Leo B. Coats, the wealthy horse dealer, who charged his wife in a civil action filed Tuesday with the misappropriation of funds which he gave her in trust, was busily engaged yesterday in preparing the papers in a divorce suit, which will be filed in a few days. He spent most of the day in the offices of his attorney, Walter H. Linforth, but so anxious were all concerned to maintain secrecy that clerks in Linforth's office lied about his presence. The suit now in preparation promises to be rife with sensations, for the names of several prominent men will be drawn into the allegations against Mrs. Eulah M. Coats will be of a startling nature. Detectives were still at work in the matter yesterday and a big, white automobile, owned by Coats and driven by Roy Wood, one of his chauffeurs, circled all afternoon in the vicinity of the Hotel Martinet at Van Ness avenue and Geary street, where Mrs. Coats joined her sister after leaving her husband's apartments at the Fairmont hotel Sunday. Mrs. Coats did not leave the city, as was reported by her relatives Tuesday night. Instead, she appeared yesterday morning at Coats' rooms at the Fairmont and gathered together a number of her belongings. She then sought refuge again by going into hiding, while her husband exhausted every resource to ascertain her movements. In connection with the charges which Coats will make concerning midnight automobile trips indulged in by his wife will be mentioned the names of a local justice of the peace, a well known attorney of Oakland and several San Francisco clubmen. The detailed history of some of the beach escapades will have an important place among Coats' allegations, and the charges that she has retained money which he gave her for safe keeping will be renewed in the divorce action. Joseph Trumppour, the chauffeur whom Coats discharged Sunday morning after learning of an automobile ride taken by his wife and several companions the night before, has refused to discuss the case. Trumppour was all times under the orders of Mrs. Coats, as well as of Coats himself, and probably will be an important witness if the divorce action is contested in court. The restraining order preventing Mrs. Coats from withdrawing any part of the $13,000 or more which her husband's legs she obtained from him and placed in local banks is effective for the time being, and with the money thus safeguarded it may be several days before Coats actually files his suit for divorce.

COMPROMISE ENDS FIGHT OVER THE BELL ESTATE Sale of Valuable Oil Lands Furnishes Money to Pay Creditors The apparently interminable litigation following the death of Thomas Bell has now all been compromised and yesterday an agreement between the administratrix, Theresa Bell, the heirs and the creditors, who have been quarrelling for years past, was filed with the county clerk. This settlement, which brought to a close the consequence of the sale to the Union oil company some months ago of valuable oil lands at a price of $1,000,000, when the last payment had been made, and the remaining claims against the estate will be paid and it is believed that the estate will be taken out of the probate court within a year. Under the terms of the compromise agreement, which consists of two pages of signatures, Theresa Bell, who is the widow of Thomas Bell, agrees to pay $1,000,000 in satisfaction of the $2,000,000 allowed her by the probate court as a family allowance. The creditors agree to reductions in their claims against the estate. The chief claims against the estate are: $1,000,000 under the agreement; $200,000 to the National bank and D. O. Mills & Co., $90,000 to D. O. Mills & Co., $24,622 to Mary Kelly, $23,622 to D. Salas, $12,161 to Ross Brothers, $3,084 to D. O. Mills & Co., $2,230 to J. H. Davis, $2,228 to Laurel Hill cemetery, $3,165 to Davis, Schonwasser & Co., $4,128 to S. M. Hills, $6,407 to estate of E. Mary A. Thompson, $30,056.

WIDOW AWARDED THE TALKATIVE PARROT Mrs. E. Agnew Gets Bird Claimed by John Dabovich "Shake hands, brother; you're a rogue and I'm another!" chortled a parrot in Police Judge Weller's court yesterday morning, as Mrs. E. Agnew of 540 Bryant street shook one of his claws. The judge promptly awarded the parrot to Mrs. Agnew, being satisfied that she was the rightful owner. The parrot was claimed by John Dabovich, 163 Silver street, who said he had bought it two months ago for $125. Mrs. Agnew said the parrot would say for her about that time. She was a widow and had taken great pains in teaching the parrot to speak. Every morning she said, "Polly would say, 'Polly wants a cup of coffee,' and this statement was borne out by Property Clerk Cook, who declared that he had been annoyed all morning by the parrot yelling for a cup of coffee. When she came to the test of shaking hands, Dabovich interrupted by saying he had taught the parrot to shake hands and had also taught it to speak Austrian. The judge then declared that he was an Austrian of a parrot. He asked Dabovich if he were married and when the judge told him that he did not need a parrot, but the widow did.

FALSE PRETENSES ALLEGED Charles H. Welch, 225 Commercial block, agent for the Thomas J. Barkley company of Los Angeles, obtained a warrant from Police Judge Conlan yesterday for the arrest of Mort A. Samuel on a charge of obtaining goods by false pretenses. It is alleged that Samuel represented to J. H. Spillane, vice president, and M. Emanuel, agent of the company, that he owned a stock of merchandise at 1839 Eighth street valued at $2,000 and had debts amounting to less than $200; whereas, in fact, the stock was worth more than $1,000 and the debts exceeded $200. On the representations made by Samuel he got stock of the value of $537 on June 30 from the Barkley company. For falling hair, dandruff and poor hair there is nothing better than our S. E. Tonic, S. HAZARDING IMPAIRS SIGHT OF YOUTH Apprentice Seaman at Yerba Buena Garroted by Young "Rookies" Rough Handling Which Sends Him to Hospital Is Designated as "Skylarking"

They call it hazing at Annapolis if it only amounts to making an embryo admiral say "Ba" or perform a few harmless calisthenics, and the punishment provided by the navy regulations for the young gentlemen who indulge in the practice is swift and severe. At the Yerba Buena naval training station they call it "skylarking," even if it includes an experiment in the gentle art of garroting, and deprives the victim of his eyesight for at least a few weeks. And at Yerba Buena "skylarking" is not punished. That hazing in the navy is not confined to Annapolis was made evident yesterday when it became publicly known that Earl Irey, an apprentice seaman at the Yerba Buena naval training station, was still suffering from the efforts of his shipmates on August 10 to "make his eyes bulge" by hauling tightly a hammock lashing in a circle of which Irey's neck had been inserted. The experiment was a success. The victim's eyes acquired an appreciable bulge, which increased in inverse ratio to his ability to breathe. Suddenly "Jimmy Legs," the master of arms, put in an appearance. The torturers fled, leaving their victim to be released by the ship's policeman. Irey's eyes have returned to their normal location, but with their power of sight seriously impaired and they are still of the carmine hue that goes with acute conjunctivitis. The officers of the training station make light of the affair, which has been officially designated as "skylarking." Irey, if he recovers the use of his sight, wants to remain in the navy.

VICTIM OF ROUGH JESTS Irey enlisted a few weeks ago at his home in Oklahoma. He entered the service full of enthusiasm and patriotic zeal. He had not been many days at the training station before the other "rookies" had him picked out as an easy victim for their rough jests. They sent him to the executive officer for a hammock ladder, to the carpenter for strap oil and to the surgeon for pie crust. It was hard on Irey but good fun for his shipmates, and when somebody thought out the "eye bulging" experiment the selection of Irey as the victim was natural.

"Hammocks" had just sounded and Morpheus was supposed to be in session on the Pensacola's berth deck. Irey, to whom a hammock had not yet been issued, was sleeping on a mat under the spread of the deck. He was aroused by somebody placing a hammock lashing around his neck. "Well show you something new," said somebody. One end of the rope was made fast to a stanchion. The other end, around Irey's neck was hauled tight and made fast to a handy rail. Irey, on his knees, said yesterday that he lost consciousness and remembers nothing more until he found himself in the fresh air on the gun deck, with Master at Arms Palmer bending over him. He was taken to the sick bay and is still under medical care.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY REPORTS ON SANITATION Committees Gather in California Club Hall to Tell of Work California Club hall was the scene of a very interesting gathering yesterday morning, when the members of the women's auxiliary of the sanitation committee, many of whom are delegates for other women's organizations met for the first time this season. Although meetings of this body were discontinued for the vacation months, the work has been going on in the hands of the various boards and committees, and there was much to report yesterday. The meeting was called to order a short time before noon, and because of the lateness of the hour most of the business was postponed until the next regular meeting, September 2. Mrs. A. W. Scott presided yesterday and opened the morning's program with a few informal words. The first of the speakers was Dr. W. C. Rucker, who has been constantly in attendance at these meetings, and who will continue to address the various points connected with the work to be done. The discussion, and the question of having the judge deliver a lecture or a series of lectures to demonstrate to the general public what is being done was finally decided in favor of the latter. The date of the lecture will shortly be announced.

LANGE CHARGED WITH PASSING BAD CHECKS Former Jeweler Gets Into Trouble Over Two Small Amounts Julius F. Lange was booked at the city prison yesterday by Detectives Conlon and Mackey on two charges of passing a fictitious check. About a month ago he passed a check for $40 drawn on the Bank of Fruitvale on Werle & Willoughby, wholesale liquor dealers, 59 Market street, and a check for $5 on August 7. Both checks proved worthless. Before the big fire Lange had a jewelry store at Powell street near the Commercial block and did an extensive business in buying and selling diamonds. He lost everything by the fire and has not started in business again. When searched several pawn tickets for jewelry were found in his pockets. He was released on bail furnished by Attorney Sullivan, who had prepared an application for his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

SHOPLIFTER TAKES ALBUM Daring shoplifters have been stealing from the merchants in Market street for several days and yesterday an unknown man entered the photography store of Marsh & Gervin, 712 Market street, and stole a valuable album, which is said to be worth $200, containing several hundred colored views of San Francisco before and after the fire. The employees in the store did not miss the album until after the stranger left the store. A description of the suspected thief was given to the police and detectives were assigned to investigate the theft of Chief Bigley. Try Murline Eys Remedy For Red, Weak, Weary, Watery Eyes.

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair—Many Treatments were Futile—Baby had Milk-Crust. BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES "For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every day the high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was unable to comb her hair. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This led to the scalp becoming clean and free from dandruff, and the hair was dry I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment into the scalp, and into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My troubles with dandruff were over, although for a long time afterward I used the Cuticura Ointment as at first, after shampooing, which kept the scalp and roots of the hair moist. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called "milk-crust" on baby's head, and have never known anything to equal them. You are at liberty to publish this letter, for I do sincerely believe that the Cuticura Remedies are a blessing to mankind. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1936."

CABLE CARS FOR PACIFIC AVENUE United Railroads Breaks Ground for Erection of New Power House Ends Dispute of Residents as to What System Should Be Installed Pacific avenue is to have a cable line again. The warring residents of the exclusive section, who have been clamoring for car service of any kind, regardless of whether it were trolley, cable or horsepower, and the faction of the United Railroads that regular trolley wires, the noisy cables and the too humble horsecars must now bury the hatchet. For the United Railroads has rendered its decree after two years of wrangling and dispute among the residents, innumerable petitions to the supervisors, tumultuous mass meetings and fiery resolutions, all to settle which should be the motive power of the line or if car service should be restored at all. Ground has already been broken for the foundations for a new power house to be erected in Pacific avenue, east of Van Ness, and it is announced by the United Railroads that regular cable service will be established by December. Much of the machinery of the new plant has already arrived and a large force of men is at work putting the system again in shape. The old cable is to be rewound to a larger size.

WOULD LAY NEW RAILS United Railroads Plans Improvements in Market Street The United Railroads is anxious to lay new rails in Market street, between Second and Twelfth streets. The engineers, in a letter, admit that the tracks now in the street are in a frightful condition. Pending the laying of the tracks the traction company asks the permission of the board of public works to lay a temporary curve at the corner of Market street and Second street. The work, according to the railroad communication, would facilitate the matter of the express business and a slight curtailment of its total net earnings. The same plan is proposed between Fifth and Twelfth streets, when the work has progressed that far. If permission to do this is granted to the railroads, passengers bound out Market street may take the car to the ferry and reach their homes without the necessity of transferring. The members of the board of works have taken the matter under advisement. There is a possibility that the railroads may attempt to make the curve at Market street permanent. The work board is taking no chances. They will require in writing assurance that as soon as the new tracks have been laid in Market street the curve will be torn up. The communication from the Point Lobos improvement club, to the effect that many homes in the Richmond district had recently been completed and that street improvements were necessary was reported by Inspector Donovan as being correct, with the recommendation that the board of works pay the cost of the improvements. The work of paving could be performed by public contract and the matter was referred to the city engineer.

TEACHER SUES RAILROADS The United Railroads was sued yesterday for $10,000 damages by Katherine E. Paxton, a school teacher, as compensation for injuries sustained in a collision between two cars at Eighteenth and Clay streets in January last. Miss Paxton complains that two of her ribs were fractured and her face badly cut, and that she received many severe contusions. REBEKAHS PRESENT PLAY Tempilar Rebekah Lodge No. 19, I. O. O. F., will give an entertainment and dance Saturday evening in the Grand hall, 1254 Market street. The title play, "The Little Woman," will be presented. Miss Anna Mason will have charge of the affair.
