

CARRY WAR TO CAMP OF ENEMY

Shriners of Islam Patrol Return From Conquest of New Orleans

Succeeded in Creating Sentiment for Exposition in This City, Despite Rivalry

The story of how enthusiastic San Franciscans waged the campaign for the Panama-Pacific exposition through the streets of New Orleans, this city's rival for the 1915 honor, to the extent of creating good feeling and even interest in that community has come out with the return of the Islam temple patrol from the annual meeting of the imperial council of the Order of the Mystic Shrine held last week in the Gulf city.

Armed with a carload of choice California products and with a great array of posters, stickers, buttons and odds and ends in "boosting" literature the patrol carried the campaign into the enemy's camp with most gratifying results.

In addition to the boosting methods of the patrol further distinction was gained in that the Shriners' competitive drille, Colonel William Edwards, who was in command yesterday gave a highly interesting account of the trip. He said:

"When we prepared for the trip to New Orleans we had in mind a vigorous campaign to establish San Francisco's claim to the 1915 exposition. We took two carloads of California products, consisting of wines, raisins, fruits, etc. We arrived in New Orleans Monday morning and before the reception of the evening held at the California headquarters was over we had disposed of almost all the products that we had brought.

The following Tuesday people, especially women, wearing the San Francisco buttons were met in all sections of the city. Our methods of sounding the praises of San Francisco were at first met with marked coolness, but soon we overcame this and succeeded in developing a lukewarm enthusiasm for our cause. We distributed 5,000 bottles of wine. The women were our strongest allies and willingly wore our exposition buttons.

Colonel Edwards said that he did not think New Orleans had the facilities to house half as many visitors as could be comfortably cared for in this city in the event of holding the exposition here.

The delegates from Islam temple were: R. B. Moore, George Filmer, William Crocker and William Johnson.

Congress Cheers City

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Representative Kahn got a lively round of applause in the house yesterday, when, after reminding his colleagues that this was the fourth anniversary of the San Francisco fire, he told how the city had arisen from its ashes more glorious than ever and was going to have a magnificent exposition in 1915, to which everybody was invited.

"I have not been here for work of rehabilitation was fairly begun. It was stated that it would take fully two years to remove the debris from the burned areas. With aggressiveness and the grit and enterprise so characteristic of the American people, the citizens of San Francisco boldly tackled the task of reconstruction and, as if touched by a magician's wand, back after block of new buildings arose again to house those who had been prominent in the city's marts of trade. San Francisco has today the finest retail shopping district of any city in the world."

Kahn then proceeded to boost the Panama-Pacific international exposition at San Francisco.

Will Vote on Bonds

SAN DIEGO, April 19.—May 13 has been decided upon as the date of the $1,850,000 bond election which will include $1,000,000 for the fair which San Diego proposes to hold in 1915. The balance of the fund will be used for municipal improvements. The formal order for the holding of the election will be issued in due time.

THOUSANDS TO SING AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

German Societies to Raise $25,000 for Carnival

A campaign to raise $25,000 for the carnival of music to be given by the German societies of the Pacific coast in this city, beginning September 1, was agreed upon yesterday at a meeting of the Pacific saengerbund festival committee. The money will be raised by a musical business interests and to the music lovers.

The program for the four carnival days was definitely determined. It will include four concerts, during which a chorus of 800 will sing. A children's chorus of 3,000 voices is being arranged for also.

Twenty musical organizations of the Pacific coast will take part in the carnival and as many more from eastern points have promised to contribute choruses and soloists. The Brooklyn Arion chorus of 75 voices has agreed to come.

Dr. Max Magnus, president of the committee, proposed that all German societies be enlisted in the campaign, and this was decided upon.

CHARGES TOO VAGUE, IS McCOMB'S PLEA

No Money Appropriated to His Own Use, Says Lawyer

A demurrer to the allegation of the grand jury charging George McComb, clerk of the justice court, with misconduct in office, was argued at length in Judge Cahalan's court yesterday by Isadore Golden, attorney for the defendant. The count accusing McComb of habitual absence from duty during office hours was so vague and uncertain that it would be impossible to answer it, Golden argued.

The count charging McComb with mixing official funds with his private funds, was according to Golden, a merely technical violation of the statute at worst. His client, Golden insisted, did not appropriate the money to his own use.

Assistant District Attorneys Cotten and Brennan will reply to the argument today.

URGES BEAUTIFICATION OF DOWNTOWN CITY

Arthur F. Mathews Tells Clubwomen of Remedy

San Franciscans must concentrate their efforts upon the beautifying of the downtown district of the city, declared Arthur F. Mathews in his address before the California club yesterday afternoon on "The City That Should Have Been."

"Every little district in San Francisco is squabbling over some little subject and refuses to give way to the great interest of the center of the city," he said. "San Francisco needs the advice of an expert architectural commission. The trouble is that people are always suspicious of men of skill and suspect them of seeking little beyond financial advantage."

N. W. Mohr, the former city architect, spoke also on "The City We Ought to Have." He advised the planting of trees and lawns, and urged the preservation of the trees already growing.

The Rev. Robert Sesson sang several numbers.

An article from The Call regarding the destruction of asphalt pavements by the roots of trees was read by Mrs. Jean Sinclair at the request of Mrs. Lovell White, and a discussion followed as to the possibility of making use of the trees predatory in their habits.

BURGLARS DECORATE STORE WITH SAUSAGE

Break into Telephone Market in Post Street

Burglars broke into the Telephone market, a meat shop conducted by Charles Easton at 1323 Post street, Monday night and ransacked the cash drawers, but got only $1.15. They decorated the telephone with strings of sausages, hung them on the office door and around Easton's desk.

The room of George Papas, Golden State hotel, was entered and a suitcase containing $20, a draft for $110 on the First National bank of Great Falls, Mont., and a check for $400 on the Bank of Argenta, Austria, was stolen. Several rooms in the boarding house of F. Guinetti, 115 Clark street, were entered and valuables aggregating $78 stolen.

Max Peterson, 801 Capp street, was relieved of a purse and $10 on a Fillmore street car Monday night.

BEARSKIN SWINDLE GETS SCHOOL TEACHERS

Imitation Sailor Works Foxy Fraud on Women

Detectives Maloney and Tracey are searching for a young man dressed as a sailor, who has been swindling school principals out of small sums of money. Two of his victims are Miss Mary Thomas and Miss A. Gavigan. He told them that a former pupil had sent them two foxskins and a bearskin in the ship's room in the boarding house of F. Guinetti, 115 Clark street, were entered and valuables aggregating $78 stolen.

Max Peterson, 801 Capp street, was relieved of a purse and $10 on a Fillmore street car Monday night.

Assistant District Attorneys Cotten and Brennan will reply to the argument today.

FINANCIER DONATES A BELL TO CHURCH

Pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Ebenezer Congregation Performs Dedicator Service

The bell presented to the Swedish Lutheran of this city by E. O. Lindblom, vice president of the Swedish-American bank, and Mrs. Lindblom, was dedicated at Evangelical Lutheran Ebenezer church at Fifteenth and Dolores streets Sunday. The dedication was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Philip Andreen, D. D., and the bell was rung for the first time at 10:55 Sunday morning, at a service attended by 1,000 people.

A musical program was given at the services, which were conducted in accordance with the high church ritual of the Lutheran church. The Swedish choral society, Axel Philstrom leader, and the Ebenezer choral society, Ed Telleen leader, sang choruses, and there were solos by Prof. N. Persone and Mrs. Ida Westerberg, the wife of the Swedish vice consul, Dr. Frederick Westerberg. Miss Alma Hjelt was organist. The sermon was delivered by the pastor on "The Significance of the Church Bell of the Service."

Resolutions of acceptance and thanks were read, signed by the pastor, Rev. Philip Andreen; Carl E. Andreen, secretary, and the deacons, Carl N. P. Ahlgren, Carl Rosen, Emanuel A. Anderson, Andrew Peterson, F. A. Hjelt, C. A. Telleen; and the trustees, E. G. Strandberg, Dr. Charles J. Lander, Ludwig Olsson, L. F. Sanden, Edward Franklin and Neils Kinell.

The bell carries the following inscription: Donated to the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Ebenezer congregation in San Francisco, California, Philip Andreen, D. D., pastor, by the Maecenate Erik Olof Lindblom, year 1908. "Oh, bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard" (Psalms of David, 68:3).

The bell, which cost $1,000, was made by John A. Beckman & Co., Stockholm, Sweden. It is a piece of fine art and has a rich, full tone. It will be rung at all Sunday services and at 6 o'clock every Saturday afternoon. Only twice a year, at Christmas and Easter, will it be sounded in the early morning.

DEBATERS TO DISCUSS RIGHT OF CLOSED SHOP

Y. M. C. A. Team Will Be Opposed by Church Club

A joint debate between teams representing the Men's club of the First Baptist church and the Twentieth Century club of the Young Men's Christian association will be held at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the First Baptist church, 1620 O'Connell street. The subject for debate will be, "Resolved, that labor unions are justified in insisting on the closed shop." W. F. Postel, Harry Reasdale and A. Sotrokin, representing the Twentieth Century club will hold the affirmative; Karl Kemp, J. N. Carter and G. D. Ferrell of the Men's club, the negative. Music will be furnished by an orchestra.

IN JAIL, SO COULDN'T WORK, IS HIS DEFENSE

Joseph Barilla was tried before a jury Judge Lawlor's court yesterday on a charge of refusing to support his minor child. Amelia Barilla, his wife, testified that since October the defendant had not given her any money for the maintenance of the child.

Barilla's defense was that his wife had caused his confinement in the county jail for five months for failure to pay alimony, and that when he was liberated he was unable to find employment. Testimony in rebuttal will be introduced today.

WAR CHES KING NEEDHAM'S EARS

Militant Democrats After His Scalp, With Jim Holohan as Head Scalper

Secretary J. F. Murray Writes Soothing Thoughts on Birth, Death and Politics

A militant democracy purposes to avenge the tariff outrage by cutting, slashing and otherwise maiming Congressman James Carson Needham, California's guardian and sponsor on the ways and means committee.

Militant democracy would scalp James Carson Needham if James Carson wore his hair that way, which he does not. Needham has been marked for the slaughter. Democracy has chosen Senator Jim Holohan as the executioner of its sentence upon the sixth district statesman who prevented a ravenous east from squeezing the California lemon.

The decree has been signed and the preliminary details for the death march are virtually agreed upon. The Payne-Aldrich atrocity is to be avenged, even if at the expense of the democratic state ticket. Rather than permit the crime to go unpunished Senator A. E. Campbell of San Luis Obispo will abandon the job of beating Attorney General Webb and dedicate his voice to the service of Holohan and the undoing of Needham.

The central committee have charted an easy route to the realm of political obscurity for Needham. Their observations and computations disclose, beyond the peradventure of a democratic doubt, that they will be able to win out the tariff insult by defeating Needham than to avenge the Taft triumph by canning Duncan McKinlay.

Needham may be expected to resist, but democracy is prepared to prove the futility of his efforts by showing that the good republicans responsible for Needham's continued hold on his congressional job are clamoring for a change to get a better man than Chester H. Rowell, president of the Lincoln-Roosevelt league, is expressly accepted as one of the few good republicans who will permit friendship for Needham to blind them to the beneficent purposes of the state democracy.

Needham may find some consolation in the thought that if he is to be offered up as an atonement for the alleged crimes of his party, the democrats could not pick a better man than Holohan to conduct the exercises. His experience as a statesman began with his election to the senate from the twenty-ninth district by a fusion of democrats and independent republicans in Santa Cruz and San Mateo counties, who were out to bend the sials of Lieutenant Governor Warren Porter. He is a big, clean, strong, honest citizen. His legislative record is one in which democracy may take a genuine pride.

DIFFERENT MATTERS

Beating a republican congressman in the sixth district and trouncing an organization candidate for the senate in the twenty-ninth are two very different matters. However, the congressional capers of Holohan, even if unsuccessful, will not deprive the people of his services. His term as senator will not end until 1913. In his quest for congressional laurels the republican party is not to be trifled with.

According to reports from Los Angeles the feathers ruffled in the democratic state conference have been smoothed and all is quiet south of the Tehachapl. Albert M. Norton, who threatened to run off the reservation, and Tom Gibbons, the editor who apologized for the belittled attitude of his paper by declaring that anything he had said in print went double in person, sat down to a love feast after the conferees had departed.

Norton's leadership of the Los Angeles democracy was approved and the two agreed that there should be no factionalism in the fight for the nomination and election of Theodore A. Bell. Tim Speliacy, oil magnate and former chairman of the state central committee, participated in the good cheer and agreed to run for lieutenant governor. Senator Campbell, who was carded for the nomination for attorney general, pulled out to help Senator Jim Holohan fight Congressman Needham and Joe Call was almost persuaded to run for railroad commissioner. In any event it was agreed that if he did not run for railroad commissioner he would not run for the nomination for governor and his boosters agreed that the man for governor was Bell.

POLITICAL CLASSIC

Secretary John F. Murray of the democratic state central committee is a good man and kindly. He harbors no unkind suspicions of no man—that is to say, no democrat. Murray's faith in democrats, however, is not superior to his knowledge of the weakness of the Bush. He believes in the efficacy of gentle admonition. Wherefore Murray has issued a monograph entitled "Democratic Committeemen's Responsibility," which inevitably will claim an imperishable place in the annals of political classic.

By way of breaking it gently to his committeemen, Murray introduces his monograph with these soothing thoughts:

"Man can not reason beyond birth or death, yet he feels such a longing for better things that we believe in the immortality of the soul. Hence it is but a segment in the circle of our development, the redemption."

Murray has labored long in the cause of democracy. The sorrows of his service ring sonorously in the following chaste tip to the stothul:

"The man who accepts a position of trust in a political organization accepts an awful responsibility. Should clean government fall for lack of effort on the part of the individual, the responsibility will not be the desolation of the multitudes and filth of government smear his soul in the day of judgment. If there be one member of the democratic state central committee who is not doing the full measure of his duty to his party I beg him to consider the destiny of man."
