

MALLOY'S BAIL INCREASED
John J. Malloy, blacksmith, 1504 California street, appeared in Police Judge Shortall's court yesterday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and the case was continued till Saturday. Malloy was out on $500 cash bail, but the judge increased it to $500. Sunday night Malloy and Henry R. Ross, an engineer living at 619 Larkin street, had a fight at Pine and Larkin streets over Ross' wife, and Malloy stabbed Ross three times with a pocket knife.

MUNICIPAL BOARD FOR WATER SURVEY
Supervisors Receive City Attorney's Opinion Affirming the Legality of Scheme
Engineers, Senators and Others Approve the Hetch Hetchy Plan

Action in furtherance of the Hetch Hetchy water project by the board of supervisors yesterday was directed to minor factors, but was significant of larger matters to follow.
Without a dissenting vote the board set aside $1,000 to prosecute the necessary surveys of land lines and locations in the valley and at Lake Eleanor. Pollock, upon the reading of the city attorney's opinion affirming the legality of the city's procedure thus far, expressed his satisfaction. To Giannini's statement, "I said all along that Long approved our acts," Pollock responded: "We have now what I have been seeking for months, the definite opinion written in the records of the city attorney on these matters. The responsibility is where it should be. The written record is better than any man's word on the subject."
Pollock left the chamber before the vote was taken on the $1,000 appropriation for the survey of the Hetch Hetchy project, and his present attitude in regard to active steps for the project remains to be developed.
Engineer Desmond Fitzgerald's letter to Giannini endorsing Secretary Garsary's grant of most favorable title to the city, as well as the city attorney's opinion and Senator Perkins' and Senator Flint's offers of aid at the coming session of congress were received by the board and referred to the public utility committee.

Senator Flint in part said: "I am in favor of the passage of a bill carrying out the agreement between the city of San Francisco and the secretary of the Interior for the reservation of the Lake Eleanor and Hetch Hetchy valley, and I will be glad to do everything in my power to have the necessary legislation enacted to enable the city to carry out the plans that have been suggested for the acquisition of the water supply for the city of San Francisco. I do not anticipate there will be any trouble in passing this bill promptly in the senate."
Engineer Fitzgerald in part said: "At least one of the newspapers in San Francisco has misstated what I said before the board of supervisors the other day in connection with Lake Eleanor and Hetch Hetchy matters. The more I have studied that instrument the more I am convinced I became it was the clear intent of the government to give the people in and about San Francisco a good water supply, and an ample one, so as they could do so, and that they will ever do anything which will vitally imperil the storage of water for that purpose I can not believe."
Fitzgerald then pointed out the fact that the water allotted to the irrigation districts was the natural flow of the river to the maximum of 2,350 second feet at La Grange, far below the city's intakes and drawing water from a wide area below the city's proposed dam sites. Fitzgerald held that the water was 25 per cent of the 2,350 second feet maximum claim of the irrigationists was according to the stipulations to be drawn from the territory contributing to the city's proposed supply. In other words, that the water above the city's dam need not furnish more than $22.5 second feet at any time.

PROSECUTION RESTS IN THE RANKIN CASE
Judge Conley Denies Motion to Order Jury to Acquit on Embezzlement Charge
The people's case against Charles E. Rankin, who was jointly indicted with John J. Lynch for the alleged embezzlement of 4th Ocean Shore railway bonds worth $40,000, was concluded yesterday morning before Judge Conley and a jury. The defense will put on its witnesses Wednesday.
The only witnesses examined yesterday were C. L. Haskell, Charles W. Hunt and William H. Pettis, brokers. They testified that the money was given to them in the trial of Lynch, Haskell detailing the circumstances of the negotiation of the $10,000 loan from the money on behalf of Lynch, while Hunt and Pettis testified to the purchase of bonds that had been pledged as security for the loan.
The defense moved that the judge advise the jury to acquit on the ground that no conspiracy had been proved, and Judge Conley denied the motion.

CLERK ENDS HIS LIFE
After renting a room in a cheap lodging house at 236 Fourth street, Edward Piquet, 42 years old, penned a note to the coroner and then drank a dose of cyanide of potassium. His body was found about 10 o'clock yesterday morning by a chambermaid who had her grandson clean up his room. Alongside the bed on a small table was found the note which read: "I am sorry to hear of your death. I had had a long illness and was suffering for 10 years, and asking the coroner to notify a friend of his death. Piquet was a clerk and leaves a family residing at 881 Eddy street."

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING
A double celebration of a unique sort was that of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Eng, and the christening of their grandson, Henry Adolph Luttercott, at the home of the Engs, 2158 Market street, on October 25.
The golden bride, who was married in Christiania, Norway, by her grandson at the christening ceremony, which was performed by Rev. E. Gronslund of the Norwegian Lutheran church.
The decorations were in gold and evergreens and many beautiful and appropriate favors were given at the banquet which followed and at which sat exactly 50 guests.

SOCIETY WOMAN OUT OF ITS COURTS
Invokes Dusty Statute and Seizes Possession of Her Young Son
Evades Summons of Superior Court and Takes Boy to Los Angeles

To outwit and make impotent the superior court of Contra Costa county has been the achievement of Mrs. H. A. Strange, formerly Mrs. Nellie Miller, society leader of Oakland. What Mrs. Strange did was to invoke a dusty statute seldom introduced into the courts, after evading a Contra Costa court summons, and carry off her young son, Girard Miller, to Los Angeles to have him legally adopted by the mother's brother in law in order that the boy's father, J. G. Miller, a prominent official of the Lowell lime and cement company of Martinez, could not get possession of the lad.
Miller is the divorced husband of the woman who is now Mrs. Strange. Mrs. Strange lives in Chicago at 1753 Ashland avenue with her present husband, who is a well-to-do contractor in the Illinois city. He now she is in Los Angeles with her son, suffering severely from an attack of nervous prostration brought about by the excitement following the proceedings.
More than a year ago the Millers were divorced in Contra Costa county, the wife securing the decree on the ground of cruelty, and getting the custody of the child, the parties agreeing to a stipulation that the boy should not be taken out of the jurisdiction of the county.

When Mrs. Miller remarried and went to Chicago to live she left her son Girard with her sister, Mrs. Ashby, at Clayton. Some time after that Mrs. Strange heard that Miller was making an effort to secure a modification of the decree, giving him custody of the child. Promptly she came west to protect her interests.
Miller secured from Judge Wells of Martinez a summons directing his wife to appear in court and show cause why the decree should not be modified. But Mrs. Miller-Strange beat out the summons. She packed off to Los Angeles with the lad and invoked a statute of the law that should a wife secure a divorce on the ground of cruelty or adultery she has the privilege of permitting the child to be adopted by any one she might nominate. It was that law which Mrs. Strange had dusted and put into operation to defeat the scheme of her husband and overcome the power of the Contra Costa court.

FRENCH CRUISER CATINET VISITS SAN FRANCISCO
Comes From Honolulu and Penetrates Dense Fog in the Bay
The French cruiser Catinet steamed into the harbor yesterday morning through the dense fog and found an anchorage off Meigs wharf. It brought up 100 packages of mails.
The day it went up the bay and is now the vessel and crew of the third division, known as the Pacific coast division. The other two vessels of the fleet are the cruiser Kersaint and the gunboat Zouave.
The Catinet was eight and a half days making the run up from Honolulu. It brought up 100 packages of mails. The Catinet is making a year's cruise about the coast and island points. It will remain in the bay until then will go to San Pedro, Panama, Magellan and to New Caledonia. It will consume 60,000 tons of coal on the trip.
The cruiser is second class, 4,000 tons register, and carries a complement of 260 men and 20 officers. Its armament consists of four six inch guns, 10 four inch guns, and two torpedo tubes. It is 322 feet long, draws 20 feet and is 44 feet beam. It was built in 1895.
It is shortly to be replaced by a new cruiser now being constructed. Captain Bouchard denied himself to visitors, as he had been on duty yesterday, and was taking a much needed rest. Paymaster Dugand, however, received all who called on him. He is a general and also upon General F. A. Smith, U. S. A. Next week the vessel will be open to the public.

H. SCHUSSLER RETURNS, UNCERTAIN OF HIS JOB
Spring Valley Engineer Will Meet President Bourn Today
Hermann Schussler, chief engineer of the Spring Valley water company, returned to San Francisco last night after an extensive trip in the eastern states and Europe. When Schussler left he was the highest salaried man in the employ of the water company. He was down on the books for $25,000 a year. Many things have happened since Schussler departed and he was unable to state last night whether he was at the present time in the employ of the company.
A short time after Schussler departed President Bourn of the company instituted his policy of retrenchment and dismissed all the engineers within reach. He announced that he intended to run the corporation without an engineering department. He made no definite announcement as to Hermann Schussler, but indicated that the Schussler family was not exempt by declining to honor Schussler, the chief engineer's brother.
Hermann Schussler has been with the Spring Valley water company since its organization. He built the present system and has devoted his life to the company's interests.
He will meet Bourn this morning and at that time his fate will be decided. Schussler has some friends on the board of directors who wish endeavor to outvote Bourn, who, it is stated, has laid his plans to separate Schussler from his job.

SAYS SHE WAS INSULTED
Jacob Holm, a detective, appeared in Police Judge Shortall's court yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. Mrs. Goldie Skentzer, 1502 Golden Gate avenue, complained to Police Officer O'Dowd and Special Officer R. Harvey in Fillmore street early Sunday morning that Holm and made an insulting proposal to her and he was promptly arrested. The case was continued till Thursday.

NEW STAMPS COMING
The local postoffice was notified yesterday that a new series of postage stamps is being prepared by the government at Washington, D. C. The new design to be known as the series of 1908, and will run from 1 cent to $1. The subject of the 1 cent stamp will be the head of Benjamin Franklin in profile, taken from Houdon's bust of the noted statesman. All the others will bear the likeness of Washington, taken from the bust created by the same artist. The department will discontinue the $2 and $5 stamps after the present supply is exhausted.

Future Bright for Pretty German Girl
WEDDING REVEALS ROMANTIC CAREER
Daughter of Noble Family Leaves First Husband at the Church Steps

In the wedding of Clara M. Schmitter, a pretty German girl, to Thomas O'Connell, a Southern Pacific yardman, which occurred in Justice Flood's court yesterday morning, there is revealed a woman's story of a noble family whose dwindling fortunes forced a daughter out upon the world alone, of the girl's deception by a man whom she married on her first day in a new country, only to leave him at the church steps, of a struggle to make her own way in the great west and of her final happy marriage to an American workman.
According to the story of the young wife, told in the midst of preparations for a gay little wedding feast at their cozy flat at 3244 Mission street this morning, she is the daughter of Count Ludwig Frederic von Schmitter, a prominent officer in the German army during the Franco-Prussian war, who died nine years ago and left a family of young children in comparative poverty. He had a small estate at Pirmasens, Rhenipalz province, Bavaria, but his affairs were so involved that little remained was taken by creditors.
Her father married beneath him and his sisters, both of whom had married noblemen, refused to help the widow. One of these aunts of the girl is Frau von Fecht of Preussen Celle, and the other Helen von Freisenburg, now living in Switzerland. The elder sister of the present Mrs. O'Connell soon married Karl Franz, a hotel chef, and came to this country and two years later sent for her. She came to New York, and on the way over met a German-American who claimed to have an electrical business in New York. He wooed so persistently that she promised to marry him on the arrival of the steamer. After the wedding he came to San Francisco and she went with him to a vessel sailing between New York and South American ports and had no home to offer her. She went immediately to her sister and has never seen the man since.
After she came to the coast and was employed here up to the time of her wedding to O'Connell this morning.

OFFICERS RETURN TO ARMY HEADQUARTERS
One Company Remains at the Camp
The department headquarters are once more in full blast. All the officers, who have been away at Atascadero, are young children in their respective desks, with the exception of Lieutenant O. P. M. Hazard of the quartermaster's department, who has remained at the camp to ship away stores and effects that were left behind when the troops departed for their different posts. General H. H. Bandholtz, Major William Stephenson and Dr. R. C. Cabell registered at headquarters yesterday and have returned to their practice at the Presidio yesterday.
Major S. W. Dunning, who acted as adjutant general of the maneuvers, is at the department making out his report. He and Miss Dunning will remain at this post until early in December, when they will return to Honolulu.

WIFE SUSPICIOUS OF SAILOR SPOUSE
Fights Husband's Application to Be Appointed Guardian of Her Property
Son in Law Named by Court to Look After Fortune of Crippled Woman

Henrik Johannissen, a sea captain, asked Judge Graham yesterday to appoint him guardian of the person and estate of his wife, Regina Johannissen, who has property worth about $40,000. In view of Mrs. Johannissen's distrust and suspicion of her husband the court denied the application and named T. B. Pratt, a son in law of the woman, as guardian.
Mrs. Johannissen's former husband was Hans Madison, also a sea captain, and owner of several sailing vessels, and from him she inherited an interest in six ships, as well as real estate on Nineteenth street. Six months ago she sustained a paralytic stroke, and Johannissen in his petition alleged that she is now incapable of caring for her property.
In her answer to the petition Mrs. Johannissen asserted that since marrying her in 1900 her present husband has not contributed anything to her support and that she has maintained him as well as herself. She complained further that $3,450 she gave him to buy an interest in the schooner Oakland had not been returned, and told of giving him a diamond ring, a diamond charm and a gold ring.
"All the time he take, but never give back," she said to the court in her broken English.

How to Cook Rice—(Mary A. McCabe, 833 Cedar street, West Oakland)—To cook rice so that it puffs into a snowy mass, each kernel distinct: First wash it thoroughly through several cold waters, rubbing the kernels between the hands. This is to remove all the proper flour on the outside of the grains. After the water runs clear turn the rice into a colander and drain; then put into a deep steppan, allowing one quart of boiling water to a cup of washed rice. Add a teaspoonful of salt and allow it to come to a good boil. Cook steadily for 20 minutes, lifting the rice occasionally with a fork to prevent its sticking. Shake the kettle also for the same purpose, but never stir or mash with a spoon. Take it from the fire, pour off the water if any is left and place it on the back of the stove or in the oven until it finishes swelling. Cooked in this way you will get the rice plump, light and white, each grain separate.
