

adjourned at noon without coming to a satisfactory settlement, and when it met again in the afternoon a price had already been set on the head of Chung Ning, the employe in the broom factory. The Hop Sings seemed to understand the fullness of the meeting. With the coming of darkness every highlander was out in the streets, but the committee argued on.

The Hop Sings declared their willingness to agree to peace, but inasmuch as the Ping Sings killed six deaths yet unavenged on their hands, they refused to come to terms. In the meantime Louie Ying, who up to the day before had been working by the side of Chung Ning in the broom factory, accompanied by another highlander, made their way to the factory, where Wong Jo, the proprietor, and Chung Ning and about 10 other Chinese workmen were weaving their brooms.

Louie Ying and his companion ran silently up the stairs to the workroom, burst open the door and sprang forward with drawn revolvers. Without a word Louie Ying aimed the weapon at Chung Ning and fired, the bullet smashing his wrist. Terror-stricken, Wong Jo and the other workmen fled to the sleeping rooms in the loft, but as they ran the companion of Louie Ying fired, shooting Wong Jo. One bullet entered his abdomen and the other his shoulder. Chung Ning, the man on whose head a price had been set, was except for the wound in the wrist, unharmed; but Wong Jo, who was severely injured, died almost instantly after the shooting, but throwing their revolvers from them, ran out of the building and escaped up the dark alley. By the time the police arrived—all trace of them had been lost.

WAR MAY BE GENERAL. Wong Jo and Chung Ning were taken to the central emergency hospital. Chinatown buzzed with excitement as the news of the shooting went the rounds. The workmen in the broom factory, some of whom are members of the warring gangs, barricaded their doors and took up their quarters in the loft, from which they would not descend until they were perfectly sure that the callers were not men of their own race.

As the war now stands, the Hop Sings, Hip Sings and Sam Yups are allied against the Ping Sings and the Sam Yups. The Hop Sings tried to enter the war through the killing of one of their members by mistake in Sacramento a few days ago.

Where the matter will stop is difficult to determine. The gangs and societies allied to those warring are showing signs of unrest. The fighting members of the clans have been called in from other cities and the Chinese butcher stalls are again displaying for sale the news of the shooting went the rounds. TOPPED FLAVALA JOINS WARSHIPS

Smaller Vessels Catch Up With Main Part of Fleet at Rio Janeiro

Rumor of Disaster to Flagship Wired From America Causes Amusement

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 17.—The American battleship fleet was joined today in the harbor of Rio Janeiro by the torpedo boat flotilla, consisting of six vessels, which arrived from Pernambuco and anchored near the 16 big battleships at 4:35 o'clock in the afternoon. The flotilla left Pernambuco January 13 and met with good weather on the voyage for Buenos Aires after coaling probably about January 21.

There was considerable surprise and not a little amusement among the officers of the battleship fleet as well as among the people of Rio Janeiro over numerous inquiries called here from the United States during the day asking for information regarding a reported disaster to the battleship Connecticut, Admiral Rodgers' flagship. The torpedo boat flotilla, which will go into drydock in order to have a new propeller put in place. The collier Arctura, which is due at Rio tomorrow, will leave for Buenos Aires after the repairs to the fleet. It was said by Commander Cone today that the flotilla will remain at Buenos Aires four days. The police arrested two men who said they were attempting to desert from one of the American colliers now in the harbor because they could not stand the bad treatment to which they were being subjected. No importance was attached to their claim of bad treatment and they were sent back to their vessels.

The reception and garden party tendered officers of the American fleet by the Naval club took place at the Botanical gardens amid most picturesque surroundings and proved a magnificent success. More than 3,000 persons were present, including members of the highest Brazilian society.

POPE SUFFERS FROM THE GOUT

ROME, Jan. 17.—Various alarming rumors were in circulation this afternoon regarding the health of Pope Pius. They were to the effect that his holiness had suffered a stroke of apoplexy, that he had had a bad fainting spell and that the disease of the heart from which he suffered had suddenly grown worse.

The reports were more alarmist in character than those circulated when Pope Pius a few days after his election, fainted in the Pauline chapel while celebrating his first pontifical mass.

All were greatly exaggerated, however, as the pope is only again suffering from gout. The attack began last night and by morning had become so acute that by the advice of his physician, Dr. Petacci, his holiness postponed all the audiences that had been arranged for today and tomorrow.

The doctors say that a few days of rest and of dieting will be sufficient to restore the pope's health, as, aside from the gout, he is in perfect condition.

The latest news from the Vatican is to the effect that there has been a considerable amelioration in the progress of the disease and a diminution of pain. His holiness tonight succeeded in obtaining some tranquil sleep. His entourage is of the opinion that the indisposition of the pope will soon be over.

BUCKET BRIGADE FIGHTS HOT FIRE

OAKLAND, Jan. 17.—The nearly completed residence of Q. A. Chase in Oakland avenue near Vernal, in the Piedmont district, caught fire from a plumber's lamp late last night and before the sweep of the flames could be arrested had been completely destroyed, together with the next door cottage of J. Manter, who had discovered the fire.

With the bursting out of the flames and the consequent lighting up of the neighborhood, the prominent people of the vicinity turned out en masse to fight the fire. As there is no fire supply in that district, they formed a bucket brigade, passing the filled and empty buckets from hand to hand until the fierce heat of the flames drove them away from the tottering walls of the burning building.

From his room on the ground floor of his cottage next door to the doomed structure, Manter was the first to see the glow of the fire as it ate its way through the shavings and other litter on the floor of the still unfinished building. He gave the alarm and then joined in fighting the fire. While so engaged his own home was set on fire and was destroyed in a short time.

Several more steel plants have resumed and others will start up next week, but production will continue much reduced until orders come forward with greater freedom.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: A further easing in the financial situation and very general reports of improvement in collections are the features. Trade lines closed generally and some have held retail distribution somewhat, but price reduction sales are generally credited with responsibility for what ever expansion has been shown in this branch as a whole. Wholesale dealers and jobbers report sentiment improved, collections being better than normal in domestic money markets, but trade demands still below the normal and in some sections still small trading is predicted.

SAY PRESIDENT HAS HURT HUGHES' BOOM

Anti-Roosevelt Forces Charge Executive With Trying to Strangle It

Governor's Friends Urge Him to Cut Loose and Say Where He Is Standing

By Ira E. Bennett SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Keenest interest is manifested here in the attempt of New York republican leaders to smother the Hughes boom. Most of these leaders are close to President Roosevelt and some of them are men who have never dreamed of making any political move without consulting him.

The charge is openly made by anti-Roosevelt republicans that the president is trying to kill off Hughes, but the White House is silent. Senator Depew, Representative J. Sloat Fassett of the Elmira district and Alfred W. Cooley, assistant attorney general, were prominent New York men who today discussed in a private way the second rap at the Hughes boom by the New York county committee at its meeting last night. The three men spent some time with Secretary Loeb.

Fassett has expressed himself against Hughes so long as Hughes remains silent and falls to go on record on current questions of importance. For tactical reasons Fassett has intimated that Senator Knex is about the right sort of a man, but quietly he is cooperating with the Taft men in New York city, headed by Representative Herbert Parsons, who is backed by Representative Bennett, Cooley and other young men the president has brought to the front. These youngsters have strangled the life out of the Hughes boom in New York and reared it head above the soil of New York city politics, and all of them are pleased with their success.

There was a pretty good tip today that Governor Hughes will furnish a reply in the next few days by saying a word or two. This would cut from under the Parsons combination the principal argument they have used, that Hughes can not expect intercession when nobody knows who he is.

The Hughes boomers are making tremendous efforts to have him use a pair of scissors on his silence cord. They declared that they were impatiently waiting for his efforts. The Hughes campaign of silence furnishes no enthusiasm for the boys, and they are at a loss to know what to do.

CORTELYOU'S SWAN SONG TO GRATE ON SOME EARS

Preparing to Include All Correspondence That Will Convict His Critics of Bad Faith

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Secretary Cortelyou has put off until Monday the delivery of the reply to the resolutions passed by the house and senate. All of the necessary information has been prepared by First Assistant Secretary J. R. Edwards, but Cortelyou wishes to include in his report all of the correspondence that he received in connection with the recent financial panic.

It is said at the treasury department that some of the senators and representatives who have been most active in criticizing the department for its distribution of funds were among those who impounded most for funds for their particular localities. Cortelyou is determined to be under no reply, but to reply sharply.

Cortelyou attended the cabinet meeting today and then returned to his desk to continue up his report. He feels that he must make complete answer to the senate before leaving the cabinet, and the president has expressed appreciation of his position. It is a mutual understanding that when this is done Cortelyou will retire.

ADHERENTS WANT BRYAN TO ABANDON THE RACE

Committee Picked to Inform Leader He Must Withdraw for Party's Sake

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—When William Jennings Bryan comes to Washington on January 25 he is to be informed that he cannot win by men who back supported him always and who are even now advocating his nomination. He is to be told that he is becoming weaker every day and that it is his duty to withdraw as a good democrat and allow the members of his party an opportunity to elect a new man who is agreeable to all factions.

A southern member of congress who has taken a leading part in the recent deliberations of his party and is very eager to see the right man nominated in 1908 told The Call correspondent today that many conferences have been held recently and the men who are to talk with Bryan when he arrives here next week have been chosen.

Ever since the so called harmony dinner was given to Bryan here in November it has been an open secret that he is a waning candidate. His most ardent admirers have been forced to admit it.

FIND NEW VICTIMS OF COUNTERFEITERS

Secret Service Agents Locate Places Where Bogus Coins Were Passed

Secret Service Agents H. M. Moffitt and Steve Connell made an additional search yesterday for places where Edward W. Brady and Thomas Johnson, the two counterfeiters captured by them in San Francisco, had passed their bogus silver dollars. The two government agents succeeded in locating two stores in Napa where Johnson and Brady had both passed the counterfeit. Fred Sanpippy, a clerk in a Napa store, told the secret service men that he had received counterfeit silver dollars from Johnson and Brady and that Brady's 14 year old grandson had also given him the "queer."

When the secret service men, accompanied by Chief of Police Stanford, made a further search of the Brady residence in Sausal avenue, Napa, they found several hundred counterfeit coins and nearly as many more which were not quite finished. Johnson was the brains of the counterfeiters and the officers believe that he alone did the work, although they believe that Mrs. Brady and her married daughter, Mrs. May Flint, had a hand in the making of the counterfeiters.

One of the first clues furnished to the government officers came from Chief of Police Stanford, who was told of the great number of bogus coins which had been given Napa and Vallejo merchants. He instituted an investigation and then notified the secret service men. Chief Stanford feels that he was slighted by Detectives Moffitt and Connell when the two government

READY TO PROCEED AGAINST HARRIMAN

Government Completes Plan for Prosecution of Magnate and Railroads

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The last preliminary to the announcement of the government's plan of campaign against Edward H. Harriman, personally, and the combination of railroads has been accomplished. The ruling of the New York circuit court that Harriman must answer questions of the interstate commerce commission about his financial operations will be followed by the filing of a petition from the department of justice of an announcement of the course that is to be pursued against the magnate.

That a determined effort will be made to break up the Harriman combination is known. More than this, the government is going to try for a construction of the immunity statute which will enable it to prosecute Harriman personally.

One matter considered to constitute a basis for personal prosecution is the contract between Harriman and former Senator William A. Clark of Montana, defining relations between the Southern Pacific and Santa Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake roads. The contract in this case is in the possession of the government, and is regarded as a very bad violation of the Sherman law.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE CALL NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—John G. Milburn, stated today that the interstate commerce case regarding the answering of certain questions would be appealed to the United States supreme court. The opinion was expressed today by lawyers on both sides of the fight that the case would be advanced to an early trial.

ASK $2,000,000 TO REBUILD JETTIES

Committee From Eureka Make Plea for Breakwater in Humboldt Bay

Humboldt bay needs new jetties and before the visiting board of the United States engineers in the offices of the California Promotion committee yesterday a committee from Eureka presented the claims of their harbor to an appropriation covering the reconstruction of the breakwaters which were built to deepen the channel at the entrance of the bay. In less than 20 years the commerce of Eureka has increased more than 900 per cent and the harbor is in constant use by ocean going freighters, both steam and sail.

Not only is need for new jetties but the demand for dredging was presented at yesterday's meeting of the board. In and about the mouth of Humboldt bay the sand is of a loose, shifting nature, moving freely under the influence of the winds and waves. For years a dangerous bar blocked the entrance of the roads.

In presenting the claims of the city of Eureka to the board, Captain A. C. Stubbins, chairman of the board of the California Promotion committee yesterday, asserted that the original deepening of the channel of Humboldt harbor had resulted in a vast growth of the city's trade, but that the formation of the bar built to deepen the channel at the entrance of the bay, in less than 20 years ago it was less than $1,000,000. In the importation of lumber the increase has been even more marked.

The question of dredging certain portions of the bay, inside the entrance, was briefly discussed by the board. There is already an appropriation of $3,000 for this purpose, which is thought to be ample for the time being.

Following the hearing on the Eureka claims, the board had presented to it the claims of Petaluma for the widening and straightening of Petaluma creek from San Francisco bay to the town at the estimated cost of $50,000. Both subjects are to be reported upon later by the engineers.

In the afternoon the board, consisting of Colonel Daniel W. Lockwood, Lieutenant Colonel Smith S. Leach, Captain A. H. Webber, the secretary of the board went across the bay to inspect Oakland harbor. The board was accompanied by Dr. Clarence Edwards of the California Promotion committee, who is to accompany it in its investigation of conditions through the state. The members of the board left for Stockton later in the afternoon.

FALLS INTO BAY—Oakland, Jan. 17.—Joe Doxey, an electrician, employed at the Key Bunk pier, slipped while at work today and fell into the bay. Fellow employes rescued Doxey, who nearly lost his life.
