

TAFT'S NEIGHBORS NONE OF STATE FIGHT Sterling Campbell as Manager of Anderson's Campaign Not Approved Interested Republicans Admit Eureka Man Will Take No Part in Contest

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH That the announcement of Taft's espousal of Alden Anderson's cause through Sterling Campbell, collector of the port at Eureka, was premature is the opinion of politicians generally.

Campbell has not arrived to take up the duties of campaign manager for the superintendent of banks. Unconfirmed rumor has it that the Eureka man has been informed by his Washington superiors that the Taft administration wishes him not to mix it up in a California factional fight.

Republicans deeply interested in Anderson's campaign admit that Campbell is not coming to San Francisco to manage Anderson's fight. Some of them say that he has been frightened off. Republicans in the other camps declare that he has been ordered to keep his hands off.

CAMPBELL SAYS "NO" Anderson himself insists that Campbell is coming, but is unable to fix the time for his arrival or the duration of his stay. From Eureka comes the report that Campbell has told his friends that he would not go to San Francisco to assume the management of Anderson's fight.

Campbell is one of Governor Gillett's closest friends and was one of the directors of the governor's fight for nomination and election. It was announced several weeks ago that Campbell would take charge of the campaign in the north, which would be directed from headquarters in the Postal Telegraph building.

It was also given out that the advent of Campbell would be notice to the republicans of California that Anderson was the gubernatorial choice of the Taft administration.

Campbell did not put in an appearance according to schedule. The date for his arrival was postponed for a week, and subsequently for another week.

Last week it was announced that the campaign manager would arrive Monday. Yesterday it was said that the definite date for the appearance of Campbell could be fixed.

WIRES MADE TO SIZZLE Immediately after the original announcement of Campbell as director of Anderson's campaign a lusty roar went up from the supporters of Johnson and Curry in the north and Stanton's friends in the south. Rumor has it that the wires leading to Washington fairly sizzled with vehement protests.

There is a power behind George F. Hatton's pro-Campbell declaration. His relations with the United States senators would prevent him from taking part in the gubernatorial primary campaign. To participate, said Hatton, would mean a complete severance of his friendship and managerial abilities to the charge of supporting one friend at the expense of others.

Republicans not interested in Anderson's success declare that George F. Hatton, senior senator from California, abhors the thought of being arrayed against any of his friends, and that, consequently, he can not permit a federal holding to dip in for one of the gubernatorial aspirants. Some of the party big men directly interested in Anderson's fight tacitly admit that Campbell will not be identified with the campaign and manager for Anderson.

They decline to go beyond the general explanation that his official duties would not permit him to assume the management of a campaign which must be directed from San Francisco.

"I have not talked with Campbell," said one of Anderson's friends yesterday, "but he can not be in two places at one time. He is the collector of port at Eureka. His duties are numerous, he has no assistant to whom he might transfer his work and responsibilities. That is all there is to it."

ANDERSON SAYS "YES" "There is nothing in it," declared Anderson last night when asked if Campbell had decided not to assume the management of his campaign. "Campbell is coming," continued Anderson. "I can not say when he will arrive. He has been delayed at Eureka. I am unable to state how long he will stay, but he is coming. No, I have not considered the advisability of a campaign manager in the event that Campbell does not come."

Some prominent party men in touch with the affairs of the organization are convinced that United States Senator Frank Flint will not be a candidate for re-election. They are also convinced that there is not the remotest chance of inducing Henry T. Gage to forego the pleasures of a parade through Europe as an American minister and receive a seat in the United States senate from contact with a California insurgent party wrecker, socialist, mugwump or any of the other labels hung on the anti-machine men by the regulars.

BOOTH MAY ENTER RACE The big hunt is for a southern California man to give battle to John D. Works, the Los Angeles jurist and local legislator endorsed for Flint's job by the Lincoln-Roosevelt league. W. H. Booth, former president of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce, and Joseph Scott, his successor, are prominently mentioned as probable candidates. Both have been approached and republicans are of the opinion that Booth will consent to make the fight.

GILLETT NOT IN RACE Governor Gillett is not a candidate for Flint's place and declares that he has not taken the decision of his probable candidacy in a serious light. Gillett is strongly of the opinion that Flint's successor should be a southern California man. A seat in the United States senate has stronger attractions for the governor, but he is not in haste. He declines to commit himself, but it may be assumed that he has considered seriously the talk about Gillett as the logical successor to George C. Perkins. That he will be a candidate for the senate in 1914 is something better than an even bet. Meanwhile he does not care to put himself in a false light by seeking an office which he believes and which he has frequently declared belongs to southern California.

GILLETT NOT IN RACE "I am not a candidate for Senator Flint's place," said the governor yesterday. "I said nothing in Los Angeles that I had not said here previously. I have many friends in Los Angeles. I have been approached by many leading Los Angeles republicans and businessmen. I did say that I would make the race if the people of Los Angeles requested me to go in. I have never taken the matter seriously because I have never believed that a situation would arise that would make it incumbent upon me to run. I have so told the many Los Angeles men who have written to me. One of the senators should be a southern man. There are a number of good men down there. I have no doubt that one of them will make the

Bake Raisin Bread! Cup For Best Loaf

Handsome sterling silver cup offered by The Call as the prize for the best loaf of California raisin bread baked by any baker or confectioner in California north of the Tehachapi.

Handsome sterling silver cup offered by The Call for the best loaf of California raisin bread made by any cook or housewife in California north of Tehachapi, not a professional baker or confectioner.

BAKERS and confectioners—all of you in California between the north side of the Tehachapi and the Oregon line—here's a challenge and a chance for you.

Housewives and cooks other than professional bakers and confectioners—all of you in California within the same north and south boundaries—here's the same kind of a challenge and a chance for you also.

A handsome sterling silver cup is offered by The Call for the best loaf of raisin bread baked by any baker or confectioner in the territory described.

Another sterling silver cup, equally handsome, is offered by The Call for the best loaf of raisin bread baked by any housewife or cook, not a professional baker or confectioner, in the same territory.

The sole restriction, beyond the geographical limitations already fixed, is that none but California raisins shall be used. So go ahead, bakers, confectioners, housewives and cooks. Begin experimenting right away. See what you can do with one of the finest delicacies California produces.

Three of the best known chefs in California have consented to act as the committee to judge the bread and award the silver cups. They are: ERNEST ARBOGAST, Chef of the Palace Hotel; VICTOR HIRTZLER, Chef of the St. Francis Hotel; ARTHUR LOGAN, Chef of the Hotel Stewart.

These three men are at the top of their profession and contestants can be assured that the awards will be made strictly on the merits of the bread. The conditions are few and simple.

The loaves must reach The Call office not earlier than the morning of the 28th, nor later than noon of the 29th. All loaves that come on the 28th will be tested and judged on the afternoon of that day, while they are still fresh. The judges will hold another session on the afternoon of the 29th to pass upon the loaves that are received up to noon of that day.

Each loaf should have a label announcing the name of the contestant and stating whether the maker is a professional or nonprofessional cook.

The awards will be announced in The Call on the morning of the 30th.

Indeed there may be more than one. The National Elery campaign for the republican nomination for governor has arrived in San Francisco in full form.

The state engineer's San Francisco headquarters was opened yesterday in the Magee building, Market street near Third. W. H. Fraser, a local oil magnate, is the campaign director in charge. The Elery campaign is to be prosecuted with all the accessories, and a press agent is on the job. It is declared that Elery's whirlwind campaign is to be financed by Elery and his personal and family friends. An automobile tour of the state, 20 speeches in San Francisco and a general shaking up of the political dry bones are promised.

"From Siskiyou to San Diego come encouraging reports," said Manager Fraser. "Elery's strength is twice as great today as when the announcement of his candidacy was first made. We are planning to make a whirlwind campaign, the like of which has not been seen in California for a long time. Elery is not a rich man, but he is a fighter. He is in this fight to stay to the last ditch. His friends are with him to the finish."

Anderson is Indorsed The executive committee of the Ingleside republican club at a meeting Sunday afternoon adopted a resolution indorsing the candidacy of Alden Anderson for governor. The committee will put the resolution before the club at a meeting Wednesday night for final action. The following are the committee: J. L. Hughes, chairman; H. D. Cartwright; James J. Wilkerson; F. A. Doll; Amos Feete.

James Anthony is president of the club and M. E. Livingston is secretary.

SOUSED STUDENTS SING SOME SONGS Complaint Filed Against Restaurant Proprietor

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SAN RAFAEL, April 18.—That students of the San Rafael high school were served liquor in a local restaurant after 11 o'clock in defiance of the town ordinance is the declaration made by City Attorney Joseph Hawkins today in explanation of the complaint which he has filed against the proprietor, Stephen Anagnostis.

Hawkins said that he has a long list of high school students who were drinking in the restaurant after 11 o'clock on the night of April 2 until early in the next morning.

The students, says Hawkins, were in a deep state of intoxication, which was indicated by the fact that they were unable to complete numerous college songs which they started. The city attorney declined to make the names public, stating that he will place the matter of revoking the license before the board of town trustees at its regular meeting May 2.

LEGS CRUSHED BY REVOLVING SCREW

Workman Drawn Into Maw of Machine Before Help Arrives In Answer to Cries

Albert Reiner, a malleter employed by the Pioneer malt company, lies at the central emergency hospital near death, one leg amputated below the knee and the other leg crushed to such an extent that the physicians say he will lose it. Reiner's injuries and condition are the result of an unusual and almost unparalleled accident which befell him yesterday morning while he was cleaning out the drum of a malt machine.

His cries for help as a great steel screw gradually crushed his limbs attracted the attention of Foreman Louis Berg, who stopped the machinery of the works and probably saved Reiner's life. For one hour and a quarter 10 men worked to extricate the malleter from the viselike grip of the great screw which had drawn him into its maw.

Reiner entered the malt drum during a time when the machinery was in motion. He lost his footing and slipped through an open trap in the drum into the lower mechanism where a huge steel screw revolves within a tube. Reiner's lower limbs were caught by the whirling screw and crushed.

In the course of the excitement the entire crew of engine 28, Battalion Chief Willis Gullatin and Captain Tom Conard, arrived to assist in the rescue. STREETCAR WRECKS AUTO

After being treated at the central emergency hospital for her injuries received in an automobile smashup at Polk and Washington streets early yesterday morning, Kate Powers, who has occupied the attention of the hospital attendants, was removed to 1274 Golden Gate avenue, where friends are taking care of her. The automobile, which was driven by Joseph Demartini, was almost completely wrecked. The streetcar was not damaged.

MARSHAL KILLS BURGLAR—Albuquerque, N. M., April 18.—James Hughes, chief marshal of Deming, N. M., shot and killed Clement Torres yesterday when the latter resisted arrest upon being caught breaking into a store. Hughes was knocked down three times before he could shoot.

INSISTS WEZLER KILLED WOMAN

Tacoma Police Officer Gives Out Strong Evidence to Incriminate Prisoner

Despite the assertion of Charles J. Wezler that he can prove an alibi, Captain John Fitzgerald of the Tacoma police department, who arrived here Sunday night to take Wezler back, says that they have a strong case against him for the alleged murder of his mother in law, Mrs. Frederica Schulz, at Gig Harbor, near Tacoma, on Monday, April 4.

"We have the testimony of Charles Reed, proprietor of the Fremont hotel, Tacoma," said Captain Fitzgerald. "That Wezler stayed at his hotel on April 3. We have the testimony of the boy to whom he gave the decoy message to deliver to Mrs. Schulz signed 'Dr. Powers' to the effect that her sister was ill at Gig Harbor and to hurry to her bedside and catch the boat Cressy that left at 9 o'clock that morning. Then we have a newsboy named O'Brien, who sold him a newspaper on the Cressy, and Ben Twaddell, a carpenter, who spoke to him on the trip across on the lower deck, while Mrs. Schulz, his victim, was on the upper deck.

"We also have a man from whom Wezler hired a launch after the murder to take him to Point Defiance park, where he could catch a car in time to board the train for Portland. There are other corroborating circumstances."

Shatters His Alibi PORTLAND, April 18.—Charles J. Wezler's alibi, upon which he relied to prove his innocence of the alleged murder of Mrs. Henry Schulz, who was killed near Gig Harbor, Wash., has been somewhat shattered, and today the persons who yesterday announced that they had seen and talked to Wezler in this city on the day of the murder are not so certain that it was the same day, and the records of the weather department, which have been brought into the case, seem to bear out the claims of the detectives that the witnesses for Wezler were mistaken.
