Practical Uses for Ham Fat.—When seasoning milled potatoes use ham fat instead of cream and butter. If the ham has been smoked it gives the potatoes a delicious flavor.

Just before the cooked cabbage is served stir in two tablespoons of ham fat. When the meat is taken from the pan pour in a teaspoon of boiling water, let boil up with the fat and serve in a hot dish.

Another appetizing dish for breakfast with ham fat as a foundation is this: Dip thin slices of bread in a batter of beaten egg and milk and serve with ham fat. Take out, cool and serve with beef hash.

CHANGES HIS VIEWS REGARDING JAPANESE
Former Governor Carter of Hawaii Denounces Asiatic

HONOLULU, Friday, Jan. 14.—Former Governor George R. Carter, whose interview as published about two years ago to the effect that he would be perfectly willing to have his daughter marry a Japanese, and who has expressed much admiration for them at other times, has written an article for a special edition of the Hawaii Shinbun, in which he expresses very different views.

Carter says that at the time of the California difficulty over schools he argued with President Roosevelt against stopping immigration to Hawaii, telling him that the Japanese were peaceable, law abiding and desirable residents.

"Since then much has happened," continues the former governor. "Recounting the events of the recent strike he says: 'A large proportion of the Japanese in Hawaii have ignored our laws, our customs; have polluted and confined their own people in our land of freedom; have attempted a reign of terror; some have sanctioned violence and brutal force; many have been swayed by certain leaders beyond all reason; lost self-control, lost respect, lost esteem. Roosevelt was right. Hawaii is no longer an exception to his statement.'

"We want no more of the modern Japanese. Hawaii's future development should be with other material."

C. C. Gill of the Winton agency is now in Sacramento with one of the 1910 cars. He has come to the capital city to establish an agency.
