

LITTLE BABY CURED OF ECZEMA
Parents Applied to Hospitals and Doctors but Could Get No Relief—Grew Worse Under Doctor's Prescription—Friends Recommended Cuticura—Result

A SPEEDY AND PERMANENT CURE

"We express to you herewith our best thanks for the cure of our baby from eczema. The eczema appeared when the child was three months old. We applied to several doctors and hospitals, each of which gave us something different every time, but nothing brought relief. A physician recommended a salve which we threw into the fire after two days' use as the eczema became worse so that the baby scratched his face. At last, one of our friends recommended to us Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. A few days afterwards improvement could be noted. Since then we have used nothing but Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and now the baby is six months old and is quite cured. All that we used was one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes Cuticura Ointment, costing in all $1.25. Even the poorest man can pay that instead of throwing it into the doctor's lap. I myself only make twelve dollars a week as a teamster, but I recommend the Cuticura Remedies strongly to all mothers whose children suffer from such diseases. They are cheap, harmless and good. C. F. Kara and Wife, 343 East 6th Street, New York, March 30, 1906."

FOR SORE HANDS

Soak the hands on retiring, in a hot, creamy lather of Cuticura Soap. Dry and anoint freely with Cuticura Ointment, and in severe cases spread the ointment on thin pieces of old linen or cotton. Wear during the night old, loose, kid gloves, with the finger ends cut off and holes cut in the palms, or a light pad of old cotton.

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Form of Itch, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap, 25c in Cans, and Cuticura Ointment, 50c to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Pills (Chloroform Compound) per bottle, 50c. Sold throughout the world. Fuller Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass., Depots: London, Newbery, 27, Chancery Lane, E.C. 4, London; Melbourne, 10, Market Street, Victoria; San Francisco, 10, Market Street, California.

DRUNKEN MOTHER NEGLECTS BABE

Annie King, drunk and with a three-weeks-old girl baby in her arms, was arrested last night and locked up at the Central Detention Hospital. The babe, in a precarious condition, was taken away from the mother and turned over to the matron of the hospital. Its condition was extremely serious because of the exposure to which it had been subjected, and as a result it probably will die.

The King woman was discharged from the City and County Hospital yesterday, where the infant was born. Later, after purchasing a quart bottle of whisky, she wandered into a house at 400 Geneva avenue, and, taking possession of a room rented by the street carmen, refused to get out. When entreaties had failed to remove her, Police Officer O'Callahan was summoned from the Mission station and the woman was taken into custody. Besides being booked for drunkenness she was charged with cruelty to a minor child.

TURN VEREIN MASQUE BALL

The athletes of the San Francisco Turn Verein will don fantastic garb at the annual masquerade ball to be given by the organization at 552 Turk street, February 24. The event will be the first affair of the sort held in the new clubhouse and gymnasium. Special features have been arranged for the evening. The Turn Verein anticipates sending a team of athletes to the international tournament to be held in Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, in 1908.

CLERKS GIVE GOLD DEAL TO ARDENT ST. VALENTINE

Postal Employees Balk at Extra Hour and Gaudy Love Tokens Lie Unsorted

COMPLAIN AGAINST FOREMAN DONNELLY

With 25,000 valentines perfumed with messages of love piled up in the post-offices, twenty-six clerks put on their coats at 2:30 yesterday morning and refused to work any longer. They had finished a toilsome eight hours' labor and they gave Foreman Donnelly to understand that the request of Postmaster Eisek that they should work for nine hours to relieve the congestion without additional compensation was too much for human nature to endure. The result was that the bulk of the tender mistle was not delivered until very late in the day.

The fact that the postoffice clerks throughout the United States have organized the Postoffice Clerks' Union, with membership in the American Federation of Labor, gave rise to many wild reasons that the whole force had walked out on strike for eight hours. But such did not appear to be the case. The letter carriers are protected by act of Congress and are allowed to toll more than eight hours in any one day, under penalty of immediate discharge, but other employees are not so fortunate and are supposed to work until given permission to leave. Assistant Postmaster McClaughrey said yesterday that there was no eight-hour law or regulation for other than carriers, but that it was the policy of the department to keep the time down as near to eight hours as possible. Thus the average daily time during January was 8 hours 43 minutes, this average being brought up by the station men, who work nine hours, but the station men do not work at night. Late yesterday afternoon twenty clerks called upon Postmaster Eisek and informed him that it was not that they objected to being on duty longer than eight hours, but because the foreman, D. F. Donnelly, had discriminated against their shift and made them work longer than other shifts, which they considered to be discrimination against them. Eisek promised to investigate the matter and relieve the situation. The men went back to work cheerfully.

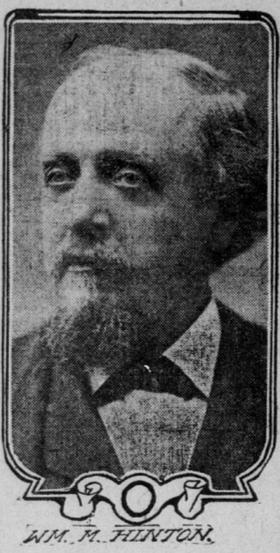

BANK CLEARINGS FOR WEEK

That good weather is a factor in business activity is seen in the clearing house figures for the current week, which show even greater gains than those recently published. As stated by the California Promotion Committee, the clearings in San Francisco for the week ending Thursday, noon, February 14, 1907, were $51,319,391.48, as against $47,458,808.47 for the week immediately preceding and $49,520,551.28 for the corresponding period a year ago. In these figures a present gain is shown of $2,861,088.01, over last week and $10,758,540.20, or almost 27 per cent, over the corresponding week of 1906. It should be borne in mind, in this connection, that before the fire the clearings of Oakland were made through the San Francisco clearing house, while since that event such has not been the case. The clearings for Oakland during the week were $3,835,202.80, which, added to those of San Francisco, make a grand total for the two cities of $55,154,594.28. The clearings at San Jose for the current week were $570,544.55.

LIGHT FOR MISSION DISTRICT

The Supervisors' light committee decided yesterday to provide lights in Sixteenth street, from Guerrero to Howard, and in Mission street, from Fifteenth to Army, in response to a petition filed by the Mission Promotion Association and other organizations in the district. Chairman Sam Davis of the light committee assured the petitioners that the Supervisors would allow $3000 for the electric current if the petitioners would furnish the arc lamps, which they agreed to do. It is intended to install ten lights in each block, with the exception of those in Mission street from Twentieth to Army, which will have two lights to each block.

Wm. M. Hinton Is Summoned to His Final Rest

Wm. M. Hinton.

William M. Hinton, a pioneer publisher of this city, for many years connected with municipal affairs, was summoned yesterday by the reaper at his home, 446 Ashbury street. The aged printer was stricken suddenly and expired at ten minutes past 12 o'clock, almost before medical aid could be summoned. He had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for more than eighteen years, and his end was expected by his family.

The passing of the aged pioneer recalls to the minds of the old residents of the city the eventful career of the deceased. Coming to California in March, 1853, Hinton at once sought work at his trade as a printer. He soon laid the foundation of the firm of Hinton & George, through his association with Henry George. Later Hinton founded the Evening Post and engaged in a general publishing business. He was intimately associated with the founders of The Call and Bulletin.

In middle life Hinton entered the political field as a public minded citizen, and was chosen Supervisor. He also served under Governor Budd as Registrar of Voters in this city and filled the chair of Dr. Stanton of the railroad commission upon the death of the physician. Hinton was well known in all municipal circles under the old regime, and was said at one time to have as many friends as any man in San Francisco.

Being interested in politics, Hinton had many acquaintances, but during his last few years he was pitifully deserted. His friends of former times had passed away. In the early hours of the morning the old man was frequently seen on the streets, wandering disconsolately, a relic of past decades. Hinton was 77 years of age, and a native of London. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. M. E. Hinton, and his three sons, I. T. Hinton, W. M. Hinton Jr., Guy Hinton, and a daughter, Mrs. Ada Hinton Moody.

PLANS READY FOR COURT HOUSE

The plans for the temporary home of the courts, which is to be erected on the Polytechnic High School lot, at Bush and Stockton streets, have been completed and work on the $50,000 building is to be rushed. Judge Carroll Cook planned the arrangement of the building and his ideas have been carried out by the architects.

The new judicial building, as it has been suggested to name the structure, will be a three-story and basement building of wood and brick, the basement being made fireproof for the storing of records of the Law Library and Sheriff's and County Clerk's offices. The first floor will contain five justices' courts, a room for the Justice's Clerk, a room for the secretary of the Superior Judges, a reporters' room, the County Clerk's office, the Sheriff's office and the Law Library. On the second floor will be three large and four small courtrooms, with chambers and jury rooms, and the office of the District Attorney. The third floor will contain two more large courtrooms and three small courtrooms, with chambers and jury rooms. The building should be ready for occupancy by August.

TWO LODGERS ARE ROBBED OF LARGE SUMS OF MONEY

Olsen's Trunk Broken Open and $329 Extracted—Feeley's Pocket Relieved of $250 While He Slept

John Olsen, who lives at 822 Battery street, reported to the police yesterday that his trunk was broken open and $329 stolen. Morleyson, a fellow lodger, was arrested on suspicion. John J. Feeley, a guest at the Virginian Hotel, reported that while he was asleep $250 in gold was abstracted from his clothing. Roy Davidson, the night clerk, was arrested by Detectives Reagan and O'Connell on suspicion.

Tools and solder to the value of $90 were stolen from the Bay Sheet Metal Company. Boys in the neighborhood are suspected.

Mrs. Abe Kaplan of 1835 Ellis street reported to Captain Duke that she had lost a $25 gold watch while skating at the Dreamland rink Wednesday night.

William B. Hornblower, an errand boy employed by the California Jewelry Company, reported that he had dropped a package containing a diamond ring and an opal ring at Geary and Market streets. John McNulty, a newsboy, picked up the opal ring, but states that a stranger picked up the diamond ring, which was valued at $72.

CAMPOPIRE TOO ILL TO SING

"La Gioconda" was not sung last evening at the Central Theater, owing to the illness of Signorina Campopire, which was not reported to the house management until after 6 p. m. The double bill, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci," was substituted, however, and many of the people who had bought seats to hear the Ponchielli opera retained them and enjoyed the Mascagni and Leoncavallo works.

CRAFTY ORIENTAL DEFRAUDS BANK OF $8000

Chinese Victimizes an American Institution and Flees Across the Pacific

DETECTIVES SEEK TO LOCATE HIM

The Pinkerton detective agency and the police departments of Oakland and San Francisco are endeavoring to locate in China an American-born Mongolian, Woo Ang by name, who recently raised a draft from $5 to $8000, secured a bill of exchange for the latter sum, sailed across the Pacific and cashed the draft in Hongkong. At the custom-house it was stated yesterday that the institution thus victimized was the Central Trust Bank of Oakland. At the Oakland bank it was asserted that the fraud had been perpetrated upon an Eastern financial institution for which the Central Trust Bank acted as agent. The fact remains, however, that the wily Mongolian picked up $8000 of American gold, enough to make him a John D. Rockefeller among his people, and has buried his identity among 400,000,000 of his countrymen, much alike that a foreigner cannot distinguish between them.

The main hope of capturing the Oriental lies in the chance that, showing a disposition to splurge with his suddenly accumulated wealth, he may endow a college or two, build a hospital and otherwise give to charity, thus rendering himself conspicuous. The police see another opportunity in the fact that he might some day return to America, where he could be identified upon landing at San Francisco by the photograph and Bertillon measurements which were taken at the time of his departure.

On January 7 the Chinese, dressed in the height of fashion and with his hair cut in American style, approached the cashier of the bank and presented a draft, supposed to be for $8000, drawn on the Hanover Bank of New York. When told that he must be identified, he stated that that would be easy, but as he did not desire to secure the cash on this side of the Pacific, he merely asked for a bill of exchange on a bank in Hongkong. He said the draft was given him by a man named Wang in a small Kentucky town. The Chinese added that he intended to leave on the steamer the next day for China, and the cashier of the bank believing he would have ample opportunity to ascertain if the paper was good before Woo reached Hongkong, gave him the bill of exchange.

But Woo cashed his bill of exchange in Hongkong before the fraud was discovered and beyond the fact that he is China, the detectives have no clue to his whereabouts.

POLITICAL ECONOMY LECTURES

Professor A. C. Miller of the University of California will deliver three lectures on political economy before the members of the Mechanics' Institute. The dates and subjects are as follows: February 20, "The French Indemnity: An Episode in International Exchange"; March 20, "Commercial Crises: The Cause of Their Periodical Recurrence"; April 24, "Capitalistic Combinations: A Study of Current Tendencies in the Organization of Business."

DIVORCED COUPLE WAR OVER GEMS

Miss Maud Lux of 2117 Howard street, the divorced wife of William Howard Baker, appeared before Bond and Warrant Clerk McCarthy yesterday and asked that a warrant be issued for the arrest of her former spouse for the theft of $6500 worth of jewelry. She alleged that her safe deposit box at the Western National Bank had been opened and the jewels taken. The case was of such importance that Detective Harry Braig was detailed. He ascertained that the jewelry, amounting to $5000, was safe in the bank, but that the ex-husband had a lease $100 worth of jewelry belonging to his former wife.

In making the complaint Miss Lux said that she had been married to Baker eight years ago. Mutual differences caused them to separate. After the divorce about a year ago, she incurred a heavy loss of money for the companionship of her former spouse and made advances. He apparently received them, although at the same time he is said to have placed the majority of his affections in the keeping of another woman. The former wife was aware of this fact, but thought if she showed her former husband a sufficient amount of confidence and love he would return to her. The result was that he secured two diamonds from her valued at $1600 and created the suspicion that he had gone to the bank and secured the $5000 worth of jewelry. She insisted on a warrant and said she would appear today to get it.

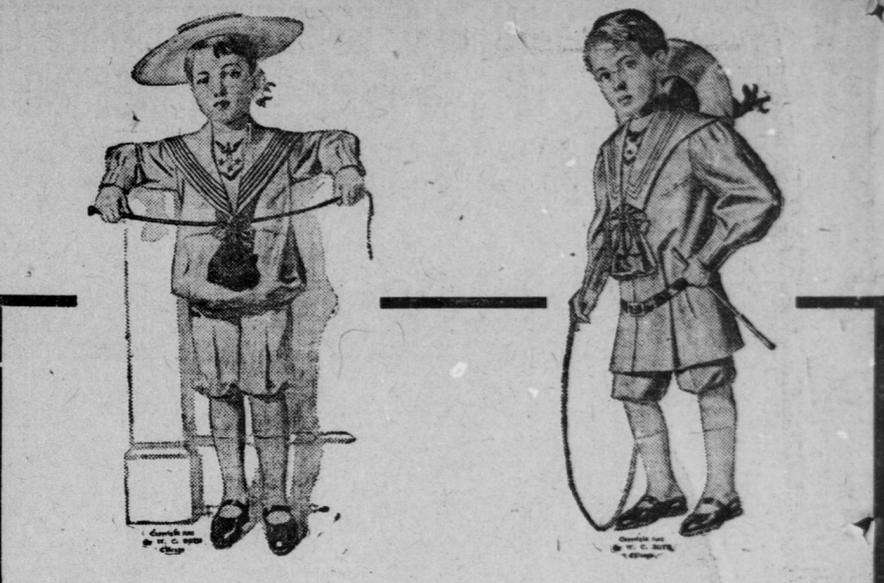

INSULTER OF GIRL IS ARRESTED

Anna Bandjord, a 17-year-old girl, complained to Police Judge Cabanis yesterday that she had been approached at the corner of O'Farrell and Webster streets by a man unknown to her, who insisted on making her acquaintance. He then followed her until she encountered Special Police Mark, who placed the fellow under arrest and took him to the Bush-street station. There he gave his name as George T. Woodbury and his occupation as a foreman brick mason. He was released on $25 bail. When Judge Cabanis heard of the proceedings he raised the bail to $100 and ordered the arrest of the defendant.
