

DELEGATES BACK AT RAILROAD BILL

Many Refuse Compromise Offered by Regular Republicans to Hasten Vote

Insurgents May Come to Aid of Party in Passage of Measure

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Beginning today with a fair prospect of an agreement between the "regular" republicans and the democrats which would permit an early vote upon the railroad bill, the senate concluded today's session in as great uncertainty as it has been at any time during consideration of the bill.

DEMOCRATS BALK

The first reports of the day indicated the strong probability of a large majority of the democrats, if not all of them, would agree to accept a proposition of the republicans to withdraw the last three sections of the bill relating to the capitalization of railroads. This arrangement was to have carried with it the adoption of an amendment presented by Senator Simmons to prohibit the lowering of railroad rates to destroy water competition and to give a place of advantage to the New Mexico and Arizona statehood bill.

ARCHBISHOP IRELAND CONSECRATES PRELATES NEAR SPOT WHERE FATHER HENNEPIN LANDED

ST. PAUL, May 19.—Significant of the growth of Catholicism in the new world was the ceremony performed by Archbishop Ireland in St. Paul today, by which for the first time since the church came to America six bishops were consecrated simultaneously.

MESSAGE RECEIVED FROM VATICAN CONVEYS BLESSING FROM POPE PIUS X

Archbishop Ireland today received a message from Pope Pius X congratulating the six new bishops on the consecration of the six new bishops.

PROGRESS IN PROVINCE

The archbishop, his nine bishops and his 600 priests out of 900 now in the province represented a Catholic population of 600,000. At the time the first bishop of St. Paul was consecrated 40 years ago there were two priests and perhaps 1,000 members of the church.

NAMES OF NEW BISHOPS

The bishops consecrated were: Rev. James O'Reilly of Minneapolis, bishop of Fargo, N. D.; Rev. John J. Lawler, cathedral of St. Paul, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of St. Paul.

EVENT OF GREAT MOMENT

As an event of great moment in the Catholic church the ceremony is said by ecclesiastical historians to have been shadowed but once in modern times, when the pope himself consecrated 14 new French bishops, and the only ceremony in the United States which approximated it in significance was when Archbishop Ireland consecrated Bishops Shanley, McGolrick and Cotter at the same time.

Archbishop Ireland Consecrates Prelates Near Spot Where Father Hennepin Landed

ST. PAUL, May 19.—Significant of the growth of Catholicism in the new world was the ceremony performed by Archbishop Ireland in St. Paul today, by which for the first time since the church came to America six bishops were consecrated simultaneously.

These six new bishops of St. Paul received their commission at the hands of the venerable metropolitan, assisted by two of his remaining bishops, in the chapel of St. Paul seminary almost precisely at the spot where the venerable Father Hennepin, the first Christian missionary to the region of the future province, landed on the bank of the Mississippi, "a league below the falls of St. Anthony," 230 years ago.

VESSEL BEACHED WHILE IN FLAMES

Lifeboat Upsets and Cook Receives Injuries From Which He Dies

PORTLAND, May 19.—The gasoline schooner J. Marhoffer, from San Francisco May 14 for Portland, was burned to the water's edge yesterday near Fogarty creek, about 20 miles north of Yaquina bay. News of the disaster reached here today by telephone from the Cape Foulweather lighthouse, where three members of the crew arrived.

According to George Hasstoft, the engineer, the fire started yesterday in the engine room from gasoline, which escaped, it is believed, from a leaky pipe. Hasstoft, who was on watch at the time, had come on deck for a moment, and when he started to ascend into the engine room he discovered the interior a mass of flames. He ran to Captain Gus Peterson, who, realizing that the tanks were likely to explode at any moment, headed his craft for shore, more than a mile distant.

The Marhoffer made this distance without mishap and ran on to a sloping reef about half a mile off the mouth of Fogarty creek. The Marhoffer's two boats were launched. First Mate H. Johnson and Mrs. Peterson, the master's wife, and eight of the crew left in the first one.

The second boat containing Captain Peterson and the remaining eight of the crew was fouled by a breaker as it was leaving the Marhoffer's side and overturned, throwing all the occupants into the water. The mate's boat stood by and rescued all of them. All but the cook were uninjured. He had been struck while struggling in the water and was so severely hurt that he died during the night.

By this time the flames had broken out on the upper works of the Marhoffer and 15 minutes later the vessel was a mass of flames. The schooner continued to burn well into the night. The shipwrecked party landed at the mouth of Fogarty creek, and finding it deserted but near by all but three of them spent the night there, without fire or wood and drenched to the skin. The remaining three, who composed a rescue party headed by Hasstoft, set out for Newport to secure assistance, but in their exhausted condition were able only to reach Cape Foulweather by daybreak today. From there the news of the disaster was telephoned to Newport and wagons were at once sent to bring the other members of the party to this place.

The J. Marhoffer was owned by the Olson & Mahony company of San Francisco, but was being operated by Beadle Brothers in the coast lumber trade, under a year's charter. The vessel was valued at $40,000 and carried a crew of 18. There were no passengers on board and the vessel was in ballast.

Captain G. Peterson, who was accompanied by his wife, was in command. The other officers were first mate, H. Johnson; second mate, Charles A. J. Knox; chief engineer, George Hasstoft, and assistant engineer, Joseph Kane.

JURY IS DIGGING FOR CORRUPTION

Investigation of Manufacturers' Association Is Begun in Chicago

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 19.—For more than four hours today John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, was before the Sangamon county grand jury investigating alleged legislative corruption.

The manufacturers' association has been mentioned in connection with efforts to defeat factory legislation. It is said during the hearing the Illinois steel company and the Iroquois steel company were named in connection with the grant by the state of valuable lands in South Chicago.

Both of these companies are members of the Manufacturers' association. Under the terms of the grant, so it is claimed, the Illinois steel company and the Iroquois iron company were to be given land in South Chicago said to be worth $3,000,000 for $200,000.

The appearance of Glenn before the grand jury is indirectly the result of charges made by Prof. Graham Taylor of Chicago that the Illinois Manufacturers' association had used undue influence to kill bills which the association opposed.

Glenn brought with him checks, vouchers and so forth, as ordered by State's Attorney Burke. He said the association had a membership of 1,200, that the annual assessment is $40, and that a special assessment has never been made.
