

NEW RECORD FOR AVIATION MADE BY THE WRIGHTS

Spectacular Flight Lasting for 1 Hour 20 Minutes and 45 Seconds

Aeroplane, Under Perfect Control, Cuts Figure Eight and Soars Aloft 280 Feet

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Establishing a new record for aviation in America, Orville Wright, in the Wright aeroplane, late today at Fort Myer, made a spectacular flight of 1 hour 20 minutes and 45 seconds' duration.

Several thousand people saw the most daring feat of aviation yet accomplished. The machine traveled about 70 miles, it was estimated by Wilbur Wright, and at one time during the flight the height attained was between 250 and 280 feet, exceeding the highest point ever reached by a heavier than air machine on this continent.

The most wonderful part of the flight was the execution of three complete "figure eights." The machine started at 6:20 o'clock. After traveling several hundred feet only about five feet from the ground, the aeroplane rose gradually to 75 feet before making the first turn.

After he had been in the air half an hour, making a complete round of the field each time, Wright maneuvered the machine through several short circles, some not more than 500 feet in diameter.

After circling the field 54 times the machine began cutting the "figure eight," much to the delight of the crowd. The aviator then began to make a showing in regard to height. The aeroplane rose on each lap until it was between 250 and 300 feet in the air.

MEETS REQUIREMENTS Wright met every requirement set forth by the government, except that of carrying one passenger and making the five mile straightaway run.

Deadlock Brings Transfer of Tariff Bill to White House

Conferees Clash Over Lumber Schedule And President's Aid Is Sought

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The tariff bill was today transferred bodily from the capitol to the White House. Deadlocked because of the attitude of Representative Payne, who apparently has become convinced that he is in the minority, the conferees abandoned the usual afternoon session.

What happened between the president and the senate and house leaders is a sealed book. When Aldrich and Cannon returned to the capitol they minimized differences that had aroused bitterness in the conference room and insisted that nothing unusual had occurred.

Nevertheless, there has been trouble. Some say that the differences between Aldrich and Payne have taken such form that progress is impossible unless the president has influence enough to compel action. It is not denied that there was a clash yesterday between Representative Payne and Representative Fordney of Michigan.

From a credible source it was learned that a crisis was reached when an effort was made late yesterday to vote on lumber. Payne protested and argued that such a move would be unfair to the president, as this was one of the subjects practically submitted to him for adjustment.

That Payne had little part in selecting the conferees to represent the house is well known. Payne made recommendations that were ignored and the speaker made his own selections. Payne said to have several members of the conference committee had been "packed" with high protectionists.

When Fordney said "let's vote" Payne protested with a vehemence that startled his associates. Some one said that the majority should rule. That remark, it is declared, came from one of the senate members of the conference, and it incensed Payne still more.

Payne told Aldrich that he could vote the senate members of the conference if he chose, but that he could not vote the house members so easily. Full of wrath, he told his house colleagues that it was their duty to stand up for the house bill.

Payne is reported to have said that he would not sign a conference report merely because a majority of the house republicans conferees had agreed to it. Then he stalked angrily from the room. The 23 republicans of the house who called upon President Taft recently to plead with him to recede from his position in favor of free raw materials were considerably alarmed when they learned of Chairman Payne's action.

The possible attitude of the house democrats interested there greatly. It was said that if President Taft and Representative Payne were successful in obtaining a conference report carrying out the free raw material program, a large number of the minority would be found supporting the 24 republicans if they decide to vote against the conference report.

OSCAR WILDE'S BODY 'OPEN DOOR' POLICY IN PERE LA CHAISE IN CHINA ASSURED

Remains of Poet Transferred From Obscure Resting Place to Famous Cemetery

Religious Ceremony at Reinterment in Paris, Attended by Friends and Relatives

[Special Cable to The Call] PARIS, July 20.—The body of Oscar Wilde, which was buried at Bagneux in 1900, was today transferred to Pere La Chaise. A brief religious ceremony was held in the cemetery chapel, attended by a small group of relatives and friends. The ground in which the body is now interred is secured in perpetuity.

At last the mortal remains of one of the greatest of Irishmen are at rest. That process of rehabilitation which in the fullness of time flouts the hasty judgment passed by the world on all great memories has, in the case of Oscar Wilde, worked itself out with a symbolic expressiveness which the dead poet would have been the first to appreciate.

When the body of Oscar Wilde was borne away from the miserable little Hotel d'Alsace in the rue des Beaux Arts to the obscure cimiterie des Bagneux, that humble hurried burial typified the scorn of a pharisaical world. On that dreary December day in 1900 only Robert Ross, the friend, Dupontier, the landlady; a priest and two veiled women followed the casket to its resting place.

PRaise WILDE'S GENIUS But the change has come. The fickle world has forgotten Wilde's divagation from the normal in reawakened admiration of his tremendous literary achievement. He is honored with deluxe editions; the poem which he wrote in French to show his superiority to the restrictions of his native tongue has been made the theme of operas and of weird dances that would disgust his artist's sensibility.

Again Robert Ross, most faithful of friends, followed the funeral cortege. But this time there was no hurried burial. There was the pomp of Catholic ceremonial to which Wilde was entitled because he asked for and received the last sacraments before he died; there were titled men and women; there were relatives who have grown proud to own his kinship.

He lies in consecrated ground, where his admirers may breathe a prayer for the repose of his soul or drop a tear. Payne had shown his superiority to the restrictions of his native tongue has been made the theme of operas and of weird dances that would disgust his artist's sensibility; dilettantes find a spurious distinction in expounding him; poor wits steal his epigrams; the sentimental weep at the entrance of Reading gaol. It is the world's way; and to make the vindication complete, his body has been taken from Bagneux to the beautiful Pere La Chaise, where his statements and lovers; poets, great and unfortunate men.

GIVEN ELABORATE FUNERAL Again Robert Ross, most faithful of friends, followed the funeral cortege. But this time there was no hurried burial. There was the pomp of Catholic ceremonial to which Wilde was entitled because he asked for and received the last sacraments before he died; there were titled men and women; there were relatives who have grown proud to own his kinship.

CANADIANS PLAN CHAIN OF FORTS ALONG COAST Map Out New Defenses for Prince Rupert VICTORIA, B. C., July 20.—The steamer Princess Royal, which reached port this morning, brought among her passengers General W. D. Otter, inspector general of Canadian fortresses; Colonel R. W. Rutherford, Captain H. T. Hughes, royal engineers; Lieutenant Heycock of H. M. S. Shearwater, a party sent to locate a chain of fortifications to be established as defense at Prince Rupert.

The scheme is to establish a chain of forts with batteries of six and 10 inch disappearing guns with auxiliary ante torpedoes of quick firers at the outer channels through which vessels must pass to reach Prince Rupert. The officers made a number of maps and will submit reports with their recommendations to Ottawa.

RAILROAD HOSPITAL ONLY REPAIR SHOP

Board of Equalization, Advised by Jere Burke, Classes it as Operative Property

Injured Man Likened to Broken Rolling Stock in Sage Argument

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SACRAMENTO, July 20.—If a Southern Pacific shop, which is for the repair of rolling stock, is operative property, then a Southern Pacific hospital, which is for the repair of men, must also be operative property.

This was the argument advanced and enlarged upon by Attorney Jere Burke, political powwow man for the Southern Pacific, at the meeting of the state board of equalization today, and such was the ruling ultimately made by the board. The decision came after a long and devious mental struggle.

Then, if a shop for the repair of rolling stock was the same as a hospital for the repair of men, would a man be able to roll after being taken to a Southern Pacific hospital? It was a worrying question. Further, would a man be able to roll after being taken to a Southern Pacific hospital? It was a worrying question.

Ultimately the members decided that the Southern Pacific hospitals at Sacramento and San Francisco were operative property and would be assessed as such. Jere Burke thanked the board and bowed himself out.

Statisticians Wylie was sustained in nearly all his rulings as between the two kinds of property by Burke and the board. His report was examined county by county, and wherever there was any doubt there was some talk.

MOTION FAILS TO SETTLE DISPUTE BURBANK BRANDS BERRY AS FRAUD

United Mine Workers and Brewerymen's Union Dissatisfied With Convention Action

DENVER, July 20.—An effort to rush through before adjournment for the day a settlement of the controversy growing out of the brewery engineers' strike in Butte, Mont., resulted in the adoption of a motion which does not satisfy any of the parties to the agreement.

The resolution presented was based on the agreement reached last spring between President Moyer for the federation and Secretary Probst for the brewery workers. The Butte delegates led by P. W. Flynn were opposed to the agreement in its entirety.

By this action the settlement authorized by the convention today was rendered unsatisfactory to the administration. The resolution was introduced by Michael J. O'Connor and as amended provides: "That there shall be a free interchange of cards between the united brewery workers and miners; that the question of jurisdiction over the engineers shall continue as at present until the expiration of the present agreement between the brewery workers and the brewery employers; that in the breweries outside of Silver Bow county, Mont., where the brewery workers are organized, the local unions of the western federation of miners have been responsible for furnishing members to the union of the brewery workers and the western federation of miners, and their decision shall be binding."

Object to Nickname DENVER, July 20.—Condemnation of the American manner of referring to foreigners as "daggoes," "rednecks," "butternuts," "red necks" and other obnoxious titles occupied some time in the convention of the Western Federation of Miners today. The greater part of the membership is of foreign birth and it objects to the titles as commonly applied.
