

MORSE STEAMSHIP TRUEN IN STRAITS

Big Merger of Atlantic Coast Lines in Peril of Going in Receiver's Hands

Three Bills of Complaint Filed Against Consolidated Holding Company

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Proceedings in this city for a receivership for the Consolidated steamship company were instituted simultaneously with those in the courts at Portland, Me., and New York today.

William A. Muller of Arlington, Mass., whose counsel filed three bills of complaint, known as the petition and also against two subsidiary companies, the Eastern and Metropolitan steamship companies.

Morse then went further and obtained control of Metropolitan steamship company, with a line of boats between this city and New York, and later secured four lines running south from New York—the New York and Cuba mail route, the White-Berry and Ward line; the Clyde steamship company, the Mallory steamship company and the New York-Rice steamship company.

Following the change in Wall street the price of the bonds declined rapidly. A protective committee was then formed to prepare a plan of reorganization for the company.

JEROME ADMITS TRUTH OF STORY

or incipient insanity which does not rob the sufferer of a perception of the acts he commits has no recognition under the law.

Jerome fiercely assailed the insanity experts of the defense, declaring that it was a crying shame that experts can be purchased to testify to anything. This evidence, he declared, served no purpose, and that to emphasize its utter worthlessness.

CALLS THAW A COWARD Coming to the conclusion of his long address, which lasted throughout the morning and afternoon sessions of court, Jerome denounced Harry Thaw in bitter terms as "a coward, skulking behind the petticoats of his wife, attempting to shield and save his worthless life behind his shame."

"I have at any time lacked in the dignity that attaches to my office," said Jerome, "if at any time I have shown any asymmetry or lack of consideration, I can only say now that I regret it. As to the woman, if my manner was one of disapprobation, that is not evidence. Neither I nor the woman is being tried here. Harry Thaw is on trial for the murder of Stanford White, and the defense is that he was insane on the night of June 25, 1906, that he was not generally insane nor is insane now."

In his speech last year Jerome passionately defended Stanford White, declaring that his spirit hovered ever near the courtroom, crying out to be heard in defense, crying for some one to tell the truth and protect a character Evelyn Nesbit had sought to blacken. Today he said:

"It matters not whether you believe the girl's story of the drugging or not. The relations of this middle aged man with a girl of 15 cry out to heaven, and no decent man can say a word in defense. I certainly have no intention of doing so. But with all the things I have pointed out to you, if there was no motive in the heart of this defendant I can imagine nothing that can create a motive."

After recess Jerome entered upon a detailed consideration of the story told by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. He said: "Whether she was drugged or not is not material. For my part, I don't believe it. But I am convinced from the letters Thaw wrote in Paris that she told him the story she says she did. Drugged or not, that she was wronged—grossly wronged—is wholly true. That the places in Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth streets she had described to you existed is as true as that you are sitting here."

That they were frequented by a miserable lot of degenerates—some of whom still live in this city and whose names have been mentioned here—is the absolute truth. That they were maintained for gross orgies is true. But the issue here is not whether Stanford-White deserved death. We can't go into that—we have no right to consider it."

WEDG'S YARMOUTH DIVORCE CASE LONDON, Jan. 30.—Sir Birrell Burns, fixed the hearing of the suit brought by the Countess of Yarmouth, who was Alice Thaw of Pittsburg, against her husband for next Wednesday morning. The attorney for the Countess of Yarmouth said the case would be short.

PROCESSES WORK OF CATHOLIC CHURCH

Bishop Walden Speaks at Missionary Conference on Beneficial Influence

Other Leaders Also Heard at the Interdenominational Gathering

"I want to ask you how we could take care of the millions of foreign born who come to our cities, how our police forces could handle them and control them, were it not for the conservative influence of the Roman Catholic church? It is to these people a steady factor. In itself it is a great police power."

In these words Bishop John M. Walden of Oakland, one of the best known and most revered members of the Methodist Episcopal clergy on this coast, paid a glowing tribute to the Roman Catholic church in his address on "The Problem of the City" before delegates to the interdenominational missionary conference at Calvary Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

Strangely enough, the Roman Catholic was one of the few churches not a member of the conference.

Continuing, Bishop Walden said: "I don't want to challenge you Protestants, but isn't it a fact that the Roman Catholic church holds its children closer than any other? And so long as this is so its influence is most important in dealing with the problem of the cities."

Bishop Walden's remarks were heard with deep attention by the more than 200 delegates that filled the church. He also said that the Salvation Army had shown itself best qualified to deal with the people of the slums, and asserted that every church should work in harmony with it.

"I believe," he concluded, "that the time will come when we will not only help and reinforce it, but when we will have conferences of all the churches to formulate plans for aiding the army in its great work. Let us select that denomination for helping the slums which can do it best."

More than 500 persons filled down stairs and gallery in the afternoon and heard A. J. Todd, probation officer in Judge Murasky's court, advocate what he called "social parenthood" in his address on "Our Boys and Girls." Social parenthood, as Todd defined it, means helping to care for the children of others, which he declared "is probably just as vital, just as important, socially just as valuable, as natural parenthood."

Other speakers were Rev. E. S. Stucker, Rev. Dr. E. R. Dille, Rev. L. A. McAfee and Rev. E. P. Dennett. Todd spoke of the general topic of "Marching Orders"; Rev. H. B. Johnson, who spoke on "Sunrise in the Sunrise Kingdom"; Mrs. Walter Duncan, on "Our Prisons," and Rev. J. H. Keigh, on "The Whole World."

The delegates were entertained last night by Rev. Ng Poon Chew, editor of the Chinese World, who spoke on "The Possibilities of the Chinese Responsibilities," and took occasion to deliver some epigrams of satirical character with true Chinese bluntness.

"China," said Rev. Ng Poon Chew, "has been sleeping quite awhile. She is a slumbering giant, and is learning wisdom from the nations that came to teach her Christianity. She has learned for one thing that the greatest nation is the one that can kill the most men in the shortest time, with least expense. Pretty soon you will see a different China."

Resolutions of greeting from the Episcopal diocese, which adjourned yesterday, were read to the meeting by a committee consisting of Rev. F. W. Clapp, Rev. Cecil Marrack and A. M. Brown.

Sessions will be held today and tomorrow. LISBON PLOTTERS SLAY A POLICEMAN Meet Invasion of Rendezvous With Volley of Bullets Aimed to Kill

LISBON, Jan. 30.—To escape the censorship the following dispatch is sent to the frontier for transmission: Lisbon is outwardly calm, but here is a steady increase of nervousness and excitement among all classes of the population owing to the constant rumors of plot and counterplot and the persistent activity of the police, who daily and nightly examine the houses of suspects and make arrests. January 28 there was a bloody fight in a small restaurant in the outskirts of Lisbon. Suspecting the presence of a crowd of conspirators, the police surrounded and raided the restaurant at night.

The authorities found the plotters armed with revolvers. The policemen were met by a volley of bullets and one of them was killed and four wounded. The conspirators managed to keep them at bay until they made their escape. Later the same night a score of suspected agitators were arrested and imprisoned in one of the fortresses.

There is a religious revival among the republicans and dissident progressives, and several of the leaders of these parties, including Deputy Almeida, Deputy Costa and Viscount Belmonte, have been thrown into prison. The house of Senor Alpoim, another of the dissident leaders, is under constant police surveillance.

Acting on information received from the secret service, the police have raided several houses and discovered large stores of revolvers and ammunition. A lieutenant of customs and many individuals were arrested and charged with conspiracy.

HALL SWEARS HE WAS AUTHORIZED

Former Federal Attorney Tells of Dismissal of Land Fraud Cases

PORTLAND, Jan. 30.—John H. Hall, ex-United States district attorney, swore on the witness stand in his own defense today that never at any time did he have an understanding with the Butte Creek land, livestock and lumber company that they could illegally dispose of public lands. Hall also swore that he dismissed the case against W. E. Burke and W. G. Goslin, when C. W. Fulton was their attorney, in the effort to locate 20 men on timber land on authority of the United States attorney general and after he had taken up the matter with Binger Hermann, then commissioner of the general land office.

Hall was on the stand today until 2 o'clock, when his cross examination by Heney commenced. Before leaving the stand he reiterated positively and emphatically his denial that he at any time ever had any understanding with Messure and his associates, or with any other persons or interests that could possibly be construed to mean protection from prosecution for the violation of any law.

Other witnesses also contradicted the testimony offered for the government by George Sorenson and George C. Brownell. Hall discussed his relations with Brownell and the office of district attorney at considerable length. He denied that a conversation on the subject of the appointment of a district attorney to succeed himself had ever been held in the presence of Fulton, Brownell and himself.

FURNITURE BY FOOT CHEAP, IS DEFENSE

Clothes Tree Worth $5.55 Might Have Cost $147.50 Instead of $27.40 Paid

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 30.—That John H. Sanderson did not really charge as much for furniture supplied for the new capitol as he could have done under his contract will be the chief defense in the conspiracy suit against Sanderson, Snyder, Mathues and Shumaker, now on trial in the Dauphin county court.

This was developed by the cross examination today of Stanford E. Lewis, who was Architect Joseph M. Huston's active assistant during the construction and equipment of the capitol. Lewis was called by the commonwealth today to identify Huston's blueprints for sofas, tables and clothes trees, and for which Sanderson was paid by the state at the rate of $18.40 "per foot." Lewis was then compelled by the defense to measure each of the articles exhibited. A sofa 6 feet long was shown to contain 56 of the kind of feet on which Sanderson based his charges. A table with a top 3 1/2 by 2 1/2 feet contains 17 1/2 of the same unit. One of the clothes trees 18 inches at the base with a 3 inch shaft, 6 feet high, has 7 alleged feet.

When it was established that Sanderson had not charged all he claims he is entitled to, the attorneys for the state took up the line and drew it out. They showed that a clothes tree which Sanderson contracted to furnish for $5.56, and for which he was paid by the state $147.50, could have been billed at $147.50, according to the theory of the defense.

They also showed that Sanderson charged only 19 1/2 feet for the 56 foot sofa, at the rate of $18.40 "per foot," or $356.40 instead of $1,030.40, to which he was entitled. Both sides professed to be pleased with the result of the measurements. The defense claims they have shown what Sanderson had not done and the attorneys for the commonwealth what Sanderson did not do because he was afraid of "playing it too hard."

George C. Kelm, who was a book keeper in the department of grounds and buildings under Shumaker, testified that in March, 1906, Shumaker gave him 20 Sanderson bills, which Shumaker said had been approved by Snyder, to enter in his journals. Before Kelm had time to enter the bills Snyder took them away and Kelm never saw them until they were produced in court today.

The contention of the commonwealth is that the withdrawal of these bills is part of the chain of evidence of the conspiracy by which the state was defrauded by the defendants. Former Governor Pennypacker has been subpoenaed for the defense, and if he is called as a witness he will be cross examined closely by the commonwealth.

MORE CLERGYMEN NEED OF CHURCH

Delegates to Episcopal Convention Urged to Make Efforts to Gain Recruits

Diocesan Assembly Declares for Putting Curb on Liquor at Final Session

That the Episcopal church in California is sorely in need of men willing to devote themselves to the ministry was made evident at yesterday's session of the convention of the Episcopal diocese of California. The report of the committee on Christian education was particularly emphatic on this point and the discussion which followed showed that the clergy was fully aware of the situation.

"I do not take a hopeless view," said Bishop William F. Nichols, "feeling confident that the men will come as in time of war, 300,000 strong. However, their coming must be under the leadership of the clergy. I would like to see the latter show as much enthusiasm in gaining candidates for the ministry as they do in gaining candidates for confirmation."

The report showed that the theological seminaries had few students and that unless some prompt action was taken the church soon would be confronted with an exceedingly serious situation. The convention indorsed the work of the student recruits movement and a plea was made to the individual clergymen to aid in solving this problem not only by preaching special sermons, but by personal efforts among the young men of their parishes.

The question of intemperance was another which occupied the attention of the convention. Rev. Hamilton Lee read a paper written by Archbishop Ireland of the Roman Catholic church on this matter, and at its conclusion a resolution was adopted in which sympathy was expressed "with all lawful efforts for the wholesome control of the liquor traffic" and a committee was appointed to study the evil in California. Bishop Moreland of Sacramento was a visitor to the convention yesterday and made a short address.

The convention was closed at noon, the last address being made by Bishop Nichols, who briefly summed up the work done this year. A. N. Drown was reappointed chancellor of the diocese. At the conference of the diocesan auxiliary to the board of missions yesterday afternoon, the secretary, Mrs. A. M. Drown, reported that the auxiliary had just been granted a plot of land on Jamestown island by the Virginia antiquity society for the purpose of building a memorial church to commemorate the triennial of St. Stephen's was represented by Miss Hall, St. Luke's by Miss Heath, Trinity by Mrs. Deal, Christ church, Sausalito, by Mrs. Campbell, and St. Paul's, Oakland, by Mrs. Sherman. Mrs. L. F. Montague presided.

Mrs. W. F. Nichols spoke on the need of establishing auxiliaries in every parish with junior branches to follow, and resolutions were adopted regarding the resignation of Miss Laura Gibbs as treasurer on account of ill health. In speaking of contributions to the fund Mrs. Montague said that if every woman in the church would give 1 cent a month, the total by 1910 would be $200,000.

to the clergy, too, when I ask them to be less preachers and more ministers; to let us feel that we can come to them in the hour of need and find real vitalizing help; that they are not mere automatons with prayer books in their hands. And yet, the Daughters of the King, how do you know your charity?"

"You say, 'Oh, we have perfect charity,' but have you? You say, 'I have heard of her who needs me, but—' Oh, that 'but'! There are no 'buts' in the kingdom of Christ. Do you know that the bible stories are regarded as fairy tales by little children? Do you know that the church of the future is decreed, jeered at and scorned by hundreds of people in the big outside world? Help it, I beg of you; help the church to be what it should be. Not a by word among passersby."

SCORES THE BROTHERHOOD The Brotherhood of St. Andrew was scored by Rev. Clifton Macon of Trinity church, Oakland. He accused its members of neglect of church duties. "A woman's society," he said, is able to take care of itself, but I lie awake when the men of the church organize. The brotherhood of this coast has very little to be proud of and much to be ashamed of. It is, in fact, generally considered to be more trouble than it is worth.

"It has behind it the machinery of the clergy, and it is quite content to sit back and allow the machinery to do all the work. What is the good of an organization of men which has no initiative, no resource in time of necessity, but which is a mere burden, depending on the ministry for all suggestions and plans? No wonder the clergy is not enthusiastic over the formation of chapters. Under existing conditions the Brotherhood of St. Andrew is not fit to bear the name of its patron saint. We want men in the brotherhood, but if we cannot have them, then better by far that there be no St. Andrew brotherhood at all."

DENIES THE ALLEGATION The last speaker was J. C. Astredo, a layman and member of the brotherhood, who though admitting there were faults in the organization, vigorously denied that its character was as impugned by the Rev. Mr. Macon. "Rev. of the brotherhood," said he, "has to work all the week and just as hard on Sundays. Mere service is not appreciated by the ministry and the clergy today. The man whom the church likes is the one who can put his hand in his pocket and give $200 or $300; the one who has nothing to give but his services is not considered in the same grade. The brotherhood does its work and there is not a clergyman present who can say that he ever found one of us unwilling to do what we could and what was asked of us."

Rev. Edward Morgan addressed the congregation and the meeting brought to a close by a few calm words from the bishop.

Grip Raging

The Health Department's Weekly Reports Show 650,000 People Ill With Grip in Chicago and About 500,000 in New York

EPIDEMIC ALL OVER THE UNITED STATES

Grip has practically taken Chicago captive. Nearly 650,000 people in the city are suffering from the disease in some form, according to the estimate of the City Health Bureau.

New York City has about 600,000 cases and cities large and small, all over the country, have many victims. If you feel the Grip or Influenza coming on you stricture a crooked of your handkerchief with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and inhale it, also take a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every hour, and keep warm. This will stop the progress of the disease and drive it out at once. Do not dose yourself with so called grip cures which contain opiates. They do not cure; they only deaden the membrane and injure the entire nervous system. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey cures and drives out the disease, but does no injury to the system, nor does it leave any bad after-effects. It stimulates the blood and strengthens the run-down system, so as to enable it to throw off all grip germs.

Mr. M. D. Wingate, Petoskey, Mich., recently wrote: "I wish to tell you and the public what your Pure Malt Whiskey has done for me. Last February I was taken with a severe attack of the Grip, and the doctor gave me his usual remedy for grip, but I did not improve, and as I had used several bottles of your Malt Whiskey, I procured a bottle and took it according to directions. In a day or two I felt much better, and by the time I had used the one bottle I was much stronger. It is surely a great medicine for old people. My wife used it for throat and lung trouble, and she thinks it has done her more good than anything else she has ever tried."

Dr. R. Curran, White St., Rochester, N. Y., the world renowned grip specialist, says: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey will cure the most obstinate case of grip, and if taken in time will prevent the inception of the disease. I advise my patients to take a teaspoonful in hot water every hour if they feel the grip coming on and to saturate a handkerchief with a little Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and inhale it. I have never known a case where it has failed to cure and drive out the disease, and it leaves no bad after-effects."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a positive cure for the grip, with all its symptoms. Taken early, it cuts it short promptly. Taken during its prevalence, it preoccupies the system and prevents the invasion of grip. Taken while suffering from it, a speedy relief is realized. Thousands of grateful patients voluntarily attest the great healing power of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and recommend its use. Caution—When you ask your druggist, grocer or dealer for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. It's the only absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey and is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk. Look for the trade mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label, and make sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Price $1. Illustrated medical booklet and doctor's advice free.
