Lists Still Open in the Contest for The Call's $20,000 in Prizes

LATE START TO BAR TO THE AMBITIOUS

Nominations Will Be Accepted Daily Until End of the Race

Many letters inclosing nomination blanks have been received in the last two days by the managers of The Call's $20,000 prize contest, asking that the names be enrolled "if it is not too late." It will not be too late until the last day of the contest. Those who desire to enter may do so at any time, the sooner the better, since the advantages of early start are obvious. If you thought of entering but did not make up your mind in time to have your name included in the initial list, and now wish to work for the Winton Six-Teen-Six, the three Thousand Sixteen-Six, or the handsome prizes ever offered contestants, send in your name and address to be enrolled today.

Some have delayed entering the contest because of a mistaken idea about the district plan. Contestants may work anywhere. If you have a friend in Siberia and can enlist his aid, do it at once. Votes from anywhere in the world will be counted for the one who turns them in and whose name appears upon them. You may work anywhere and everywhere, but you will be in direct competition only with those in your immediate subdistrict.

SOME OVERLOOK OPPORTUNITY

In some of these subdistricts, especially in grand prize district C, the contest and its valuable prizes seem to have been overlooked. No matter where you reside, you have as good a chance to win a prize as those who live in the most densely populated districts of San Francisco. Yes, you have a million better chance, as competition will not be so strong. Two prizes have been set apart for each district and will be awarded to the contestants standing highest in the districts, whether they have a hundred thousand votes or only a handful.

Those who have delayed entering because of their distance from centers of population should delay no longer. A valuable scholarship and a trip to Hotel del Coronado, with every expense of a 10 days' outing, will be given in each of the 31 subdistricts.

The list of contestants with the standing of each will be published in The Call tomorrow. If you are in a district where you have no representative by your name and get actively to work.

FEW GROW FAINT HEARTED

A few have written to the contest department asking that their names be dropped from the list. One such letter says: "I have no chance with so many entered." This is a great mistake. Every one has as good a chance as any one else. Energy and ambition, the desire to win and the application in sufficient degree, are the only requisites. Don't get faint hearted before the standings are published, and when they are published, when some one with a few more votes than yourself, that very fact ought to spur you to renewed efforts so that the lead may be overcome and your standing be equal to or even higher than that of any other.

Perhaps a hundred contestants already have secured subscriptions, realizing that this is the quickest way to get ahead. While the daily coupons count one vote each when cashed neatly and sent to one of The Call's offices before their expiration, yet this seems slow progress to some who want to see their score grow by leaps and bounds. They have set out to get their neighbors and friends to subscribe, and some will have quite creditable scores from the start.

With every subscription turned in to The Call, a certificate of votes is issued. This certificate is a vote and can be turned in at any time. Some have chosen to build up a reserve from this part of their endeavors and it is not a bad plan to have a few hundred votes or so ready to hand in when you desire to take the lead. By this means contestants can regulate their standing, and often their friends, seeing them third or fourth in the list, will work harder for them than they could first and therefore seemed not to need the votes.

TIME TO START IS NOW

It cannot be too strongly urged upon those who have not yet entered the contest that now is the time to start. The earlier you begin the greater opportunity you will have for enlisting your friends and getting them firmly aligned to work for you.

Some writers facetiously compared opportunity to a goat with large horns and a full beard to grasp as it approaches, but with a mighty small tail to grasp after it has gone by. Today, perhaps even now, while you are trying to make up your mind to send in your name, some friend may be pleading his aid to another contestant, when he knows that you were in the race to win.

If you have no nomination blank just write your name on a sheet of paper, add your address and mark it "nomination blank." Mail this to the Contest department of The Call, and it will be counted as 10 votes for you. Then start among your friends. Get every one to subscribe. New subscriptions count twice as much as those of old subscribers. A nomination blank subscription counting as 1,000 votes. Get every friend to save for you the daily coupons. You will be astonished at your rapid progress if you use the gray matter of your brain to advantage in the work.

VOTES COLLECTED DAILY

Votes may be turned in at The Call's main office, Market street at Third, 1651 Fillmore street, or at the Oakland office. These votes will be taken from the box every day, but will not appear until the second day, that is, owing to the heavy work of counting and entering the votes to the contestants' credit.

It has been noticed in previous contests that the valuable prizes sometimes go to those who enter comparatively late in the race. This means that if you have not entered you have just as good a chance as those who are already piling up votes. You cannot afford to let this chance go by, so enter today and show the earlier entries how to gain votes.

When you have entered let nothing turn you from your purpose. You can win that Winton Six-Teen-Six worth $4,000 or one of the Tourist cars valued at $1,350, if you only keep up your stroke. Full of enthusiasm at the start be sure to keep to the high standard you have set for yourself. Don't let your efforts lag and then cease, but make each day more productive of votes than that which preceded. That is the way and the only way to win. Others can, so why not you?

Gossip of Railwaymen

Paul Morton is at present the most interesting character in San Francisco to railroadmen. It is confidently predicted that he will be made president of the Santa Fe. The fact that Morton is traveling with Santa Fe officials, is being treated with that deference accorded presidents of railroads, tends to confirm the opinion of railroadmen that Ripley will retire shortly to make way for Morton.

Paul Morton is credited with having assumed the role of boss from the first day he started in railroad work. A story is told how when assistant general freight agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy he transformed clerks into willing laborers without promises or compensation. It was during the freight handlers' strike in Chicago that Morton called out all the clerks in the general office, marched them to the freight sheds and cajoled them into handling freight. On the afternoon of the second day the spirits of the men began to flag. They were tired out and on the point of quitting. Morton, who had been busy superintending, saw that heroic action had to be taken or he would be deserted. He walked up to an immense trunk, gave several groans as he hoisted it on his shoulder and staggered off, bent almost double with the weight. The men saw that the boss did not spare himself, forgot their fatigue and cleared out the shed.

"Well," remarked one clerk, "let us finish the work by tackling the trunk the boss carried near the car."

Two men caught hold of it and—lifted it with ease. It was empty and weighed scant 25 pounds.

If Paul Morton cajoled others he never grew angry when he himself was the victim. T. J. Byrne, agent of the Chicago and Alton at Bloomington, had a farm in Kansas on the line of the Santa Fe. Cars were scarce and he was unable to move his produce. His appeal to the local agents were vain, so he decided to address Morton.

Byrne wrote to him as "dear Paul," reminded him of their pleasant school days, what fast friends they once were, and closed by asking for cars. Morton, pleased with the letter, promptly sent orders to let Byrne have all the cars he needed.

Byrne thought the joke too good to keep and spoke about it. Morton was told that he had a defective car.

"If a man can think out so shrewd a move to get cars he is entitled to them."

J. E. Gorman, freight transfer manager of the Santa Fe in this city, is described as being one of the best liked men in the railroad world, and is said even to exceed E. O. McCormick in the number of friends. When a young man Gorman was attended by a large following and one of his chiefs, not liking the looks of his companion, expostulated with him. "What can I do?" exclaimed Gorman; "they lie in wait for me and follow me till I give them money. I can't say 'no' to them."

W. H. Wallace, general manager of the Utah construction company, is in the city. This corporation has completed its contract in Utah for the building of the Western Pacific and all that remains for it to do is to construct the road from Orville to the Flower lake tunnel in Nevada.

Bruce Norton of the Union Pacific is in San Francisco and says use has been found for the alkali land on the west side, which is being put out in sugar beets. The growers are making a handsome profit from the sale of beets to the factory at Visalia.

Paul Morton, attended by A. H. Payson, W. A. Bissell, G. T. Nicholson, Edward Chambers and J. J. Byrne, inspected the terminals of the Santa Fe yesterday. It is said they will visit Point Richmond today.

There were 175 tourist tickets validated Monday in the office of the Southern Pacific and 200 yesterday, which shows that people are visiting the city in large numbers.

The Western Pacific is practically in Sacramento, as its track has reached the outskirts of the city.

G. W. Colby of the Great Northern, who has been ill for the last week, is reported improving.

C. H. Nelson, general agent of the Lake Tahoe railroad, has gone to Arizona and New Mexico to work up excursion business to the lake.

MORTON PROMISES MORE BIG INVESTMENTS HERE

Head of Equitable Addresses Insurance Company's Local Agents at Banquet

A dinner was given by the San Francisco agents of the Equitable life insurance company to Paul Morton yesterday in the red room of the St. Francis. Twenty-eight guests assembled. A. M. Shields, manager of the office here, acted as toastmaster. Morton addressed the guests, speaking of the condition of the Equitable.

"Life insurance," he said, "has passed out of its era of investigation into an era of appreciation. We have large investments in San Francisco, but we realize that it is a good place to make loans, and intend to make more. The settled policy of the society now is to invest where it gets its business. Instead of investing in any one locality."

TO HASTEN TRIAL OF INJURY CASES

Labor Council to Urge Courts to Advance Hearing of Damage Suits

Plasterers Deny Rumor of Withdrawal From Building Trades Body

Leo Michaelson, M. E. Decker and Dominick Kane, the special committee appointed by the San Francisco labor council to inquire into the long delay in the trial of personal injury cases in the superior court, held a meeting a few evenings since and discussed the matter at length. It was stated in committee that since May, 1906, more than 300 such suits have been begun in the court and that of this number but two have been brought to trial. It was the opinion that there was a great deal of hardship in connection with this class of cases in that each party to the action when a case was brought up for trial must deposit in the court the amount of the fees for jurors and court stenographer, which is $34 per day. In the majority of cases it had been ascertained that the plaintiffs were laboring men who could not deposit the sum required and postponement after postponement followed. The committee concluded after some calculation that at the rate the cases of this character have been acted upon by the courts it would take more than a hundred years to dispose of those on the calendar at this time. The committee will recommend to the council that it be increased and given authority to wait upon the judges with a view to ascertain if such actions cannot be advanced on the dockets, also to ask if this class of cases cannot be taken from what are termed the jury trial courts or departments and assigned equally in the departments that there are now 246 unions under the direction of the operative plasterers' international association.

Bakers' union No. 24 at its meeting last Saturday night decided to postpone its annual picnic from the first Wednesday in May to the first Wednesday in June, because the fleet will be in port during the early part of May. The union appointed a committee to unionize the Latin bakers of this city.

Plasterers' union No. 66 on last Monday night in meeting in Duboce hall nominated candidates for officers to be filled during the ensuing term. The election will be held next Monday. An exciting time is expected, as there are several candidates for a number of the offices. The union will elect 15 delegates to the building trades council. "That," said one of the officers, "ought to be sufficient to prove that we intend to remain with the council, notwithstanding the rumors that we intend to draw out and join some new organization."

The committee that is to have charge of the picnic to be given in aid of the Carpenters' union No. 22 at its last meeting added to its membership by the initiation of 11 candidates elected at the previous meeting. Six members from other jurisdictions were admitted by transfer cards.

The barbers' union has indefinitely postponed its proposed picnic because, at the meeting held last Monday night, the committee on grounds reported that it was impossible to secure suitable grounds for this year. The meeting was addressed by J. Golden of the employing barbers. He urged the union to continue working with the citizens' committee on sanitation. The union decided to appoint a committee whose duty shall be to visit all the barber shops in the city and secure funds from employer and employe to help the movement along. Five applications for membership were presented and six elected candidates were initiated. The reports presented during the evening show that there is improvement in business and that a better feeling exists at this time than did a month ago.

The laundry workers' union will give a social in its hall in the labor temple on Fourteenth street next Monday night.

The reports presented at the meeting of carpenters' union No. 482 last Monday night show that there is a greater demand for men of the craft now than for several weeks. Several members from other unions were admitted on transfer cards.

TIMELY TOPICS

REGARDING CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

NEGLECTED COLDS

GOOD ADVICE TO WISE WOMEN AND PRUDENT MEN.

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry, warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of Autumn, Winter and Spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well-established, ripe cold is to the germ of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child-life is the neglected cold. Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this medicine have been attained by its remarkable cure; of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given.

GROUP

MUST CHECK DISEASE AT THE START.

Don't neglect the first symptoms of croup in your child. This hoarseness and croupy cough are often overlooked by persons not acquainted with the disease, and sometimes not heeded by those that know the danger signal. Thousands of infant children die yearly of croup. Every one of these innocents could have been saved had Chamberlain's Cough Remedy been given in time. The time wasted in sending for a physician or for medicine when a child shows symptoms of croup often proves fatal. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy should always be kept in the house for immediate use. Remember, it will prevent an attack if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is safe and sure. Contains no narcotics. Always cures. It is the mother's favorite cough remedy in all parts of the world.

BRONCHITIS

WHAT IT IS AND WHAT TO DO.

This is only another name for a severe cold in the chest. In its commencement it is attended with cough, hoarseness, more or less pain, soreness of the throat and lungs, expectoration of mucus, sometimes mixed with blood, tightness about the chest or throat, a difficulty in breathing. In its last stages, high fever and night sweats prevail. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the medicine for this disease. It at once relieves the cough, eases the pain, removes the difficulty in breathing, and by producing a free and easy expectoration, subdues the inflammation. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is soothing and healing. It is always the common neglected cold that causes the trouble. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at the first indication of the cough or cold, and thus avoid any serious complications.

ONE INSTANCE.

"As long ago as I can remember my mother was a faithful user and friend of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, but never in my life have I realized its true value until now," writes Prof. H. A. Howell of Howell's American School, Havana, Cuba. "On the night of February 3rd our baby was taken sick with a very severe cold, the next day was worse and the following night his condition was desperate. He could not lie down and it was necessary to have him in the arms every moment. Even then his breathing was difficult. I did not think he would live until morning. At last I thought of my mother's remedy, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which we gave, and in a few days later, he has fully recovered. Under the circumstances I would not hesitate a moment in saying that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and that only, saved the life of our dear little boy."

WHOOPING COUGH

SYMPTOMS, AND ITS DANGERS.

Whooping cough is a very dangerous disease unless treated properly. Statistics show that there are more deaths from it than from scarlet fever. You cannot mistake the symptoms—protracted coughing, worse at night—peculiar sound or whoop—labored expectoration of mucus—apparent suffocation after coughing. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at once, repeating the dose frequently. The quick relief afforded by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy makes it a favorite with mothers of small children. It liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, keeps the cough loose, and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. This remedy has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, and always with perfect success. There is no danger whatever from the disease when it is freely given. It contains nothing injurious, and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult.

LA GRIPPE

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL AGONY.

LACK OF SYMPATHY.

Before we can sympathize with others we must have suffered ourselves. No one can realize the suffering attendant on an attack of la grippe unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from la grippe, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Severe Attack of Grippe Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Colonel Cornelius P. Cole, a well-known and much respected citizen of Appanoose county, Iowa, now past 70 years of age, who came to Iowa with his wife over fifty years ago, says, "Myself and wife were both soundly cured of severe and stubborn attacks of grippe last winter by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is a wonderful remedy and we never wish to be without it."

HOARSENESS

HOW CAUSED AND WHEN DANGEROUS.

Hoarseness, or roughness of voice, arises from several causes. The most common is when the mucus is allowed to collect on the vocal cords. This is dangerous, for unless the mucus is removed it is most likely to become a hotbed of disease, and will develop into some serious chronic throat or lung complaint. A small dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will work wonders. Not only does it at once clear away the mucus, but also assists Nature to strengthen the vocal cords, and make the accumulation less likely to occur. The mere fact that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is free from all narcotics makes it the best to use in all cases of hoarseness. Another common cause of hoarseness is the swelling or looseness of the vocal cords. This is generally caused by sudden exposure or by protracted public speaking. This phase is often called "olderman's hoarseness." The soothing properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy act most beneficially in such cases, and by soothing any inflamed cords, soon enables them to resume a natural condition.

DIPHTHERIA

RESULTS FROM A NEGLECTED COLD.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold, which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one partially susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given, it not only cures the cold, but greatly lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted. There is no danger in giving this remedy, as it contains no opium or other harmful drug, and may be given to a baby as confidently as to an adult.

PNEUMONIA

EVERY BOTTLE WARRANTED.

If you fail to get beneficial results after using two-thirds of a bottle of according to directions, return it to your dealer and get your money back. It is well known for its prompt cures of coughs, colds, and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant to take which is of much importance when medicine must be given to young children.
