WOMAN IS SCALPED BY TRAINED DOG

Miss Niedt's Hair Catches in Treadmill That Is Operated by Animal

Her Efforts to Check the Canine and Avert Injury Prove Futile

OAKLAND, Oct. 15.—Attracted by shrieks of agony from the yard in the rear of her home, Mrs. Bertha Niedt, an aged woman residing at 6297 San Pablo avenue, rushed to the door last evening to find her daughter, Miss Anna M. Niedt, staggering toward her with blood streaming from her head, while her hair and the major portion of her scalp fluttered from a revolving treadmill, which was being turned by her pet dog.

While trying to get some water from the yard, Miss Niedt, who is 51 years of age, had her hair caught in the treadmill, which she had trained her dog to turn, and, despite her effort to stop the animal, she was scalped as cleanly as though a knife had been used.

As quickly as possible a physician was summoned and Miss Niedt was removed to Providence hospital, where she was attended by Dr. Lewis Mitchell. Nearly an hour elapsed after her injury before she was given medical attention, however, and the physicians say that this delay may cost her life. Her scalp was sewed back on her head, but Dr. Mitchell refuses to say whether the operation will prove successful. The woman's forehead is badly torn, and her features will be terribly marred if she recovers from her horrible experience.

All of the properties are equipped with hoisting plants and the underground workings were so constructed as to make them capable of permanent work.

CAR CONDUCTOR IS JAILED FOR THEFT

Confesses to "Knocking Down" Fares Averaging $1 for Many Months

Arrest Is First of Kind and Company Plans to Make Example of Employee

OAKLAND, Oct. 15.—Upon his confession that he has "knocked down" fares, averaging $1 a day ever since he went to work for the Oakland traction company as a conductor several months ago, John Warren Eckelburger of 1413 Third avenue, was arrested by Detective Denny Holland at noon today and lodged in the city prison on a charge of misdemeanor embezzlement. His arrest is the first of its kind in the history of the local police department, as heretofore it has been the custom of the streetcar company merely to discharge employees suspected of dishonesty. The boldness of Eckelburger's operations induced the company to break its established rule and prosecute him as a warning to other wrongdoers.

When Eckelburger was arrested he had $190 in coin in his pockets, the major portion of which is believed to have been stolen from the car company. The accused man declares that he does not know the exact amount of his peculations. He was formerly a streetcar conductor in Chicago, and came to Oakland only a few months ago. After his arrival here he was employed for some time by the United Railroads of San Francisco.

GARBAGE DUMPING GROUND IS FOUND

F. Q. Turner, Superintendent of Streets, Takes Charge of Berkeley's Problem

New Place Is Situated Across Cerrito Creek

BERKELEY, Oct. 15.—F. Q. Turner, superintendent of streets of this city, took charge of the garbage problem of Berkeley today, now that the entrance to Ocean View has been shut off and found a new dumping ground beyond the county line in the bed of Cerrito creek, and this ground will be used by the local scavengers for a few weeks.

In placing the matter of the garbage disposal in the hands of the superintendent of streets the trustees of this city made a strategic play as Turner will give his undivided time to the garbage question. During the garbage troubles six months ago the committee of the board of trustees had command but could not do efficient work because the major portion of their time had to be devoted to their business interests.
