

a piece of fuse 11 feet long and a pint bottle of sulphuric acid. Unlike the former infernal machine, this one was not primed. All the necessary materials except the percussion caps were there, but the acid was not in a position to set off the charge. The boy explained that it had been concealed hurriedly and that the fuse and caps were not to be primed until the bomb was actually placed beneath some one's front porch or gate to blow him into eternity at the will of Mrs. Martin.

FORGE EVIDENCE CEAIN

The box in which the dynamite was packed was 18 inches long, 5 inches high and 12 inches wide. It was picked up gingerly by Detective Hodgkins and carried to the city hall, where it now forms a carefully guarded exhibit in the detective captain's office. With the bomb found at the Martin home in West street it will be used as an exhibit when Mrs. Martin is placed on trial in this city and county.

The finding of this last cache by "Baby John" almost completes the chain of evidence which in the opinion of the authorities is a prima facie case of attempted murder and wanton destruction of property by Mrs. Isabella J. Martin. Despite this fact Captain Petersen said this afternoon that he was not yet certain whether the woman was innocent or guilty.

The Martin home at 1534 West street, where the first box of dynamite was found nearly three weeks ago, was again searched today. "Baby John" did not accompany the officers, who went there. He will be closely guarded during the Martin prosecution. All efforts to interview "Baby John" today proved fruitless. He is in the custody of the matron of the city prison.

In one of the valises the lad carried on his journey here from the north was the mechanism of an infernal machine the boy said had been made by Mrs. Martin, and this, with the two kegs, will be a striking part of the sensational exhibits at the trial.

ODGEN TO BE ACCUSED

It is almost certain that Mrs. Martin will be placed on trial in Oakland, Judge Frank B. Ogden, against whose life the first attempt of the Martins was made unsuccessfully, stands ready to make the necessary complaint and information which will shortly be prepared by the district attorney's office. This will probably be done before the end of the week, and when District Attorney Hall returns to Weaverville he will be accompanied by an officer from this place on duty to bring Mrs. Martin here for trial. Mrs. Martin has asserted repeatedly that there was nothing she so much desired as to be allowed to return to Oakland and that she would do so although they will not officially say that this is to be done. Donahue, Petersen and Hodgkins join in saying:

"We cannot tell you yet. We want to be sure we have enough evidence before bringing her back. It is our intention to bring her to Oakland as soon as we get this evidence and we believe we will get it."

Upon his arrival at the city hall this morning "Baby John" was handed over to Police Wilson, Captain Lynch and other officers whom he had met personally before he was taken north by Mrs. Martin.

"Baby John" looked anything but a baby. Larger and more manly looking than most boys of his age, he has a confident, intelligent face, and his eyes and nose were prominent. He came into contact fearlessly and full in the face. His manner impresses itself upon the observer as that of a youth strong in will power. There is no sign of worry or excitement in his countenance, but a trace of sadness is visible. He takes all things as a matter of course, and philosophically views the trend of events which are slowly but surely revealing the story of his strange life.

Assistant District Attorney Donahue when asked today for further information regarding the case replied briefly: "I am not in a position to discuss publicly the results of the trip to Weaverville, or anything else. I will make my report to District Attorney Everett J. Brown, and to no one else. Hodgkins will report to Captain Petersen, who has full charge of the Martin case. So far as the county officials are concerned the case is wholly in the hands of the Oakland police from now on. We, of course, will lend what assistance we can, and we will all work together to one end. I believe 'Baby John' to be a manly boy; certainly he has gained the respect of his elders because of his truthfulness and manly actions in the face of great trouble to himself."

TELLS OF MORE DYNAMITE

G. D. Burbank, a butcher who rents a shop in West street near the Martin home, said today he believed Mrs. Martin has a room filled with explosives in the house at 1534 West street. He said today that Mrs. Martin once told him to shoot any one he found trying to enter this storehouse and that she would protect him in the act. Burbank said that he and a policeman had tried to force an entrance into this room, but after forcing the lock they found the entrance barred by the heavy iron bars, which had been screwed across the door on the inside. Whether this storehouse exists, as suggested by Burbank, probably will be learned by the police tomorrow. Nothing was removed from the Martin house today.

DESSERTERS ESCAPE IN STOLEN LAUNCH

Men From Goat Island Lead Exciting Chase Across Bay at Midnight

Frightened by Hot Pursuit They Surrender After Few Hours of Liberty

Breathless and frightened by the wild excitement of a chase across San Francisco bay shortly after midnight yesterday, in which a launch crowded with armed men hotly pursued but a few hundred yards behind them, two sailors from the training station at Yerba Buena Island escaped and lost themselves in the lower portion of the city, only to repent and surrender themselves into federal custody yesterday afternoon.

Chafing under the strict naval discipline in force at the island, the sailors, known to their comrades as "Dutch" and "Shorty," started the launch by being on the training ship Pensacola shortly after midnight Tuesday and made the run through the fog across the bay to the Clay street wharf, but a short distance ahead of a launch from the training slip Intrepid, in which was a detachment of armed men under instructions to recapture them at any cost.

So close was the chase that the two deserters left their launch at Clay street with its boiler white hot and ready to explode, and only the prompt action of Sergeant of Marines Leo Plummer, in charge at the wharf, prevented the catastrophe. Plummer pulled the fire of the launch just in time to save it from destruction.

The two sailors, both of whom are firemen, slipped out of their beds in the middle of the night and got steam up on the Pensacola launch, lying at the wharf. Acting Quartermaster Davis discovered them before they left the island, and in response to his inquiry as to what they were doing on board the launch, they told that they were repairing some broken pipes. A few minutes later the launch shot out from the wharf, headed for San Francisco, and Davis gave an alarm which resulted in a general call to arms.

The launch of the Intrepid was quickly manned by guard Sergeant Bowers, Corporal Staliburt, Fireman W. A. Wright and Officer of the Deck Connell and started in pursuit. Instead of landing at the Washington street wharf, where the navy launches generally touch, the deserters steered their boat to the Clay street wharf. In the meantime the launch Intrepid, hearing the launch pull in at the Clay street wharf, ran there just in time to see the two fugitives running down the street.

DEMOCRATS STIR MUSS

Fight Confirmation of Grandfield to Succeed Hitchcock

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The senate confirmed today the nominations of Louis A. Coolidge of Massachusetts to be assistant secretary of the treasury and Charles P. Grandfield of Missouri to be first assistant postmaster general. Several democratic senators expressed the opinion that Grandfield's appointment to so responsible a position should not have been made. It was pointed out that he was connected with the postoffice department during the recent scandals, holding a position of trust, and that the holder of such a position should be cognizant of the wrong doing on the part of his superiors. It was shown, however, that Grandfield received the promotion to first assistant postmaster general because of his long service in the department.

Protectionist Chief Would Revise Tariff

DALZEL HEEDS REVISION CALL

Pennsylvanian Says Cry for Modification Is Too Insistent to Be Disregarded

Sees No Reason Himself, but Is Willing to Accommodate Those That Do

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The climax of general debate on the army appropriation bill in the house came today when Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who is recognized as one of the foremost protectionists of the country, delivered an exhaustive speech in defense of the republican party and its policies, but said that the cry for revision was too insistent to be disregarded. He upheld the principle of the protective tariff system, declaring that under it the United States had become the greatest manufacturing nation. He did not believe there was any necessity for tariff revision, but thought it was well to recognize the claims of those who think there should be some alterations.

Whatever that revision was, provided the republicans were successful at the next election, Dalzell assured his hearers that it would be in accordance with the republican theory of the different railway systems, which, he said, represented an attempt to establish a compensation system.

Bond added that all his company asked the committee was that they so frame legislation as not to destroy this system.

Arguments were heard today by the vice committee on the judiciary. The House President Bond of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad detailed the workings of the relief department of the different railway systems, which, he said, represented an attempt to establish a compensation system.

ASKS FOR MEDIATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—It is probable that within a day or two Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission and Labor Commissioner Neill will undertake by the terms of the so called Erdman act to mediate between employees and officials of the Southern railway in respect to wages.

President Finley sent a letter to Knapp indicating that a controversy had arisen between the Southern railway and its employees and requested the exercise of the friendly offices of the chairman and the commissioner of labor.

The Labor Problem

"The Other Side of It" is the title of an essay in Sun's Magazine for March on the labor problem in the west, by E. G. Bailey of Oregon. It is an essay which all laboring men should read, pointing out many things that should have their thought. Other features of the number are, "The Story of Magdalena Bay," by Arthur W. North, and "The Justice of Carrizozo," a wide awake western story, by E. Lacy Speer.

FAVORS LIVESTOCK BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Borah of Idaho introduced to the president today a delegation of stock growers from his state who talked with the president about bills pending in congress requiring railroads to transport livestock at the rate of 16 miles an hour. The president, according to the visitors, said that he approved of legislation of this kind.

NO EXPLOSIVES ON TRAINS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today favorably reported the Sherman bill forbidding the carrying of explosives on any passenger vehicle engaged in interstate commerce. A fine of $2,000 or imprisonment for 18 months or both, is provided for violation of the proposed act.

REVIVES BROWNSVILLE ROW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Foraker today introduced a bill providing for the re-enlistment of such honorably discharged negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry as were shown by the testimony in the investigation of the Brownsville affair not to have been connected with the affair.

WEALTHY ACTRESS ACCUSES HUSBAND

Warrant Charging Him With Killing Brother Pursues Deserter to Paris

Family of French Merchant Say Woman Seeks Revenge for Losing Love

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Tau police have received from New York a warrant for the arrest of Paul Roy, son of a wealthy merchant of Neuill, on the charge of murder, made by Roy's wife, a wealthy American actress known as Glacira Calla, who declares that he killed her brother, George A. Carkins, early in January, in Portsmouth, N.H. The warrant has not yet been served.

The French law does not permit the extradition of French citizens, but provides for their trial and punishment in France for crimes committed abroad. Roy's brothers point out that his marriage to Miss Carkins is illegal, as he had not previously obtained the consent of his parents, and they say he will apply for a divorce in America on the ground that his wife misrepresented her age at the time when really she was 34 years old.

In addition to declaring that Paul Roy was forced to shoot Carkins in self defense the Roy family charge that the accusation of murder brought by Paul's wife was made as a revenge because her husband informed her that he did not intend to return to America.

Miss Carkins lived in Paris several years ago with her aunt, the Baroness von Grandoff. She was at one time engaged to Count de Beyeno. Her talent, wealth and beauty gave her access to exclusive circles.

POSTOFFICE SAFE AT BAKERSFIELD IS LOOTED

Burglars Crack Locks and Then Refasten Them by Means of Tallow

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 26.—One of the safes in the local postoffice was broken open last night and $5,750 in stamps of all denominations was stolen by burglars who left no clew. The combination locks on both the inner and outer doors were broken by means of a sledge and chisel, and after the stamps had been taken the doors were again shut and the demolished locks put in place by means of tallow.

The first knowledge of the robbery was when a clerk went to open the safe this morning and upon turning the combination the knob fell in his hand.

Postmaster Reuben A. Edmonds notified Postal Inspector Johnston of San Francisco today and special men have been detailed on the case. The inspectors are of the opinion that the robbery was the work of professional cracksmen.
