

JINGO STORIES FAN FEELINGS OF JAPANESE

Anti-American Sentiment Not Helped by Dispatches From Coast

Conspirators in Honolulu Are Held for Trial; Editors Charge Burglary

TOKYO, June 18.—Special dispatches from San Francisco to Japanese newspapers are so worded as to indicate that conditions obtaining in the Hawaiian islands, growing out of the Japanese sugar plantation hands' strike, are extremely serious. They declare that the Japanese on the mainland, as well as those in the islands, are greatly incensed over the treatment accorded their countrymen by the Hawaiian planters and say that relations are strained almost to the breaking point.

The publication of these inflammatory dispatches is again arousing an anti-American sentiment among the Japanese lower classes. The sensationalist papers are seizing the opportunity and commenting editorially in a manner calculated to increase this feeling of hostility.

Japanese Consul General Uyeno at Honolulu and the officials of the Japanese foreign office are inclined to minimize the seriousness of the Hawaiian situation. They frankly declare their belief that the special dispatches are giving untrue reports, evidently the work of the jingo element among the Japanese of Hawaii and on the mainland.

Japanese Charge Burglary

HONOLULU, June 18.—The latest development of the complicated situation which has grown out of the strike of Japanese plantation laborers, and the subsequent arrest of their leaders is a charge of burglary preferred today by Attorney Joseph Lightfoot, who represents the accused men, against High Sheriff William Henry, and Attorneys William A. Kinney and Mason P. Prosser, counsel for the planters' association.

The accusation grows out of the blowing open of the safe in the office of the Jiji, the radical Japanese newspaper, and the seizure of books and papers belonging to Editors Soga and others, which are alleged to have revealed a conspiracy among the leaders of the strike to obtain control of the islands. The matter is now being investigated by the grand jury.

At a meeting of the leaders of the strike today, M. Negoro urged that the men be advised to return to work, but this course was opposed by F. Makino and others. Although many unofficial approaches have been made in an effort to restore peace between the strikers and their former employers, nothing has yet been accomplished, and the situation remains unchanged.

LEADERS HELD ON BAIL

The strike leaders, Y. Soga, editor of the Jiji; F. Makino, M. Negoro, K. Kawamura and Y. Tashaka, were arraigned today on the charge preferred against them by the grand jury yesterday of conspiracy to murder and to induce others to commit crime in connection with the alleged attempt to take the life of Editor Siba of the conservative paper, Shimpo.

They all were held to answer and released on each a bond of $1,250 in addition to the bond of $1,250 given when arraigned for conspiracy to incite riot.

The 15 strikers on the Kahuka plantation, indicted for rioting, will be arraigned to plead on Monday.

Consul General Uyeno cabled to Tokyo tonight that the statement that he was advising the planters not to yield to the demands made by the Japanese plantation laborers for an increase in wages was evidently a misinterpretation of his cabled report on the situation and one that was causing him much embarrassment. The consul declares that he is not advising the planters in any manner; that he is remaining strictly neutral and only urging his countrymen to preserve order.

Situation Not Serious

J. F. Hackfeld, one of the most prominent businessmen in the territory of Hawaii, who arrived here yesterday on the Japanese liner Chiyu Maru and who paid a fine of $200 for the privilege of violating the coastwise shipping law, says that he does not regard the Japanese situation in Hawaii as serious. He thinks the probabilities of international complications are slight and believes that all disputes will be settled without further violence. He says that the national guard is sufficient to preserve order, particularly in view of the considerable military establishment now maintained at Honolulu by both the army and navy. Before he left, he said, the Japanese on three plantations had gone back to work.

WOUNDED MAN HAS CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

Martin Tiernan Shot Twice by Jealous Husband

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
VALLEJO, June 18.—Martin Tiernan, the well known Vallejo resident who was shot twice by Claude Camp because of Camp's jealousy of his wife, whom he had deserted, may recover. The sad feature of the case is that Tiernan has seven small children, none over 12 years of age, and his wife was but recently committed to the Napa state hospital for the insane. Camp, who is now in the county jail at Fairfield, has four small children himself. A peculiar feature of the case is that Camp was confined in the same cell in the local prison in which Mrs. Camp's first husband committed suicide many years ago.

FIVE CHILDREN IN LESS THAN TWO YEARS' TIME

Twins Soon Follow the Birth of Triplets

EL PASO, Tex., June 18.—Mrs. W. H. Butterbaugh, who, on January 1, 1908, gave birth to triplets, today became the mother of twins, a boy and a girl.

$4 A TON DUTY PLACED ON PAPER

Senate Doubles Tariff Rate Set by House at Late Session

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The senate late today adopted by a vote of 44 to 32 the amendment of the senate committee on finance, fixing a duty of $4 a ton on print paper, in place of the house rate of $2 a ton. The other amendments to the wood pulp and print paper schedule had not been acted upon when the senate adjourned at 7 o'clock.

There was an effort to reach an agreement upon a time for voting on the various income and corporation tax propositions, but none was reached.

INCOME TAX TODAY

The Bailey income tax amendment will be the pending amendment when the senate convenes tomorrow. If a unanimous agreement in accordance with a motion made by Aldrich today is not then obtained, he probably will move to postpone consideration of the subjects to a certain day.

Today's discussion was confined largely to the democratic side, the subject of debate being an interview with former Representative John E. Lamb of Indiana, in which he is reported to have criticized some of the democratic senators, among them Senator Daniel of Virginia and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, for not voting on some of the schedules in accordance with the declarations of the Denver platform. Both Daniel and Simmons replied to the criticism.

BAILEY SLAMS BRYAN

Senator Bailey, after reiterating his independence of special declarations by the party, said that the Denver platform had been the work of one man. Senator Hughes of Colorado defended Bryan and the platform.

Bailey, in defending his position, undertook to show that by his vote for a duty on lead ore, Hughes himself had not been entirely controlled by the official utterances of the party.

Hughes responded with much feeling, declaring that he was under no outside influence.

Lorimer, the newly elected senator from Illinois, was sworn in. He cast his first vote against free paper.

NEW POLICY IN REGARD TO THE NAVY YARDS

Plan to Insure Steady Work for Skilled Mechanics

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
VALLEJO, June 18.—A new era has dawned for Vallejo in the announcement of the policy of President Taft in relation to the management of the navy yards of the country. In the past the yards have been overcrowded with work when the fleets came for docking and repairs and then when the fleets departed the yards were compelled to reduce the force materially.

This condition of affairs has proved unsatisfactory to the yard, for it was hard to secure and keep the highest class of skilled mechanics, though the conditions of employment and the wages have been good.

It is now proposed that few big ships will be kept in active commission at once, but that these will have their full quota of men, which in the case of battleships means that a crew of 1,000 men will be carried. The ships which need docking and repairs will be placed in "ordinary" and their crew reduced to a minimum while they are at the yards undergoing repairs. The vessels will take turns at the yards instead of coming in fleets.

MERCHANT ACCUSED OF THEFT JUMPS HIS BAIL

Benicia Businessman Fails to Appear for Trial

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
VALLEJO, June 18.—A sensation was caused in Benicia this morning when the case of Samuel Newman, a well known merchant charged with burglary, was called for trial. Newman had forfeited his bond of $500 put up by his father in law and fled the country.

A bench warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Newman formerly conducted a large tailoring establishment in San Francisco, but for the last two years has been a resident of Benicia. He was accused of a long series of burglaries. Much of the loot that he secured by his crimes was found in a San Francisco pawn shop.

Take an outing on the Ocean Shore Railway and enjoy the beautiful beaches and grand scenery. Train service to Tunitas Glen (23 miles from San Francisco) connect with stage for San Gregorio, Pescadero and Pebble Beach. For schedules see published time card in this paper.

CHATEAU IN DANGER OF FIRE—Mill Valley, June 18.—The beautiful swiss chateau of E. L. Huester, president of the Bass-Huester patent company of San Francisco, narrowly escaped destruction by fire this afternoon, when a summer cottage in the rear of the residence was burned through defective wiring.

DEFENDS JAPANESE ON HOME GROUND

Canadian Trade Commissioner Blames Foreigners for Unfriendliness

W. T. R. Preston, who has been representing the Canadian government in Japan for the last two years as commissioner of trade, and who arrived here yesterday on the liner Chiyu Maru, says that if the foreigners now doing business in Japan are compelled to leave the island kingdom they will have only themselves to blame.

"I went to Japan two years ago," he said, "prejudiced against the Japanese. My countrymen and yours and other foreigners whom I met in the clubs and commercial exchanges fed me with stories discrediting to the Japanese. There is just enough Irish in me to make me want to take the side of the under dog, so I did some investigating on my own account."

"As a result I told the foreign chamber of commerce that as long as they handled Japan's foreign trade in Japan they should at least refrain from hammering the country and its people. I warned them that they were paving the way for the Japanese to establish direct trade relations with the rest of the world, particularly with Canada. The chamber of commerce protested at Ottawa against my interference, and in their protest attacked the commercial integrity of the Japanese. A copy of this protest was sent to me and later published in Japan, and it has been war for me ever since."

"Foreigners in Japan control four newspapers, which lose no opportunity to cast slur on the Japanese people. A Japanese official told me that if some of the articles published by a certain British paper in Japan were translated into the vernacular and distributed among the people, the government would be powerless to save the plant of that paper from destruction by the mob."

"This matter of the unfriendliness of foreigners doing business in Japan has been taken up by the ambassadors with a view to ending it or at least pointing out its logical results."

"Many of the foreign papers published in Japan are no better than the Japanese paper very properly closed up in Honolulu. I consider the Japanese people as honest as we are. They have public officials who accept bribes, but they also have a government which punishes them."

"Nobody who has been in Korea lately can doubt the change for the better that is coming under Japanese guidance, and I believe that within five years they will have so changed the customs of the people that Korea will be one of the best markets that the western world will have."

HERE IS VERY LATEST IN SNAKE STORY LINE

Rancher Kills Reptile and Mate Seeks Revenge

ARTESIA, June 18.—M. R. McKinley, a rancher, yesterday killed a bull snake, which, he avers, had been following him for four days, bent on avenging the death of its mate, which McKinley killed one day last week.

Yesterday McKinley started to drive to town, and as he passed through a gate the snake glided out of it, struck McKinley and wrapped itself about one of the buggy wheels.

As the wheel revolved, bringing the reptile to the yard, he struck McKinley at the rancher. It did this four times before McKinley could get in a fatal blow.

BRIDE OF TWO WEEKS SEEKS MISSING HUSBAND

Frank Brown of Oakland Dis- appears; Foul Play Suspected

OAKLAND, June 18.—Frank Brown, track foreman for the Oakland traction company, left his bride of two weeks last Wednesday night, saying he would shortly return, and has not been heard of since.

Brown lived with his wife at 230 Hannah street, North Oakland. The two were in the first flush of their married life and no explanation of his disappearance, except that he met with some disaster, can be given.

He had a month's pay on his person when he left his home, and the theory is that he has met with foul play.

POSTOFFICE LEASE RENEWED—Washington, June 18.—The postoffice department has accepted the proposal of Albert Matsumo of Grass Valley to lease the present postoffice quarters there for 10 years from August 1.

FAMOUS AVIATORS THRICE HONORED

Nation, State and City Bestow Medals Upon Inventors of Airships

DAYTON, O., June 18.—Wilbur and Orville Wright, the aviators, today received the medals awarded them by act of congress, by the legislature of Ohio and by their home city of Dayton.

Immediately after the ceremony the Wrights hurried to their factory to prepare for their departure tomorrow for Washington, where next week they will resume their flights to satisfy government requirements.

Wilbur Wright on receiving the medals made a speech, in which he likened an inventor to a poet, saying that neither poet nor inventor would suffer from indifference if their wants were really known. He declared that in his belief if a Shakespeare or a Tennyson could be created by public subscription public sentiment was such in America that whatever was necessary would be forthcoming instantly.

General James Allen, chief signal officer, representing Secretary Dickinson, presented the national medals. Governor Harmon of Ohio presented the Ohio medals and Mayor E. E. Burkhardt of Dayton gave the local medals. Behind the Wrights on rising tiers of seats sat 2,500 school children dressed in red, white and blue and arranged to represent an American flag.

The day's program was closed by a parade, in which was represented the "Evolution of Locomotion," the crowning feature being an aeroplane. Baron Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese ambassador, and Carlos G. Velez, the Cuban minister, were among those at the ceremony.

ENGLISH ACQUITTED OF EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE

Former Land Clerk Not Guilty on Second Indictment

Fred B. English, charged with embezzling federal funds while a clerk in the United States land office under C. C. Morton, was acquitted for the second time yesterday in the United States district court. The jury took but 15 minutes to reach a verdict, there being no basis taken on the first being 11 for acquittal and one blank.

It was the second time that English had stood trial on the charge, the first trial being on an indictment charging theft of money before the fire of 1906.

Both the wife and mother of the accused man were called to answer a verdict was returned and were greatly affected. English received the congratulations of many friends who were in the courtroom.

English was a clerk in the land office for 13 years. During that time there was a shortage of several thousand dollars. There was no system employed in the office for keeping the accounts and the defense claimed that the money might have gone out of the office through some other source. There is a third indictment against English, on which he is to be tried.

CRAZY SAILOR FIGHTS POLICEMEN IN COURT

More Than a Dozen Men Need- ed to Overpower Prisoner

For a few minutes yesterday morning there was a scene of the wildest excitement in Police Judge Deasy's court, as Oliver Fleming, a husky sailor, developed delirium tremens while in the dock waiting to be called to answer a charge of disturbing the peace.

Bailiff Michael Mahoney saw the symptoms developing, and when Fleming said to him, "I am going out of this place," Mahoney tried to pacify him, but Fleming started to climb out of the dock. Mahoney grabbed him and threw him to the floor, placing his knee on his chest. With the assistance of Gustavus Johnson, a prisoner, Mahoney succeeded in placing the handcuffs over Fleming's wrists.

As Fleming rose he kicked Mahoney viciously and hit his hand. Bailiff Al Williams and several policemen ran to Mahoney's assistance and it took about a dozen of them to drag him to the patrol wagon.

LABORERS' ELECTION LEADS TO SHOOTING

Two Stevedores Quarrel and One of Them Receives Wound

The stevedores' union held an election of officers Thursday night and for some of the officers there was keen rivalry. Edward Brown, 138 Eureka street, and Fred Muller, 125 San Carlos avenue, were on opposing sides and about 5 o'clock yesterday morning they quarreled at Third and Berry streets and Muller fired several shots at Brown, one of the bullets striking him on the left shoulder.

When Policeman Jackson reached the scene Muller had disappeared. Brown was sent to the harbor hospital and Jackson went to Muller's home, where he was told by Mrs. Muller that her husband had gone to the southern police station to surrender.

BRANDENBURG SAYS NAME WAS FORGED

Writer Denies That Signature Produced Belonged to Clevel- and Article Sold to Times

Witnesses Called to Prove For- gery of Paper After Death of Former President

NEW YORK, June 18.—The authenticity of two words on a slip of paper in a glass case—Grover Cleveland—about which the trial of Broughton Brandenburg, the magazine writer, charged with grand larceny for the sale to the New York Times of an article purporting to have been written by Cleveland, has largely centered so far, lost something of their importance today when Brandenburg's counsel announced that his client would admit that the signature was a forgery.

This occurred after Richard Watson Gilder, the veteran magazine editor, had testified that the signature was not that of his old friend, Grover Cleveland.

Brandenburg's lawyer said: "We do not contend that the signature is genuine. After Mr. Gilder and Mrs. Cleveland have said it was not we would not possibly presume that it was."

"SUBSTITUTION," SAYS DEFENSE
"That's news to me," said Assistant District Attorney Nott. "You've protested right along that it was genuine."

"We have not," replied the lawyer for the defense. "We are willing to stipulate that the signature in the glass case is not genuine."

"I am going to show more than that," replied Assistant District Attorney Nott. "I am going to prove that the defendant wrote that signature."

Brandenburg then said: "We intend to show that the forged signature was substituted for the real one. I never saw this signature till the trial commenced."

IDENTIFIED BY EDITOR
William C. Relek, managing editor of the Times, identified the alleged forged signature. In accepting the return of the article, minus the signature of the signature, Relek authorized the return of the article, but had asked him for it when doubt of its genuineness began to bother him.

Brandenburg returned the article the next day and about two weeks later Relek sent it to District Attorney Jerome. He had editor in chief of the Times, and Miller had expressed the opinion that certain paragraphs sounded very strange—"not like Mr. Cleveland at all," explained the witness.

TESTIMONY AS TO FORGERY
In view of the letters received from Hastings, one of the executors of Cleveland's will, however, Relek stated, doubts of the genuineness of the article disappeared. Brandenburg had never told him that the signature was genuine, he said.

Expert testimony was introduced to prove that the article was typewritten more than a month after Cleveland's death.

George Pongelly and David N. Carvalho, handwriting experts, declared the disputed signature a forgery and their opinions that Brandenburg wrote it.

The World's Best Furniture

The "Craftsman" Furniture built by the Gustav Stickley workmen is in a class by itself. And though it is widely copied a single glance is sufficient to betray the difference between the genuine and the imitation. "Craftsman" furniture is built by hand by skilled workmen; hence each piece has a distinct individuality. The wood used is the very finest solid white oak—and the pieces are devoid of carving or ornamentation of any kind. The furniture when put together is placed in airtight rooms and there subjected to a "fuming" process known only by Gustav Stickley, which gives the wood a rich, dark brownish shade impossible to describe. The fumed oak massive Morris Chair pictured above is a splendid example of "Craftsman" workmanship. Built to last for generations. Removable real leather cushions.

Price $53.50

And Credit

Time was when nothing but cheap trash was offered on credit terms. Now, however, the best furniture can be had for a little down and a little each month.
