SPAIN IS RENT BY DISORDERS IN PROVINCES

Insurrectionists Take to Suburbs of Barcelona and Inflame Populace

Prowling Bands of Armed Workmen Occupy Railroads and Highways of Province

Internal Situation Is Depressing as Is Also News Received From Melilla

CERBERE, Spanish Frontier, Aug. 1.—Refugees and travelers from Catalonia declare the revolt is still rampant and that desperate combats continue at Barcelona, where 50 revolutionaries are reported to have been wounded in a conflict which occurred as late as Saturday night.

Information concerning the actual situation in Barcelona and the rest of the province is rarer tonight than ever before. Although some of the news from the frontier is from revolutionary sources and therefore open to suspicion, more reliable intelligence leads to the belief that, although Barcelona is calmer, the insurrectionists have taken to the suburbs and the outlying districts, where they are sowing the seeds of revolt and inflaming the populace to maintain the struggle to the bitter end.

Workmen Control Roads

Barcelona province is in the hands of prowling bands of workmen heavily armed, who occupy the railroads and highways to prevent communication and who refuse entrance to new comers. Cassan de la Selva is in the hands of the revolutionaries and at Palamos, where the monastery was fired and the monks tortured, the situation is described as alarming and the lives of foreigners endangered.

The opinion in semi-official circles here concerning Spain's internal situation is pessimistic, and the belief is expressed that the trouble is not yet over. Official Madrid announces that Barcelona is tranquil.

Spanish Convoy Ambushed

From Melilla comes the news of another Spanish convoy being ambushed and several of its officers being wounded before the troops succeeded in extricating themselves from the attack of the tribesmen.

Rumors are afloat that a general strike will be launched tomorrow at Madrid and that a strike is being organized in the Basque region.

Official denial is given to the report that the temper of the Madrid garrison is hostile. Another official statement says that the number of victims of the fighting at Barcelona is unknown, but frontier reports, one of them of alleged authoritative inspiration, declare that the killed or wounded will aggregate 2,000 and that the number of insurrectionists summarily shot was between 40 and 125.

The Carlist, organ at Gerona announces that it disapproves the revolution.

Situation Is Difficult

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The Daily Telegraph's Madrid correspondent in a story dated Friday night declares that though the military is now in control at Barcelona, the situation is still more difficult, inasmuch as the anarchists and revolutionaries have fled to the mountains and nearby villages, where they will form formidable centers of disaffection.

The revolutionary movement, according to the correspondent, is now extending to all the industrial towns along the coast, and there the reinforcements are received with rifle volleys. It is expected that there will be terrible resistance in the mountain districts and villages.

"Numerous arrests," continues the correspondent, "have been made in Madrid with the intention of preventing a general strike, which, however, will be proclaimed Monday."

Montjuich fortress at Barcelona is full of prisoners awaiting court martial. According to the captain general's estimate 1,000 persons were killed and 2,500 wounded during the suppression of the revolt in the Paralelo quarter, where most of the workmen live. The revolutionaries took women, old men and children from the asylum and placed them in front of the barricades in order to prevent the soldiers from firing and to give them time for flight. Eventually Paralelo had to be bombarded. The punishment was severe.

The city resembled a battlefield. There is an unconfirmed report that two large local forces of irregular militia and forest guards, making together 20,000 men, have made common cause with the revolutionaries.

The Daily Telegraph's Barcelona correspondent, telegraphing Sunday, says: "Everything is quiet and General Santiago regards the trouble as ended."

"I traveled from Barcelona to Gerona afoot and on horseback and thence by railway, thus traversing Catalonia, and found that it was a sea of small autonomous but temporary republics," says the Daily Telegraph's Perpignan correspondent, telegraphing

Revolutionaries In Barcelona Are Seeking Republic

CERBERE, France (Spanish Frontier), Aug. 1.—The latest news received here from Barcelona is that fighting between Spanish troops and the revolutionaries continues fiercely. It is reported that 40 revolutionaries have been shot without trial at the Montjuich fortress, among them being Emiliano Iglesias, editor of the Progreso, the organ of Deputy Leroux, chief of the republicans in Barcelona.

The revolutionaries have proclaimed a republic in Barcelona and the fortress Montjuich is constantly firing upon the districts occupied by them.

DETECTIVES ON TRAIL OF LUNDY JEWEL THIEVES

Seattle Agency Makes Demand on Local Merchant for Arrest of the Offenders

Writer of Letters Asserts That He Can Lay His Hands on the Burglars

"As far as this pamphlet is concerned offering the $5,000 reward, that I will not pay any attention to. But if you are willing to enter into an agreement, with me to pay a certain sum for the arrest and conviction of the parties who committed this crime, and further agree to pay a certain per cent, I will undertake the case."

"Now, Mr. Lundy, I am going a little bit into details with you in regard to this matter of the robbery of your place of business. I know just who the parties are that committed this crime, and where all of them are at this time, and will be able to put my hands on them."

Extracts from letters received by Thomas Lundy from mysterious Seattle detectives.

Peculiar negotiations have been opened with Thomas Lundy, the jeweler of 716 Market street, twice victim of burglaries, by the Cody detective service and merchants' patrol of Seattle.

The Seattle gumshoe agency has written to Lundy that it can lay its hands on the burglars and recover the greater part of the $46,000 loot, but is reluctant to engage in the enterprise until Lundy will make a flat promise of reward different from the two liberal offers he has already made. As a consequence of the strange tactics of the detectives, Lundy has turned over the correspondence to the local police department, and the police, with the district attorney's office, are engaged in solving the problems presented.

Store Robbed Twice

Lundy has the unfortunate pre-eminence of having had his store robbed twice of property of greater value than ever before was taken from a jeweler's shop in this city. On Saturday morning, April 11, 1908, burglars entered through the wall of George Wichman's candy store adjoining. With steel drills they pierced the safe and opened the treasure boxes, although the safe was in full view of Market street.

The thieves made off with jewels and ornaments to the value of $45,000. Among the goods taken were the following: 1,755 diamonds, valued at $21,672.25; 1,000 gold wedding rings, 24 gold rings, $4 solid gold watch chains, 250 signet rings, 235 diamond rings, 30 lockets, 49 brooches, 10 diamond earrings, 10 pairs diamond cuff links.

Thirteen months later, on May 20, 1909, burglars took $1,050 worth of jewels. The second haul consisted of watches and jewelry on exhibition in the windows. On the second incursion the burglars climbed a high fence from a vacant lot in Geary street, tore off several sheets of corrugated iron from the rear of an adjoining hat store and cut their way into the jeweler's store.

In neither case were the burglars captured, although several arrests of suspects were made. Lundy offered a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the thieves. Later he agreed to pay $2,500 for the arrest and conviction and 25 per cent of the value of any jewelry recovered.

Letters Are Received

Recently a letter was received by Lundy from the Cody detective service and merchants' patrol, room 454-455 Arcade building, Seattle. The letterhead bore the names, A. J. Cody, superintendent; J. R. Cody, assistant superintendent. The correspondence has continued until 12 letters have been received by Lundy. The agency offered the name of Attorney W. H. Metson of the firm of Campbell, Metson & Drew as a reference.

The letters intimated that the stolen property was buried near San Francisco and the opinion was expressed that the thieves intended shortly to dig the loot up. At the time of the digging they would be arrested. The Codys were so interested that they sent a representative to Lundy. The thief catchers were unwilling to approach the job unless Lundy would make a certain offer which, in view of the liberal rewards he has put up, Lundy did not think was necessary.

MARITAL TROUBLES LEAD WOMAN TO AWFUL CRIME

Murders Her Two Children and Then Kills Self

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—Marital troubles caused Mrs. Emma Michael to kill her two children, 12 and 15 years old, and then commit suicide by inhaling gas today.

The children were found dead in bed with every gas jet in the house open, and Mrs. Michael, also dead, was seated in the kitchen. In her mouth was a rubber tube, one end of which had been attached to a jet.

Mrs. Michael left a letter in which she gave the reasons for her act.

SORORITY GIRL DONS TROUSERS AND IS JAILED

Takes in Sights of Chinatown in Male Attire and Lands in City Bastile

Fast and Furious Frolic With Former Stanford Man Results in Arrest of Couple

It was the height of a fast and furious frolic when Miss Elsie Stallcup, a sorority girl of 18 years, the daughter of a Seattle carriage manufacturer, who is visiting Mrs. Albert Johnson, 206 Moraga avenue, Piedmont, accepted a "dare" and, dressing up in boy's clothes, proceeded to take in the sights of Chinatown Saturday night. But she sank to the bottomless pits of despair when an unfriendly policeman hove in view, and arrested her for masquerading in male attire.

With her at the time of the arrest was Albert Lawrence Johnson, a former Stanford student and the man who gave her the "dare" to wear the boy's clothes through Chinatown.

Late Saturday night Policemen J. Cameron and F. O. Bierman, patrolling Dupont street, nudged each other and gazed earnestly at two giggling young persons advancing toward them. One was Johnson, the other Miss Stallcup, nattily attired in a fashionable suit of boy's clothes, wig and sweater.

Couple Are Arrested

Cameron's hand fell upon the latter. A feminine shriek rang through Dupont street. Johnson gibbered inanely. The shrieks were repeated. The police were calm. Johnson spluttered. He explained until he was almost black in the face, but to no avail. At the central police station, in the presence of a group of grinning policemen, the wig was lifted from the bowed head and a mass of pretty blonde hair fell about her shoulders. The face of Miss Stallcup was hidden in her hands. Johnson once again began his explanations. He declared he was perfectly respectable, that the girl belonged to one of the most prominent families in Seattle, living at 731 North First street, and that it was a confounded outrage.

"The bail is $20," remarked the sergeant. Johnson's hand divided down into his pocket, but no $20 was forthcoming.

"Well make it $10," said the sergeant. Even here Johnson was helpless.

"Oh, Lawrence," said Miss Stallcup. "I'll go back to Piedmont and get the money," said Johnson.

"The boats have stopped running," said Cameron.

Collapse of Johnson.

"What—what—is the punishment for this?" timidly asked Miss Stallcup.

"Not more than $500 fine nor more than six months in the county jail," was the response.

Collapse of Miss Stallcup.

Johnson, nearly a nervous wreck by this time, hurried forth into the morning hours to find some friend with the necessary change to make up the $10, and returned shortly after daylight with the money.

Girl Refused Bail

"I have the money," he said, excitedly, "here it is." He wiped the beads of perspiration from his face and beamed toward Miss Stallcup. The latter froze. "If you think, Lawrence," she said in icy tones, "that I am going to walk the streets in these clothes in daylight you're mistaken. I'd rather stay in prison." She turned on her heel and sought the comfort of the matron. Nor would she budge until Johnson had hurried home across the bay and returned with the necessary clothes. Half an hour later a dainty, trim girl walked out of the prison, her cheeks scarlet, but a smile dimpling the corners of her lips. Her case was set for hearing at 10 o'clock in police court this morning.

After having given the name of Stallcup to the police the girl declared her real name was Nell Siegenfus and that she lived in Stockton.

Johnson says he is the grandson of Grove L. Johnson and a nephew of Hiram W. Johnson. Miss Stallcup, in speaking about her adventures, said he had been spurred on to the trick by some Stanford students.

"I visit my aunt every year," she said, "and this time met a number of Stanford students who dared me to put on boy's clothes and go through Chinatown. I took the dare and thought it nothing more than a big lark. We left the house after the rest of the folks had gone to bed, and our intention was to return before they awoke. I had no idea I was violating any law and was completely upset when a policeman arrested me. I am afraid it has not been such a lark as I thought it would be."

Mrs. Albert Johnson, at whose home in Piedmont Miss Stallcup said she was visiting, denied all knowledge of the girl, saying she had never heard of her before. This touch of mystery to the case has decided the police to thoroughly investigate the matter, and should the girl not make an appearance in court at 10 o'clock this morning the police judge will be requested to issue a warrant for her arrest.

LITTLE BOY FINDS MOTHER SLAIN AND FATHER A SUICIDE

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
CLOVERDALE, Aug. 1.—When 6 year old Willie Newland went to the room of his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Newland, at their ranch home on the hill opposite the winery, this morning about 11 o'clock, to ascertain why neither had arisen as usual, he was horrified to find his mother's face covered with blood. He went out and informed the other members of the family that "mamma's face was covered with blood."
An investigation resulted in finding Newland, who was moderately well to do, had been in ill health for the last 10 years and had grown despondent. The family lived happily on a small vineyard on the outskirts of town, and as far as known never had any troubles. Newland purchased the weapon with which the act was committed last Thursday. The wife was evidently asleep when shot.
Newland was about 53 years old, and his wife was 19 years his junior. The eldest son is employed by Dunham, Carrigan & Hayden company, San Francisco. He was notified and arrived here tonight. The next two children are daughters about 13 and 18 years old and there are two boys aged 14 the revolver on himself with deadly and 6.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Lying on the floor of their apartment at Hoover and Thirtieth streets, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Findley were found dead today locked in each other's arms. The coroner's surgeon found tonight that they had taken cyanide of potassium. Residents of the same house said that Mrs. Findley had frequently declared that her husband was hopelessly ill and that rather than wait for death he would go to meet it and she would go with him.
The couple had been married only a short time. Mrs. Findley was 22 years old and her husband 28. They were employed by a lumber company. Findley as an estimator, his

ACAPULCO AND CHILPANCINGO IN RUINS FROM NEW SHOCKS

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 1.—A dispatch from Acapulco today says that 73 distinct earthquake shocks have been felt there since the first shake Friday. The city has been destroyed and the inhabitants face a famine. During one of the shocks a tidal wave engulfed the harbor front. No lives were lost.
Chilpancingo also has been practically destroyed. What the earthquake of Friday failed to do was accomplished by the stronger one yesterday, which either leveled or rendered uninhabitable every building in the two places. All of the markets at Acapulco were destroyed in the shocks of Saturday and the country people are afraid to take in more produce to the town. The people are camping in the public squares and have no food.
The few buildings standing are being leveled by dynamite, as they are little more than tottering walls that fall as new shocks come.
During the heavy shock yesterday the water in the harbor receded 33 feet and then rushed back, covering the docks and piers, causing considerable damage. The people are suffering from exposure. The tents in the public squares and streets do not serve to keep off the heavy rains which fall at this season. Funds are being raised in the City of Mexico to relieve the distress of Guerrero.
In the City of Mexico Saturday's shock was heavier than any yet experienced. So far as known no lives were lost in the latest agitation.

BOXING BOUT ON BATTLESHIP ENDS IN DEATH OF FIGHTER

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., Aug. 1.—Following a boxing bout in which he took part at a smoker on board the battleship Vermont last night, a colored mess attendant named Foster died today. His opponent, named Williams, also colored, was under surveillance tonight.
There had been some ill feeling, it is said, between the two colored men, and when it was proposed to hold a boxing bout in connection with the weekly smoker they volunteered to settle their grudge in a 10 round contest.
The fight was a grueling affair. The victory was awarded to Williams.
Foster, after washing and treating his injuries, swung his hammock and retired. Later he complained of severe pains.
Friday morning at 9 o'clock Fairall took an automobile at Corte Madera and started after the governor, who was then in the wilds of Humboldt county, out of reach of telegraph and telephone. Fairall and a chauffeur set out and drove hard through Sonoma and Mendocino counties and into the roughest portion of Humboldt county, where roads are but suggestive sketches wriggling through the heavy timber. Fairall knew that if he did not reach the governor by Sunday Bradbury, his client, would be put in stripes and numbered as a felon at San Quentin. So he pressed on.

GOVERNOR REPRIEVES BRADBURY

Grants Aged Millionaire Thirty Days Stay of Execution in Sentence to San Quentin

Lawyer Makes Exciting Auto Ride Through Roads to Reach Executive

Gillett Drops Fishing Pole to Sign Paper Delaying Commitment to Prison

Convicted Man Was to Have Been Taken to State Penitentiary This Morning

REACHED while camping in the fastness of Humboldt county, Governor James N. Gillett exercised official clemency yesterday in the case of William B. Bradbury, the aged millionaire of Corte Madera and this city, and granted a reprieve for 30 days. So Bradbury will not go to prison this morning to begin a year's sentence for perjury committed in Marin county in 1904, when he swore that he had not told the officials of the Marin county bank not to loan money to James McCue, Bradbury's creditor.
Behind the brief message received by Sheriff W. P. Taylor of Marin county from Gillett last night lies a story of a terrific automobile ride made from San Francisco by Bradbury's attorney, Charles H. Fairall, through the woods and over the roads of Mendocino and Humboldt counties until he found the governor of the state. Governor Gillett was with a camping party in his home county of Humboldt when Judge Fairall found him at the end of a 48 hour ride.

Reprieve Is Granted

Laying aside his fishing rod Governor Gillett listened to Fairall's plea. Then he prepared a formal reprieve, which was sent to Sheriff Taylor. The governor's act suspends judgment until September 1.

Elated with the success of his arduous mission Fairall sent the following dispatch to Bradbury:

Eureka, Cal., Aug. 1.
William Bradbury, Corte Madera.
Governor Gillett has ordered suspension of judgment until September 1. If question of procedure should arise tomorrow I have requested judge and district attorney to continue until I arrive.

CHARLES H. FAIRALL.

District Attorney Thomas Boyd said last evening that he had not received word from the governor nor Fairall regarding the suspension of judgment.

"It would be a very unusual proceeding, and one which is usually invoked only in capital cases, when the defendant is to be hanged," said Boyd. "I can not say what I might do in the case. I can not say at present what are legal aspects of the governor's act, or what I may do when the case comes up tomorrow morning."

Sheriff Taylor said that he had heard from the governor and that he would follow the instructions received and not take the millionaire to the state's prison.

Fairall to Rescue

Fairall's ride has been the most exciting feature of a case which has dragged for five years in the state courts. June 30, when the supreme court affirmed the decision of the superior court of Marin county, it seemed as if there was no hope for Bradbury. The shadow of prison settled deeper on the convicted millionaire last Saturday, when the highest court in the state handed down its remittitur. Every preparation was made to take the man to prison this morning. But there was Fairall making a Sheridan's ride to save the day.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock Fairall took an automobile at Corte Madera and started after the governor, who was then in the wilds of Humboldt county, out of reach of telegraph and telephone. Fairall and a chauffeur set out and drove hard through Sonoma and Mendocino counties and into the roughest portion of Humboldt county, where roads are but suggestive sketches wriggling through the heavy timber. Fairall knew that if he did not reach the governor by Sunday Bradbury, his client, would be put in stripes and numbered as a felon at San Quentin. So he pressed on.

BROTHERS ENGAGE IN FATAL REVOLVER DUEL IN KANSAS

PAOLA, Kan., Aug. 1.—Thomas Cummins was shot to death by his brother, Frank Cummins, in a revolver duel fought on the public road near here last night.

In the fight, which was the outgrowth of a family quarrel of long standing, each brother fired three times. Witnesses say that Thomas Cummins was the aggressor. A third brother witnessed the duel, but did not take sides.
