The Seals showed a lot of speed yesterday—enough, in fact, to bring a couple of victories across. But the best they got was one. They had several chances on the Commuters at Oakland in the morning and pranced home by a score of 5 to 2. They could not go the whole route in the afternoon and after ten innings of the sort of baseball that makes the true fan toss his hat in the air the Commuters landed, 4 to 3.

The series went to the "Commuters," four games to three, and thereby gave the Angels a slide the better of it in the run after the flag. It was the same old story with San Francisco—many chances against the Oaks, but never a clean cut set of victories.

When the ninth inning came to a close at the Valencia street park, the teams were tied, the score reading 3 for each. San Francisco made a many errors in its half of the tenth, but fell down. The fans were hopeful, however, for they figured that Oakland, with its weak batters to the front, would not gather any runs.

Here they made the big mistake. They forgot that Billy Hogan, the pitcher, is one lad who can sting the ball. He proved it by making a two bagger on the first one that Willis tossed at him. Van Halten, the runner, sent him to third and ere the rooters for the home team had a chance to office for their bearings, Papa Van Halten sapped the leather against the right field fence and then everybody went home, most of them with sorrow in their hearts, for it was a San Francisco crowd through and through.

It was too bad that the Seals lost that game—the one that meant the series to them and perhaps a chance for the pennant. They had a Texas League times on Willis, who pitched better ball than at any other time since he consented to wear a uniform with "S. F." stamped on it. But fate seemed to stick out all along the line and the best the Seals could do was to swing on the ball and hope for better innings.

Oakland followed the traditional form in basing in a run in the first. Smith walked, Van Halten pitched, walked and Smith unloaded a two bagger to center. In the third, the Seals came back. Spencer started it with a long drive, Van Halten pitched, and took third on a bunt. Hogan registered as Shaugnessy unloaded a fly to center.

The Seals took the lead for half an inning in the fifth. Williams hit and took second in the second and third. Street forced him at the plate and went to second while the play was being made. He was given an opportunity a moment later to register on Hogan's hit to first.

The Oaks tied up the result in their half of the same span and then the deadlock held good until the eighth, when the transbay wallpoppers came to the front again. The leader of the band hit and his scholar, Helms, sacrificed him along. A wild pitch helped him to third and Eagan's long fly to center did the rest.

But the Seals were there for a battle. They showed their rally in the ninth. Wheeler lifted a Texas Leagueer, while Smith neglected to gather. Hillie was there with the bunt at the opportune moment and just to show a feat that he has not left his batting eye at the training table, the runner Irwin dispatched one into the right garden that tied up the score.

The Seals managed to get Spencer as far as third in their half of the tenth, but again the ball was quickly hit one to Hogan. The ball was quickly fielded to the pan and the runner called by as many feet as the fans see fit to figure out. When the Commuters espied their chance in their half of the same span, they did not overlook it. The score:

SUMMARY

Two base hits—Biss, Spencer, Hogan. Sacrifices—Van Halten, Wheeler, Higdon. Errors—Helm, Smith, Fielder on call.

In the morning game Bill Wright gave so many bases on balls and was so wild that the Seals could not help winning. Four runs on five hits is pretty easy, but this is what San Francisco did. Oakland in the meantime outplayed the home team two to one, but Oscar Jones was steady and looked his men over carefully before he took any chances. Therefore, San Francisco's victory is not to be wondered at.

Wallace Trophy Is Won by Sloop Perhaps

Gain Victory Through Sharp Fielding and Opposing Team's Errors

SLIPPERY WINDS FROM THE WEST MADE THE WALLACE TROPHY RACE WITH THE ALERT ON THE BAY.

OAKLAND, July 28.—Jack Sherry's sloop Perhaps won the Wallace trophy today from Tommy Kendall's Alert. His only competitor in a race brought off by the California yacht club. The Alert suffered an accident to its steering gear while off Meigs wharf and though it got under way again after repairs had been made it failed to finish. The Perhaps had a seemingly decisive lead at the time of the accident, so its victory was not a hollow one.

The course was laid from the Alameda steaming gear and the craft dropped out of the contest. Sherry finished in two hours and twenty minutes, elapsed time.

The Wallace trophy is a silver cup about 24 inches high and is regarded as the most valuable prize in the club's gift. Sherry won it two years ago, only to lose it to Kendall last year. Following his victory over his rival he called the craft dropped out.

An attempt was made to run off the race, but in a collision between the steamer President and a pile driver swung against the Perhaps the steamer was damaged. A postponement of the race was the result.

Members of the club are making preparations to follow the Valkyrie-Discovery match race on August 3 and every craft owned by club members will be taken out.

PRaises Miss Sutton

NEW YORK, July 28.—Beals C. Wright, the American tennis expert, who with Karl H. Behr was sent to England by the United States lawn tennis association to contest for the Dwight F. Davis cup, returned this morning on the Cunard liner Umbria from Liverpool.

Referring to Miss Sutton, Wright said that she was very popular in England.

"Without trainer," he said, "alone, without winner, manager or tennis adviser, and her victory was a remarkable one. Americans should be proud of her. She and I together won the mixed doubles and I found her to be a great player."

PERNOLLA HAS BAD SPELL

Portland's New Twirler Loses Game in the Sixth Period

PORTLAND, July 28.—Pernolla, Portland's new twirler, who has been hailed as a wizard, was defeated today in the Sunday matinee 4 to 0. The youngster met his Waterloo in the sixth canto, when the Angels tore off a number of hits and galloped around the bases until the bell changed four times. These were the only runs made during the game.

But for this bad inning the new pitcher gave a fine exhibition. He demonstrated that with a little experience he will be able to play like a veteran.

Portland got into the error column as usual at critical times. Los Angeles will remain here another week. The score:

STOCKTONIANS ON TPLAY ALAMEDA AGGREGATION

Gain Victory Through Sharp Fielding and Opposing Team's Errors

ALAMEDA, July 28.—In a game that was witnessed by 3,500 lovers of the national pastime the Stocktonians of the state league conquered the Alamedas at Recreation park this afternoon, 4 to 1. The team work and diamond play of the visitors, together with some brainless stunts on the part of several members of Manager Schroeder's aggregation, encompassed the downfall of the local team. Although Alameda lined out more than twice the number of hits of Stockton, the Stocktonians garnered from the delivery of Hopkins, it was incapable of making them count. The score:

PRUNE PICKERS LIVE UP

Win the Game When Seitz Goes Into the Air for an Inning

SAN JOSE, July 28.—San Jose broke the hoodoo this afternoon by defeating San Francisco, 5 to 3. All five runs of the locals were made in the third inning, when Seitz went into the air and was touched for four hits. Except for this inning Seitz pitched good ball. Krause had excellent control, holding the visitors to four hits. Ordway, the new local man in center, proved to be a star.

San Francisco scored in the fourth inning just after the locals had reaped their full harvest from Seitz. Arrelana error brought in two runs. In the eighth the visitors landed another. The score:

Lightweights Virtually Complete Their Work and Express Satisfaction at Condition

By R. A. Smyth

It is well for the peace of mind of the great army of men who intend to have wagers on Battling Nelson in his fight with Jimmy Britt in the Auditorium rink on Wednesday night that they did not see Britt's last stiff workout yesterday in his training quarters at Shannon's villa, near San Rafael. It is necessary to think hard of the Dane's wonderful achievements in the ring since January, 1904, which period marks the beginning of the era of his important battles, to offset the impression gained while watching Britt at work.

Whatever weakness the stress of competition in the ring may develop, there seemed no weak spot yesterday, and if his nervous force is equal to his muscular strength he should be able to step the full 20 rounds at a fast pace. Britt is in deadly earnest over his meeting with the Dane and this time he expects to mix brains with muscle in an attempt to retrieve the laurels he lost when they met two years ago at Colma. Britt has a serious look on his face these days, but his intimates say he is going about his allotted training tasks with a song and a jest on his lips.

HARD TRAINING ENDS

With the fight only three days away both boxers put in their hardest work yesterday, and whatever they do from this time on will be only with a view to retaining the condition they have built up during their outings in the mountains and in the "polishing off" work they have done in the gymnasium. They have worked on different systems, Nelson seeking merely to get into the most rugged health, feeling sure of his ability as a fighter, while Britt has practiced all the arts of the boxer, with a view to offsetting Nelson's wonderful natural ability.

Britt gives the impression of stripping big at the present time, his muscles being all sharply defined. He is hitting hard and with marked precision. In this respect it is easy to pick out his sparring partners from the spectators in his training quarters, as they all have the trade mark of their calling imprinted on their countenances.

CAPTAIN WESTPHAL WINS GERMANIA CLUB'S SHOOT

Pacific Humane Society Sends Revolver Corps to the Range

OAKLAND, July 28.—Captain August Westphal, who joined the Germania schutzen club recently, made good today when he captured the monthly bulletseye shoot of that organization. Until the recently Westphal was a member of the San Francisco club.

A new organization, the Pacific Humane society, put in an appearance at the range today and confined its efforts to the pistol exclusively. It will begin to use the rifle later. C. R. Wilcox suggested six months ago the advisability of forming a revolver club, as the members of the society were allowing their weapons to become rusty.

Mark Iverson, George Sylvester, H. Kleversahl and E. Kleversahl, prominent shotgun performers, have announced their intention of abandoning the shot for the bullet and will be seen hereafter at the Shell Mound ranges. The scores in the various competitions today follow:

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY TRAIN

SAN RAFAEL, July 28.—William Turpey, a young man in the employ of the Morse detective agency, was killed last evening near San Anselmo, Turpey was about to board an incoming train when he slipped and fell beneath the car wheels. Turpey was a resident of Sausalito.

SANTA ROSA HORSEMEN PROUD OF SONOMA GIRL

Career of Trotting Queen Being Watched With Interest

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

SANTA ROSA, July 28.—Sonoma Girl's great record at Libertyville and Detroit, on the grand circuit, has aroused great interest in Santa Rosa, where the little mare was bred and raised. Horsemen are especially proud of the fact that Santa Rosa is the only town in the country which has sent two winners of the classic Merchants' and Manufacturers' stakes since the race was established in 1886. This event was won several years ago by Stanley Dillon.

There are a number of young horses in this vicinity which give great promise, one being California Dillon, owned by Mrs. Frank S. Turner. This little mare failed to make good as a trotter and was put on the track as a pacer on June 30. Since that time she has gradually reduced her time until this week she made a mile in 2:25 1/2, last half in 1:13 1/2, last quarter in 32 1/2. Later another half was made in 1:36 1/2, quarter in 36 1/2, which is a 2:15 gait.

S. B. Wright, who bred Sonoma Girl, has a colt which he believes will be the best animal ever bred in harness. The program for the August meetings of the Pacific coast trotting horse breeders' association has been received and shows a magnificent card for the races in this city. Never in the history of the association has a larger list of entries been received. The program for the four days follows:

Wednesday, August 14, 2:14 class trotting (12 entries), $800; 2:21 class trotting, California stakes (13 entries), $2,000; 2:12 class pacing (13 entries), $800.

Thursday, August 15, two year old trotting division, $800; 2:21 class trotting, California stakes (15 entries), $800; three year old pacing division, futurity stakes No. 4, $1,200.

Friday, August 16, 2:14 class trotting, California stakes No. 5, $850; three year old trotting division, futurity stakes No. 4, $2,000; 2:14 class pacing, California stakes (13 entries), $2,000; 2:10 class trotting (8 entries), $1,000.

MANY MATCHES PLAYED

Numerous tennis matches were played yesterday in the continuous tournament at the California club. Charles Foley won two matches when he beat Frank Mitchell and Harry Elliott. Mitchell surprised the spectators by taking the first set from his younger opponent, but the veteran couldn't keep up the fast pace and Foley won the second set 6-2 and 6-1.

The Long-Foley match was the best of the day. The real struggle commenced after each had won a 6-2 set. The third set was up to 6-6, when Foley took the next two games.

Charles Foley beat Frank Mitchell, 4-6, 6-2, 6-0; H. E. Punnett beat H. Blaisdell, 6-3, 6-0, 6-0; G. Knoviton, as usual, figured in more matches than any other contestant. He lost in straight sets on Saturday to Harry Elliott, but turned the tables yesterday. Elliott won only two games in as many sets. Knoviton also won a three set match from Fitz Guarin.

Can't Miss It

So many ailments are purely nervous affections, that you can hardly miss it if you try Dr. Miles' Nerve. It restores nervous energy—and through its invigorating influence upon the nervous system, the organs are strengthened. The heart action is better; digestion improved, the sluggish condition overcome, and healthy activity re-established.

"Dr. Miles' Nerve is worth its weight in gold to me. I did not know what ailed me. I had a good physician but got no relief. I could not eat, sleep, work, sit or stand, was nearly crazy. One day I picked up a paper and the first thing that met my eyes was an advertisement of Dr. Miles' Nerve. I concluded to try it and led the doctor go, and I did so. After taking two bottles I could dress myself. Then I took three more bottles and now I can work, sit and go out, and have told many the benefit I have received from these remedies. Several of them have been cured by it since. I am fifty-nine years old and pretty good."

ANNIE R. PALMER, Lewistown, Pa. Dr. Miles' Nerve is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the great bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

MAGAZINE TELLS OF STATE'S TROUT STREAMS

August Issue of Promotion Committee's Publication Is Work of Merit

The fishing interests of the state from the standpoint of sportsman and scientist, dealer and diner are exploited in the August number of the monthly magazine, "California," published by the California Promotion committee, which makes the plea that too little attention is paid to the fisheries and fish-filled streams which constitute one of the great attractions of the Golden state. In the mass of illustrated and descriptive literature spread over the world by state boosters it is stated by the publishers of California that scarcely any attention is paid to the enormous fishy wealth in the state's streams and lakes.

The fact is stated that the work of the government in establishing numerous fisheries at various advantageous points is given little or no attention. It is to be kept the supply of trout replenished after each open season has yielded up its tribute of the game to lovers of the sport. Dr. David Starr Jordan contributes an interesting article in the August issue.
