

TO PROTECT LIVES OF WORKINGMEN Accidents in Buildings Due to Failure to Place Proper Safeguards

The ordinance relative to buildings in course of construction which the building trades council, at its meeting Thursday night, called to the attention of its business agents, declares:

"That any building more than three stories high in course of construction shall have the joists, beams or girders on each and every floor or level, where any work is being done, or about to be done, covered with scaffold boards laid close together or with other suitable materials to protect the workmen from falling bricks, rivets, bolts or girders, and from falling beams, rivets, bolts or other substances whereby life and limb are endangered.

The statement was made during the meeting that the number of accidents due in a great measure to a failure to comply with the provisions of the ordinance. The business agents were instructed to visit every building in course of erection that is more than three stories in height and see that the law is complied with and that there is no neglect or refusal to report such to the council, when steps will be taken to see that the proper safeguards are provided and that the delinquents are arrested and punished.

In a letter to the council Coroner Leland called attention to a number of deaths that occurred recently resulting from falls of workmen through elevator shafts in buildings that are being constructed and suggested that some measures be provided to prevent such in the future. The evidence given in recent cases of this kind went to show that proper precautions were not taken by contractors against the possibility of workmen falling through shafts.

The building trades council will hold its next meeting next Thursday in Brotherhood hall in the new temple.

Cooks' union, local No. 44, at its meeting last Thursday night, by unanimous vote, decided to amend its constitution so as to admit assistant cooks, who heretofore have been the helpers' union. Hereafter the organization will be known as the cooks' and assistant cooks' local.

Anton Ballew, one of the trustees, having gone into business as a restaurant proprietor, resigned both positions. Maurice Rossmann also resigned as delegate to the council. J. Brandstead was elected trustee and N. Theil and J. J. Doolittle were elected delegates to the council. The local, after initiating four candidates and receiving eight applications for membership, was addressed by ex-President Wahl of the bakers' union on the subject of closer admission of all persons in the culinary trades.

The musicians' union, local No. 6, will hold a special meeting May 28 to vote on an amendment to the constitution requiring the union to meet monthly instead of quarterly.

Twenty-three members of the local who had been suspended for nonpayment of dues, have been reinstated by the board of directors on making themselves financially good. Ten candidates for membership were accepted and obligated.

The board has applied to the American Federation of Labor for extension of territory so as to include Colma and vicinity in the jurisdiction of local No. 6.

The labor union mass meeting held in Vallejo a few evenings since was attended by a large number of persons. Walter MacArthur of the Coast Seaman's Journal was the principal speaker and the forceful address he delivered on Government by Lawrence was received with much applause. During the evening the meeting adopted resolutions similar to those that were adopted at the great labor mass meeting in San Francisco and the secretary of the union was authorized to forward a copy to the California senators and to the representatives.

Next Tuesday evening there is to be a meeting of local No. 35 of the international brotherhood of boiler makers, iron ship builders and helpers of America, in headquarters, Polite hall, to discuss and pass upon matters that will affect every member of the lodge to a degree heretofore unknown.

The Cotati progressive league of Sonoma county has notified the labor council that a mass meeting will be held at Cotati next Sunday, when they will address the union on the subject of dispensing with the middleman in the disposition of products from farms, ranch and orchard to consumer, and on topics of interest to organized labor and producers. Those who have been announced to speak are: J. W. Sweeney, A. J. Gallagher, Walter MacArthur, Andrew Buruseth and several of the officers of the farmers' union.

The committee that has had under consideration the communication from the international typographical union's commission on the subject of trade education by the correspondence school method will present its report to the San Francisco typographical union at its meeting today. It is the aim of the committee to educate the craft to a still higher standard of efficiency than that which it has reached up to the present time.

The milkers' union of this city asks for the assistance of the San Francisco labor council and the state federation of labor in the matter of unionizing milkers in Alameda county. The union declares that "a large quantity of milk comes to this city daily from that county, and that not a gallon of it is drawn by union drivers, yet it is distributed by union drivers."

Several complaints have been lodged with the supervisors concerning the wretched condition of the Twenty-sixth street hospital. Although there are 40 patients in the ramshackle building there is but one trained nurse to tend to their needs. There are several assistants who are styled nurses, but they are not skilled in the care of the sick. In addition to the scarcity of medical assistance, the hospital building is dilapidated and in need of repairs. The quarters are too small and cramped to permit the worst of the patients to be treated properly within the building, and in order to make room for them the convalescents remain out on the porches during the day hours.

The supervisors recently allowed $10,000 for repairs, and it is expected that within the next few weeks the patients will be afforded better accommodations. The building cannot be made much longer for the treatment of contagious diseases, and it will be necessary to find a site on which to erect a new hospital. The residents of Bay View object to the hospital being located on the site bought in that district several years ago, and people living in the vicinity of the almshouse tract do not want it near them. The present site is no longer desirable, and the locality has been built up since the big fire and the presence there of the hospital is a menace to the health and lives of the workmen who have their homes in the neighborhood.

MANSON REPORTS MECHANICS' BANK ON HETCH HETCHY HOME COMPLETED

Mayor Taylor received official information yesterday that San Francisco's application for a water supply from Hetch Hetchy would be acted upon favorably by the federal authorities. The information was contained in the following telegram from City Engineer Marsden Manson, who was sent to Washington, D. C. recently to learn the cause of the delay of the officials there in answering the city's petition: Dr. Edward R. Taylor, Mayor of San Francisco, I have formulated the following stipulations:

First—The city to exchange lands for remainder in both reservoirs. Second—Police regulations of the city's holdings to remain with department. Third—The smaller reservoir to be developed first if both are granted. Fourth—The city not to store nor divert water when natural flow is below present capacity of the canal and when needed for irrigation. Fifth—The secretary to direct the apportionment and measurement of water. Sixth—The city within six years to ratify by two-thirds majority in order to make valid the grant.

I recommend the approval of the above stipulations. Mayor Taylor at once forwarded a copy of the telegram to the supervisors with a request that they pass a resolution approving the terms set forth and that they be authorized to transmit the approval to the secretary of the interior. This will be done at the meeting on Monday.

Manson's telegram is clear on all points except the first stipulation, namely: "The city to exchange lands for remainder in both reservoirs." Supervisors Murphy and Johnson of the water committee of the board, believe that they understand the stipulation, but to avoid the possibility of a mistake directed Clerk Behan to telegraph Manson at Washington and ask him to make that portion of his dispatch more definite. Behan expects that a reply will be received by Monday in time to have the entire matter ready for presentation at the meeting of the board in the afternoon.

Some years ago the city, through former Mayor Phelan, obtained options on considerable land in the vicinity of Hetch Hetchy gulch—land that might be used if the water project came to a successful issue. Murphy and Johnson are of the opinion that the federal authorities now want San Francisco to turn over the options on this land to the government in exchange for land in the gulch that is not included in the present Hetch Hetchy grant. If they are correct in their surmise the exchange will be made in the near future, and the city, placed in position to secure the badly needed water supply.

COMPLAIN ABOUT HOSPITAL

The secretary of the San Francisco labor council has been advised by the milkers' union of Nome that there is no opportunity for laboring men at that place at this time and requesting that the labor council make application in the jurisdiction of the council. The union forwarded a sum of money to be expended in printing notices to that effect for distribution in all unions.

In addition to George L. Berry, formerly business agent of the printing pressmen's union of this city, now international president of the printing pressmen's and assistants' union, recently chosen to represent the union in the international convention to be held in Mobile, Ala., in June, the union has elected J. P. White and Charles W. Radebold as delegates.

It is announced that the long delayed report of the general campaign strike committee, which had the disbursement of about $450,000 collected from the labor unions of this city, is now being printed and will during the current week be distributed to the different unions and persons who contributed to the fund.

LAWYERS AGREE TO HELP NEW SCHOOL

Score of Jurists and Attorneys Pledge Their Aid and Contributions

With a spirit and enthusiasm rare to see, 20 prominent jurists and attorneys met with President Benjamin Ide Wheeler and members of the faculty of the University of California at a luncheon in the St. Francis hotel yesterday and pledged themselves by individual contributions and efforts to insure success to the plan for endowing the great law school in the west on the campus of the state university at Berkeley. The meeting was called specifically to make known details of the plan and to raise $50,000 for a lawyers' memorial hall in connection with Boalt hall, which will be the name of the school, itself to be the point of activity about which the work of the proposed new center of legal training would revolve. After it was announced that Attorney Charles S. Wheeler had subscribed $5,000 and Attorney Warren Gregory had given $500, Chief Justice Beatty of the supreme court, who presided as toastmaster, appointed a committee to take up the work and endeavor to complete. Those on the committee were Chief Justice Beatty, Judges Van Vleet, Sloss and Cooper and Attorneys Samuel Knight, Sidney Smith and Frank Short of Fresno.

UNIQUE TRAINING SCHOOL

The new school of law which was made possible by a donation of $100,000 by Mrs. Boalt two years ago for the erection of a hall, is planned to be the west what Harvard and Columbia law schools are to law students in the country over today. Eventually, it was explained by Prof. George H. Boke of the department of jurisprudence at Berkeley, it is planned to secure for it a total endowment of $1,000,000. But one of the most important features of the institution will be its unique position as a training school, not only for those intending to follow the legal profession, but as a place where fitting knowledge of the essentials and principles of the law can be taught by business and professional men. Boke said also that 6,000 volumes had already been collected as the nucleus of a great law library of 30,000 volumes, which it is planned to install there.

"The education of lawyers has dangerous possibilities," said Boke in the course of his remarks. "It gives a man a power which can make of him a dangerous person. You are putting in his hands law making powers, the very threads of future generations, as it were, which unwisely used can do immense harm. When it is used for the good of the whole community this power becomes a great force for righteousness. So state university should not educate men in the law without great care. They must be educated with an ideal that they are practicing not for themselves alone but for the welfare of the community. It is not a question of goodness or badness, but of awakening to ideals. The new generation is slipping out of the old beliefs into a new set of beliefs. A great school of law to shape the new ideals is necessary on the Berkeley campus."

BEATTY WILL AID SCHOOL

Chief Justice Beatty declared for "intelligent criticism" of the law bench, which, he said, could only be brought about by greater public knowledge of the law. He said that legislators and businessmen should be taught the basic principles of law and pledged himself to do his best in promoting the interests of the new school. Benjamin Ide Wheeler followed with a short address on the work the school could expect to accomplish.

Other speakers were Frank Short of Fresno, Warren Olney Jr., Prof. William C. Jones, head of the law department at Berkeley, and Attorney Sidney Smith. Smith declared that greater respect for the courts by members of the legal profession was necessary. He said that many of the decisions of the criminal courts that appeared technical to the businessman would be cleared if he had but a slight knowledge of law.

Prof. Short said that $100,000 had been promised by Mrs. Peter Sather and $125,000 from another source. A plan was proposed for 100 attorneys to subscribe $50 each to the fund. Among those present were: Judge J. C. Coffey, William C. Jones, Prof. Orrin K. McMurtry, Judge M. C. Sloss, Prof. George H. Boke, Judge Lucien Shaw, Judge J. E. Cooper, Judge F. M. Angellotti, Judge J. B. Kerrigan, Judge S. B. Sanborn, Sidney Smith, Warren Olney Jr., William Thomas, Nathan Frank, C. Irving Wright, and Benjamin Ide Wheeler.

BOY OF FORTUNE NOW IN CHURCH CRYPT

Duchess Goes to Chateau Where Funeral of De Chaulnes Will Be Held

PARIS, April 25.—The body of the due de Chaulnes, who died suddenly from heart failure at 11 o'clock Thursday night in his bedroom in the Hotel Langham, was conveyed at daylight this morning from the hotel to the Church of St. Phillip. It was accompanied only by an undertaker and his attendants and the due de Luynes, a cousin of the due de Chaulnes and the official head of the De Chaulnes household.

The cure of the church received the coffin at the door. It was escorted to the crypt and after a simple blessing deposited. The body will remain in St. Phillip's pending completion of the arrangements for the funeral. These will be settled upon definitely upon the arrival of the duchess d'Uzes and her husband. It is practically certain, however, that the funeral and interment will occur at Chateau d'Aprieur, the ancestral residence of the De Luynes outside of Paris. The duchess de la Rochefoucauld and Princess Galtzain, an aunt of the young due, remained last night with the widowed duchess, who was Miss Theodorina Shonts of New York. Early this afternoon the duchess went down to Chateau d'Aprieur, accompanied by the due de Luynes.

The reports that the due de Chaulnes had died in his sister's apartments in the Rue Van Dyke from drugs are now generally denied. They arose from the desire of the management of the Hotel Langham to make it appear that the death of De Chaulnes had not occurred in their establishment.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Theodore P. Shonts sailed for Europe today on the steamer St. Louis to attend the funeral of his son in law, the due de Chaulnes. "The sudden death of the due comes as a terrible shock to us," said Shonts. "Only this morning three letters came from my daughter, telling how perfectly happy she and her husband were and full of plans for their home in Paris and for the due's new work here was about to enter upon."
