

DRIVEWAY REGULATING TROLLEYS IS PRESENTED

Sullivan's Measure for Public Safety Does Not Please Black

SPEED LIMIT FIXED

"Ten Miles an Hour Is Too Slow," Says Railroad Official

Supervisor Sullivan yesterday presented to the joint committee on streets, judiciary and public utilities an ordinance drafted by him to regulate the street trolleys of the city and prescribing rules and regulations for the protection of the public from the danger of inconvenience at the various stops. The ordinance was printed and copies of it will be mailed to the members of the board so that they may familiarize themselves with it and be ready to act upon it at the regular meeting next Monday.

The ordinance provides that the regular hours for operating the cars shall be between 5 a. m. and 1:30 a. m., and that on lines where there is no "owl" or all night service it must be continued. The company may extend its "owl" service, but shall not curtail or discontinue it without the consent of the supervisors.

Section 4 provides that within one year from the passage of the ordinance the companies must own and maintain plants to generate sufficient power to operate all cars required to carry with safety, comfort and convenience all passengers. Violation of this section is punishable by a fine of not less than $500 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. No car shall carry at one time passengers in excess of double its rated capacity.

The headway of cars on the different lines is fixed as follows: Ingleside and Mission, seven minutes, except between 7 and 9 a. m. (most of the morning and evening hours), when the headway shall be reduced to five minutes; Ocean View line, 5 minutes headway, three minutes during morning and evening hours; Market and Castro, three minutes; Market and Valencia, three minutes and two minutes; Castro, cable, five minutes; West Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth, six minutes and four minutes; Mission, Polk and Larkin, six and four minutes; McAllister, four and a half and three and a half minutes; Hayes and Ellis, seven and five minutes; Eddy and Fulton, four and two and a half minutes; Fillmore and Sixteenth, two minutes; Fillmore street, cable, four minutes; Divisadero extension, six minutes; Fulton street extension, seven and a half minutes; Jackson street extension, seven minutes; Presidio and Clement, eight minutes; Mission and Union, eight minutes; Sutter street, three and two minutes; Masonic avenue and Hayes, seven and five minutes; Ellis, Park and Ocean, four and three minutes; Haight, four and two and a half minutes; Howard and Polk, seven and a half minutes; Broadway and Brannan, eight minutes; Eighth and Eighteenth, five and three minutes; Railroad avenue, 10 minutes; Third and Kearny, five and three minutes; Powell street, cable, four minutes; South San Francisco line, 15 minutes.

SPEED IS LIMITED

The speed of cars is limited to eight miles an hour in the district bounded by Larkin, Ninth, Bryant streets and the bay, and street crossings must be approached at a speed not exceeding ten miles an hour. Cars in Fillmore street must not exceed eight miles an hour and approach crossings at a four mile an hour rate. In other sections of the city the cars must not run faster than 10 miles an hour and must not exceed six miles at crossings.

The ordinance specifies that cars must carry signs showing the line it is being operated upon. Failure to obey this section is punishable by a fine of $100 or imprisonment for not more than 30 days. Lighted transparencies must be carried on each car showing its terminal point, and the transparencies must be so colored that the cars of the different lines can be readily distinguished. All cars must be provided with fenders that will come within 2 inches of the rails. The ordinance then specifies that fenders, headlights and sand boxes be carried on each car to add to the safety of the public. The trolley system in use December 1, 1907, must be continued, and although it may be extended, it cannot be curtailed. The time schedule can at any time be changed by the supervisors, and the company must on the 15th of each month file with the clerk of the board a statement of the number of passengers carried and of all receipts and disbursements. Quarterly statements showing the number of persons killed and injured and the cause of the fatalities must also be filed with the supervisors. Every motorman or gripman must have at least two weeks' experience before being placed in charge of a car and negligent employees must not be retained in the service.

FEARS PUBLIC OUTCRY

Manager Black and Assistant Thornwell Mullally, who were present when the ordinance was read by Sullivan, stated to the committee that it would be impossible for the United Railroads to build power plants within the time prescribed if it had millions of dollars at its disposal, which it has not. Black also said that the hills in certain sections of the city make it impracticable to operate a trolley system on the hills. He said that the company was putting forth every energy to minimize accidents and that it was daily increasing the cars in service. Black said that 450 cars are being operated daily, an increase of 150 within the past few months. He concluded by saying that the speed limit placed on the cars would prove unsatisfactory and cause general complaint, as the cars would not travel fast enough to suit the public.

TO LEAVE CLEAR DECK

Supervisors' Committees Try to Make Way Plain for Successors

Several of the standing committees of the supervisors held long sessions yesterday to clear up the business before them, so that when the members of the incoming board take office there will be but little unfinished work remaining. The finance committee listened to the claims presented by contractors who were engaged on city work at the time of the April disaster and allowed them

PRUNE KNIGHTS AND PEACH DOGS DISAPPEAR

Change in Method of Advertising California Is Demanded

FILCHER TO BLAME

Promotion Committee Objects to His Singleness of Mind

The California Promotion committee has entered a protest against the ideas of J. A. Filcher, secretary of the state agricultural society, as exemplified in the prune knights and peach dogs which have been the star feature of the California exhibits at the various expositions, and suggests that in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition the zoological idea be abandoned and more modern methods employed.

The appropriation are in charge of Filcher and Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce. The prune knights, walnut elephants and peach dogs which have represented California at every exposition, originated in the brain of Filcher. Originally they interested children and caused a little comment among the adults, many of whom believed that the chief industry of the state was gluing together walnuts and peaches and prunes to represent animals. Filcher was proud of his idea, and the prune knights and walnut elephants represented California again. As the years passed other methods were employed by other states, but Filcher hung on to the prune knight and the walnut elephant with the tenacity of a bulldog to the coat tails of a burglar.

During the last few years various efforts have been made to dislodge Filcher and Wiggins, but without success. The German department seemed pleased with the elephants and knights, and Filcher kept the job and the idea. When $100,000 was appropriated for the St. Louis exposition it was the understanding that Filcher and his menagerie would not have anything to do with this state's exhibit. Pardee, then governor, agreed and Filcher was ousted—to be reappointed when the appropriation had been made. The knight and the elephant once more represented California at the St. Louis exposition, and Filcher was reappointed.

"I hope," said Ralston yesterday, "that the work of the California Promotion committee in protesting against the worn out ideas of Filcher will awaken the people of the state to the stupid manner in which our resources have been exhibited. I consider Filcher thoroughly incompetent and have not hesitated to tell him so personally. The mining exhibit at St. Louis, to be inelegant, was rotten."

Now comes the California Promotion committee with an emphatic protest against childlike exhibitions. The prune knight, it suggests, should be buried and the peach dog relegated to the pile of sorrowful memories. In order to promulgate its views the committee has sent to each newspaper and each commercial building a circular letter, clearly setting forth the proper kind of exhibition by which the state should be represented in Seattle in 1909. The circular contains the following:

The committee advocates that a building typically California be erected in Seattle which building all the people of the state will have recognition. There should be an exhibition of the building, and the people should go to make up California life—works by the best California painters, sculptors and writers, going back to the individual life of the state, accessible to all people. In addition to this a lecture series of lectures on California will be constantly given by men competent to talk, the lectures illustrated by stereopticon slides. The building should be so arranged that it would be useful for large receptions and gatherings. It is desirable that at other exhibitions the state buildings where the main feature is the state building, be erected. With such an exhibition it is believed the erroneous ideas regarding the state which were created by the continued display of the prune knight and the walnut elephant will be eradicated.

The following sums: Pacific Coast construction company, $13,289.47, for work on Sixth street sewer; J. J. Dowling, 75 per cent of his claim for $6,116.64 for paving Harrison street; C. S. Harney, $2,257.57 for paving Fourth street; City Street Improvement company, $2,533.24 for paving Fourth street between Howard and Channel and $2,787.79 for paving Valencia street between Eighteenth and Nineteenth, and Healy & Tibbitts, $2,737 for sewer work in Baker street. A claim presented by Flinn & Treacy for $1,118.47 was rejected. The firm had a contract to construct a sewer in Pacific street, and had only commenced the work of excavating when disaster overtook the city. They subsequently completed their contract, and the claim presented yesterday was for removing debris from the street to permit them to complete the sewer. The committee decided that the city was only liable for the sewer work and not for the removal of the debris, as it had not been ordered by the supervisors. Bills for automobile hire, for city officials, aggregating $2,748.90, were ordered paid.

The health and police committee directed that A. Paladini, who has a contract with the city to furnish fish to the Potrero hospital, pay a claim presented by the Western fish company. Some time ago fish sent to the city and county hospital was found to be unfit for use and a supply was purchased from the Western fish company at 12 1/2 cents per pound, while Paladini's contract price is 4 1/2 cents. The committee decided that Paladini is responsible for the bill, and not the city.

On the representation of Dr. O'Neill that the services of a stenographer and book keeper are necessary at the isolation hospital, the committee rescinded its former action in declaring the position vacant. A young woman fills both positions at a monthly salary of $75.

The fire committee directed Engineer Boage of the Western Pacific company to appear before it next Thursday and explain why the corporation has been hastening and tunneling under streets in the Potrero without first having secured permission from the supervisors. Property owners in the Potrero district entered complaint with the committee that their homes were being damaged by blasting.

The Most Notable Excursion of Recent Years to Old Mexico

Monday, January 6, 1908, one of the handsomest appointed trains that has ever left the city will be dispatched from the Third and Townsend streets depot at 2 p. m. for the City of Mexico, and be handled under the auspices of the Potrero without first having secured permission from the supervisors. Property owners in the Potrero district entered complaint with the committee that their homes were being damaged by blasting.

Millsbaugh of the State Normal, Los Angeles, and on "Song Phraseology," by Miss Ruetta Lynch of Oakland, were well received.

The physical geography department made another field excursion today up the coast.

The English department closed its work with the election of new officers. E. O. James of the Berkeley high school was elected president; Miss Mary A. Post of the Stockton high school, secretary; and Miss Winifred S. Bangs of the Stockton high school, secretary and treasurer.

The manual training and drawing teachers' section met in the Presbyterian church. Its program included "The Practice and Purpose of Manual Training in European Cities," by Percy Nilsson, supervisor of manual training at Fresno; "Committee Work vs. Individual Models," by M. J. Toyle, supervisor of manual training of San Francisco. This afforded opportunity for a discussion, which was led by Frank R. Cauch, supervisor of manual training of Oakland; Robert Leonard, supervisor of manual training of Berkeley, and Richard F. Phelps, supervisor of manual training of Alameda.

The place of the technical school in secondary education was dwelt upon by Edward F. Hewitt of San Francisco; J. W. McClintock, superintendent of schools of Oakland, and F. K. Barthel of the Polytechnic high school of San Francisco.

The Pacific Short Story club held another session of varied interest, and will conclude tomorrow. All sections and departments will close their work Friday afternoon.

FOUND DEAD BENEATH AN OVERTURNED AUTO

Elias D. Gardner, a Prominent Insurance Man of Red Bluff, Is Victim of Accident

REDDING, Jan. 2.—Elias D. Gardner, a prominent insurance man of Red Bluff, was found dead this afternoon a mile south of Cottonwood beneath his overturned automobile. He was traveling alone. The body was found on a level road by firemen fully an hour after the accident occurred.

A broken coupling was the cause. The machine turned half way around and then turned bottom side up. Gardner's skull was crushed. Gardner was a prominent Mason and grand standard bearer of the grand commandery Knights Templar. He was 40 years old and well known in Tehama county.

SPEAKER CANNON PLANS TO RUSH CURRENCY BILL

Senate Measure to Be Passed Without Reference to Committee

PRESIDENT APPROVES

Will Break Deadlock Among House Members on Financial Legislation

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Speaker Cannon, determined to force currency legislation called for by the business interests of the country, plans to rush through the house without reference to the usual committee a senate financial measure answering the requirements. This heroic program involves an agreement with the senate leaders who dominate the upper house. A currency bill will be agreed on by the senate finance committee immediately after the reassembling of congress, which will be rushed through and sent to the house for action.

President Roosevelt and Senators Aldrich, Allison and Hale have agreed to a plan which they believe will meet the situation. An agreement has been reached by them and Speaker Cannon by which financial legislation shall originate in the senate, because the members of the house committee on banking and currency are hopelessly deadlocked and there is no chance of the agreement on a bill that will relieve the situation.

Each member of the house committee has a pet scheme to which he is wedded, and there is not the slightest chance of divorcing them from their alleged pet schemes.

Speaker Cannon is aware of the desperate situation existing and is preparing to take steps which will make it possible to secure the necessary legislation in time the senate adopts the currency measure it will develop whether or not the banking and currency committee will recover its reason and prepare legislation which will relieve the financial stringency and prevent a panic.

It is the purpose of the speaker to have the committee on rules bring in a special rule providing for a vote by the house on the senate measure without changing or amending it in any particular. The senate will then allow 10 days' debate, at the expiration of which it will be put through the house.

QUICK VERDICT FAILS TO DAMPEN HER IRE

Osteopath's Wife Says She Will Kill Him When She Is Released

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—The fact that a jury returned a verdict of guilty in about six minutes, convicting her of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, did not subdue the fiery spirit of Mrs. Anna Starr, and as she was led from the criminal court by an officer this afternoon she almost shouted that she would "make a good job of it as soon as she served her sentence." Asked directly whether the proposition asked her husband she hissed, "You'll see," and then was led away to her cell.

The woman is the wife of Dr. A. N. Starr, an osteopath of Pasadena and a man of excellent reputation. They have lived apart for 13 years, but the woman has constantly kept a jealous eye upon the doctor. Late in November she called at his Pasadena office on business and there discovered him treating a female patient.

In a fit of jealous frenzy she pushed at the other woman, unslipping a big revolver from a newspaper as she ran, and had not Dr. Starr disarmed her a murder probably would have been committed. He handed her over to the police, and vigorously prosecuted her. She probably will be sent to the penitentiary.

MARYSVILLE OFFICIAL VICTIM OF AN ERROR

Unjustly Mentioned in Connection With Police Court Charges

In a Marysville dispatch published December 6 the Call was made to say that the city attorney of Marysville had been accused by the police of participating with other officials in a perversion of police court justice for their private advantage.

Investigation of the matter shows that the city attorney was not in any way connected in or connected with the affairs that gave rise to the police court scandal, and that no such charge had been made against him.

In Marysville, as elsewhere in California, the city attorney's office is not called upon to attend to matters in the police court, so that the mistake in the dispatch was obvious, at least in and about Marysville; but the Call prints this statement in order that the city attorney may not suffer in any way through an error as unintentional as it was regrettable.

LOUIS GIVERNAUD DEAD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—Louis Givernaud, a member of the firm of Givernaud Brothers, said to be the first to establish silk manufacturing in the United States, died here today at the age of 73 years. He came here two months ago from New York, intending to make Los Angeles his home. A son survives him. The deceased was born in Lyons, France, and came to this country with his brothers 40 years ago. Heart trouble was the immediate cause of death.

TEMPERANCE ADVOCATES ARE GIVEN A SURPRISE

Mrs. McCormick Will Not Be Patroness for Hospital Entertainment

EXPLAINS IN LETTER

Refuses Because Alcoholics Are Not Served on Doctors' Orders

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Chicago society people and temperance advocates were surprised by the announcement that Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, had refused to serve as a patroness for the entertainment to be given for the benefit of the Frances Ward hospital, because she was not in sympathy with a hospital that did not serve alcoholics even on the prescription of a physician.

Despite vigorous denials that Mrs. McCormick had been asked to serve as a patroness, her letter of refusal was exhibited. Mrs. McCormick's declination made the postponement of the entertainment from November to January 23 necessary. The following is the letter she addressed to Mrs. Margaret Ingelhart, president of the hospital:

"Your letter of October 29 is received. I am sorry that I am not able to let my name be used as a patroness for the concert to be given by Mr. Rudolph Ganz and other artists at Orchestra hall on Tuesday evening, November 19, for the benefit of the Frances Ward hospital. I do not feel wholly in sympathy with a hospital which does not permit I am not in sympathy with a hospital which does not permit of alcoholics under a doctor's prescription."

The appearance of the letter caused a sensation among the fashionable women and the temperance advocates. Many of the smart women were anxious to applaud the daughter of the world's richest man, and it is declared many were upon the verge of joining her in refusing the use of their names.

Why I Lost My Job

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers

I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know, and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along, it is usually "Your services are no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things "we" make ourselves, and the fruitful causes of failure in all walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this quick age our minds must be clear, rapid, active, and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "floaters" who go from one place of employment to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing and less useful.

Every man requires from every other man the best that is in him. But no man can use or get the best that is in himself until he is first free from all that is not his own. It is to be free from all that is not his own, that we must have a healthy stomach.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3,000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work, no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure brash, eruptions, burning sensations, bloating, irritations, loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, lack of energy, loss of memory, and dyspepsia and indigestion in their very worst form.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach torment, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest. Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store for 50c a package.
