Miss Margaret Kemble Explains Musical Setting to Maeterlinck's Eosteric Drama

Critic Hears That Composer's Music Needs a Guide and Believes It

By Walter Anthony

Chasm leaping rhythms, soul disturbing discords, inharmonic combinations of notes whereby G sharp becomes kin to D flat in the twinkling of an eye and without an apparent diatonic relation in the world were the subjects of Miss Margaret Kemble's discourse last night at the St. Francis hotel, where, in the concert room, she did her best with three pianists and Arthur Weiss 'cellist to explain Claude Achille Debussy's musical setting of Maeterlinck's eosteric drama, "Pelleas and Melisande."

To the symbolism of Maeterlinck's drama Debussy has added a deeper fog. Perhaps an orchestra of 60 players might make plain his meaning, but no grand piano, however eloquent under agile fingers, could be expected to hammer the musical thought home. Miss Kemble said in the course of her lecture that Debussy had renounced Wagner and had foresworn his name of a leading motive. I believe it. Debussy is undoubtedly a great composer and we are in debt to Miss Kemble for giving us a chance to hear him, but his music needs a guide. He is like a traveling who takes you to strange lands and shows you places and things you never heard of and in which you never had the slightest interest.

"This," says he, "is a minor ninth chord suspended. It indicates irresolution and uncertainty. It is very fine. I struggled hard to proceed against the laws of harmony and I arrived at this point with great effort. Is it not a most unusual effect?"

Then you wonder why Beethoven does not need a guide and why all the lecturers on Wagner are futile before his passionate music. Debussy on a grand piano with a pretty lecturer in a well fitting blue gown to introduce it is not music, though many may think it is worth enjoying. It is, doubtless, much better than it sounds.

"However, I am willing to admit my debt to Miss Kemble and her pupils, the Misses Ethel Keshishyan, Laura Anderson and Ester Delinger, for giving me a chance to hear even the faint echo vibrated on piano strings from Debussy's big orchestral score.

Maybe, we'll never hear the opera. I think it will not survive the transportation trip, and if it incoherence, however well studied and contrived, will prevent it entering the lists with "Lucia," "Die Walkure," "Otello," "Lohengrin," "Il Trovatore," "Cavalleria" and other operas with a musical backbone and a delicate key.

The opera, I believe, was first produced in Paris in 1902, and judging from the score, as transcribed for the piano, and well played last night, it has all the faults of Wagner, Strauss and the rest of the modern dissonant composers. It only lacks their melody.

SMOOTHS ROUGH SPOTS IN 'KIRMESS'

Grace, Ease and Dash Appear at Rehearsals, Foretelling Success

The rough spots in the "Kirmess" rehearsals are gradually and perceptibly giving way to the rhythmic grace, ease and dash that at a professional performance starts the audience all unconsciously swinging in unison with the dancers and establishes a perfect harmony between both sides of the footlights.

The sparkling freshness and enthusiasm of youth working, or rather playing, that poor women and children may have the comforts of life and care in times of need, promise to carry the "Kirmess" along to success.

Society is backing the "Kirmess" with its sons, daughters and money. But the general public, it is expected, will do its share at the Central theater on February 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Among the choropans for the dances are the following:

Spanish dance—Mrs. Joseph L. King, Mrs. Charles Alexander, Mrs. Charles Slack, Mrs. J. C. Wilson.

Scottish dance—Galliard Stoney, Mrs. Henry Bothin.

Fluffy ruffe dance—Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. John Metcalfe, Mrs. W. D. Fenimore, Mrs. B. Lillenthal, Mrs. F. W. Van Sicken.

Indian dance—Mrs. John F. Merrill, Mrs. L. Baker, Mrs. J. K. Wilson, Mrs. L. C. Hammond, Mrs. W. S. Burnett, Mrs. L. C. Somers.

Irish harvest dance—Mrs. E. A. Bresse, Mrs. William Matson, Mrs. A. M. Simpson, Mrs. W. J. Shotwell.

Dance of the hours—Miss Edith Bull and the Chrysanthemum auxiliary.

Swing dance—Mrs. Lathan McMullen, Mrs. W. Ames, Mrs. Lawrence Scott, Mrs. Walter Martin, Mrs. W. H. Taylor Jr.

Dance of the French dolls and Teddy bears—Miss Helen Hecht, Mrs. Peter F. Dunne, Mrs. Albert Houston, Miss M. K. Wallace, Mrs. George Talant.

Dance of French maids and footmen—Mrs. B. Lillenthal, Mrs. Frederick Hewlett.

Marsolian peasant dance—Mrs. M. H. de Young, Mrs. Henry Foster Dutton, Mrs. T. A. Edin, Mrs. Edgar de Pew, Mrs. M. A. Huntington, Mrs. Charles Crocker, Mrs. James A. Cooper, Mrs. George Talant.

The committee in charge of the affair are composed of the following:

Executive—Mrs. Frederick Hewlett, Mrs. John F. Merrill, Mrs. Watson D. Fenimore, Mrs. M. H. de Young, Mrs. John Metcalfe, Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. M. A. Simpson, Mrs. Lathan McMullen, Mrs. W. Ames, Mrs. Lawrence Scott, Mrs. C. S. Holmes, Mrs. Lawrence Scott, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. G. Stoney, Miss M. K. Wallace.

Tickets—Mrs. W. D. Fenimore and Miss F. Dunforth.

Society Hears Miss Kemble

Miss Kemble's interpretative study of "Pelleas and Melisande" last evening in the colonial concert hall at the St. Francis was a society event as well as a musical event of unique interest. The affair attracted several hundred guests to the white and gold auditorium, and a number of dinner parties preceded the concert.

Among those who entertained at dinner and afterward at a box party was Mrs. Eleanor Martin and among those in the Martin box were the following guests:

Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Pillsbury
Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Martin
Major Howland
Colonel and Mrs. J. C. Kirkpatrick had as their guests Suzanne Kirkpatrick, Arthur Brown and several young people.

Wilberforce Williams was host at an elaborate dinner party and attended the concert later with his guests. Among those in the party were:

Mrs. C. O. Alexander
Mrs. W. S. Martin
Miss Newell Brown
Mr. and Mrs. William G. Irwin had a box with their daughter, Miss Helene Irwin, and several friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stetson Wheeler entertained a number of friends in their box, and Templeton Crocker had several guests in his box. Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard entertained friends, Miss Genevieve King was in the audience with guests. Mrs. James Ellis Tucker had a number of friends with her at the concert.

The patronesses and patrons for the event last evening were as follows:

Mrs. William G. Irwin
Mrs. Isaac L. Regus
Mrs. Walter S. Martin

Democrats of Thirty-ninth District Ask Change by City

At its meeting on Tuesday night the San Francisco democratic club of the Thirty-ninth assembly district adopted a resolution calling for a bond issue for the construction of an electric line by the city in Geary street.

It was proposed that the city install a conduit system to run from Market and Sutter streets up Market street to Geary, along Geary street to Point Lobos avenue and the Cliff house with a spur on Fifth avenue between between Point Lobos avenue and Fulton street.

A committee was appointed as follows to place the matter before the board of supervisors: W. Eastin, Henry Colomba, James V. Fitzgerald, William F. Pettillon and John W. Howard.

CALIFORNIA GRAYS WILL GIVE A BALL

Function at Fairmont Tonight Will Be Brilliant

The California Grays will be the hosts tonight at a military ball in the Fairmont hotel that promises to be a brilliant affair. Not only will the Grays themselves be present in full dress uniform, but prominent government officials will attend in all the glory of gold braid and brass buttons, together with many officers of the United States army.

Grays have been in existence here 18 years, and have taken part with success in many city and national parades, and their annual military balls have been always one of the principal events of the social season.

Those in charge of the arrangements for the ball are: Corporal H. Voorhies and D. W. Day; Sergeants C. F. Voorhies and W. H. Worden, and Lieutenant W. C. Olson.

The escape of Private Edmund Brown, a member of the hospital corps at the Presidio, from his guard and his subsequent leap from the window of the hospital to the ground, 20 feet below, was the cause of a sensation at that post yesterday afternoon. A general alarm was sounded, but Brown escaped from the reservation. He is still at liberty.

Brown was arrested while strolling up "Lovers' Lane" with Private E. H. Corbin. He carried a large package under his arm which appeared suspicious to Sentry Martin Wheeler. The package caused the arrests.

BLACKSMITH KILLS HIMSELF

Major Expects to Be Stationed On Coast Several Years

Major John P. Hains, whose family name came into notoriety when his brother, Captain Peter C. Hains, shot and killed William E. Anna in New York last August, arrived in this city yesterday from his post in Chicago to take up a berth in the local department headquarters as postmaster.

Hains registered at the St. Francis. Speaking of the tragedy in which his two brothers are involved, the major said:

"Being a brother, you could hardly expect me to give an unbiased opinion. Thornton has been acquitted as innocent. I believe that the captain is degraded or was degraded at the time of the shooting. I know nothing about the plans of the newly elected district attorney, or when the captain will be brought to trial. I expect he is stationed on the coast for several years."

Cooking Tough Fowl—(Mrs. Morton Linday, 1441 East Sixteenth street.)—It sometimes happens that the housewife has delivered from the poultryman a tough fowl, or it may be that one undesirable for use in her own poultry yards she would find it necessary to utilize in some way. To distinguish an old fowl from a young one examine carefully the legs and feet. If rough and hard, especially the under part of the feet, is absolutely necessary, it is better to discard the fowl. The old chicken can be made quite as edible as the young one if the cooking is understood.

Prepare chicken as for roasting. Slit down back; place in a thick iron kettle or receptacle a piece of butter about the size of an egg, half a teaspoon of boiling water, according to the size of the chicken, putting in the fowl last. Place over steady hot fire, cover tightly with tin cover, fitting inside the kettle, and place on top a weight (a flatiron will do) and steam until partially cooked; then baste as when roasting. The fowl will be tender and can be served hot from the oven as if roasted.

When Boiling Green Vegetables—(Mrs. F. Bradshaw, 1311 Octavia street.)—Cook's imagine that a lump of soda in the water is absolutely necessary. This is a mistake; it is true that soda softens the water, but should the pot be not quite clean it is better to add a little of the dirt and make it adhere to the vegetables. Instead of adding soda to the water try adding two teaspoonfuls of white vinegar to a quart of brown sugar. This is far more wholesome than soda, softens the water and helps to keep the vegetables a good color.

Sales Manager C. A. Eastman Will Cover Considerable Territory in Six Weeks

Intends to Visit the Eastern Shows Before He Returns to the City

By R. R. d'Hommedieu

A week at Chicago to attend the automobile show; a week to visit the factory of the White company at Cleveland; four days to reach Butte, Mont.; two weeks to tour by automobile to Spokane, Davenport, Walla Walla, Seattle, Tacoma, Puyallup and Portland; a week at the city of roses for another automobile show and three days to travel from Portland to San Francisco.

That is the itinerary of C. A. Eastman, Pacific coast manager of the White company, has mapped out for the next six weeks. He will leave on the overland limited this morning for the windy city.

I would like to motor the entire distance from Chicago to Portland and then on down to San Francisco, but my time is too limited," said Eastman last night. "However, I look for experiences worth relating on my tour through Montana, as the roads in that part of the country are none too favorable for automobiling at this time of the year."

Eastman has never been a visitor at any of the important automobile shows. He was at the home of the White several years ago, but has not seen the new White factory, one of the largest and most complete in the world. Eastman will make arrangements immediately upon his arrival in Cleveland to have a five passenger 40 horsepower White steamer shipped to Butte, and from there he will drive it overland to Portland, visiting various agents en route.

Cooper of Salinas, and a Stoddard Dayton 45 horsepower four cylinder roadster to Edward Dalton of Sacramento.

The specially designed Stearns car arrived in the city yesterday. The car is being taken over by Walter Hobart of Burlingame. It is to be delivered today. Hobart orders a good many heavy tourist tires on the car. The Reliance auto company has received word that the Stearns exhibit at the New York show was very popular, one of the sales recorded being to John Jacob Astor, who bought three cars, a roadster being delivered at the show. C. G. Warren, coast sales manager of the F. B. Stearns company, has returned from his visit to the Los Angeles show. He

It's the same with all the boys. Anty Drudge told us about Fels-Naptha—how it dissolves the grime and grease; and you only use lukewarm or cool water. Saves money and makes our wives happy."

"Wear" is nothing but "rubbing."

Every time you hard rub your clothes against anything, little particles are rubbed away.

Boiling softens the fibre of cotton, linen, silk and wool, and when rubbed hard on the washboard they wear away faster than at any other time.

Try to think how many days of wear are represented by one trip to the old-time washtub.

Fels-Naptha requires neither boiling water nor hard rubbing.

And there is no washboard wear on the clothes washed the Fels-Naptha way.

Fels-Naptha is made to do away with boiling and hard rubbing; therefore if you use it as an ordinary soap, you cause yourself unnecessary work.

Use Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water and it will do all we claim.

It will cut the washday in half, summer or winter, and do silently and effectively all the real hard work.

If you follow the simple directions on the red and green wrapper, you will never return to ordinary soaps and the old-fashioned way of washing.

"Wear" is nothing but "rubbing."

Every time you hard rub your clothes against anything, little particles are rubbed away.

Boiling softens the fibre of cotton, linen, silk and wool, and when rubbed hard on the washboard they wear away faster than at any other time.

Try to think how many days of wear are represented by one trip to the old-time washtub.

Fels-Naptha requires neither boiling water nor hard rubbing.

And there is no washboard wear on the clothes washed the Fels-Naptha way.

Fels-Naptha is made to do away with boiling and hard rubbing; therefore if you use it as an ordinary soap, you cause yourself unnecessary work.

Use Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water and it will do all we claim.

It will cut the washday in half, summer or winter, and do silently and effectively all the real hard work.

If you follow the simple directions on the red and green wrapper, you will never return to ordinary soaps and the old-fashioned way of washing.
