

JOYOUS ANTHEMS SOON TO RESOUND

Many City Churches Arrange Special Services for Easter Morn

Will Commemorate the Risen Lord in Chorals and Hymns of Praise

Christians of all denominations unite today in Easter carols. Elaborate choral programs have been arranged in all the churches and special services of more than ordinary significance and beauty have been planned. Festive masses will be sung in the Catholic churches and in the Protestant ones antems, hymns and solos will laud the suffering of the ties of the tomb by the Savior.

The floral decorations in all the churches of the city will be even more extensive than usual. Californians make much of the Easter showing of blossoms and the exhibit this year will well sustain the record of previous seasons.

At the First Unitarian church, Franklin and Geary, Rev. Bradford Leavitt, minister, the services will contain a number of special numbers and anthems by the choir. A feature will be the anthem "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen," set to the melody which terminated the solemn session of the council assembled by William the Conqueror in 1065.

At Calvary Presbyterian church elaborate services with special music will be given both morning and evening. Pastor Rev. William Rader will speak on "The Risen Lord" this morning and in the evening the subject will be "The Resurrection of Christ." The special music under the direction of the organist, Marshall W. Gieselman, will be rendered by choir, Mrs. M. Atkinson in soprano, Mrs. Richard Partington alto, Mr. Purdy tenor and Reginald Keene bass.

At the First Presbyterian church, Washington street near Van Ness avenue, Rev. William Kirk Guthrie, pastor, special anthems and organ services will be rendering and recitations by the choir and Sunday school will be the feature of the Easter services at the First Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Clay and Larkin streets, of which Rev. Fay Donaldson is pastor.

At All Saints' church, Waller street near Masonic, Rev. W. E. Hayes rector, special morning services will be held. An anthem, "Christ Our Passover," will be sung in place of the vespers.

At the First English Lutheran church, Geary street between Gough and Octavia, Rev. E. Harvey Hadlock pastor, the offertory will be rendered by A. W. Ketchum. Two anthems, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today" and "Alleluia, Christ Is Risen," will be sung.

At Bethany church, Harlett street between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth, Rev. C. Patterson pastor, special musical services will be given under the direction of Horace G. White, musical director. A soprano offertory solo will be sung by Mrs. Maybelle Erick.

At St. James Episcopal church, Clement street and Sixth avenue, Richmond district, two communions will be held, a low celebration at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and a high celebration at 11 o'clock.

The chorus choir of Grace Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Twenty-first and Capp streets, Rev. George A. Hough pastor, will render John A. West's sacred cantata, "Faith and Prayer," at the evening service. Solos will be sung by Mrs. I. Larson, soprano; Miss A. Van Welck, contralto; C. Rand, tenor; P. A. Graham, baritone; W. G. Kerrick, bass. The annual Easter concert of the Sunday school will be given in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Easter day services at St. Luke's church, Clay street near Van Ness avenue, Rev. Edward Morgan rector, will be as follows: Holy eucharist at 8 a. m., holy eucharist at 9 a. m., low mass at 10, holy eucharist and sermon at 11 o'clock. An orchestra will augment the regular choir.

At the evening session the bishop of the diocese will administer the rite of confirmation.

At the First Christian church, Duboce avenue and Noe street, Rev. Frank Stuart Ford pastor, there will be a special Easter program rendered by a special choir of 40 voices. Mrs. W. V. Freeman will sing a solo, "The Heavenly Vision."

THANKSGIVING FOR RECOVERY OF CITY

All Catholic Churches in the Archdiocese to Hold Masses Wednesday

Archbishop Riordan Issues Special Instructions to Ministers

In the Roman Catholic churches of the archdiocese masses of thanksgiving and impetration for the recovery of San Francisco from the effects of the great fire of two years ago will be said next Wednesday. Most Rev. Patrick W. Riordan has issued an official letter giving such instructions, as follows: San Francisco, Cal., April 14, '08.

On the 18th inst. we commemorate the second anniversary of the great disaster that befell our city. It is therefore fitting that we should pay a tribute of gratitude to Almighty God for His tender care of us as well as beseech Him to continue to bless us in all our needs, and more especially to deliver us from the scourge of earthquakes with their awful effects.

I therefore direct that on the Wednesday after Easter a mass of thanksgiving and impetration be said at a convenient hour in all the churches of the archdiocese for the aforementioned purpose. Please urge upon your people the propriety of being present at the mass and of acknowledging their dependence on Almighty God for the good things of this life as well as for the joys of Eternity. Yours truly, PATRICK W. RIORDAN, Archbishop.

At Baker streets, Rev. John S. Thomas pastor, special services for Easter have been planned. Solos and anthems will be sung by members of the choir, under the direction of Organist W. F. Hooke.

Something is going to happen Wait—but be ready!

The story of a stormy meeting of a certain board of directors—a meeting where seven prominent business men almost throttled each other in their anger—will be told in this space in a day or so.

These men were the officers of a corporation owning a certain very desirable tract of land adjoining a great and growing city. This land was coveted for years by home builders, for its location is the grandest in all the bay counties for desirable homes. There was a steady, persistent demand, but the corporation, realizing its great value, would not sell or even talk about it. Then came the financial panic and tight money—this corporation needed cash—and quick cash. One director said, "Let's sell our land"; two others agreed—but the fourth said, "No; this land is worth more than we can get for it now; we will hold it until times get better and treble our price." The dominant director emphatically said, "We will sell now—we must have the money regardless of the price—our affairs are critical—we must make this sacrifice to save our company and the land must be sold." Another director agreed and the land is to be sold under pressure at a ridiculously low price. We are going to get it—we know its value and we tell you now that if we place this magnificent property on the market in a day or so it will be at a price that will astonish you. It's your opportunity for profit—big profit—an opportunity which will never come again. The land is to be sacrificed—sold for a mere song—land that will command five times the present selling price in less than three years. Land that you must buy, for no sensible man can afford to let this forced bargain get away from him. Where is it? Wait; we are not quite ready—in a day or so you'll know the story. It's interesting. Watch this paper for the details. It's the story of fortune—the story of money-getting for every man who has the intelligence to recognize it. Watch The Call Tuesday.

HE GAVE BABY WHISKY AND BEER TO DRINK

Husband Sued for Divorce by Woman Who Wedded When Sixteen

A detailed story of the greater part of her married life was told by Mrs. R. E. Lee Kessinger in a suit for divorce filed yesterday against Benjamin Laurence Kessinger, a carpenter. She was 16 years old when she married Kessinger in September, 1904, in San Francisco. She states that she was neglected constantly because her husband spent much of his time carousing with dissolute companions. Believing that his conduct was due largely to his association with evil persons, she induced him to go to Missouri to live. She declares no reformation was effected. Later they returned to San Francisco, where Kessinger is alleged to have abused his wife and told her she was no good. They have a 3 year old child, and Kessinger is accused of having given the baby whisky and beer to drink. The wife fears he will kidnap the child unless restrained by court.
