

NEWS OF THE FOUR COUNTIES BORDERING ON SAN FRANCISCO BAY

ANNEXATION WILL BE CONSIDERED

Lack of Improvements Stirs Elmhurst Citizens Into Calling Meeting

ELMHURST, Aug. 21.—Because this city is without fire protection and because the streets are in poor repair and will probably remain so until Elmhurst is either incorporated into a city or is annexed to Oakland, the two questions of whether it shall be assimilated into a Greater Oakland or shall take up its own duties as a municipality, will be discussed fully at a meeting of the board of trade Monday night in Redmen's hall.

Elmhurst has been wrestling with the problem of civic betterments for many months and the solution is seemingly in one of the two aforesaid steps. Many citizens favor annexation to Oakland, as Elmhurst would then be the recipient of many improvements which are now being considered by the Oakland city government.

The question as to whether Elmhurst shall incorporate with Fruitvale will also come up at the meeting. Many citizens, however, oppose this step and prefer annexation to Oakland. Fruitvale citizens favor a plan to incorporate all territory from the Oakland city line to San Leandro into Fruitvale proper.

Secretary J. E. Hood has sent communications to city clerks in many cities of California asking information and data on the cost of conducting their municipalities. A communication has also been sent to the Oakland chamber of commerce asking what attitude that body had regarding the annexation of Elmhurst. Replies are expected to the various communications before Monday night and they will be read at the meeting.

The poor condition of Elmhurst streets and little prospect that they will be put in better condition until the present system of government is changed is one of the desired changes. The recent fire in which the whole business portion was threatened, has also resulted in a demand for fire protection. Either incorporation or annexation will result in the installation of a fire department and street repairs.

CLEVER ACTS AT OAKLAND ORPHEUM

Eleanor Gordon and Company Head New Bill With "Tips on Tap"

OAKLAND, Aug. 21.—One of the great dramatic playlets of the year is to be the principal attraction at the Oakland Orpheum when the new bill goes tomorrow. Miss Eleanor Gordon, a beautiful woman and clever actress, with her company will present the playlet entitled "Tips on Tap." The company includes Joseph Sullivan, an accomplished actor.

A novelty from Europe is promised in the act called La Petite Revue. There are half a dozen persons utilized in this act, all of them clever singers and actors. A mimic stage is set up for the La Petite Revue, and on this miniature stage are enacted scenes from well known operas and plays, the performers appearing to be puppets who go through their playing for the benefit of the audience.

Another European novelty to be seen for the first time in Oakland tomorrow is the act of the Five Avolos, who are regarded as the greatest xylophonists in the world. They use five instruments and also carry with them a lot of special scenery which gives to their act a flavor of novelty, in addition to the really superior quality of the music.

Miss Lena Pantzer of the famous Pantzer family of acrobats is to contribute a unique dancing specialty. Miss Pantzer's terpsichorean work is done on the steel wire as well as on the stage itself. She is assisted in her performance by Sam Mint, a skilled acrobat and dancer.

Sam Chip and Mary Marble in their Dutch musical comedy "In Old Edam" will unquestionably be stars on the bill. The six American dancers, men and women who dress picturesquely and display unusual skill as dancers, will be retained from last week's program. Lively comedy is promised in the offering of Matthews and Ashley, who have a snappy talking and singing act which they call "Held Up." Frank Conroy and George Le Maire and their company will be seen again in the rattling comedy "A King for a Night."

OF MANSLAUGHTER BY MASONIC ORDER

Both Brothers Are Convicted for the Killing of Policeman William H. Heins

The jury that tried James O. Young on a charge of having murdered Policeman William H. Heins returned a verdict yesterday of manslaughter with a recommendation for mercy. Unable to reach an agreement Friday evening the jury had been locked up all night.

This is the second conviction resulting from the murder of Heins. Thomas O. Young, twin brother of James O. Young, was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. It was Thomas who, while lying on the sidewalk outside the O K saloon in Pacific street, fired the shot that caused the policeman's death. The pistol had previously been handed to him by his brother James, and the latter was convicted of manslaughter as an accessory.

During the trial of Thomas Young an act of brotherly devotion was performed by James, who went on to witness stand. It was he who shot at and killed Heins. Thomas Young did not come over from San Quentin, where he is serving his life sentence, to testify for James. The twins are 29 years old.

MUTILATED CURRENCY FOUND IN OLD TRUNK

Treasury Department Gives Money for Paper Scraps

OAKLAND, Aug. 21.—Scraps of national bank bills, all of them more than a generation old, were found recently in an old trunk by Deputy Sheriff George Sturtevant, who lives in Alameda. Sturtevant mailed the lot to Washington, and he received today $10.35 for the scraps. Most of them had been so mutilated that they were valueless.

The currency belonged to J. N. Webster, a pioneer of 1849, who was one of the earliest residents of Alameda, going to live there in 1852. He was Sturtevant's grandfather, and had been dead many years. After his death, most of his personal effects were regularly disposed of, but the scraps of bills in the old trunk were overlooked as worthless.

They were found accidentally. The original value of them was it is impossible to say, so badly mutilated were they. The treasury department returned several scraps to Sturtevant.

Fox is sending out cards for one of the more elaborate of the early September affairs, asking friends to be her guests on the first Saturday evening of the month at a dinner dance at the Claremont country club. The clubhouse has been closed during the later summer, the weekly dances even having been given up while repairs were being accomplished. Mrs. Fox will be one of the several elaborate planning dinners for the opening night.

Among those who Miss Brigham included in her invitation were Miss Hazel Palmanteer, Miss Katherine Hyde and Miss Evelyn Adams. The wedding of the attractive hostess and Eugene Johnson will be of interest to a wide circle of friends of the family in the bay cities, where the Brighams formerly lived. The date is named for the coming fall term.

Miss Hazel Knapp, whose wedding with William Luke will be an event of the early winter, was the motif for a charmingly planned affair this afternoon at which Mrs. Frederick Turton entertained a few friends at her home in Claremont.

The dozen young folk who attended in the bridal party at the elaborate wedding which made Miss Marlon Hughes the belle for a day or two in the summer went to Burlingame to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Russell over the weekend at a congenial house party. The young couple are planning some happy diversions for their friends during their stay in the pretty suburban home.

Mrs. John Phillips was a dinner hostess of the evening, asking a number of guests to meet Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brown, who are spending the fall in San Francisco from their home in Denver. Miss Gladys Brown was also a guest of honor, Miss Phillips presiding at a prettily appointed table, at which were seated half a dozen or so friends.
