WAITERS TO MAKE DEERED STAND

Plan Boycott on Last "Cash" House Holding Out for "Open Shop"

Treasurer of Federation Tells of Fight to Unionize Los Angeles

At the meeting of waiters' union Wednesday night it was reported that one "cash" house is still out, but more effort will be made to unionize it. If this does not bring about the desired result the San Francisco labor council, with which the union is affiliated, will declare a boycott upon the place.

The union received a letter from the east announcing that a certain firm manufactures dress shirts on strictly union lines and that such bear the union label. A statement was made to the effect that no store in this city carries union labeled shirts. It was decided to take steps to have some of the local stores carry the goods mentioned in the letter.

A proposition was laid before the union asking the endorsement of the movement to have the price of tickets at the children's playground in Golden Gate park reduced. The endorsement was refused on the ground that the price now charged, 2 1/2 cents a ticket, is low enough.

It was reported that one of the largest restaurants had advised the officers that all the Asiatic help had been supplanted by white labor and that several other restaurant proprietors had announced intention to do likewise.

President Foster says during the last three days he has made a tour of the "cash" houses of the city and finds that there is much better feeling in each place, it being ascertained that business is improving.

At the meeting of the building trades council last night it was announced that a strike will be ordered on the jobs of the Pacific Coast lumber company should the latter insist on the cut of 50 cents in wages it announced yesterday afternoon. The action of the lumber company's officials in giving but six hours' notice of the intended reduction was denounced in bitter terms.

The council went on record as endorsing the McKinley reclamation bill now pending before congress. A communication carrying the indorsement of the council to the bill was ordered sent to Washington. The council also addressed at some length on trade conditions in Santa Clara county by E. Rosendahl, a member of the millmen's union.

John B. Lennon, general secretary of the journeymen tailors' union of America, resident of Bloomington, Ill., and treasurer of the American federation of labor, came to this city Wednesday afternoon and will remain here in that city for several days looking after the interests of the journeymen tailors of that place, who have been locked out for a long time on account of the strike in this city and in Oakland, possibly in Sacramento and in San Jose.

On the night of his arrival in this city he was tendered a reception in one of the large halls of the building headquarters at Hayes and Laguna streets by an assemblage of members who filled the place to its utmost capacity. He was welcomed by President F. J. Pratt of the local union and after returning thanks for the welcome extended spoke at some length along trade lines, told of the unionism in the craft in the east and of the conditions as he found them in Los Angeles, telling of the efforts there to keep the town a union one. He stated that from the campaign that had been started by the American federation of labor and by individual international bodies it looked at this time as if the union cause would come out ahead. He declared that no effort would be spared to unionize that city.

Nominations for international officers of the typographical union are in progress and the following figures up to 10 days ago show how the candidates are being presented. Each subordinate union makes its choice for officers and by states all nominations are sent to the international office, where the ballot is prepared and distributed to the several unions. The nominations are: For president—Lynch 157, Hudspeth 42; for secretary—Bramwood 142, Crowley 24; delegates to the American federation of labor (four to be elected)—Morrison 130, Hayes 112, Stevenson 99, McCullough 68, Gould 59, Kennedy 48, De Neary 37, Fear 29, Eichorn 25; trustees of the printers' home (three to be elected)—McCahey 94, Wilson 89, Sheppard 84, Danlin 39, McLaughlin 31, Armstrong 28, Bruel 17 and Powell 10.

George A. Tracy, president of San Francisco typographical union No. 21, has received several complimentary votes for international president, but he is not a candidate.

Steam fitters' union No. 46 Wednesday night adopted a resolution that the United States navy should build its next battleship at a government navy yard, under federal direction. W. J. Cook, A. B. Clark and Joseph T. Counters were appointed a committee to prepare a plan for the addition of a ship-benefit feature to the union. The union ratified the new constitution and by-laws of the iron trades council. A letter from the east was read to the effect that the controversy between the steam fitters and the plumbers was recently discussed before a special committee in Washington, D. C., and was now in the hands of Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor, as referee.

TAKE ROBBER SUSPECTS AT POINT OF REVOLVERS

Detectives Arrest Men Accused of Thefts in This City and Oakland

At the point of revolvers Detectives Ryan and O'Dea arrested John O'Grady and Walter Joyce yesterday at Eighth and Polson streets. The two men are suspected of having robbed the store of Thomas P. O'Dowd, 154 Church street, Sunday night. Cloth to the value of $700 was taken from the store. Eight bolts of the goods were found in O'Grady and Joyce's rooms. The two men will be charged with burglary.

LECTURES ON VENICE

Supervisor Henry Payot lectured last evening before a hundred or more members of the Young Men's Christian association at its rooms in Geary street. His subject was "Venice," and the main historical and architectural features of the "silent city" were illustrated with stereopticon slides. The campaign of St. Mark's was shown and described, as were the palace of Desdemona, which the famous actress, Eleonora Duse, now occupies; the Grand canal, the Golden palace, the Bridge of Signs, the Rialto, the Doges' palace, and many other celebrated spots. A full length view of the lecturer feeding the pigeons of St. Mark's brought out a hearty round of applause, while the side remarks of Payot caused much amusement.

Gossip of Railwaymen

When R. A. Donaldson, assistant general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, lapses into a reminiscent mood, he delights to dwell on the days when he imparted knowledge in a country school in New York with the aid of a ferule.

Donaldson says he was a strict disciplinarian, and made the scholars fear his simple word more than all the hickory sticks of all the combined teachers in New York state. He never found any difficulty in handling the pupils, but he confesses that the parents of some of his class did not show a proper respect for so amiable a pedagogue as himself.

One day he was compelled to send a small boy home. The lad's presence was offensive, and he sadly needed a tubbing. Donaldson imagined that his calling these disagreeable facts to the notice of his mother would be appreciated. But on the contrary he received so severe a reprimand from the lady in question that he decided on the instant to abandon the profession of pedagogy and take to railroading.

The urchin reappeared, possibly even more unkempt, and with a grin handed this letter to the astiduous teacher: "Johnnie ain't no rosebud. He's sent to you to teach, and not to smell."

He decided that as he was whole to receive with equanimity the complaints of irate mamas and papas he would be able to bear up against the abuse of the public, and so selected the passenger department of a railroad company as the sphere of his future usefulness.

A rule that has been put into effect recently on the coast division of the Southern Pacific is not entirely agreeable to the conductors and brakemen of the local trains. They are furnished with a slip of paper marked "Car No. Train No. Date. Condr. on. No. psgrs. S'n No. Off. No. psgrs. S'n No."

The conductor and brakemen are expected to go through the cars and count the number of passengers leaving the city and put it down on the slip, also to tabulate the number of passengers getting on and off at every station. This looks easy at the first glance, but some of these trains have as many as five cars, and the conductors and the brakemen are expected to count the cars on both sides, and as they cannot be all over the train at the same time, it is next to impossible to furnish the figures. They hope that the rule will be rescinded as the reports that are sent in cannot be reliable sources of information, and therefore are not valuable for whatever purposes required.

W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe; J. J. Byrne, assistant passenger traffic manager; W. A. Bissell, assistant traffic manager, and C. S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, with other officers of the passenger departments of both lines, were in conference yesterday in relation to a number of matters affecting Pacific coast traffic. Among other subjects up for discussion were special rates, raising the fleet through taxes had been reported. Ryan and O'Dea arrested three other suspects Wednesday night. Herbert Patton and John Richardson, alias Williams, wanted for the robbery of the home of R. A. Beamer, 97 San Pablo avenue, Oakland, were caught in this city. A beaver coat valued at $500 and $600 worth of jewelry was taken from the Beamer house and disposed of in this city. James McCann was arrested in a pawnshop in Golden Gate avenue while trying to dispose of a valuable gold necklace set with pearls and amethysts, which he claimed to have found in Eddy street, but which the police believe he stole.

THIRTEEN COUNTIES BUSY

Rat Crusade Brings Out Novel Plan for Extermination

Reports of the progress of sanitary work in 13 counties bordering San Francisco bay were heard yesterday morning at a session of the Central California sanitary commission. Mayor White of Sacramento told the commission that since its last meeting four rat catchers and four inspectors had been put to work there, that 10,000 rats had been killed. Dr. W. E. Briggs and Dr. N. K. Foster also spoke on Sacramento's work.

B. S. Bradthoff of Berkeley told of difficulty in raising money, but said plans for getting $10,000 at once by popular subscription and $50,000 later through taxes had been reported. Other speakers were Dr. James Jesse of Santa Rosa, Dr. S. W. R. Langdon of Stockton, Dr. S. S. Bogle of Sonoma county, Dr. J. H. Kuser of Marin county and Dr. H. D. Lawhead of Woodland.

An ordinance now before the supervisors provides $500 fine or six months in prison for house holders who fail to keep a rat trap and to make their premises rodent proof. It was suggested that the commission issue thousands of badges—a figure of a feeling rat, with "33" printed on it—each to be sold at 5 cents and the money turned over to the plague fund. A novel scheme for making rats commit suicide, by smearing poisoned molasses in their haunts, was presented by C. F. Babcock of Stockton. The rats would lick their feet when they became sticky from the poisoned molasses preparation and would die. The commission will meet again February 27 at 10:30 o'clock.

More than 8,000 rats were caught last week. George Renner of the committee on streets, reported that the supervisors probably would immediately appropriate $200,000 for the repair of downtown streets.

OFFENDERS ARE FINED. Court Punishes Men Who Violate Sanitary Regulations. For keeping an unsanitary stable at 1827 Lombard street, Joseph Pucenelli was fined $20 by Police Judge Cabanis yesterday. Victor Repetto was fined a similar amount for maintaining an unsanitary stable in Scott street near Greenwich. James Chagalakis was fined $20 for keeping a fruit store

MONEY POURING INTO RAT FUND

Fire Underwriters Lead Off With a Check for Ten Thousand Dollars

Prompt Response of Businessmen Encourages Finance Committee

Before Leon Sloss, chairman of the finance committee delegated with authority to collect funds to exterminate the rats, had announced his plans for levying assessments upon the business men of the city, money began to pour into the fund. The fire underwriters sent a check for $10,000 yesterday and this was followed by a check for $1,100 from Melville Marks on behalf of the theater managers of the city. The Downtown improvement club sent $1,000 and the retail butchers $100. One large establishment promised $10,000 yesterday and offered to raise the contribution to $15,000 if necessary. The Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe have informed the committee that they can be depended upon for large donations.

The immediate response to the call for funds has greatly encouraged the men in charge of the situation. Leon Sloss will complete today his plans for gathering the necessary money. A general schedule will be made out of the sums expected from each trade. The collection of the sums will be left to the trade itself. The collection of money from the labor unions will be left entirely in the hands of the union men. A large number of small contributions have already been received. An auditing system will be perfected without delay. Checks will be made out by Dr. Rupert Blue and countersigned by Gustave Bremer and B. E. Pond, treasurer of the committee. The name of E. R. Dimond has been added to the finance committee.

Butchertown was subjected to a rigid examination yesterday by a delegation of physicians, policemen and inspectors. Dr. Philip Mills Jones and Dr. Gunn headed the delegation. They found several places where the required improvements had not been made. The meatmen will be given further time and in case their places are not put into sanitary condition summary action will be taken.

Methods for establishing a municipal system for the collection and destruction of garbage in San Francisco were discussed at the meeting of the executive committee of the citizens' health movement. Supervisor Payot, chairman of the health committee of the board of supervisors, Dr. Giannini and Supervisor Charles A. Murdoch, also members of the board of supervisors, discussed the problem and informed the health committee that the next tax budget would contain an appropriation of $500,000 for a municipal garbage plant.

Dr. Philip Mills Jones reported that the board of health was taking steps to release all garbage wagons and scavengers.

Men for the dry goods and clothing establishments of the city conferred with the citizens' committee yesterday on matters of sanitation. The president of the bar association has appointed the following committees to take charge of prosecutions of violations of the sanitation ordinances: Committee No. 1—F. Deering, chairman; J. F. Bowie, Nathan H. Frank, Burke Corbet, L. S. Beedy.

Committee No. 2—J. C. Campbell, chairman; I. E. Brown, Frank H. Powers, F. J. Solinsky, E. J. Cooper.

Committee No. 3—Charles S. Wheeler, chairman; M. E. Cerf, William Deeman, A. G. Ealis, Oscar Sutor.

Committee No. 4—W. F. Herrin, chairman; G. W. Wilson, Charles Haggerty, John T. Davis, J. F. Sullivan.

ABANDONED, SHE LOSES LEASE OF SAVOY HOTEL

Mrs. Dunn, Once Mrs. Duxie Rosenberg, Fails to Pay Rent for Hostelery. Because she owned four months' rent Mrs. James G. Dunn, who was Mrs. "Ducie" Rosenberg, was forced yesterday to relinquish her hold on the Savoy hotel, and E. B. Stanley, who owns the property, assumed charge. Mrs. Dunn went into the hotel business after the fire, acting on the advice of James G. Dunn, whom she afterward married. She leased the ground next to the Savoy and built the hotel alone, but failed to do so profitably.

THREE MEN ROB CONTRACTOR

Thomas Smaha, a contractor of 250 Jose, was beaten and robbed of $250 and a watch yesterday by three men who set upon him in broad daylight at Pacific and Dupont streets. Smaha was attacked as he passed an open doorway and after knocking down their victim the thugs dragged him into the doorway to complete the robbery. Smaha reported the matter to the police. George Andrews, Isidor Glass and Fred Allen were later arrested by Detective George McMahon on suspicion of having committed the crime.

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Fred J. Crisp, 530 Montgomery street, representing the Pacific coast syrup company, obtained a warrant from Police Judge Cabanis yesterday for the arrest of Wendell Hand on a charge of felony embezzlement. Hand was a collector for the company, and it is alleged that on January 27 he embezzled $182.

There are not six good retail advertisers in and about San Francisco—not three

Retail advertising in San Francisco is twenty years behind the rest of the country

It's because most of our merchants have not realized that advertising can be successful without misrepresentation, and the advertisements of a majority of the dependable ones are so deadly prosy and dull that they are used as anaesthetics in the hospitals.

The White House, Bullock & Jones, W. & J. Sloane, J. M. Jacobi & Co., Shreve's, Koenig's and a dozen other very high grade reliable concerns are missing an opportunity to forever "corner" the really desirable business in their lines. Any brainy competitor can slip in and steal their prestige in two years by high grade merchandising backed by scientific advertising.

We can show any high class concern a way to rake down bigger profits and at the same time build up a bigger, better trade—honestly.

If you're willing to listen to a straight from the shoulder talk on the science of advertising, as applied to your business, let us hear from you.

CLEANING PROGRESSES

Encouraging Reports Are Made to the Civic League

The executive committee of the civic league held a special meeting last night at the Olympic club to consider ways and means for effecting better sanitary conditions throughout the city. Interesting addresses on the subject were delivered by A. W. Scott Jr., Dr. Julius Rosenstrin and Dr. W. C. Rucker, United States army.

Various members of the committee reported that the work of cleaning up in the outside districts had progressed rapidly during the week. George Fletcher, who has charge of the improvement clubs, said that the members of those institutions were taking an active interest in the crusade against rats and filth, and beside doing all in their power to aid the league were calling mass meetings of their neighbors and urging them to join in the movement.

The league has established headquarters at 5 Fifth street, where all complaints will be attended to promptly. Hundreds of citizens are enrolling in the volunteer inspection corps. Reports received from various sections of the city showed that the amount of adulterated milk on the market is diminishing rapidly. More than 8,000 rats were caught last week. George Renner of the committee on streets, reported that the supervisors probably would immediately appropriate $200,000 for the repair of downtown streets.
