

"CHEER UP GIRL" AMUSES PLAYGOERS

Pleasing Entertainer Is Actress in White, Who Is One of the Attractions at Orpheum

Clara Belle Jerome and Eight Toodles Likewise Contribute to Success of Show

By WALTER ANTHONY

I failed to find an uninteresting number on the Orpheum program this week, and I sat out the show, all but the last moving pictures. Not that a reviewer looks for uninteresting things, but because he's bound to chronicle them if he sees them. Some of the acts were better than others. Anybody would know that without going to see the show, but none of the offerings was poor. Some were excellent. The average was high.

There was Miss Winona Winter, who is billed as the "cheer up girl," for instance. With patriotic fervor he it recorded that she does not slip on the same stage that Alice Lloyd, "from the music halls," tried to do.

Miss Winter does not work very hard; she does not sing so very melodiously, but she does entertain. Her act is dressed in white and is pretty good. Her face is persuasive of approval. Her impersonations will not be recorded in history with other great achievements, but her demure and decorous stunts of yesterday's vaudeville stage will be remembered pleasantly by all who saw them.

She is a lyric entertainer, educated to the requirements of a vaudeville gallery and the amusement necessities of the downtown crowd.

HEELS AS VENTRILOQUIST

Her ventriloquism, which closes her act, is the best thing she does, and it is minus the cigar which most ventriloquists chew to hide the motions of the mouth when speaking for the manikin.

After that she made a little speech before the audience would let her go. It was a triumph of the unsensational. Clara Belle Jerome dances forth with eight "Toodles" and William Seymour. The latter's business seems to be to occupy the stage, while his fairer companions get into other costumes. The act is a pretty spectacle, well dressed and presented, and one of the "Toodles" is the one who sings "I mean—fills the eye and would be a star some day, I should prophesy, if the word did not suggest diminutive. The act is called "Joyland," which is as good as any other little title could be for the melange. Like the thing it represents, it discourages criticism.

A CHEERFUL BIT OF IDIOCY

"The Boy Next Door" was here a couple of years ago. You will remember it when you see it, but will also note, I imagine, the improvement in the act. It is a name so pretentious, is nothing but "foolishness," in which the boy next door is mistaken for the son of a millionaire and so is entertained by three young women in a manner beyond his humble station. It ends in a cheerful bit of idiocy that robs you of the power of discernment. Hilarity is the motive of "The Boy Next Door."

For a closing number the Orpheum has Earle Reynolds and Nellie Donegan in a skating act. They dance to the melodies of popular measures, and the "top" spin of Miss Donegan is fine acrobatic gracefulness.

ENTERTAINING HOLDOVER ACTS

Of the holdover acts, the Reed brothers in feats of skill and strength, touched up with comedy, are good; Walter C. Kelly, "the Virginia Judge," nearly drove some persons into hysterics, and Fred Lindsay, with his long thoughted whip, did stunts not seen outside of Australia before.

"Supperition," presented by Charles W. Bowser, Edith Adams and company, remains a baffling comedy, the exact purpose of which remains as uncertain as last week. The most notable speeches are cheered lustily by the gallery—they are by the grafter, who describes himself as a "millionaire" who went to night school. However, the little comedy is well staged and well acted, though its ethics are dimly discerned.

CALIFORNIA BOOSTER BACK FROM NEW YORK

Commissioner Welsh Winds Up Affairs of Office

Harry Welsh, late commissioner in New York for the California Promotion committee, arrived in San Francisco yesterday, having recently closed the bureau when the Promotion committee became consolidated with the California development bureau.

"All the data," he said, "except a little which was needed in San Francisco, collected by the New York bureau, was turned over to the Astor bureau. California was the first of the western states to have an official representation in New York. During December last January we had a splendid exhibit in the Longacre building, which proved eminently successful.

"The Portola banquet at the Waldorf-Astoria was another important event for Californians in New York."

PEACE ASSOCIATION WILL HOLD BANQUET

Advocates of Industrial Harmony Plan Meeting

To bring together the representatives of capital and labor, the local branch of the National Industrial Peace association has planned a banquet, to be held in the St. Francis hotel tomorrow evening. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

A delegation representing the Stockton branch of the peace association will be in attendance and speak on the development of the order in Stockton. Among those comprising the delegation will be John T. Lewis, former Mayor George F. Hudson and former Mayor M. J. Gardner.

Rabbi Jacob Nieto will preside and a committee will be in attendance to conduct nonmembers to the meeting room. The public has been invited to attend.

BELLEVUE HOTEL TO BE OPENED IN AUGUST

Will Be Under Management of W. E. Zander

The Bellevue hotel, Geary and Taylor streets, built by the Barron estate, will be opened August 1, under the management of W. E. Zander, who has been affiliated with the hotel business along the coast for a number of years past.

Zander for 10 years managed hotels for the Pacific improvement company, having charge, at different times, of the Del Monte and the Arcadia in Santa Monica and the Taverna at San Diego. He opened the Hotel Rafael at San Rafael.

The Bellevue, when completed, will contain 300 rooms, and will be operated as a family and tourist hotel.

REPORT RESULT OF ALAMEDA MEETINGS

Stockton Clubwomen Discuss Work Accomplished at Convention of Federation

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

STOCKTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. H. T. Holmes entertained the Alameda club last Monday. Mrs. Finkbohner and Mrs. Trask gave reports of the meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Alameda. Mrs. Armsburger gave a fine description of Mount Vernon and the city of Washington. Other papers were read as follows: "The Smithsonian Institution," Mrs. Sarah Bauman; "The Life of James Russell Lowell," Mrs. A. C. Gerlach; "The Life of Andrew Johnson," Mrs. Adele Stowe. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Albert White and will be devoted to the life and works of Longfellow will be discussed.

The Philomathean club had a "miscellaneous" day Friday. Reports of the Alameda district convention were given by Mrs. A. H. Cook, Mrs. P. B. Fraser and Mrs. F. R. Clarke. Miss Merren Gillis, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Atwood, rendered three vocal solos.

The young men of the senior class of the high school gave a dancing party last Monday night at Jory's hall in honor of their young women classmates. The hall was decorated with the class colors, silver and crimson, and the young people had a happy time.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Ansel Williams, Mrs. J. W. Cooper, Mrs. Theobald, Miss Ohm, Miss McCracken, Miss Howell and Miss Lucia Keniston.

Anita Winder, Nadine Burnett, Margaret Smith, Roy Tedrow, Laura Tatterson, Celeste Young, Flossie Simeon, Helen Atherton, Hazel Gifford, Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Howard, Georgia Strommeler, Genevieve Trask, Mrs. Smith, Alma Locke, Dorothy Smith, Edna Ginnell, Adele Elvira, Marjorie Littlehale, Gladys Doolittle, Josie Campodonico, Bessie Carson, Howard Condy, Karl Kuhl, Jasper Tully, Orrin Gravem, Clair Wilbur.

Master Earl Latta entertained about 20 of his friends last Tuesday at his parents' home. The young people gave a Washington party and the rooms were decorated with American flags, bunting and streamers of smilax. Patriotic games and guessing contests were played, and the prizes were won by Misses Dorothy Powell and Anita Hill.

A theater party was given Saturday afternoon by the H2G3 girls. After the performance a progressive dinner was served at the homes of Misses Nadine Burnett, Inea Dodd, Dorothy Smith and Edna Ginnell.

A surprise party was given Misses Mary and Margaret Smith Friday evening at their home. Cards, games and music made the evening enjoyable. The guests were:

Flossie Simon, Helen Atherton, Genevieve Trask, Bessie Carson, Edna Ginnell, Gladys Doolittle, Porter Wallace Harrison, Georgia Strommeler, Mrs. Howard, Evelyn Horgan, Orrin Gravem.

An informal tea was given last Tuesday by Mrs. C. L. Six in honor of the El Toyon chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. It being Washington's birthday, the rooms were decorated with patriotic colors, and the table in the dining room was adorned with cherries and cherry tree branches. Mrs. Six was assisted by Mrs. G. C. Stewart, Miss Clara and Miss Cory.

Mrs. R. Sterling entertained the members of the North Side bridge club at her home last week. The fortunate player was Mrs. J. P. Hull.

Miss Lucy Ray was hostess at a 500 party Friday evening. Misses Marie Graven, Mirabel Stewart and Myrtle Lynch won the prizes.

A dancing party was given Saturday evening by Miss Doris Lund at the small bungalow in North California street.

EMPLOYEES OF REPAIR SHOPS ARE DISCHARGED

Tools and Material Disappear and Dismissals Follow

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 27.—Foremen W. M. Becker and J. W. White were dismissed from the car repair department of the local Southern Pacific shops and there are rumors that other dismissals may result from the discovery that wood, tools and other materials have disappeared from the local shops.

No charges have been filed against Becker and White. The two men are simply charged with failure to stop the thefts.

The theft of railroad materials has been going on for a number of years, according to report, and in that time the railroad has lost material valued at several thousands of dollars.

MURDERED MAN IS THROWN IN RIVER

Body Anchored by Heavy Rocks Is Found in Stream by Boys

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

FRESNO, Feb. 27.—With his feet fastened together by a rope, his neck broken and his head split open in several places the result of blows from a hatchet or ax, the body of an unknown man was found anchored to a sack full of rocks in the San Joaquin river near Herndon late yesterday afternoon.

From all appearances the body had been in the water about two weeks. Dean Dougherty and Merlin Brown, two Fresno boys, discovered the body while playing on the bank of the river. The body was upright when found, the man's feet are embedded in the slime in the bottom of the river and his body swaying to and fro with the current.

As the body was found just over the county line in Madera county, the coroner of that county was called. It took the strength of four men to lift the body from the water and this was done only after the bottom of the sack gave out, allowing the rocks to remain in the mud.

Deputy Coroner Jay found that the man had received two gashes in the back of his head, the force of the blows having penetrated the skull. On the right hand side of the face another gash was discovered.

The man was badly bruised about the mouth and his nose and neck were broken.

David Adams, a blacksmith of Madera, has identified the body as that of a man who came into his shop about two weeks ago. He was with another man and when the two left they said they were going to Herndon to camp for a week. The dead man had some money on him at the time. The sheriff's office at Madera now has an excellent description of the dead man's partner and a search has been instituted for him. The men said they came from Stockton. The dead man was a blacksmith and an engineer and his partner was a millwright.

APPELLATE COURT RULES ON QUIET TITLE SUIT

New Trial Is Denied in Fresno Land Case

FRESNO, Feb. 27.—A decision of the third district appellate court of Sacramento was rendered here today reversing the judgment of the superior court of Fresno county for the defendant and denying a new trial in the quiet title suit of D. J. Canty versus W. S. Staley.

This and other similar cases involve tax title under sale for delinquent taxes to lands on the west side of the county in the Cantua district, covering 60,000 to 70,000 acres, good only for grazing, but having prospective value as agricultural or as oil bearing land.

It is the first decision affirming these tax deeds. The local courts have uniformly ruled against them for insufficient description of land and excessive costs charged up on sale. On both points the lower court was overruled.

One of the weddings of the week was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lee Tuesday, when their daughter, Cecil B. Worthington, became the bride of Lawrence E. du Four. Rev. J. M. Jones performed the ceremony. Miss Katherine Dowd of San Francisco was bridesmaid and the groom was attended by Howard Lee. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. du Four departed for San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The dinner given on Washington's birthday by a small party who always set aside this natal day yearly for some delightful occasion was given at the Hotel Sacramento. Hand painted blossom piece cards marked the covers for:

Miss Evelyn McKee, Miss Letta Rose, Miss Laura Cooper, Miss Inez Heath, Miss Edna McKee, Miss Mattie McComber, Miss Alice Baker, Mrs. E. M. Wilder, Mrs. George Lorenz, Mrs. Ammon Clay, Mrs. Lester J. Lindale, Mrs. John Q. Brown Jr., Mrs. Gerald B. Lull, Mrs. A. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas A. Lindley gave a dinner Saturday evening in honor of Governor and Mrs. J. N. Gillett, at which covers were laid for Governor and Mrs. Gillett, Judge and Mrs. S. C. Denson of San Francisco, Judge and Mrs. N. P. Chipman, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Curtis, Mrs. Pauline Dohrman, Ludwig Meibus and Mr. and Mrs. Lindley.

Among the occasions of the week was an informal afternoon given by Mrs. Russell Galloway Friday afternoon in honor of her house guest, Miss Ruby Haskell of Petaluma. Those present were:

Miss Elizabeth Finnie, Mrs. Gertrude Leeman, Mrs. Muriel Brown, Mrs. Wm. C. Wright, Mrs. Harry K. ... Mrs. Clifton Harbor, Mrs. W. H. Bewick, Mrs. Wm. Hopkins, Mrs. Howard Cameron, Mrs. Adair Deann Jr.

Mrs. Marshall Diggs and Mrs. William B. ... entertained their whist clubs this week.

Miss Valentine McClatchy is up from Berkeley to attend the wedding of her brother, H. J. McClatchy, and Miss Ethel Reid, which is to be solemnized Tuesday.

Miss Ethel Pippy of San Mateo is the house guest of Mrs. Homer McKee. Miss Florence Grau is home from a few days' visit in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Lindley are spending a few days in San Francisco. Miss Edna Wilke and Misses Lola and Della Williamson are the house guests of Mrs. L. Hevel of Woodland.

Miss Estelle Ryan is visiting in San Francisco. Miss Florence Pardee is up from Oakland, the house guest of Mrs. J. Clarence Cary.

Mrs. Charles Trainor has returned from a week's visit in San Francisco.

BURGLAR ESCAPES WITH JEWELRY AFTER CHASE

Evades Pursuer; Loot Is Valued at $3,000

The home of Isidore Breslauer, 2073 Bush street, was robbed early Saturday night of jewelry and silver ware valued at $3,000.

Breslauer, together with his wife and daughter, returned to his home shortly after 8 o'clock, and on hearing a noise began an inspection tour through the house, meeting the robber in the dining room.

Before Breslauer had an opportunity to secure his man the thief beat a retreat through the back door. Breslauer gave chase, but after following the robber for three blocks was compelled to abandon the pursuit.

AMATEURS FAIL AS SAFE CRACKSMEN

Pour Heavy Charge of Powder Into Strongbox, but Are Scared Off Job

Eastern Bonnets, Jewelry and Cash Among Loot of Varied Thieving Operations

Burglars, equipped with sufficient black powder to blow up a block of buildings, effected an entrance into the storeroom and office of the Auto Supply company, 501 Golden Gate avenue, with the aid of a rope and open skylight, Saturday night.

After entering the office the burglars, who are believed by the police department to have been amateurs, drilled a half inch hole in the side of the safe, and poured in almost two pounds of the powder through a paper funnel. Apparently they were frightened away before they had time to touch off the charge.

A large quantity of powder was scattered around the floor, and a sack, containing several pounds of explosives, was found in the building.

The work of the attempted burglars was discovered Sunday morning by a clerk of the supply company, who stated that there was a considerable amount of money in the safe.

STEAL EASTER FINERY

Possessed of a desire for Easter finery, burglars entered the millinery establishment of Mrs. Carrie Farless, 2073 Mission street, late Saturday night, stealing three hats that were the pride of the milliner and the embellishment of the show window. The loot consisted of a white Panama trimmed with roses, valued at $25; an elaborate Tam o' Shanter worth $18 and a creation of black velvet, trimmed with ostrich plumes, valued at $50.

A car occupied as a home by a number of laborers employed by the Ocean Shore railroad company, and located in the yards at Army and Kansas streets, was looted Saturday night of valuables to the amount of $250.

THIEF TAKES JEWELRY

Mrs. F. Campanon, residing in apartment K, Pilcher apartments, 1818 Polk street, left her rooms for a short time Saturday night, depositing her doorkey in the window sill. Upon her return she found the key as she had left it, but upon entering the apartment discovered that an uninvited guest had paid her a visit, entered by using the key and departed with jewelry to the value of $200.

Thomas F. Allen, a wealthy oil operator of Bakersfield, reported to the police that he was robbed of a diamond stud, valued at $300, while riding on an Ellis street car Saturday night.

The store of Sandor Blenor, 1230 Valencia street, was entered in daylight Saturday afternoon and $250 stolen from the cash register.

The home of Mrs. E. J. Hartman, 89 Uranus street, was entered Saturday evening through a rear window and silver ware and jewelry to the value of $500 stolen.

The home of James Callaghan, 334 Austin street, was robbed Saturday afternoon and a purse containing $17 stolen.
