

LATHAM SETS NEW SHIP RECORD

French Aviator Covers 95.88 Miles in Face of Storm at a High Altitude

Two Inventors Meet With Mishaps, Which Increase the Chances of Curtiss

BETHENY AVIATION FIELD, RHEIMS, Aug. 26.—Hubert Latham, the French aviator, today took a glorious revenge for the hard luck he experienced in his recent attempts to cross the English channel, and his indefatigable, but hitherto unsuccessful efforts to accomplish a notable achievement during the present meeting, by establishing a new world's airship record for distance, 154 kilometers 650 meters, or 95.88 miles.

Latham covered 13 laps, or 150 kilometers, in 2 hours 13 minutes and 9 seconds, and the full distance in 2 hours 18 minutes and 3 5/8 seconds, which also are world's records, the flight being at the rate of about 66 1/2 kilometers an hour, as compared with 53 1/2 made by Wright at Lemans, and a fraction under 50 made by Paulhan yesterday.

LIKE A FLYING DRAGON

Nothing could have exceeded the beauty and impressiveness of the prolonged flight. In grace of lines no other airplane here compares with Latham's monoplane. The slightly tilted planes from the long skiff-like body give it a resemblance, when close, to a winged canoe, and while sailing high up in the air it looks from the distance like a mammoth dragon.

For an hour with fluttering wings, like a living thing, it fought its way against the storm of rain and wind at an average height of 10,000 feet, and higher as the wind rose, until during the worst of the storm it was up fully 300 feet. The contention of the advocates of the biplane that the monoplane would be driven to the ground by a strong breeze has been amply refuted.

Latham earlier in the day with No. 12, another aeroplane of the same type, made a flight of more than 70 kilometers and after he had finished, Count de Lambert, covering 116 kilometers (72.73 miles) in commanding fashion.

BERIOT'S MACHINE DAMAGED

Glenn H. Curtiss had two practice spins, but although his machine behaved splendidly, it was blown about by the wind. An accident which Berliot suffered about dusk may improve Curtiss' chances for the international cup. While trying to alight in front of the stands with a passenger aboard his machine, Berliot crashed into a fence, the wings and propeller being broken. He narrowly missed killing several of the spectators. Whether or not the machine is repaired has not yet been definitely determined. If so, Curtiss' most dangerous rival has been put at a disadvantage, as Berliot intended to use the wrecked machine in the international event, although he qualified with another.

LANDS AMONG LUNCHERS

Rougier, also while giving an exhibition, landed among a crowd lunching in the grass and slightly injured two women and a man. Berliot insisted his accident was not due to recklessness, but that he was charged by the crowd. He said a squadron of dragoons was moving across the field and crowded toward the fence, compelling him to choose between landing among the horses or in the barrier.

Today's contests altered the classification for the prix de Champagne, the figures now standing: Latham, 154 1/2 kilometers; Berry, 151; de Saint-Fel, 146; Latham, 70; Curtiss, 30; Lefevre, 21. Latham's two records were made with different machines.

Balloon Record Not Broken

ROME, Aug. 26.—The Italian aeronautical society has decided that Lieutenant Mina, who made an ascension in the balloon Albatross August 10, did not beat the world's record for altitude. It seems that the Albatross attained a height of only 20,840 feet, instead of 25,714 feet, as first announced. The record consequently is still held by the German balloon Preussen, which ascended 26,875 feet.

Will Fly at Fair

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.—Lynn Gilmore, the Colfax aviator, came to terms today with the committee having charge of the fair, and has agreed to make flights with his new model aeroplane every day of the coming fair. The flights will be made from an specially constructed platform at the racetrack.

WALF ASKS CHARITY AND TAKES JEWELS

Nurse Takes Wayfarer Home, but Gets No Thanks

Harry Melvin, walf, was taken in by the Associated Charities, given clean clothes, hustled over to the tuberculosis clinic, tested and found well, given a new hat and underwear and taken into the home of Miss Edna Shuey, visiting nurse at the clinic. He was also given a job, and Tuesday night this same Harry Melvin gathered together in the Shuey household a gold watch, gold chain and a diamond and opal ring, and vanished. Nor has he or the loot been seen since.

Miss Shuey and Miss Lucy B. Fisher, supervising nurse at the tuberculosis clinic, of the San Francisco Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 1734 Stockton street, would like to meet Melvin. They are making earnest inquiries for him—through police channels.

Young Melvin, who is unnaturally thin, tall, and evidently about 18 years of age, with a cadaverous face calculated to arouse pity, appeared at the Associated Charities headquarters Saturday dressed in a suit of clothes comparable only with the tramp attire of the vaudeville actor. Miss Shuey agreed to recommend him to the brother, who conducts a creamery in Berkeley. Melvin was to drive the wagon, and he did so with indifferent success for two days.

The fugitive stated that he had an uncle in Ogden and a relative employed in a bar at San Rafael.

FACTS EXPERT HAS REPORT ON AMES' CASE

Daniel T. Ames, Noted Through-out Country for Penmanship Knowledge, Passes Away

Testified in Dreyfus Case and Many of Most Famous Trials in United States

[Special Dispatch to The Call] MOUNTAIN VIEW, Aug. 26.—Daniel T. Ames, handwriting expert, who has testified in some of the greatest trials in modern times, died here this morning at the age of 71. A keen analyst, backed by a lifetime of experience, he was called to work in cases that ranged from San Francisco to Paris.

Ames was the first to peg and prove fraud in the famous Garfield-Morey letter. He was also called before congress in the investigation of the Findley letters. In the Fair will testify in the Corliss Botkin murder trial, the Dreyfus case in Paris, the Davis will fight in Montana, involving a $12,000 estate and the Mollinoux murder case in New York he gave the deciding evidence.

Ames was a native of Vermont, where he received an academic education. In 1861 he established a business college in Syracuse, N. Y., later absorbed by the Bryant & Stratton people. But his life's work was in the profession of handwriting expert, which he reduced to an exact science. His strict integrity was one of his most valuable assets. In one case in Vermont his testimony turned a case against a witness, who claimed to have seen the forged document signed, the jury remaining out for only 15 minutes.

Ames had been in poor health for some time. He leaves a widow; a son, George Ames, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Oliver of Mountain View. At the time of his death he was busy preparing evidence in the appeal of John Walter Wilson, found guilty of poisoning Harry Boas in San Francisco.

L. E. Lamprecht, who has been assistant chief clerk at the department headquarters for the last four years, will leave next week for Vancouver barracks, Wash., where he will be chief clerk of the department of the Columbia, now under command of General M. P. Maus.

WOULD APPOINT THE POLICE JUDGES

The appointment of the police judges by the mayor, instead of the present method of election, was advocated in the communication called for the necessary charter amendment sent to the board of supervisors yesterday by Secretary William Moore on behalf of the grand jury. That body, having gone through an investigation of police court methods, sets forth in the letter the evils resulting from obliging the police judges to campaign for election and proposes that the office should be elective, but to secure greater independence upon the part of the judges.

Justin Carroul informed the supervisors that the street cleaning department of the city of works let the street in front of his property, the Richelieu, at the southwest corner of Guerrero and Twenty-second streets, become so dirty that he would undertake its cleaning if the city would only furnish a metal receptacle for the refuse.

The labor council sent a communication endorsing the Outdoor Art League's proposal that the Telegraph Hill, Bay View and Glen park improvement projects should be put before the people when the Geary street railway and civic center propositions are again put forward.

POLICE INVESTIGATE MYSTERIOUS FIRES

At the request of Fire Marshal Towse Detectives Gallagher and Burke are investigating the cause of two fires at a house, 2244 San Bruno road, that occurred Wednesday afternoon. The house is occupied by Louis Juvan and J. Meyer and is insured for $400 and the contents $500.

The first fire started shortly before 1 o'clock, when one of the women in the house knocked over a pot filled with boiling grease from the stove. The fire was put out before any damage was done. It started again at 1 o'clock and the fire was turned in for the second time and before it was extinguished about $400 damage was done.

The firemen told Policeman G. C. Coats that the fire had evidently started in the attic and a neighbor told him that he had seen one of the women carrying a quantity of things out of the house before the fire alarm was rung.

IRON KING FATALLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

William H. Singer, Who Recently Gave Children $4,000,000 Each, Auto Crash Victim

[Special Dispatch to The Call] PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—William H. Singer, one of the most famous of all Pittsburgh's iron kings, and head of the Singer-Nimick company until its absorption by the trust and now a director in the Carnegie steel company and the Crucible steel company, was fatally injured last night in an automobile accident at his summer home near Providence, R. I.

One year ago the wealth of Singer was estimated at $30,000,000. He was approaching the age of three score and five when it appears to have had a premonition that he might meet with a fatal accident or death in some form suddenly.

He decided to provide against this contingency by disposing of the major part of his wealth to his children, four in number. Accordingly he sent out invitations for the strangest family dinner party ever given in Pittsburgh. Each of his children was brought from Norway to take part in the dinner. The one favor found by the plate of each of the four children was a paper giving absolute transfer of $4,000,000.

ACCIDENT BRINGS A RIGID INQUIRY

Coroner Investigates Death of Two Laborers Beneath Wall

With the coroner's office the board of public works and the police working together a close watch is being kept on the lot at 224 Eddy street, where two men were killed yesterday by a falling wall, to prevent the covering up of any negligence of which the contractors, Caldwell & Co., may have been guilty. Chief Deputy Coroner John A. Kennedy, on telegraphic instructions from Governor T. B. W. Leland, is making a rigid inquiry. He is acting on the theory that the men were standing in a trench 18 inches wide and were caught like rats in a trap without a chance to escape on account of the pile of broken bricks on the cement floor, around which they would have been compelled to run.

Kennedy believes the trench so weakened the foundation of the wall that it gave way under the pressure of bricks piled high on the adjoining bankment.

"The contractors have been ordered to restore conditions as they existed at the time of the accident," said Kennedy yesterday. "Then the coroner's jury which inquired the bodies will be taken to the scene."

The accident has brought about a widespread co-operation between owners and the board of public works and many other firms who were to have been left standing will now probably be torn down, among them the ruins of the old Poodle Dog in Eddy street at Mason.

MISSION VIADUCT COMPACT REVIVED

The Mission viaduct proposition was considered yesterday by the supervisors' street committee and General Manager Black of the United Railroads and Chief Engineer Rodgers of the Ocean Shore assured the members that their companies now stood ready to enter the agreement whereby the former would supply $30,000 worth of labor and $20,000 cash and the latter $50,000 in labor toward the project if the city would furnish the additional $110,000 needed. The committee stated there were $85,000 in the treasury available for the purpose and more definite plans for the work will be passed upon at next week's meeting.

The matter of regrading Beale street, recommended by the Merchants' association, will also be gone into then, and the board of works will be asked to report what may be done to improve the streets in the vicinity of the Mail dock.

SUITS FOR INSURANCE TO BE TRIED TOGETHER

The trial of five suits for insurance against the Alliance assurance company began yesterday before District Judge William C. Van Fleet in the United States circuit court. The plaintiffs in the action are: S. and H. Lachman, $45,000 on the Lachman block at Market and Fremont streets; Carlson Currier company, $48,727 on property in Sutter street; between Sansome and Montgomery streets; Edwards Linotype printing company, $5,000, Leidesdorff and Pine streets; Dunham, Carrigan & Hayden, $25,215 on property at 17, 19, 21 and 23, inclusive, in Beale street. The cases were bunched and will be tried together to save time.

BROKE HIS NECK—Trucks, Cal., Aug. 26.

The Whitney house, a landmark of Truckee, was destroyed by fire starting from a defective gas lamp last night. The loss will not exceed $100,000. William Atkins, a veteran employe of the Scotty Pacific, who was trying to save some personal effects, fell down stairs and broke his neck, dying instantly.

SODA ENDORSED AS FOOD PRESERVATIVE

Pure-Food Convention Approves Report of Famous Remsen Referee Board

Benzoate in Moderate Quantities Declared Harmless After Experiments

DENVER, Aug. 26.—President Roosevelt's famous Remsen "referee board of consulting scientific experts," appointed to settle disputed points in the federal pure food law, was endorsed by the convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments today. After a fight in which the term "medicated garbage" was used, the association approved of the use of benzoate of soda as a food preservative. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 57 to 42.

Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson was an attentive spectator, but was not a delegate. Near him sat Dr. Ira Remsen of Baltimore, Md., Dr. Russell H. Chittenden of New Haven, Conn., Dr. John H. Long of Evanston, Ill., and Dr. Christian H. Horner of New York city, all members of the referee board. Each member of the board present read a paper upholding their previous report to the government, that benzoate when used in food in moderate quantities is harmless.

Opposition to PRESERVATIVE. Voting the sentiment of other opposing states, Dr. J. S. Crumline of Topeka, Kan., said the time had not come when the people should accept as final the argument that benzoate of soda was a harmless preservative. He believed the resolution should be made more conservative and thus allow further study of the subject.

A committee which had been appointed to "investigate" the Remsen board previously had reported adversely to the board's findings, declaring that benzoate promoted "the practice of concealing insanitary methods" and calling upon President Taft to institute another investigation on "broader lines."

SPICES AND SODA COMPARED

As showing that benzoate does not cover up inferiority, Dr. Long said he had made catsup out of rotten tomatoes, apples, peaches and bananas. In one portion was put vinegar and spices and in another benzoate. The benzoate which tasted good was that in which vinegar and spices had been mixed.

Speaking of the results of experiments made by administering quantities of benzoate of soda into the food of six healthy young men for periods respectively, Doctor Chittenden said that three-tenths of a grain was administered daily to each subject during the two-week period. In the second experiment each man received per day during the first week six-tenths grain; second week, one gram; third week, two grams; fourth week, four grams.

Accompanied by a gain of body weight and without loss of the power to digest and absorb the protein and fat of the daily food, and to take an evening dose of sodium benzoate in the doses administered is not seriously detrimental to health," said Doctor Chittenden.

REFREE BOARD OPPOSED

Dr. Charles A. L. Reed of Cincinnati, O., said that the referee board in urging the government to allow the use of benzoate of soda as a food preservative had ignored the public welfare. "That recommendation to the department of agriculture benefited only two classes of people," said Doctor Reed. "The manufacturers of benzoate and the manufacturers of food of such character that could not be sold without being preserved by the addition of a chemical. The public received no benefit, but instead had its own government poisoning food for its consumption which had to be medicated and which otherwise would be fit only for the sewer."

APPEALS TO GOVERNMENT

The following resolution was adopted: "That more drastic laws relative to the labeling of oleomargarine be passed by congress. That congress be asked to reduce the tax on colored oleomargarine. That every effort be urged to work in harmony in regard to the national pure food laws. That the government institute further investigation into pure foods. That the association eliminate from its program the sale of oleomargarine. That President Taft, former President Roosevelt, the secretary of agriculture, of commerce and labor and of the treasury, be commended for their efforts to perfect the federal pure food law."

Nathan Straus of New York city sent a communication, asking the commissioners to fight the sale of tuberculosis milk.

The association will adjourn tomorrow after the election of officers. George L. Flanders of Albany, N. Y., is considered as the next probable president.

PARENTS ARE KILLED CHILD IS THE ONLY HEIR

Three Year Old Girl Inherits an Estate of $80,000

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SAN JOSE, Aug. 26.—Through the death of both parents in an auto accident last week, 3 year old Nettie Delmas LeFranc, who lies at the O'Connor sanitarium with a fractured skull and broken hip bone, is the sole heir to property valued approximately at $80,000.

In a will dated August 9, 1904, Henry LeFranc left all his property, which included San Francisco real estate valued at $30,000, negotiable paper valued at $5,000, and San Jose real estate worth $45,000, to his wife and named her as executrix. In case of her death before the testator's death, it was directed that the property should go first to the mother, the brother and sisters of his wife, and that his "friend and legal adviser, D. M. Burnett," should act as executor.

In a codicil dated August 23, 1908, after the birth of the only child, LeFranc confirmed the will and reposing implicit faith in his wife to properly care for their child, made no special provision for her.

Celine H. Delmas, a sister of Mrs. Nettie Delmas LeFranc, has petitioned for letters of administration of the latter's estate, which consists of an interest in the estate left by her husband. This means that the entire estate of both parents will fall to the little girl.

Taft to Be Guest of City and Mrs. Martin

Mayor Taylor Favors Holding Official Luncheon for President in Ferry Depot

Mrs. Eleanor Martin the Only Hostess to Entertain Taft on His Visit Here

If Mayor Taylor has his way about the official luncheon given President Taft upon his arrival here will be served in the ferry depot, probably in the parlor set aside on the new floor as a woman's waiting room. The Union League club wants to play host to the official head of the republican party. Mayor Taylor thinks that San Francisco should play host to the president of the United States and that the feast should be spread in some public building.

Knowing that the claims of the republican club would be likely to carry the day unless he had some definite plan to offer as a substitute, the mayor appealed to the harbor commissioners to help him out. President Stafford, as a stalwart republican, and Commissioners Teller and Dennison as members of the Union League club naturally would wish the honor of entertaining the distinguished visitor to fall to the republican club. As members of a state commission, however, they were equally desirous of pleasing the mayor, and yesterday they nobly laid aside their allegiance to their party and club and tendered to the mayor the use of any and all parts of the ferry depot on the occasion of Taft's visit for any purpose he saw fit to use.

President Stafford made only one stipulation. "When the Atlantic fleet was here," he said, "some of our friends used the roof of the depot as a grandstand. As a result we had to replace a great many slates. I do not think it would be wise to make any arrangements that would require that roof to support Mr. Taft. Otherwise, the building is his." In addition to tendering the use of the depot to the mayor the commissioners directed Electrician Whorf to illuminate the depot and tower during the president's visit.

Lieutenant Mayor Taylor said that he had referred the whole question to his official reception committee, which will meet this afternoon. The committee is expected to decide immediately one way or the other.

JUDGE DEVLIN URGED FOR REPRESENTATIVE

May Be Candidate for Congress in New District

[Special Dispatch to The Call] VALLEJO, Aug. 26.—With the tip from republican headquarters that Solano county will be cut off from the third congressional district by the working of the census of next year, local players of the political game are already talking about prospective candidates for the congressional nomination.

Frank Gordon, an expressman, imbibed too much liquor Wednesday night and stretched himself out in a watering trough at Ninth and Brannan streets to have a sleep. His loud snoring attracted the attention of a policeman, who tried to drag him out of the trough, but failed.

He whistled for assistance and three other bluecoats responded. It took their combined strength to pull Gordon out, as he had been firmly wedged in. Yesterday Gordon appeared before Police Judge Conlan on a charge of being drunk in a public place, but as he had not sobered up the case was continued until this morning. Gordon said he had no recollection of getting in the watering trough and was surprised to hear it.
