DEVELOPING A SOCIETY MATRON Telephone Company's President Makes Affidavit in Behalf of Mrs. Kierulff

OAKLAND, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Alice Kierulff, daughter of Attorney W. H. Jordan and member of exclusive social sets at Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, has announced the arrival of affidavits from New York city which will materially aid her in the stubbornly contested suit for divorce in which she is engaged with Charles A. Kierulff. The affidavits were made by Albert Koch Andriano, president of the Direct Line telephone company, and by his wife, Lulu K. Andriano, and Mrs. Kierulff said they bore strongly upon points raised by her husband.

One of Kierulff's charges was that she had had an affair with Andriano, "I dare you to kiss me," and Andriano said that he had no memory of the incident and could not state whether it did or did not occur. He denied that he answered "I will kiss the dare," and he followed with denials that he had ever kissed Mrs. Kierulff at any time, that he had never had his arms about her or that he had ever been in her room except when Mrs. Andriano was present. He did say, and in this he was joined by his wife, that while living at the same apartments at San Francisco he had often observed Kierulff, but that he had never seen her alone upstairs and spending his time with others. Mrs. Andriano also had no recollection of the dare being offered by Kierulff, and she said she had never seen Mrs. Kierulff act indiscreetly.

Key Route Official Asks Divorce, Alleging Spouse Tortured Children

OAKLAND, Sept. 14.—Abuse and torture of their children were charges against Mrs. Henrietta A. Rasmussen made by William A. Rasmussen, superintendent of the ferry traffic of the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose railway at the Key Route mole, in an action for divorce which he filed today. Her conduct toward the three children was said to have been the climax of her alleged intemperate habits. On one occasion Rasmussen said that she had herself so as to endanger the recovery of their daughter, who was ill with typhoid fever. Mrs. Rasmussen was under the influence of liquor then, he said, and later she threw her three children on the street, screaming and called her daughter names in public, according to the charges. She has also neglected the care of the children and the household. Mrs. Rasmussen was married at San Francisco in 1894 and own real property in San Joaquin county and in the Santa Fe tract. He asks for the custody of the children. William A. Rasmussen, mining expert and former cashier at the Forum cafe, was accused of neglecting to supply Maude C. Kane with the necessities of life after they had been married for 11 years. In June, 1908, he sent her $50, though she had not lived together for more than a year. At that time they quarreled about paying the rent and he packed his effects and left her. She testified that she had many suits and that some of her minor differences arose when she chided him about them. Judge Ellsworth granted her an interlocutory decree of divorce today. John Norden, released Graszwitz from custody before Judge Harris today which was an annulment of marriage for his wife, Ellen. Judge Ellsworth dissolved their marriage today by giving him an interlocutory decree of divorce. Mrs. Thierston claimed to have been constantly menaced with knives and revolvers by her husband, Harry Lincoln Sanderson, and once, she said, he tried to kick her, but missed. Sanderson was known to have been out and to have been open in his preference for other women. Mrs. Sanderson was granted an interlocutory decree today. Wilfred E. Gray asked for divorce from Roy E. Gray, saying that he tore off her dress while angry and made her ill by calling her names and abusing her. Jane Melinda Berry filed suit for divorce from George E. Berry, alleging that he had treated her with brutal coarseness and had abused her until she was compelled to leave him. Habitual intemperance was the ground for the divorce. George E. Berry was arrested by Matilda J. Maddock against George P. Maddock, a brick laying contractor. She asked that he be restrained from encumbering their community property or disposing of securities or mining stock which he had in his name. Alice Rhodes sued for divorce from Robert W. SCHOOL BOARD AND PARENTS BUT NOT MEN'S CLUB BERKELEY HAS RED CROSS SOCIETY

BERKELEY, Sept. 14.—A closed door and a janitor who treated them with a curt businesslike denial of their demands for entrance into the schoolhouse were what the mothers of the Ocean View Mothers' club met with when they repaired to the schoolhouse yesterday to hold their weekly meetings. Neither threats nor tears moved the stern janitor, and the women were compelled to hold their meeting on the schoolhouse steps while the janitor watched them with furtive eyes. The women are angry at being locked out of the place where they organized and used as a meeting place, and declared vengeance on the board of education. This is the second chapter in the controversy between the club and the school board, and the end is not yet in sight. The battle began when the board, composed of Mayor Frank J. Roberts, Marshal Chris Miller and Trustee and Assistant Treasurer A. P. Hanscom refused the woman principal of the school the use of a room on the board to reduce better discipline the members of the board asserted. The mothers objected and backed up their objections by withdrawing their children from the school. The board remained quiet until the mothers decided that the flank movement of the Mothers' club had nettled them when they gave orders to the janitor of the school to lock the women out. Mrs. A. Agatha Schubert is president of the club and Mrs. H. Free is secretary. The membership of the club is large and they declare they will carry the warfare to a finish.

Harrier, representing Mrs. Nancy Huston of San Jose, the widow of John Huston, asked Judge Buckley to declare Mrs. Huston incompetent and have Harrier made her guardian. Mrs. Annie Murray, daughter of Huston, fought the petition, and so Harrier withdrew his request and announced his intention of suing Rev. T. F. Burnham, special administrator of the estate, to secure $10,000 in stocks and bonds held by Burnham which were issued in the name of the dead man and his wife. WOMAN NAMED FOR THE LIBRARY BOARD

Berkeley Clubwomen Win Point by Council's Selection of Miss Blanche Morse

BERKELEY, Sept. 14.—The clubwomen who have agitated the appointment of a woman member of the library and health boards of this city gained a point before the city council this morning when Miss Blanche Morse was appointed to the library commission in place of Addison W. Naylor, who resigned on account of his appointment to the directorate of the People's water company, a public service corporation operating in this city. The women are greatly pleased at the action of the council, although the library commission has not as yet been made a part of the new city government, the members under the old charter still holding office. It is likely that Miss Morse will be reappointed when provision is made for a library board under the new order of things. A health board of three licensed physicians and the city attorney and the sanitary inspector as members ex officio was created by the council this morning. The health officer, who is not a part of the board, but whose office is prescribed by the city charter, will be the secretary of the board. A duty of the board, according to the state law, will be the granting of licenses to plumbers after due examination by the city engineer. The sanitary inspector will be competent to pass on the qualifications of applicants for permits. By unanimous vote of the council the police force, reduced on account of a financial stringency of the city affairs 18 months ago, was raised to the normal complement of 27 men, which will permit the operation of the eight hour day for the patrolmen, with the written consent of their parents, can not receive tobacco. Among the minor matters considered by the council this morning was the introduction and passage of an ordinance fixing the duties of the fire chief and his postholders for one week of the master of the opening of Regent street.
