CITY'S EMPLOYEES
MAY FORM UNION
Movement Under Way to Organize Laborers in the Pay of the Municipality
Labor Council Is Asked for Information as to How to Proceed
There is a movement to organize all the laborers of the several departments of the municipality into a new union. The men of the fire department have asked the labor council for information upon the subject of forming a union, to work on lines similar to the various unions affiliated with the council.

A report on the character of the supplies provided for the school department will be presented to the labor council tomorrow night by Andrew J. Gallagher and John J. Nolan.

The varnishers' and polishers' union will give a "ladies' night" in its hall in the new building of the building trades council during the latter part of the current month.

Walters' union No. 36 has appointed J. J. O'Brien an additional business agent, making three in all.

Secretary Gallagher of the San Francisco labor council has received a letter from the central labor council of Anacostia, Mont., asking him to notify the unions to request their members to keep away from that place, as the conditions have not improved and thousands of men are out of employment.

Bar tenders' union, local 41, has secured new quarters at metallic lathers' hall, 1233 Golden Gate avenue, and will meet there every Monday night.

The secretary of the labor council has sent a letter to the independent tailors' union, asking that representatives of that organization meet him and a committee from journeymen announcing that they had not at any time considered a proposition to withdraw from the council.

Reports show that while many carpenters, cement workers and painters are still idle, business in these lines is picking up.

A complaint from the Baltimore labor council, charging that the James Stewart construction company was seeking to reduce wages and lengthen working hours, was met by the announcement that the company in this city will be all right.

Garment workers' union No. 121 declared in favor of equal suffrage last night. Ten candidates received and four candidates initiated.

Carpenters' union No. 1840 admitted three members by initiation last night and elected four candidates.

Great steel dome—the largest in the United States—which has been constructed and fitted together temporarily at an eastern factory and will be shipped to San Francisco at once, to be erected on the new Emporium building.

IMMENSE DOME FOR EMPORIUM
Measures 100 Feet Diameter at Base and Is Largest in United States
When the new Emporium building is completed it will have the largest dome in the United States, measuring 100 feet in diameter at its base. The next largest dome in the country is that on the capitol at Washington, the diameter of which at the base measures 85 feet. James Stewart & Co., constructing engineers of the Emporium building, have completed the false work preparatory to the erection of the massive dome. Two large derricks are now on the roof of the building, waiting for the structural steel.

An interesting feature of this big dome is the fact that it has been erected at the factory of Levering & Garrigues, at Plainfield, N. J., where the different parts have been accurately fitted together. This means the saving of much time when the structural steel arrives here. The Stewart company says it will require only two weeks at the most to complete the construction of the dome, whereas at the factory it has required two months to erect it temporarily and fit the hundreds of parts accurately.

Eight cars will be utilized in shipping the steel from the east to this city. There is a total of 250 tons of material and more than 25,000 rivets will be used in its construction. The base ring will be placed on a level with the third floor and eight ribs will be raised from the base to the lantern top 50 feet above. This frame work will be covered with ornamental sheet metal, both interior and exterior, and also with translucent plate glass.

Actual work on the steel dome will be begun about April 15.

POLICE HOLD "COUNT," AWAITING HIS PROFS
Harrach Insists He Is Nobleman, While "Secretary" Derides Claims
The police and others interested are still unable to decide whether Eugene O. Harrach is a real count or an impostor. The young prisoner persists in his declaration that he is Eugene Othmar Count von Harrach and that K. W. Heise was his secretary. He told the police, they assert, that when Heise begged him to employ him as secretary and take him back to Austria he wired his mother and she sent a cablegram in reply to engage Heise. This cablegram was in the possession of Roy Martin, ex-hellboy at the Fairmont hotel, he alleged. To an attorney he said the cablegram was in his valise.

Heise denies that he was employed as secretary by Harrach. On the contrary, he befriended Harrach and spent all of his savings in paying Harrach's bills. He asserts that Harrach is now wearing in the city prison one of his suits, as Harrach had neither baggage nor coin when he left in Los Angeles. Heise is employed in a responsible position by the Pacific guano company of Los Angeles.

The police say that another charge could be brought against Harrach for passing a fictitious check for $100 on the manager of the automobile department of the Fairmont hotel. The check was drawn on the Wells-Fargo Nevada National bank. One of Harrach's possessors of a copy of the plate bearing the name "Graf Eugene O. Harrach, Wien." It seems by its appearance to have been made recently. Harrach is still in the city prison.

TOO MANY JURY CASES IN JUDGE HUNT'S COURT
Asks That He Be Given Opportunity to Catch Up With the Calendar
"I am strongly of the opinion that some action should be taken to relieve the congestion of jury cases on my calendar," said Judge Hunt yesterday, discussing the need for expediting the trial of personal injury damage cases as represented by Presiding Judge Sturtevant by the deputation from the iron trades and labor councils. "I think the suggestion a good one that jury cases should be distributed among more than three departments. In this department there is a number of cases which cannot come to trial for many months. It would relieve the situation somewhat if cases of another nature were not assigned to this department, leaving me free to try jury cases."

Judge Sturtevant is also of the opinion that if the three departments in which jury cases are tried should for some time be given their full capacity, the backlog could be overcome. The three jury departments are those of Judge Hunt, Judge Murasky and Judge Sturtevant.

MUST STAMP EXPORT MEAT
The bureau of animal inspection at Washington has issued orders that all meats shipped from San Francisco must be thoroughly inspected. Dr. G. S. Baker, chief of the bureau of animal inspection, is in San Francisco and will supervise the inspection of meats and meat products. In the past many complaints have been made to the department at Washington against the quality of the meats sent to European and South American countries. No vessels carrying meats or meat products will be given their clearance papers until certificates of inspection have been issued by the inspectors. The rules of the department of agriculture will be rigidly enforced so that the large shippers may be prevented from exporting impure meats to foreign countries.

Gossip of Railwaymen
P. D. Watkins, contracting freight agent of the Illinois Central in New York, was advised by W. H. Snedaker that considerable machinery was to be moved from that city to the Lagrange mining company at Weaverville; that he should see the officials of that corporation who had their headquarters there, and secure the shipment. Watkins learned that the office of the mining company was at 115 Broadway, called, sent in his card, and was seen by Roberts Walker. He explained his mission and Walker replied: "We are entirely willing that the Harriman lines shall have the haul from Denver west, but the Rock Island will have the business out of Chicago."

Watkins insisted that the Illinois Central was the better road to ship by. "What objections can you put forward against the Rock Island?" asked Walker. "It has always given us good service. We have nothing against the Harriman lines. In fact, we are favorably disposed toward them and we are doing all we can for you."

"What terms you so favorably disposed toward the Rock Island?" asked Watkins. "Well for several reasons," laughed Walker. "In the first place, I am an assistant to the general counsel of the company and Robert Mather, general counsel of the Rock Island lines, is also president of the Lagrange mining company."

"Oh, I beg your pardon," cried Watkins, "for trying to take away business from your own lines. I did not know."

"That's all right," answered Walker cheerfully; "wait a moment. I want you to meet Mr. Mather. He will endorse the idea of your trying to give our business to the Illinois Central. No, no excuses are necessary. But you will not be offended if I tell you that it strikes me as an exceedingly good joke."

Nevada mining stocks, principally Goldfield-Consolidated, gained several points on the stock and exchange board yesterday following an announcement that the French syndicate which held an option on 100,000 shares of merger stock had exercised its claim. According to dispatches from New York city the foreigners have taken up their option on a basis of $6 per share. The option did not expire until April 10, and the action of the syndicate sent Consolidated up from $5.17 1/2, the opening price, to $5.50, at which price is closed firm. At the time the option was drawn the Frenchmen deposited $1 per share, or $100,000. The action of the merger stock was reflected in the other leading Nevada issues, and the tone of the opening market was well sustained.

While the weight of trading centered about Consolidated, of which about 20,000 shares changed hands, Florence sold up from $4.37 1/2, Wednesday's close, to $4.45. Daily sympathized with the merger stock and scored a gain of 5 points, selling up to $1.15. Sandstorm showed considerable strength, but gained only 1 point over the previous day's closing sales, selling at 32 cents. Lumbro Extension added 2 cents to Wednesday's price, selling solidly but firmly at 35 cents. Combination Fraction sold at 71 cents, a gain of 1 point.

Leading Tonopahs were also carried along in the bull movement. Tonopah of Nevada selling rather actively at $7.75, a gain of 5 points over Wednesday's closing price. Tonopah Extension added 5 cents to its previous day's close, being in good demand at 79 cents, against 74 cents Wednesday. Jim Butler and MacNamara each sold at 1 cent above their closing figures of Wednesday.

The closing of the San Francisco mining exchange, which has been in existence just one year since its opening, threw considerable business to the larger exchange yesterday and to an extent accounted for the buoyant tone of the market. The Comstocks, with the Manhattans and the Buffords, were not affected by the action of the rights securities. Rawhide and the outside districts were little dealt in.

SUPREME COURT VOICES FAITH IN JUDGE OGDEN
Exonerates Him of Charge of Fraud Embraced in Decision Years Ago
Judge Frank B. Ogden of the superior court of Alameda county was exonerated by the supreme court yesterday of the charge of fraud brought in connection with the case of the Peking mining and milling company against James Kennedy.

In a supreme court decision rendered in 1887 it was stated that Judge Ogden improperly and in fraud of the rights of James Kennedy and others represented at an execution sale of certain claims in the Oro Fino mining company that the Oro Fino company was not the owner of the property, and that after the sale he wrote his name in the constable's certificate of sale under execution.

Ogden at the time presented the matter to the bar association of Alameda county and after an investigation he was declared cleared of the charge, which finding was concurred in by a commission of superior judges appointed by the governor at the time of Judge Ogden's appointment to the bench. In part the finding of the supreme court yesterday said: "From personal knowledge of Judge Ogden this court also joins in the expression of confidence embodied in the findings of the judges of the superior court of Alameda county."
