MRS. DAVIS' DEATH

Chemical Analysis Develops Further Mystery in Death of Mrs. Erna Davis

BANANA GIVES CLEW

The mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Erna Davis, the 22-year-old woman, whose lifeless body was found Saturday afternoon in a room at 1287 Turk street, was intensified last night by the report of the City Chemist, A. C. Bothe, who examined the stomach and found that death was due to acetic acid poisoning. His finding was at once communicated to the office of the Chief of Police and an investigation was immediately begun by the department to determine in what manner the poison was procured and how it had been administered.

When Mrs. Davis' body was found at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Fannie Martin, the landlady of the house in which the unfortunate young woman had made her home for the past three months, there was nothing in the room to indicate the manner in which death occurred. The body was lying on the floor in the front room, partially under a piano, while a few feet away by the open window was the chair in which the woman had evidently been sitting just prior to death. Mrs. Martin had left the house at 12 o'clock, after chatting for several minutes with her roomer, and eating a banana from a sack of the fruit which Mrs. Davis had placed at a stand a few doors from the house.

FRUIT SUGGESTS METHOD

On the piano under which the body was found three hours afterward was a small portion of one of the bananas which Mrs. Davis had been eating as she sat by the window overlooking the street. No vial or box in which poison could have been contained was to be found anywhere in the room. In Mrs. Davis' own room or under the windows outside the house, and the conclusion has been reached by the autopsy, as well as by Dr. Kueich, the autopsy surgeon, who first examined the body yesterday morning, that the acid which caused the death must have been eaten with the fruit.

Autopsy is Performed

Mrs. Davis' body was removed last Saturday night from the morgue to the undertaking rooms of N. Gray & Co. at Geary and Devisadero streets, where an autopsy was performed yesterday morning by Dr. Kueich. The strong odor of acetic acid which caused him to send the organ to Dr. Bothe, with the result that the presence of a considerable quantity of the poison was found. Mrs. Davis' heart was also found to have been in an extremely weak condition, and this may have contributed to the suddenness of her death.

No Domestic Trouble

Despite the fact that Davis spent only a portion of his time with his wife, other roomers in the house declare that they seemed to be happy and showed no evidence of any domestic trouble. Davis left the house early Saturday morning and did not return until after he had received the news of his wife's death. She spent the day in the house, except for the short time when she was out to purchase bananas, and it is not known where she could have procured the acetic acid.

Earthquakes Jar Marinic Coast

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 21.—Two earth shocks last night destroyed about 100 feet of a temporary highway structure which crosses the upper harbor. The first shock was felt at 6 o'clock and the second at 7:07. Both shocks were light, but were distinctly felt by pedestrians. Accompanying the rumbling was the sound made by the cracking of the timbers of the temporary structure.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE CALL. LONDON, Oct. 21.—All the excitement and pleasures of London life are in front of James Henry Smith's bride, for she knows very little of them. She has never been to London before, and it is doubtful if she has been presented here since court. When in London she has mostly stayed with her sister, Mrs. Anthony Drexel, who knows every one and does some magnificent entertaining. The Smiths are bound to take a London house, as Mrs. Smith will be bringing out her girl, who, I am told, is very good-looking. She has been educated under the direct supervision of her mother, who has written her own opinion of what the girl should know. As Mrs. Anthony Drexel will also be bringing out a daughter in the spring, these two girls are in for a good time. Both will be immensely wealthy, and it is only from that fact that interest is bound to be taken in them. In the matrimonial market of London the debut of American heiresses is booked with as much excitement as the debut of the British aristocracy, but having no sense of humor he ended by sending back through the postoffice files of these communications and said if they continued he would prosecute them for libel.

Mr. Smith's sister, Lady Cooper of Hursley Park, had "views" for his future. She was eternally attempting to marry to some friend or another and at one time it was thought she had inveigled him into proposing to a Duke's daughter. She tried him with girls in their teens, mature spinners and charming dowagers, but nothing would do. Her countrywoman, Mrs. Stewart, being won by her, she Miss Almee Netter is carrying all before her at Baden-Baden. She is the mirror of fashion, the most beautifully dressed girl in the place. Her sayings are quoted, her opinions copied, and her photographs are in every window. Her vogue is complete and quite unique for a young girl, for in these days it is generally the young married woman who is the fashion.

Of course Miss Netter's case is an exceptional one. Long before her arrival at Baden-Baden news of her success in Paris on the Riviera had preceded her. At the latter, the King of the Belgians gave brilliant festivities in her honor. He used to call her a "pocket Venus" and openly gave it as his opinion that she was the most beautiful. All this, however, never turned the head of the beautiful American; on the contrary, it seemed to show her her power and she soon realized that she was not to be a plaything of a monarch, which she did when his attentions became boring. "Thinks he is going to flirt with me because he is a King—no fear," she said. The snubs she met from the King's court, which she did when his attentions became boring. "Thinks he is going to flirt with me because he is a King—no fear," she said. The snubs she met from the King's court, which she did when his attentions became boring.

It was at Dublin Castle last season she made her debut, but she has no doubt appear at the court of St. James later. London society is looking forward with interest to her advent, as here she is known as a rival to those who remember her as a girl in short frocks. She has certainly been well launched and she could not have had more influential chaperonage than that of Princess Orossoff, who knows every one worth knowing, more especially on the Continent.

The American girl is making her way into the ranks of the French aristocracy with the dignity of a conqueror. The engagements of several French noblemen to girls from the United States will shortly be definitely announced. This week that of Miss Madeline Goddard, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. R. H. Goddard of Providence, R. I., and the Marquis Rene d'Andigne of Chateau Monet in Anjou comes to hand. I hear the Goddards intend that the marriage shall take place in America some time in November, and mean to make it a gorgeous affair. The bridegroom-elect comes of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families in France, and in his picturesque chateau in Anjou times are done with the greatest stateliness. Already another American has married into this old house, for the Viscountess Louis d'Antin, who was a Miss Coleman of New York before her marriage.

Mrs. Cavendish-Bentick's dearest enemies say that this clever American woman had much higher aspirations for May than John Ford. Be that as it may, there are plenty who are of opinion that Miss Cavendish-Bentick has done remarkably well. Mr. Ford is a universal favorite wherever he goes, and a born diplomat who is able to make a big hit in the service. His father, the late Sir Clare Ford, was Ambassador at Rome, Constantinople and Madrid, while he himself is first secretary of the British Legation at Constantinople, where Sir Alan Mackenzie, whose wife is an American, is Ambassador. Lady Mackenzie is just now entertaining the bride-elect and Mr. Cavendish-Bentick. The King has promised the bride's mother that he will be present at the wedding.

Mrs. Marshall Field has gone to Paris, but only to replenish her wardrobe. She has probably met her stepmother-in-law, Mrs. Field, who is also there. The latter is in the best of terms with her late husband's family. It is said she means to take a London flat in Hill street. It is rumored that she intends to do something big in philanthropy. Now is her time, for new highway bridge near by for which $250,000 was appropriated recently.

BIDDEFORD, Me., Oct. 21.—An earthquake sharp enough to rattle windows was felt at Biddeford Pool and Wood Island, at the mouth of the Saco River, shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday. It was the strongest and most noticeable of the series of earth tremors which have been felt in York County shore towns from Kittery to this city in the past two days and it caused much alarm among the residents of Biddeford Pool, eight miles from this city. The shock was not felt here, though in Kittery and in York, to the westward, there was a distinct quake at 11:10 o'clock today.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The Herald prints reports collected in many counties in the State upon the progress of the campaign for Governor. These reports were undertaken for the purpose of getting at the facts in the counties north of the Bronx, because in these counties the Hearst followers say a sentiment exists which will make him Governor. They assert that while Hearst may lose in this city the State, that portion known as rural New York, will elect him. No such sentiment exists, according to the representatives sent by the Herald.

The correspondents were instructed to use more than usual diligence to get at the facts. In some instances counties were covered by several different persons, each working without the knowledge of the other. The section west of Albany to Syracuse was covered not by two men, but by three. They all found the same state of affairs. There is no Hearst "landslide"—a condition as plain to the ordinary observer, and this condition has been disclosed by Hearst's own efforts. He went up the State to secure the farmers, and he failed.

DEMOCRATS DRIFT FROM HEARST. There is a slight Republican drift toward Hearst in some of the counties. The reports from Chenango are good for him. But the Republican drift toward Hearst is more than made up by a drift of Democrats from him and to Hughes. Everywhere Democrats are out in the open opposing him. Organization men are fighting to save their party by defeating him decisively. A correspondent who made a tour of Northern New York counties reports that the Democratic party has been practically wiped off the map.

One of the correspondents, writing privately, said that he found the "strong Hearst sentiment was always in the next county and never materialized." It was a refutation of the story that while Hearst might lose the city the up-State counties would elect him. The correspondent who accompanied Hearst on his tour of the State notes the closeness of the part of the nominee and is satisfied Hearst is convinced his raid on the Republican strongholds has met with defeat. He does not expect his own election.

CANDIDATES ASKED FOR COIN. That the managers for Hearst in the Gilsey House asked of that equipage how such a Democratic candidate whom the Independence League was being asked to endorse could "put up," and that they did not think $1500 or $2000 a sufficient amount, is declared by Walter H. Cragg, Democratic nominee for Senator in the Fourth District of Kings County. Cragg and his father went to Hearst headquarters. They were asked how much money they could put up, and Cragg replied: "I have $1000, but I mean to have it announced from the Gilsey House that A. Stewart Walsh had been selected as the candidate of the league for Senator in that district."

When the Grand Jury resumes on Tuesday the investigation begun as the result of the charges made by Murphy that money had been demanded from the Tammany candidates for the Senate and for Congress as the price of their support in a Democratic ticket. The investigation began as the result of the charges made by Murphy that money had been demanded from the Tammany candidates for the Senate and for Congress as the price of their support in a Democratic ticket.

TEMPERAMENT OF THE TIMES. The temperament of the times is bilious, according to Sir James Crichton-Brown, an English authority on mental diseases. Rapid locomotion declares a disease, involving blindness to natural beauty. Fast motoring at its worst tends to homicidal mania. A confirmed motorist must become sluggish in intellect and excitable in temper. The newspaper, he says, is one of the bulwarks of sanity, and that it acts upon nervous life like a current of electricity and dissipates megalomania.—Savannah News.

DAMAGED VENUS DE MILO. A story is going the rounds of the clubs of a Chicago millionaire who ordered a replica of the Venus of Milo to be delivered at his home. When the case arrived and was opened the millionaire discovered there were no arms, and threatened to bring action against the railway company for damages. The company sent an official to inquire into the matter, found that the arms were missing—and paid.

LORD KELVIN'S INVENTIONS. Lord Kelvin paid a visit to the British school ship for navigating officers at Portsmouth, on which are several mechanical contrivances and appliances of his own invention. The practical working of these had to be demonstrated and explained to him. Lord Kelvin understood the theoretical principles of the mechanism but had never seen them applied and at work before.

REINFORCED CONCRETE HOTEL STRUCTURE WHICH IS BEING ERECTED BY ARCHITECT CHARLES J. ROUSSEAU FOR HARRY AND SOL LICHTENSTEIN AT THE CORNER OF MARKET, DAVIS AND PINE STREETS.

Excavation of the premises at the corner of Market, Davis and Pine streets has been begun for the erection of a six-story reinforced concrete hotel structure. In addition to the six stories the hotel will have a large basement that will be used for storage purposes. The estimated cost of the building is $150,000. It is being erected for Harry and Sol Lichtenstein by Charles J. Rousseau, who is the architect and structural engineer. The Market-street frontage of the building will measure 178 feet 2 3/4 inches, the Pine-street side 225 feet 9 1/4 inches and the Davis-street side 49 feet 6 inches. The hotel will contain a spacious entrance hall, with a suite of parlors, handsomely furnished, and a commodious dining-room. A bar, stores and hotel waiting-rooms will also be architectural features of the first story.

Immediately above the first floor will be the mezzanine floor for the ladies' parlors, sitting-room, billiard rooms and places of recreation. On the upper floors will be 180 rooms, with baths connected. The hotel will be heated with steam. Two elevators will be installed.

BRICKS FROM PETROLEUM. A foreign correspondent of the Department of Commerce and Labor writes that Professor de Humy, French scientist, has invented a process by which petroleum can be converted into solid bricks as hard as anthracite coal. Common petroleum oil, it is asserted, has been thus solidified, and the blocks in burning give off an intense heat and are slowly consumed. One ton of solid petroleum used as fuel is said to be equivalent to thirty tons of coal. The comparative cost of the two forms remains to be ascertained.—Richmond Leader.

SCHOHARIE REJECTS HEARST. SCHOHARIE, N. Y., Oct. 21.—Schoharie County, a loyal Democratic stronghold and the only county in New York State that returned a majority for Bryan, will refuse to accept Hearst as a true candidate of the Democracy. The county will vote for the largest vote in its history. This forecast was made after a three days' driving tour of the county by a press representative sent thither to investigate.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Oct. 21.—W. R. Hearst, in response to questions asked regarding Murphy's appearance before the Grand Jury, made this statement tonight: "The first day when these charges were first made, I said that they were nothing more than a stupid campaign falsehood. They have proved to be exactly that, both false and stupid. There has been much needless and baseless criticism of the so-called Gilsey House clique, or executive committee of the Independence League, from which I have frequently been specifically excluded. Murphy's statement is not any more false or foolish than other statements that have been made, and I am distinctly glad that he made the statement and that he was put under oath before the Grand Jury and compelled to say it was baseless and reckless."

LEPER'S FOOD POISONED. CLARKSBURG, Va., Oct. 21.—The body of George Raschid, the Syrian leper, was cremated today at Pickens. The shanty in which he had been staying was set on fire and his body was consumed with it. It is now declared that Raschid was given poison with his food.

It is asserted that the drum was the first musical instrument used by human beings.

HERMAN HELLMAN LAID TO REST.

One Thousand Mourners Gather at Funeral of the Deceased Capitalist

ALL CLASSES GRIEVE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—One thousand people attended the funeral in this city today of the late Herman W. Hellman, bank president, financier and man of large affairs. Side by side the rich, who had been his associates, and the poor, who had shared his beneficent charities, passed in almost endless file by his bier. The services were held at the family home, 953 South Hill street, and were conducted by Rabbi S. Hecht, pastor of the Beth Brit Congregation of which Mr. Hellman was a chief member. In his eulogium, Dr. Hecht said: "As the needle turns over to the north so the heart of this good man turned to his own fireside; the warmth of his love and the brightness of his character radiated from his home as rays of sunlight into all the channels of his busy life."

At the grave in the new Jewish cemetery, on Boyle Heights, stood representatives of the Merchants' National Bank, of which the deceased was president; the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, the Security Savings Bank, the Los Angeles Clearing-House Association, the Concordia Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the Home Telephone Company, and delegations from the several fraternal organizations in which Mr. Hellman held membership. More than 200 floral pieces, of unusual beauty, were banked about the grave. Indicative of the breadth of Mr. Hellman's acquaintance and the esteem in which he was held is the fact that telegrams of condolence to the number of 500 from all parts of the United States and from abroad have been received at the Hellman home.

MILLIONAIRE KILLS HIMSELF.

PARSONS, W. Va., Oct. 21.—Worth B. Jennings of Jennings town, a millionaire, president of the First National Bank at Hendricks, shot and killed himself today. Despondency due to ill health is said to have been the cause.

TRANSPORT BUG RAISED.

SEBASTOPOLE, Oct. 21.—The transport Bug was raised today. The Bug, with more than 500 pyroxillin mines and a great quantity of ammunition on board, was sunk here in 1905 during the Russian war, for fear that she would fall into the hands of the mutineers.

MOBBED FOR ASSAULT.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 21.—At Mapleton today Claude Fisher, a farm hand, was rescued from a mob after he is said to have confessed having attacked Minnie Baker, a schoolteacher, who was found unconscious last night in a thicket. She is in a precarious condition.

FOR RAILWAY TO YUCATAN.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—It is stated that a company has been organized under the laws of the State of Maine, with a capital of $4,000,000, for the purpose of building a railroad from Mexico City to Merida, Yucatan. W. G. Slevier is president.

MINERS OF THE WORLD.

More than half the total miners of the world were in 1904 engaged in getting coal. Great Britain employing over 333,000, the United States 544,000, Germany 543,000, France 171,000, Belgium 138,000, Austria 119,000 and India nearly 83,000. The total output of coal was 856,000,000 tons, of the estimated value of more than $1,475,000,000.

WHEN VISITING THE POPE.

People who are received by the Pope must appear in full evening dress, although the hour is usually 11 o'clock in the morning. The outer office looks like that of a good New York lawyer, pleasant secretary in secular garb meets the visitors. All is very simple, not in the least awe-inspiring. Visitors must kneel and kiss the Pope's hand.
