Impelled by an enthusiasm similar to that which resulted in their collecting $1,053,000 from the big business interests Thursday, the members of the finance committee turned to the rank and file of the city yesterday, and after a grinding day's work succeeded in taking in $1,500 in small subscriptions, thereby bringing the total to date to $4,090,500.

Thursday subscriptions rolled in easily, and the sale of stock was tinged with an abandon of generosity picturesque and spectacular. Lacking were these brilliant touches in the collections yesterday. The charm of big figures was wanting and, as the finance committee had anticipated, the real grind began. The greater majority approached had not given the matter proper consideration and, though they recognized the value of the exposition and favored it in a general and vague way, they had neglected to apply it to themselves, content to regard it as something which was sure to come about without their help.

All Must Help

"Surely," said Charles C. Moore, "these people must realize what it will mean to quit now. Is this glorious endeavor to fizzle out in a hopeless endeavor to collect the remaining $1,000,000? The public can not have it impressed upon it too strongly that without public support all the work which we have done will be fruitless. We have come to a point where every man in San Francisco must come and join us."

Congratulations at the phenomenal success of the big mass meeting arrived from all sides. Congressman Julius Kahn, telegraphing from Washington, said:

"Congratulations on raising the four million. May the good work continue."

The Chicago association of commerce telegraphed as follows:

"Sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your wonderful success in the promotion of the proposed international exposition in 1915."

Father D. O. Crowley, who, though unable to attend the meeting Thursday, was enthusiastic over its results. He said:

"I was unable to attend the meeting and contribute my mite, but I shall not overlook it, for we should all help in a small way if we can not do more. I understand it was a wonderful meeting, but it would not have surprised me, for San Francisco never does anything small. There is no room for unfavorable comment regarding San Francisco's claim for the fair location. It remains for us to con-

TAKES WOMEN'S CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

The case of Mrs. A. Fuller and her daughter, Miss Eleanor Bailey of San Jose, charged with robbing the United States mails, was submitted before United States Commissioner J. E. Heacock yesterday without argument. Judge Heacock intimated that he would hold the mother, but would dismiss the charge against Miss Bailey, but this was not official, as neither defendant was in court and the case was continued until Wednesday of next week for final settlement.

HEARST MAKES HIS REPLY TO MAYOR GAYNOR

Editor Issues Statement Regarding the Issue of Veracity Raised at Banquet

Avers That the Allegations Made by New York City's Executive Are False

NEW YORK, April 29.—Mayor Gaynor and William R. Hearst both issued statements tonight on the issue of veracity raised last night at the joint banquet of the Associated press and the Newspaper publishers' association when the mayor said that Hearst was a forger and a falsifier.

Supplementary statements were issued by Comptroller Prendergast, former Comptroller Metz and the district attorney's office regarding rumors that there was a possibility of future legal proceedings as a result of the mayor's address last night.

Statement of Hearst

Hearst's statement in part follows: "I am not entirely familiar with all the accusations against Mayor Gaynor or his attempt to divert attention from them by an attack on the American. I have just returned from Mexico. "It is obvious to any one, however, that the mayor's defense is false upon its face. "His only claim, when it is analyzed, is that the American failed to print clearly the date on a photographic facsimile of one of the documents in the case, although the American carried the same date of the same document clearly printed in type in the text of the article. "His attack upon the American is entirely disingenuous and wholly untruthful.

"What a pretty quibble for an important man, or, rather, what a quibble for a petty man, who holds an important position. "Anybody who knows the high character of the gentlemen who edit the American knows that no matter how much they might despise Mayor Gaynor, they would never seek to take an unfair advantage of him. "Anybody who knows the ability of the gentlemen who edit the American knows if they had desired to omit the date of any document they would not have been so childish as to print the date conspicuously in the type while they were leaving it out of the picture. "Finally, anybody who can read and can think can see clearly that the date in question is not the important date anyhow, but that the important date is the date of January 4, a date in Mayor Gaynor's administration upon which the payment to Cohalan of $48,000 was finally signed and actually authorized. The January 4 signature was affixed by the assistant chamberlain in the office of Chamberlain Hyde, Mr. Gaynor's law partner.

"This latter gentleman, who is popularly known as 'Gaynor's thick-hyde,' is not only Gaynor's law partner but the person who figured conspicuously in Gaynor's golf ball decision in favor of racetrack gambling."

GILLETT LEAVES SUNDAY TO BOOST EXPOSITION

Will Place Executive Affairs of State in Porter's Hands

[Special Dispatch to The Call] SACRAMENTO, April 29.—Governor James N. Gillett will place the executive affairs of the state in the hands of Lieutenant Governor Warren Porter Sunday.

Governor Gillett leaves on that day for Washington with the delegation of Californians who are to seek aid from congress for the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco in 1915. Probably the first act of the lieutenant governor will be the appointment of an executive secretary in the governor's office, as Secretary Cooper will take the position of state insurance commissioner and E. Forrest Mitchell will become the governor's private secretary.

HONOLULU LIQUOR FORCES ARE ALARMED

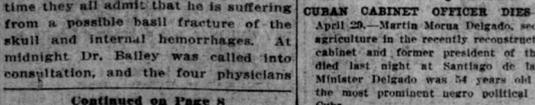

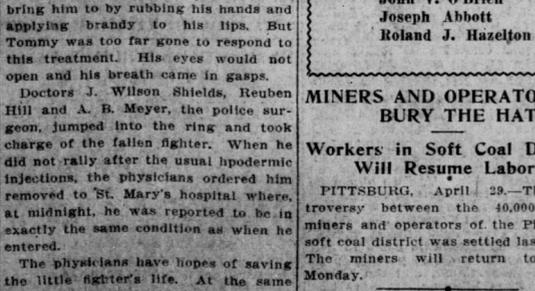

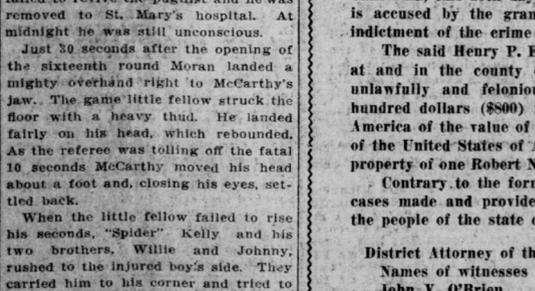

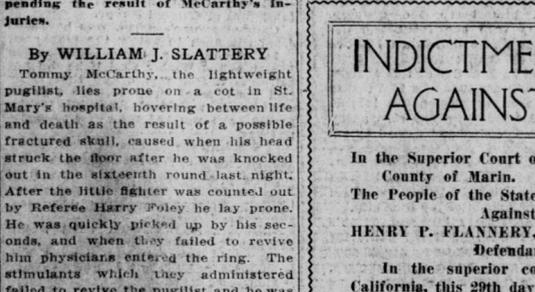

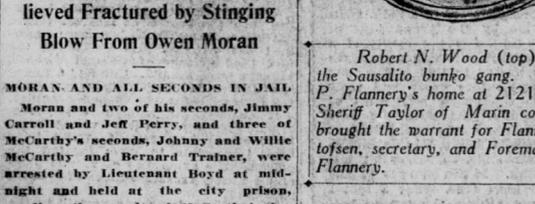

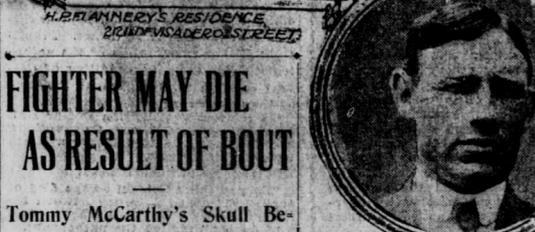

The liquor men fear the movement will grow so strong that prohibition will become a law in spite of them. They have organized for the publication of a newspaper in their interests. It is possible the democrats will join forces with the anti-prohibitionists and carry the paper through on the line mentioned and then continue it as a daily until after the fall elections.

Whether it is to be a morning or evening paper is not determined, nor have the promoters an editor in view.

Marin County Grand Jury Returns True Bill Against Head of Local Police Board

FICKERT PLANS TO START SAN FRANCISCO INQUIRY

Will Review Evidence to Determine if Indictments Should Be Sought Here

FLANNERY REITERATES HIS DENIAL OF CHARGES

HARRY P. FLANNERY, president of the San Francisco board of police commissioners, was indicted yesterday by the Marin county grand jury on a charge of grand larceny, growing out of the exposures following the recent raid on a fake poolroom in Sausalito and the subsequent confession of Joseph Abbott, one of the captured leaders of the gang of bunkenom.

As predicted exclusively in The Call Thursday morning, Flannery's indictment came as the culmination of yesterday's investigation by the transbay inquisitorial body, and the grand larceny charge was based on his alleged connection with the Sausalito gamblers, in whose place Robert N. Wood, a young farmer lad, was swindled out of $800.

Flannery's Bail $2,000

The true bill accusing the local official of a felony was returned by the grand jury in Judge Thomas J. Lennon's court in San Rafael at 12:15 o'clock yesterday noon, following a two hour session of the grand jury, at which only two witnesses were examined. Flannery's bail was promptly fixed by Judge Lennon at $2,000, and the indictment was kept on file until the cash was deposited with County Clerk Robert E. Graham of Marin county late yesterday afternoon and the order for the defendant's release from custody was signed by the court.

Flannery is directly accused of complicity in the robbery of Wood by the Sausalito bunkenom. While the formal accusation was built upon the partially corroborated confession of Abbott regarding the alleged dealings of himself and his companions with Flannery in the latter's official capacity as president of the San Francisco police commission, District Attorney Boyd of Marin county hinted strongly yesterday afternoon that only enough evidence had been put before the grand jury to make out a prima facie case, and that much stronger evidence was being held in reserve.

Local Investigation Planned

No other indictments against Flannery are expected at the hands of the Marin county grand jury, but the mass of disclosures connected with local phases of the case aroused District Attorney Fickert of this city to announce yesterday that an investigation would be begun without delay to determine whether any indictments were warranted in San Francisco. Fickert telephoned yesterday afternoon to District Attorney Boyd at San Rafael, requesting an interview at the latter's earliest convenience for the purpose of going over the evidence in Boyd's possession.

Flannery was not put under actual arrest, although Sheriff William P. Taylor of Marin county, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff George A. Martin, made the trip to San Francisco yesterday afternoon to serve the bench warrant issued by Judge Lennon. Flannery had been notified promptly of the action taken at San Rafael, and prior to the arrival of the Marin county officials in this city at 4:30 o'clock his attorneys had transferred $2,000 to the Marin county bank in San Rafael, and the cash had been deposited with the county clerk.

Reiterates His Innocence

Flannery received the news of his indictment with a renewed declaration of his innocence and a heated assertion that the action taken by the grand jury in Marin county was the result of the machinations of his political enemies in San Francisco.

There was an atmosphere of sup-

FIGHTER MAY DIE AS RESULT OF BOUT

Tommy McCarthy's Skull Believed Fractured by Stinging Blow From Owen Moran

MORAN AND ALL SECONDS IN JAIL
Moran and two of his seconds, Jimmy Carroll and Jeff Perry, and three of McCarthy's seconds, Johnny and Willie McCarthy and Bernard Trainer, were arrested by Lieutenant Boyd at midnight and held at the city prison, pending the result of McCarthy's injuries.

By WILLIAM J. SLATTERY
Tommy McCarthy, the lightweight pugilist, lies prone on a cot in St. Mary's hospital, hovering between life and death as the result of a possible fractured skull, caused when his head struck the floor after he was knocked out in the sixteenth round last night. After the little fighter was counted out by Referee Harry Foley he lay prone. He was quickly picked up by his seconds, and when they failed to revive him physicians entered the ring. The stimulants which they administered failed to revive the pugilist and he was removed to St. Mary's hospital. At midnight he was still unconscious.

Just 30 seconds after the opening of the sixteenth round Moran landed a mighty overhead right to McCarthy's jaw. The game little fellow struck the floor with a heavy thud. He landed fairly on his head, which rebounded. As the referee was tolling off the fatal 10 seconds McCarthy moved his head about a foot and, closing his eyes, settled back.

When the little fellow failed to rise his seconds, "Spider" Kelly and his two brothers, Willie and Johnny, rushed to the injured boy's side. They carried him to his corner and tried to bring him to by rubbing his hands and applying brandy to his lips. But Tommy was too far gone to respond to this treatment. His eyes would not open and his breath came in gasps.

Doctors J. Wilson Shields, Reuben Hill and A. B. Meyer, the police surgeon, jumped into the ring and took charge of the fallen fighter. When he did not rally after the usual hypodermic injections, the physicians ordered him removed to St. Mary's hospital, where, at midnight, he was reported to be in exactly the same condition as when he entered.

The physicians have hopes of saving the little fighter's life. At the same time they all admit that he is suffering from a possible basal fracture of the skull and internal hemorrhages. At midnight Dr. Bailey was called into consultation, and the four physicians

Arizona Convict Couldn't Resist Temptations of Trusty

The pardon was sent back to the governor and Ramirez is being hunted as a fugitive from justice.

CUBAN CABINET OFFICER DIES
