Seals Come Home and Rout the Oaks

Two Early Rallies Net Four Runs and Then Game Is In

By W. J. Slattery

The Seals seem glad to be away from that southern climate again, and to express their joyousness they took after the Commuters yesterday afternoon on the latter's own back yard and handed them a nice little beating. The finish was 4 to 2, and once the Seals recovered their stride Oakland never figured after "Slivers" Henley got into the going in the second period. It did look rather bad for the long boy when the Oaks started after him at the outset, but he proved a glutton for punishment and quickly revived.

The event of the afternoon was the first appearance in a Seal uniform of Glenn Henderson, the new center fielder recently secured from the Winnipeg club of the Northern league. Henderson worked like a live one, hitting the ball every time he saw one when he walked. The unanimous opinion of the fans was that the newcomer would do very nicely.

Right after Henley in Oakland was hitting Van Halten, the first man up, slammed out a two sucker into the left garden. Halley bunted, but Van was forced at third. Nance disheartened, Helme Heitmuller leaped up against another double to left and Halley came on home. Helme got to third on the throw in and Slattery's single put him over.

Southpaw Hardy looked just as easy to the Seals in his half as Henley did to the Oaks. Cap Mohler was slapped in the ribs and the pitcher pitched him on second. Halde swung right through with a single past short, Mohler pulling up at third. Cook's throw to the plate was true, but the ball hit a broom near the third and landed away.

Naturally Mohler did not overlook a bet like this and he scampared in. Halde tried to get third, but Hardy's throw nailed him. Henderson was walked after all this rough stuff and he quickly stole home. Helme got to Mohler's single to fight, and Mel also pulled off a steal. The pair of them swelled the Seals' total to three when Zeider picked off one to left.

The final run of the game was negotiated by the Seals in the fourth inning. Curtis drove a hot one to third and La Lounge bunted him along. Mohler followed with a single and also pilfered. Curtis arrived on this drive, but Mohler perished because nobody else could hit the ball safely.

The early rally which the Seals made behind Henley seemed to put a lot of confidence and pepper in the long boy. He waded in and pitched the old time shutout ball from that time on, holding the Oaks to three little hits for the balance of the game. The Seals were a bit uneasy in the field when the game started off, but they soon settled down and played good baseball. Hardy was wild and uncertain throughout the game. The score:

LOS ANGELES, 7 PORTLAND, 4. SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL. LOS ANGELES, June 23.—Hard hitting by Los Angeles, woody errors, poor decisions by Perrine and Delmas' home run that McCredie pulled back under the right fence to hold Del for a triple, were the features of an exciting game here today and the champions won because the Beavers went to pieces in the fifth and sixth innings. About 2,000 fans were present and the play was continued past the tenth by loud howls of disgust from the fans over Perrine's rulings.

Kinsella pitched shut out ball for four innings and then the fifth or the roll fell in. After striking out Hogan, Nagle hit a triple to right center, which McCredie led bound over his head. Bernard followed with a single and Oakes hit another triple to center.

Danzig juggled Dillon's sacrifice and then threw wild over first. Brashear went to center, four runs resulting from all this.

State League Powers Ready to Fight

Plan to Protect Their Territory and Strengthen San Francisco and Oakland Teams

Realizing that they must protect their present territory against future invasion and also strengthen the Oakland and San Francisco teams the magnates of the California state league got together last night at the Hotel St. Francis and decided to take these steps immediately. Representatives from each of the eight clubs were present and they all concurred when the question was brought up. President Frank Herman was in the chair.

A committee composed of W. F. Toomey of Fresno, W. L. Curtin of Sacramento and W. J. Keating of Santa Cruz was named to carry out the two projects. It is very likely that the other clubs of the league will be called upon to help out the San Francisco and Oakland nines. They must be reinforced at once if they expect to figure as drawing cards in the race. Oakland has lost every game, 27, so far, while San Francisco has won but four. Unless quick action is taken, the latter soon will break the world's record of 29 consecutive defeats, established by the old Pittsburgh club in 1890.

When they announce that they intend to safeguard their territory the state league powers intimate that they will give battle to the Pacific coast league this winter. It is a foregone conclusion now that the big organization will put a team in Sacramento next year, under the leadership of Ed Kripp, who managed the team when Sacramento was in the circuit seven years ago. This means that a bitter fight will be waged and the state league managers are preparing to start early.

Manager Keating of the Santa Cruz team made a protest against the action of Umpire Flynn in fining him $100 after the rough house at Stockton on Decoration day. He stated that the fine was not remitted, but President Herman and the directors were firm and Keating was forced to come in with the money.

All the league managers reported large attendance at the state league grounds. Last Saturday and Sunday it was necessary to turn hundreds away. Fresno is also contemplating a new grandstand and bleachers while the Oakland club at Stockton, San Jose and Sacramento have been packed each Saturday and Sunday game.

The following cities were represented by the following directors last night: Sacramento, Cy Moersing; Stockton, W. C. Dill; Colusa, Charlie Graham; San Jose, A. H. Jarman; Fresno, W. F. Toomey; Santa Cruz, W. J. Keating; Alameda, J. B. Calder; Oakland, W. McMenomy; San Francisco, James McDonald and Phil Knoll.

Baseball Notes. Helme Heitmuller furnished the sensation of the afternoon in the fourth. With two on bases and two down, Henderson lined the ball to right, which he scooped with one mitt and then threw his man out at first. It was a wonderful play.

Joe Curtis is playing third in place of McCredie, who is out of the game with a bad foot. If Joe keeps on like he did yesterday Mac will have to show some speed to get his job back. Besides, McCredie has pitched the day by making three marvelous stops and throws at third.

Henderson has all the earmarks of a good ball player. He insisted on getting into the game, though he was tired and had a bad leg after a six days' ride and he was tired and stiff. He holds his club from the left side and chops the ball down like a big leaver. He has a good head while on the bases, showing this by neatly stealing the first time he got on.

Victory Marks Debut of Tea Set

Canadian Filly on First Appearance Shows Talent at The Meadows

By J. R. Jeffery

SEATTLE, June 23.—Tea Set, a smart looking chestnut filly by St. Maxim-High Tea, signaled her debut upon the turf by carrying the colors of J. J. Walsh, the Canadian turfman, to victory in one of the races for maiden 2 year olds which were programmed at the Meadows today. The filly was backed by stable connections on the strength of fast work in private, but her victory came as a great shock to the general mass of race goers, who looked upon Denny Brothers' filly Deco as a cinch to win. The latter being injured, but not seriously, when he was cut down yesterday, and he had plenty of speed today but failed to stay after feeding into the stretch. The bolting of Bertie A when the barrier went up in the opening race spoiled a coup which Puert Wilkeson had planned with the filly and which he and the Applegate coterie would have been the principal beneficiaries. When the filly bolted Jockey Walsh's stirrups broke and the boy was slightly injured, but his engagement was not spoiled and he scored with Convent Bell, the only winning favorite of the day. Lady Quality, the filly that took the measure of Al Coney's El Pavo in the second race, is a likely looking juvenile. El Pavo got away in a tangle, but probably would have been able to beat the winner on an even terms.

Preen, thanks to the heroic methods of training to which William Walker resorted after that horse's dismal showing last Saturday, improved with great suddenness and made a show of the field with which he contested in the fourth. He was well backed. Dick Wilkeson, which won the succeeding race, looked to improve with the filly and galloped in front throughout. Play was comparatively light today and most of the bookies lost.

Information has been received that S. C. Hildreth is likely to immediately ship his stable of cracks here from New York. Hildreth recently sold a half interest in Montgomery to T. H. Williams, and it is likely that the last Burns handicap winner will be left at New York. In charge of Dr. Rowell, Williams' trainer, Hildreth comes to the coast. The summary:

Weather clear. Track fast. FIRST RACE—Six furlongs, selling, 4 year olds and upward. Odds. Horse, Weight, Jockey, St. Str. Twelve Dollars Win One on Ballot

Keene's Horse Romps a Mile in 1:39, Adding Equity Stake to His Victories

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, June 23.—Helmet, the 2 year old brown colt by Disguise that has been proclaimed repeatedly as "the fastest yearling that James R. Keene ever owned," made his first appearance in public today and he sustained in part his private reputation by winning the third race on the program at the Sheepshead Bay track. Helmet had speed, but it was not phenomenal, and it took all of his best efforts to pass Connaught Ranger, a third rate youngster, in the final 60 yards of the contest. For three furlongs the latter held the so called "phenom" for speed, and it was a question which colt would win up to the field stand. Both ran wide making the turn for home and Helmet wobbled considerably in his stride. For another furlong they fought for the lead in company, but during the run home Helmet gradually drew to the front and won by nearly two lengths.

Ballot earned his third consecutive victory of the season by winning the Equity stake, romping, by two lengths. He was opposed by three selling placers—Live Wire, Spooner and Rosamiro. Live Wire, which would force him to show his best speed. He had up 130 pounds and won easily, covering the mile in 1:39. The summary:

FIRST RACE—The General Monroe, selling, 500 added, 4 year olds and upward. Odds. Horse, Weight, Jockey, St. Str. Fin. 15-1—Taboo, 109 (Delany), 1 2 1 3 2 3. 16-1—Clay, 107 (J. Uncle Sam's Fighting Tars Will See Fighting Bat Nelson in Action This Afternoon

Battling Nelson will mingle with sailors of Uncle Sam's battleships this afternoon. Always anxious to grasp the hand of the boys who fight for the flag, the Durable Dane has finally consented to let up for a day in his training for the purpose of boarding a few of the big fighting ships and mixing with the men behind the guns. Today is the day and it gives promise of being a lively one when the Battle calls on the boys in blue. One fighter always is glad to greet another.

Uncle Sam's Fighting Tars Will See Fighting Bat Nelson in Action This Afternoon

Both Nelson and Perry have been going ready for this stunt for many days past and they promise to show a lot of speed in the friendly bout. It will last about four rounds and take place on a big platform on the deck, especially built for the occasion.

At the conclusion of the entertainment on the Ohio Nelson and his party will go over to the Georgia, where the bout will be enacted again. If they have time Nelson, Perry and Farrelly will take in several of the other ships, but they have only the two scheduled for a certainty.

This is a trip that Nelson has been looking forward to for many a moon. Strange as it may seem, the Dane was too busy when the fleet was here last month to find time to board any of the big warships. Now he expects to see the sights in full and repay the jockies by showing them how he warms up for his coming

Louisiana Senators Kill Racing

Opposition Is Accused of Using Knockout Drops to Keep Law Makers Away

BATON ROUGE, La., June 23.—After a campaign lasting several months the close of which was marked by a bitter fight, the so-called Locke anti-racetrack gambling bill was this afternoon passed by the Louisiana state senate. The bill passed the house several weeks ago, and now only requires the signature of the governor to become law. There seems no doubt that the bill will be signed by the governor.

It required 19 votes to get the bill through the senate and the last 24 hours before its passage were marked by a desperate and finally successful effort to muster the necessary strength. One senator was found to be suffering from a high fever, and it was thought that he would be absent on a 90 mile trip after the absent one. Both of these senators were finally got on the floor and, added to the 19 already present, made the 21 votes necessary to carry the bill. A minute or so previous to the final passage of the bill a lively and somewhat bitter debate was indulged in by members of the body. Senator Tabbe charged that the racing faction had used knockout drops to keep the senators away from their sworn duty and charges and counter charges followed.

The senator whose illness caused the charges of poisoning was made was from St. Marks of De Soto parish. After Senator Tabbe's statement about knockout drops had been made, Senator Smart, despite his weakness, addressed the senate, saying that there was absolutely no foundation for the reports that poison had caused his attack. He said he was subjected to such attacks. Senator Tabbe then explained that his charge as to knockout drops had not referred to Smart in particular, and that it was not to be interpreted literally. He spoke, he said, in a figurative sense, intending to show the sort of methods the racing interests had used.

Senator Settoon of Livingston parish the absentee who was searched for with an automobile, was absent on account of a change in train schedules. When he missed the train on which he had intended to come to Baton Rouge yesterday he had to wait 24 hours for another train.

With the exception of one vacancy due to death, the full membership of the senate was present when the vote was taken. One vote gained by the racetrack interest, or even the failure of one of the Locke bill supporters to vote, would have defeated the bill. Tension was, therefore, extreme when the roll was called. Twice the name of senators whose action had been reported as doubtful was called, and each time that senator voted against the bill. These two senators were T. J. Davis of Vernon parish and H. C. Drew of Calcasieu.

Their votes against the bill left the measure on the sheer verge of defeat as the roll progressed. Then the name of Smart, one of the storm centers of the debate, was called, and he scarcely able to remain in his seat, his presence recalled vividly the recent roll call on racing in New York. Though weak of voice his "aye" penetrated the chamber and was greeted with wild cheering. From then on until the end of the roll call the result was practically sure.

A remarkable feature of the closing days of the struggle has been the attitude of the racetrack interests. They represented themselves as the real reformers of racing. They claimed that since the Locke bill is admitted by its supporters to permit individual betting, racing would continue with its evil phases more obnoxious than ever. The Locke bill will become a law 30 days after formal announcement of the governor's signature.

King Edward to Open Olympic Games

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE CALL

LONDON, June 23.—Considerable delight was expressed here today when it was learned that King Edward had promised to open the Olympic games, which begin in this city on July 13. The English ruler is a great sportsman and much interested in the coming contests, so it is possible he may attend on other days as well.

The games will be opened by a grand parade of all the athletes entered. This feature is adopted by the authorities from the old custom of the Greeks, as no Olympic games were thought complete without the grand review before the royal party.

MOVING GRANDSTAND. ALAMEDA, June 23.—The management of Recreation park, where the State baseball league teams play, is having the grandstand moved to the southeast corner of the enclosure. This will protect the occupants of the stand from the wind. The change in the location of the grandstand will necessitate a change in the position of the diamond.

Here's a remedy that cures while you sleep. No poisonous drugs to swallow. No weak stomach or digestive troubles due to drugging. This remedy is Nature's medicine—Electricity.

The only way to cure anything is to help Nature. Nature will cure you if you carry it every organ and tissue of the body, where it gives health and vim to every ailing part. The reason drugs don't cure is because they do not assist Nature. Nature needs nourishment, strength, something that builds up. Drugs contain no nourishment, no electricity, not one thing that builds vitality—just poison that tears down.
