Attack on Wealthy Baltimore
Clubman Raises Suspicion of Angry Husband
Williams May Be Asked to Show
He Did Not Attack Wife's Companion

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 28.—Refusing to accept the stories that Charles B. Roberts, the wealthy clubman of Baltimore, was shot by a highwayman while in a rolling chair on the board walk with Mrs. S. G. Williams, also of Baltimore, Wednesday night, the police of this city tonight are working upon the theory that Roberts was the victim of a vengeful man.

While the police say they believe that Williams' husband knows something about the shooting, they admit that he will not be eliminated from the case until he has proved that he not only was in Atlantic City, but that he was entirely ignorant of the shooting.

The wounded man is still in a serious condition at the city hospital. Mrs. Williams is at the Hotel Brighton. The clubman who was pushing the rolling chair in which Roberts and Mrs. Williams were riding at the time of the shooting is still held as a witness.

Mrs. Williams told the police that the man who halted the chair was walking toward her through the glass windows behind which Mr. Roberts and Mrs. Williams sat, the man laid his head on the chair and shoved one of the windows aside at the same time showing a revolver.

Thinking the man wanted money, Mrs. Williams declared she offered him her chateleine bag. The stranger waved it aside and ordered Roberts to "get out."

As Roberts got up, Mrs. Williams says she looked hard and saw for the first time that the man was masked. He shot four or five bullets, one of them taking effect in Roberts' side, another penetrating his chest.

Bank Receiver Praises Treadwell
F. BRETON ASSES
J. DALZELL BROWN
Receiver Says Creditors of Trust
Company May Expect 23.6
Cents for Dollar.
Walter J. Barnett and James
Treadwell Are Praised for Giving Assistance

Edward J. Le Breton, receiver of the California safe deposit and trust company, filed a lengthy report with the county clerk yesterday in which he presents a calculation that the depositors will receive about 23.6 cents on the dollar of their claims, praises Walter J. Barnett and James Treadwell for their means and full assistance they have given him in the task of disentangling the affairs of the institution, and roundly criticizes J. Dalzell Brown, who turned state's evidence against his fellow wreckers and got off with 18 months imprisonment, for withholding information of value to depositors.

Particularly hard comment is made upon Brown's refusal to give any information about the account entitled "Dalzell Brown, trustee, No. 5," which Le Breton calls "a maze of false and juggled entries" and "a clearing house for all kinds of fraudulent entries for the appropriation of funds."

Brown absolutely refused to answer any question regarding this account on the ground that to do so would incriminate himself.

Learning from the newspapers after Brown pleaded guilty that the ex-manager was prepared to turn over valuable securities to the receiver, Le Breton asked him for the stock and obtained from him certain shares which the receiver says he does not believe represent $100 in value at this date.

"This receiver wishes to avoid any controversy with the district attorney," the report proceeds, "but in justice to himself and to the creditors of the California safe deposit and trust company this receiver will not allow any uncontradicted statement made to the public that Mr. Brown enabled the receiver to recover $1,000,000 for the depositors, represented by 10,000 shares of the Western Pacific railway company in the possession of John Treadwell and held by John Treadwell as the property of the Western security company, of which the California safe deposit and trust company holds 23,500 shares as security for the loans made to Mr. Treadwell."

Le Breton asserts that 10,000 Western Pacific shares would not probably be worth today more than $50,000, and adds: "It is a far cry from $50,000 to $1,000,000. It is wrong to say that justice should yield to charity and commiseration, but this receiver will not stand idly by and allow any misrepresentation to be made to the depositors. They have suffered enough already, and he further states that depositors are entitled to have from Brown a full statement of his mysterious No. 5 trust account."

As to Walter J. Barnett, who was convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, the receiver records that he sent word to Le Breton that he was willing his justice should yield to charity and commiseration, but this receiver will not stand idly by and allow any misrepresentation to be made to the depositors.

James Treadwell, now under trial for perjury, as far as can be learned by the receiver, has no property which he could turn over as security for his indebtedness to the bank, but has greatly facilitated Le Breton when called on for information, and "in no instance has the information furnished by him found to be false or untrue."

MELBOURNE GREET

Governor Sir Reginald Talbot
Voices Welcome for People of Victoria

MELBOURNE, Aug. 28.—The American Atlantic battleship fleet under command of Rear Admiral Sperry, anchored in Port Phillip bay this afternoon after an uneventful voyage from Sydney.

After passing Port Phillip heads at 11:20 o'clock this morning the ships received a continuous ovation from the shore and a vast excursion fleet over the entire thirty miles to the anchorage grounds.

The weather was beautiful, a warm sunshine having taken the place of the lowering clouds which early in the morning seemed to indicate a dreary day for the welcome of the fleet, for which Melbourne has made such lavish preparations.

Turning the headlands and pointing their noses toward the city, the vessels of the fleet were greeted by 50 Queens Cliff fishing boats, gayly beflagged, and the British cruiser Psyche, which boomed a welcome of 13 guns and dipped its flag to the Connecticut, which was in the van. Simultaneously there belched forth from the American flagship an answering salute and her flag at the fore was dipped to the union jack.

The procession up the bay was a stately and gorgeous one, the gleaming white hulls of the American vessels against the background of green wooden shores making a beautiful spectacle. The fleet was 16 minutes passing a given point as it steered in accurate alignment toward the city.

Whether Gaston Ashe, the prominent clubman and society light whose wife, Mrs. Dulce Bolado Ashe, sued him for divorce on the grounds of nonsupport, cruelty and infidelity, will contest the suit or not was the question which buzzed over tea tables and in drawing rooms of the social set around the bay yesterday.

WILL GASTON ASHE

Attorney for Wife Threatens Big Scandal if Proceedings Are Instituted

Whether Gaston Ashe, the prominent clubman and society light whose wife, Mrs. Dulce Bolado Ashe, sued him for divorce on the grounds of nonsupport, cruelty and infidelity, will contest the suit or not was the question which buzzed over tea tables and in drawing rooms of the social set around the bay yesterday.

The attorneys for Mrs. Ashe thought he would not, and Ashe had up to last night made no move to show his hand. "We have heard of no effort on his part to contest the suit," said the attorney representing Mrs. Ashe yesterday. "As an after thought he added: 'And we do not very much care if he does. We have more than sufficient evidence to win, and if he wants to fight—well, it will be unpleasant, but we are confident of our success.'"

In her complaint Mrs. Ashe left out specific details regarding her charges of infidelity. This, it was declared, was for the sole purpose of keeping out the names of a number of women prominent in army and social circles. If Ashe contests the suit the probabilities are that the names of these parties will be made public and the light thrown on scandals hitherto absolutely unsuspected.

Ashe was in San Francisco yesterday but took no definite action in regard to the suit. Society now awaits his move, wondering what the outcome will be.

Wounded Victim With a
Table Knife

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE CALL
SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Belle Robles was stabbed in the face with a table fork by her husband, Aleck Robles, at 175 Post street last night. Mrs. Robles was seated at the dinner table with her husband in her arms when her husband came home drunk and began to pick a quarrel. She had been out during the day collecting funds to buy a floral tribute for the burial of a dead friend and had just returned from a neighbor's house when Robles came in. He inquired immediately why she was visiting the neighbors. Mrs. Robles replied that she had been doing some sewing for the lady and had been over to see her about a dress.

This explanation angered Robles. He said he did not want her visiting "that woman." This led to a general quarrel. Robles snatched a three tined fork from the table, and making a slash at his wife, stabbed her in the cheek, inflicting a wound from which the blood flowed freely. He then grabbed her by the hair, and pulling her head over the back of the chair on which she was seated, attempted to cut her throat with a table knife.

At this moment some friends who were in the house, attracted by her screams, rushed to her rescue and pulled Robles away. Mrs. Robles then fled from the house with her child, and Robles, breaking away from those who held him, ran after the woman, brandishing the knife. Mrs. Robles found refuge in a neighbor's house.

She appeared this morning before Police Justice Dougherty and swore to a warrant for her husband's arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace and assault to kill. The police are looking for Robles.

WILLIAMS' MOVES TRACED

Partner Declares Lawyer Was Not in Atlantic City

BALTIMORE, Aug. 28.—W. S. G. Williams came to the city today from his country home in Long Green Valley. He talked over the telephone with his wife at Atlantic City. Williams persisted in his refusal to discuss the shooting affair, but H. Cavendish Carroll, who is associated with Williams in the practice of law, said:

"Mr. Williams has been very much upset about his wife's shooting. He is in Atlantic City Wednesday night. He was nowhere near the place. He returned from Europe on the day of the princess Cecilie Tuesday. After spending a few hours at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York, he came to Baltimore. I talked with him on the telephone as late as 4 o'clock Wednesday morning and again on Thursday afternoon. Williams' movements from the time he reached his home in Atlantic City until he came to Baltimore again this morning are known to every one about his place, and it is ridiculous to intimate that he was in Atlantic City."

CLASH OVER PRISON INTERVIEW

There was little attempt in the cross examination to show discrepancy. Skillfully the questioner brought out statements by which the witness contradicted the statement made to the public that Mr. Brown enabled the receiver to recover $1,000,000 for the depositors, represented by 10,000 shares of the Western Pacific railway company in the possession of John Treadwell and held by John Treadwell as the property of the Western security company, of which the California safe deposit and trust company holds 23,500 shares as security for the loans made to Mr. Treadwell.

MISREPRESENTATION CHARGED

"This receiver wishes to avoid any controversy with the district attorney," the report proceeds, "but in justice to himself and to the creditors of the California safe deposit and trust company this receiver will not allow any uncontradicted statement made to the public that Mr. Brown enabled the receiver to recover $1,000,000 for the depositors, represented by 10,000 shares of the Western Pacific railway company in the possession of John Treadwell and held by John Treadwell as the property of the Western security company, of which the California safe deposit and trust company holds 23,500 shares as security for the loans made to Mr. Treadwell."

BARNETT DEBT REDUCED

As to Walter J. Barnett, who was convicted of embezzlement and sentenced to ten years' imprisonment, the receiver records that he sent word to Le Breton that he was willing his justice should yield to charity and commiseration, but this receiver will not stand idly by and allow any misrepresentation to be made to the depositors.

ROBERTSON CALLED TOOL

John Dalzell Robertson, the assistant secretary of the receiver of Brown, was, according to the report, "the instrument or tool used by the managers to put through nearly all the fraudulent and juggled entries," and was "apparently connected with many if not most of the embezzlements of funds and securities."

W. d'Evelyn of Alameda spoke on phases of the movement. Charles N. Kirkbride of San Mateo spoke on the water works of San Mateo water works.

QUESTIONS ABOUT IMMUNITY

"Immunity" was next made the center of questions. Brown said later on many occasions that he had pleaded guilty to embezzlement, and that if he told the whole truth regarding the bank's transactions, he would be more ready to resign from the board of supervisors than he had been. He said that he had been asked to do so by the board of supervisors.
