Attorneys for Accused Former Police Commissioner Expect Prompt Acquittal of Client

The formal test of the value of the exposures in the Sausalito poolroom cases and their bearing upon the local police situation will be given today, when Harry P. Flannery, former president of the San Francisco police commission, will be brought to trial in Sausalito upon the indictment of the Marin county grand jury charging him with grand larceny in connection with the fleeing of Robert N. Wood, $500 in the Sausalito fake poolroom.

The actual trial gives promise of being short but sensational. Instead of being a battle of legal technicalities, it will become an out and out fight on the facts of the case, if the statements of the opposing attorneys are to be relied upon. Each side has expressed the opinion that a jury can be selected inside of two days, and that the taking of testimony will not consume any great amount of time. The whole case will hinge primarily upon the truth or falsity of the statements made by Joe Abbott, a member of the gang of poolroom operators, and upon the legal testimony of the witnesses who were between Flannery and the bunken in the event that Abbott's declarations are corroborated.

JIMMIE LAWLER DISCREDITED

The embryo sensation in the case occasioned by the declarations of Jimmie Lawler, a former fireman and saloon keeper of San Rafael, who asserted that Abbott had made admissions to him to the effect that his "confession" was a mere "frameup" to save himself, and that it was made with Flannery's knowledge and consent, was stifled yesterday in a manner to discredit Lawler. Lawler declared Monday that after the purported admissions made to him by Abbott, under most dramatic circumstances, he had written a letter to Frank Gould, one of Flannery's attorneys, and had made an affidavit relating the facts of the alleged conversation.

Gould positively denied Monday that he had received any affidavit from Lawler, and that he had never seen the man and knew nothing about the story until I saw it in the papers. He has made no statement to Gould, I feel sure. Anyhow, if what he said were true, would it amount to anything? In any event, I don't think it is a story even to have him interviewed.

CLIMAX OF TRIAL

The direct and cross examination of Joe Abbott promises to develop the climax of the Flannery trial. District Attorney Boyd is known to have in reserve several witnesses whose names and nature of testimony will take him by surprise. It is expected that the evidence thus brought out will be principally of a corroborative nature. On the other hand, George A. Knight declared yesterday that there were palpable inaccuracies in Abbott's testimony as given before the grand jury and that a large part of it was "too wild" to merit serious consideration.

FLANNERY MAY NOT TESTIFY

"As to whether or not Flannery will take the stand in his own behalf will depend upon circumstances and upon the results of Abbott's testimony and cross examination. I don't know yet what he will testify about, but I do know that a man who is lying can't stand cross examination."

From the statements made by Knight it is evident that the defense will rely first upon breaking down Abbott's statements in law, and then in a mood to discuss the vote of any particular district. He insists that he wishes to be conservative and not oversanguine. He says that while he is confident that he believed when the case came to the attention of the grand jury that it referred to a former promise to allow bunken to conduct their operations in San Francisco, he is not sure that it is not borne out. He will not testify further that even if this construction was accepted no connection is shown between Flannery's friendship for the poolroom men and the actual robbery of Wood in the Sausalito fake poolroom, upon which the specific grand larceny charge against Flannery is based.

"I don't consider the telegram of any consequence," said Knight yesterday. "If it is a trump card as is claimed, why is it? Suppose noise being made about it? So what does it show a friendship between Flannery and Abbott? Isn't it just possible that we can show a much closer connection between Abbott, Fremont Older and the Marin county authorities? I mean simply an arrangement, of course, for I wouldn't say that the connection goes to the dignity of Robert N. Wood."

THEORY OF PROSECUTION

District Attorney Boyd of Marin county, who will conduct the prosecution, will rely first upon Abbott's testimony as corroborated by that of Roland J. Hazelton, Mrs. Abbott and other witnesses he is understood to have secured and also upon the theory that Flannery was a party to the plans of the bunken to operate in San Francisco he was guilty of advising, encouraging and abetting them in any crime committed in Sausalito. Boyd will take the stand that unless the poolroom men were brought to San Francisco at Flannery's invitation in the first place, and unless they had been encouraged by him to conduct operations in Sausalito and had been permitted to send their "steerers" to San Francisco to operate, the poolroom could not have been successfully operated and the robbery of Robert N. Wood could not have taken place.

IVES BROTHERS' VOTES PROTECTED

"Black's" Fight in San Jose Develops Bitterness Toward Mathewson

By GEORGE A. VAN SMITH
That Congressman "Red" Hayes is convinced that the union labor vote of the fifth district is to be arrayed against him is indicated by the character of the municipal fight he and his brother, "Black" Hayes, are forcing in San Jose.

The Hayes brothers have not waited for the union labor organization to throw down the gauntlet. They have rolled up their sleeves and waded into labor for the first punch. They have made union labor the issue; held up San Francisco to the voters of San Jose as a horrible example of what they may expect from a union labor administration, and, to make it good, have brought out a nonunion laundryman as the opponent of Business Agent Walter G. Mathewson for councilman at large.

AFRAID OF DAVISON

The Hayes brothers understand that if they win their majority they will be in the machine candidate against "Red" Hayes for republican nomination to congress in the fifth district. They understand that the Hayes brothers are a well known union labor agitator and that they are afraid of Davison. Davison is the promotion of Councilman at Large Mathewson to the office of mayor when Davison resigns to make the congressional fight.

That they should fight Davison was to be expected. They are afraid of Davison after Mathewson on a straight out and union labor issue was not expected. Some of the puzzled long hair republicans of the district are of the opinion that Johnnie Hayes has done something more than encourage the Hayes' opposition to Mathewson for the purpose of insuring a big breach between the congressman and the Hayes' union labor voters who have supported him even against a recognized union labor leader.

The Hayes brothers' San Jose Mercury pours hot shots into the Davison-Mathewson camp daily, and the Hayes' campaign responsibility for the citizens' ticket, upon which Mathewson's opponent for councilman at large is Harvey S. Kelley, who is said to be a nonunion laundryman, are some of the tidbits served for the edification of the San Jose electors by the Mercury under the caption, "The Citizens of San Jose Should Remember."

That the three candidates for councilman at large in the Davison ticket are union labor men, headed by Walter G. Mathewson, the business agent of the union, and that they are all known to the Hayes' campaign, as well as the two holdover labor union councilmen.

"RED" MAY REPUDIATE

Take it by way and wide, there is class to that deft. We may be advised by the nature of the evidence that "Red" Hayes is more in sympathy with "Black" Hayes' lamming of the labor union men than he was in accord with "Blacks" exhortation of the Herrin burglar, which his mother stated she had taken to the Potrero and later to the central emergency hospital, where she was unable to get any relief from the amonia, which happens to be vinegar, or acetic acid, was administered.

CLAIMS LOS ANGELES

"We will carry Los Angeles county for Ellery by a good plurality," declared Hayes, "and that despite the fact that it is Stanton's home town, and that Meyer Lissner and Judge Works live there."

Not bad news from Harvey. Press Agent Loughborough, who is also Ellery's lawyer in law is not in a mood to discuss the vote of any particular district. He insists that he wishes to be conservative and not oversanguine. He says that while he is confident that he believed when the case came to the attention of the grand jury that it referred to a former promise to allow bunken to conduct their operations in San Francisco, he is not sure that it is not borne out. He will not testify further that even if this construction was accepted no connection is shown between Flannery's friendship for the poolroom men and the actual robbery of Wood in the Sausalito fake poolroom, upon which the specific grand larceny charge against Flannery is based.

BURGLAR AT ST. FRANCIS HOTEL IS IDENTIFIED

Has Served Terms for Many Similar Offenses

The burglar who entered the room of E. E. Bunker on the ninth floor of the St. Francis hotel Monday morning and gave the name of Charles Mayer was identified by Detectives McPartland and Reagan of the identification bureau yesterday as a well known eastern hotel thief who has served terms in the eastern penitentiaries.

As James Kelly, "the artful dodger," he was arrested three times in Chicago, the last on June 2, 1902, for stealing $135 from a guest in the Leland hotel. In 1897 he was sentenced to serve five years in the Louisiana state penitentiary.

Secretary C. E. Edwards presented a general committee had done and suggested the idea of a permanent organization with office and office force at an expense of $6,000 a year for five years.

CLAPHAM RELIEVED OF GRAND LARCENY CHARGE

Statute of Limitations Bars the Minor Offense

The case of August J. Clapham, charged with grand larceny, which has been pending in Police Judge Deasy's court for several months, came to an abrupt conclusion yesterday afternoon. Clapham was accused of stealing a gold watch valued at $65 from Nordman Brothers, wholesale jewelers, while employed as their salesman September, 1907. It was admitted by Attorney Hanley for the prosecution yesterday that as the cases and the works were kept separate in the warehouse, the value of either would not bring the charge within grand larceny, and as the statute of limitations barred a charge of petty larceny, he asked that the case be dismissed. The order was made.

CHIEF MARTIN SHIFTS SPECIAL DUTY MEN

McQuaid, who have been doing special duty at the southern station, to the Potrero station and gave as his reason for the change the constant employment of the southern district and that they will be sent to other districts where more men are needed.

FORGING EXPANSION OF SAN FRANCISCO REALTY BROKERS

Businessmen Favor 'Merging' Oakland and Berkeley With the Metropolis

"The time is ripe for an earnest, energetic movement for a greater San Francisco," was the opinion of the greater San Francisco committee, as expressed in a resolution presented by N. B. Greensfelder of Oakland and adopted yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Merchants' Exchange building.

There were in attendance representatives from about three-fourths of the committee, with Warren Olney in the chair, who declared that much of the opposition to the movement which made itself manifest two years ago has disappeared and that "there is not a property owner in Oakland or Berkeley who is opposed to joining with San Francisco. The only opposition comes from the politicians. The world's fair in 1915 and the bringing of a water supply from Hetchy and the acquisition of nearly 10,000 men who favor good government, doing business in San Francisco, but disfranchised because they live across the bay, have brought about a change of feeling in this matter."

A report was made that there is a strong feeling in favor of annexing the northern end of San Mateo county as far down as a line just south of San Mateo.

Many of the committee expressed themselves and all were sanguine that nearly all the places facing San Francisco will in a short time be part of greater San Francisco on the borough system.

Secretary C. E. Edwards presented a general committee had done and suggested the idea of a permanent organization with office and office force at an expense of $6,000 a year for five years.

On motion of Joseph Rotschild the chairman was authorized to name an advisory committee of five to present a plan of campaign and consider the suggestions of the secretary.

Chairman Olney tendered his resignation on the ground that he will be absent from the state and because the work to be done should be undertaken by a younger man. No action was taken on the resignation.

William McKenney Loses His Trousers and Coin

William McKenney lives in the upper flat at 311 Linden avenue. He went to bed at 8 o'clock Monday night determined to see the comet. He awoke about 3:30 o'clock yesterday morning and discovered that his trousers, containing $41, were missing. A burglar had climbed up the sewer pipe to the bathroom window and made his way to McKenney's bedroom. The marks of the burglar's feet were visible on the window sill. The burglar had also entered by the bathroom window, the flat below occupied by M. Kanelakis, but the bathroom door was locked and he had been unable to force it open.
