Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hirleman, Who Were United Feb. 14, 1860

Invited Friends to Attend Celebration With Family

Children and Grandchildren as Well Will Pay Honor to Aged Couple

Fifty years of married life will be celebrated next Monday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hirleman, whose wedding took place here February 14, 1860, and whose home has been in this city ever since.

Surrounded by their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Hirleman will receive their friends from 2 to 5 o'clock at their home, 322 Broderick street, and a throng of guests will call to rejoice with them.

Hirleman came to this city from New York in 1858, having arrived in America a short time before from France, and has been well known in business circles.

Mrs. Hirleman was formerly Miss Matilda Murr, her father, Charles Murr, having been a prominent pioneer of the state, and it was at his home in Kearny street, between Pine and Bush, that her wedding was celebrated.

Mr. and Mrs. Hirleman have four children, Mrs. D. E. Beseker, Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. M. L. Miller, and Mrs. M. L. Miller, and a son, Philip Hirleman III, whose wife will be of the receiving party also.

There are four grandchildren, of whom two, Mrs. Freeman Curtis and Miss Rosemary, will attend their grandparents at the reception.

Wireless from the Alameda

The Oceanic steamship company's liner Alameda, Captain Dowdell, will dock at Filbert street early this morning.

No Arrivals for Twelve Hours

The Golden Gate might just as well have been closed from shortly after 6 o'clock Monday evening until 6:15 yesterday morning.

Flint's Refusal Puzzles Machine

Refusal to Run Again When "Fees" Are Offered Startles Organization

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH

Sonor Frank Flint's refusal to make the race for re-election in spite of a guaranty of "fees" more than sufficient to meet the expenses of an extravagant senatorial primary campaign involves a problem too difficult for the practical men of the organization.

W. F. Herrin is in southern California, endeavoring to unravel the tangled skein. Meanwhile the politicians lined up with the organization are of the opinion that Frank Flint's formal announcement of his retirement from the senate is the best thing that could happen.

The possible if not probable complication of the political situation by the withdrawal is the smallest cause for the present concern. It is Flint's refusal to avail himself of the softest campaign fund ever offered a California candidate that has stumped them temporarily.

It was generally conceded by the members of the senate that Flint's informal declaration of an intention to quit was merely a bid for the ante. They thought that the junior senator did not relish taking the safety pin and so it was done.

There was passed to the citrus fruit men that the state could not afford to lose the services of their "best friend" in the senate. It was up to the friends of the administration generally, and the citrus fruit interests particularly, to see that Flint had a campaign fund. It was also understood that the citrus fruit people would come through with a pot with which to make a front and emphasize the "demand" upon the senator's patriotism, ample funds would be forthcoming from other interests.

Banker Hays Is Released on Bail

Accused Financier Says Clarence Grange Was Cause for Bank's Failure

William C. Hays, banker, was released from the city prison shortly after 7 o'clock last night, after his attorney, Joe H. Jordan, secured bail to the amount of $4,500, furnished by the American bonding company of Baltimore.

Hays took his release with indifference. He had been told early in the afternoon that he would be out of the jail before 7 o'clock and during the last hour of his imprisonment he remained in the corridor of the jail talking to friends. He said:

"I will not do any talking until after the police court hearings are over. After the preliminary hearings I will talk, and I will do some talking that will make a sensation. I have papers in my possession that will prove conclusively that Clarence Grange was responsible for the failure of the Union state bank officials to carry through the National Bank of the Pacific deal, and I will be able to show that we were held up on the loan made by us to Grange."

Hays and his attorney ate their supper in a downtown cafe, after which they went into consultation for several hours. The hearing of the charges against Hays will come up tomorrow morning in the police court. Jordan was successful yesterday in securing a reduction of the bail in both cases. The bail in the Tiedemann case was reduced to $3,000 and in the bank case to $1,500. Both bonds were approved by Police Judge Shortall.

WOMAN APPOINTED TO STATE CHARITIES BOARD

Governor Heeds Request of California Club

The state board of charities and corrections will have Mrs. Clara Foltz as a member hereafter, Governor Gillett having appointed her to fill the vacancy left by E. C. Moore. This was done in response to a request from the California club of this city that the governor recognize the necessity of a woman member in behalf of the interests of the women and children of the state.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was in charge of Mrs. A. W. Scott, and consisted of an address on "Woman's Task in the Twentieth Century," which advocated the appointment of a woman member as well as the right of the ballot.

Miss Cordelia Grylls of England sang most charmingly some old English ballads.
