, and from present indications will continue for as much longer.

The suit has raised a very delicate point of mining law, and its settlement is awaited with interest by the mining men of this region. From the testimony so far taken it appears that the ground, the title and possession of which is in dispute, includes several claims which were originally located, at the time of the first rush to the camp last year, by Kielhoffer and associates. These locators did not do their location work during the ninety days following the posting of their notices, as required by law. During the time the ground was held under this location another notice of location was posted, covering the same ground, and the plaintiff, MacNamara, claims that the location of Kielhoffer's rights has not been invalidated at the time of the Nash filing.

Nash and his associates brought suit to obtain possession and title last October, and placed an injunction on the property to prevent the defendants from working it or removing any ore until the ownership should be settled. Now the question arises as to whether the location made by Kielhoffer and associates, although admittedly invalid at the time it was made because of Kielhoffer's prior location, did not become valid at the instant of the expiration of the ninety days allowed under the law for the performance of the location work. If such work is not done the law provides that the ground shall revert to the public domain and is open for relocation. The plaintiffs contend that their notice was sufficient indication of intent to operate the ground and to hold it for their use, and that the third location, that made by the defendant, was invalid.

For the plaintiffs many of the leading mining authorities of this section have been examined, among them George Wingfield, A. D. Nash, T. L. Oddie and Dr. Jenny, the last mentioned a mining geologist. The defendants are now taking testimony in support of their contentions.
