Olympic Club Athletes Gain Second Place

Ralph Rose, as usual, breaks another record with sixteen pound shot.

By WILLIAM J. SLATTERY
 Chicago's colors dangled in triumph yesterday afternoon on the Golden Gate park stadium over those of San Francisco, New York and Boston. The class of the sturdy youngsters from the city of wind stuck out prominently in the long run. Chicago had a splendidly balanced team and victory rested with her on this score, though New York, San Francisco and Boston outshone her in individual performances.

San Francisco had to be content with second place because there was a scarcity of the wearers of the winged "O" in attendance. No one knows what the native sons might have accomplished with a representative assemblage of our athletes.

But it was a great field day—one that will live long in the annals of sport in the city by the Golden gate. It was a triumph for amateur athletics, a triumph for the greatest stadium in all the world and another triumph for the wonder of wonders in his class, Ralph Rose, the California shot putter. He broke another record.

He broke his own record. In a measure this was expected of Rose. If he does not break some world's record at some field day the sport is not considered up to the usual standard. The one which Rose added to his long list yesterday was the 16 pound shotput, and he succeeded in hurling the heavy ball just 51 feet, breaking his own former record of the Seattle meet by nearly a foot.

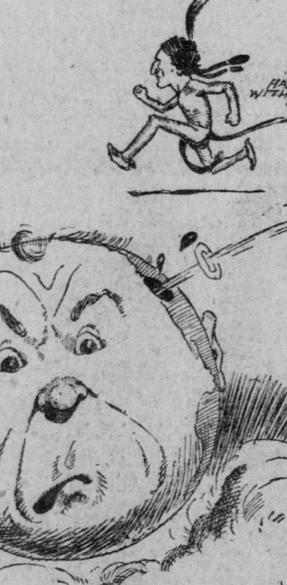

This was the most wonderful performance of the day and one that will be flashed around the world. All the other events may go unheard of in the various great cities of the universe, but Rose's will be marked down in the pages of athletic history wherever the games made famous by the Greeks of old are played.

A great crowd thronged its way to the stadium and when the crack of the pistol sent the runners off for the first event of the afternoon, the 100 yard dash, there were about 7,500 inside the big inclosure. This not only represented the amateur loving population of San Francisco, but that of all the outside cities also. Delegates from nearly every important city in California could be found at the stadium yesterday, and no wonder, for the attraction was one of the greatest of its kind that San Francisco has ever known in all these years that it has held an important place on the sporting map. The crowd demonstrated very clearly how the people of this city and of California in general appreciate the class in sport.

himself on the side lines, hurried his charges up, mixed with the officials and the spectators and made himself generally useful whenever his services were needed. He made a hit with everybody. The great crowd was very impartial. Whenever any athlete did anything worth cheering for his effort came in for its merited applause. The gathering did not hold San Francisco above New York or Chicago or Boston. Every one of the assembled guests was for a square deal for each and every man, and each and every one of them got it, too. Class told in every event and the crowd was quick to recognize each flash of class.

HARRY McLain
 WITH HIS TANNED SKIN

Perhaps the most conspicuous figure among the great crowd of athletes was the Arizona Indian, Harry McLain, the man who went to Seattle an unknown and returned a world's champion in his class. His name seemed to be embedded in the mind of every man, woman and child in the crowd and when Announcer George Dixon presented him the redman was received like a conquering hero. But cheers and admiration do not tell when it simmers down to a question of speed and endurance and brain work, and this tells how the Indian met his defeat at the hands of Ballard in the three mile run.

 WINGED "O" INFANT
 JARRED THE EARTH WITH A NEW RECORD

There was not a man among the visiting athletes who was not agreed that our stadium stands out in a class by itself all over the world. They were proud of the chance of competing upon it and they did not mind the fog or the wind. They will all return east with the praises of San Francisco and her stadium and her people upon their lips. For yesterday's field day means another niche for California in the hall of fame.

Moortrix in Fine Fettle At Woodland

Chadbourne's Pacer Wins Feature Race and Cuts His Mark Nearly Two Seconds

By JOE MURPHY
 [Special Dispatch to The Call]
 WOODLAND, Aug. 21.—The harness meeting closed here today with a banner attendance at the course, and the crowd was treated to a fine day's sport. Moortrix, Fred Chadbourne's crack pacer, beat his best mark nearly two seconds by pacing the third heat of the 2:13 pace in 2:07 1/2, defeating Cora, Joe McGregor and some other fast ones.

This was the feature event of the day and it resulted in some nerve racking finishes. Cora, the fast mare recently purchased by E. F. Wentout, took the first two heats, defeating Moortrix and Joe McGregor. In the second heat Cora defeated Joe McGregor and Moortrix by a head. To many it looked like Moortrix had the place, but the judges hung McGregor's name as second. This decision was questioned by Chadbourne, who went into the stand and argued with the judges. Ward, who drove McGregor, was called by the judges. Chadbourne alleged that Ward had acknowledged to him that Moortrix had finished second, but to the judges Ward denied having said he was beaten for second place. Words passed between the two drivers and for a time it looked as if there would be a fight. Chadbourne, who had evidently been going easy with Moortrix in the first two heats, had the next two without being pressed. Cora seemed to tire toward the finish and she was never dangerous after the opening heats, and landed in second place. Little Dick, Golden Gate park speedway champion, probably made the best time of his career, but was outclassed in this field.

There was nothing to the pace after the third heat. Moortrix came on and won the next two without being pressed. Cora seemed to tire toward the finish and she was never dangerous after the opening heats, and landed in second place. Little Dick, Golden Gate park speedway champion, probably made the best time of his career, but was outclassed in this field.

Scotch John, nicely handled by Dan-lev, also made a new mark of 2:11 1/2, which is two seconds better than his best previous time. He seemed to like the fast going of the local course and defeated a field of four trotters in the 2:14 class trot.

down the stretch succeeded in walking away with both the century and full-length events. Lindberg of Chicago had the quarter pretty much to himself, while John O. Miller, the Olympic club champion, turned the tables on Harry Gissing, the winged foot runner, who had nosed him out at Seattle and won the half mile quite handsly. Though the time was slow this could not be helped, as it was exceedingly difficult for the runners to make much headway on the back stretch, for the wind seemed at times almost to hold them still.

MAKE GREAT SHOWING

The mile and three miles were easily Ballard's, while Shaw captured the high hurdles with some to spare. Waller had the low hurdles well in hand, but had Herbert Cheek been able to run up against him he would have had to go some better. Horner, Snedigar and Rose all made a great showing in the field events. Dave Martin's high-jumping was the best he has ever done and he might have been able to go higher had he made the attempt.

The relay race was one of the most exciting on the program and Chicago, which was expected to win, was nosed out by its rivals from New York mainly through the running of Noble.

The results were as follows:

100 yards—Won by May, C. A. A.; second, Hamilton, C. A. A.; third, Dawson, N. Y. A. C. Time, 1:10.
