The Smart Set

PEDESTRIANS and automobilists, take warning. When you hear a bell ring, look out for Merritt Reid. She is dashing around town daily in a smart electric, and is so expert that it takes one's breath away to see her pass between a car and wagon without touching a thing. One would not be surprised if it were just Merritt, as she is so petite and dainty that she does not need much room, but her electric is one of the usual size and commands the respect, attention and space of similar danger lurking horseless carriages.

Another proof of her complete mastery is that she is not only able to follow the conversation of her companion, but has ideas of her own, which she expresses in a comprehensible language, so it is a pleasure to drive out with her. Usually the novice punctuates her remarks with and interrupts her guest by "electric talk," which is understood only by those intensely interested in electrics and, consequently, familiar with the terms.

It is annoying to accompany one of these enthusiasts, whose eyes are riveted every second on the road, who does not dare look up to greet a friend and whose constant exclamations are about the "accelerator," the "speed" or something clever that only she knows she has accomplished.

A good, wide, lonely road is the proper place for a woman in an electric until she becomes an adept.

I believe that nearly every girl of our smart set will want one in her Christmas stocking, and, indeed, I hope Santa Claus will be indulgent, as they are delightful modes of conveyance and are most becoming.

It is a real pleasure to see chic little Merritt Reid, as animated and cordial at the wheel as she is when out for a walk, and apparently totally oblivious of any responsibility. Marian and Elizabeth Newhall and Julia Langton ought to send a letter up the chimney—they would be stunning, and Julia would be a fearless chauffeur.

Agnes Tillmann, Marian Zeile and Florence Hopkins will certainly join the whirl before long and indulge in this attractive feminine dangerous sport.

One suggestion from a keen observer: Please follow Merritt Reid's example and wear a small, jaunty hat. Picture hats with plumes are decidedly inappropriate and would spoil the charming ensemble.

The engagement and wedding news holds the most conspicuous place in society annals of the day and the bride elect has almost a monopoly of social attention this week. One of the surprises of the month was the announcement yesterday that Miss Grace Holt was to be the bride of Ralph Lohman at a wedding to be celebrated Thursday, June 3, in the Swedenborgian church. There really has not been a formal announcement of the betrothal and the wedding cards sent out yesterday were the first intimation many friends of the young couple had of the interesting news. The engagement was told a few days ago at an informal dinner given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Holt, but there were only relatives and a few close friends at the engagement party. The news was practically a secret until the wedding cards disclosed the romantic fact. Miss Holt is a sister of Parker Holt and of Mrs. David Leith McKay, who was Miss Edith Holt. The family home is at Mountain View, but the bride elect is a favorite in the local set and has been in town a great part of the time. After a brief wedding journey the young couple will reside at Mountain View.

Miss Marie Churchill, the fiancee of Martyn Haenke, has been the fete guest at several of the recent teas and luncheons. She has been entertained in San Mateo and each occasion the young people who are to be in the bridal party have been in the group. Miss Churchill was the complimented guest at a luncheon given yesterday by Miss Angela Coyle at the home of the latter in Jackson street. Miss Coyle is to be the maid of honor at the wedding in June. The reunion yesterday was a charming affair and there were about a score of guests. The decorations were pink carnations.

The Army and Navy club is to entertain at a large theater party to be given Friday evening, June 3, at the Alcazar, and many of the seats are already reserved for the occasion. Most of the boxes have been sold and the society will be out in force at the party. The custom of a service party at the theater is after the rule that is observed in New York and Washington, where these occasions are of great social moment. It is expected that the initial theater party given by the local club will attract the officers from all the posts about the bay and that the society contingent will crowd the house. The officers will be in full dress uniforms and with the effective gowns the scene will be brilliant and exceptional for the city. The committee in charge of the affair is composed of several capable officers, among them being Captain J. G. Berry, Captain F. Stopford and Rev. Robert Senon, recently appointed chaplain of the naval reserves. Among those who have secured boxes for the evening are: Mrs. Eleanor Martin, Captain and Mrs. John G. Berry, Colonel J. C. W. Brooks, Captain and Mrs. A. L. B. Davies, Colonel C. G. Woodard, Captain and Mrs. Frederick Stopford, Major J. P. Thompson.

Mrs. Charles F. Nash, the wife of Lieutenant Nash of the revenue cutter service, has been enjoying an extended visit in the east. She has been visiting her son, Monroe Nash, in Springfield, where she passed several weeks, and will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Abbott, in Fairfax county, Virginia, during the later summer.

Mrs. Louis F. Cockroft will leave in a few days for Honolulu, where she will remain for several weeks. Mrs. Cockroft will be accompanied by her two daughters, Miss Thoda and Miss Charlotte Cockroft.

WOMEN PLAN FETE AT VACATION CAMP

The new school of employment in the Trocadero canyon at Nineteenth avenue and Sloat boulevard, Parkside, will open tomorrow afternoon, May 28, with an outdoor fete. (The celebration of the opening of the vacation camp for women will last from 1 until 6 o'clock, and a special car service will be maintained for the benefit of those who wish to attend. Cars will run via the Ocean-Ellis line over Twentieth avenue, in Wawona to Nineteenth avenue and stop at the entrance to the grounds. The Ingleside car, connecting with the Parkside beach line, will also pass the entrance.

The Trocadero canyon is of special interest to San Franciscans, as the father of the present owner settled there in the early forties and planted the trees which now form a part of the Suto forest and the park around the Trocadero hotel. The place may be said to be identified with the early history of the city. The training given there will include designing, millinery, jewelry making, domestic science and horticulture. The place is admirably adapted for outdoor life and sheltered from wind and sun.

The fete will be under the management of Miss H. C. Richardson, director of the school. She will be assisted by a number of other equally well known women, including Mrs. Henry C. Meyer, Mrs. L. L. Fletcher, Mrs. C. S. Alkon, Mrs. E. L. Stebbins, Mrs. Elizabeth Gerberding and Mrs. Charles A. Hawkins.

STOCK EXCHANGE SUSPENDS BROKERS

E. F. Hutton & Co. Suffer for Advancing Salary of Manager of Department

Notice was received yesterday by R. E. Mulcahy, local manager for the well known brokerage firm of E. F. Hutton & Co. of this city and New York, of the firm's suspension from the New York stock exchange for the period of one year for the infraction of one of the bylaws of the exchange. Although unexpected, the suspension will not interfere in any way with the firm's business or financial standing, and transactions will be carried on through the local office just as before.

The suspension was the result of the ruling of the governing body of the New York stock exchange to the effect that, in advancing the salary of the manager of one of its departments, the firm of E. F. Hutton & Co. was guilty of violating a rule of the exchange prohibiting the payment of money to an employee for creating business. The implication that such a reason related the advance in the salary of the employee in question is denied, however, by both the New York and San Francisco heads of the brokerage firm.

BUSINESS NOT AFFECTED

While the order of suspension will prevent E. F. Hutton & Co. from active dealing on the stock exchange, arrangements have been made so that the firm's business will be carried on through other firms without interference in any way. It is generally understood here, and advices from New York yesterday bore out the belief, that the penalty will not be exacted in full and that the suspension will be withdrawn within six months.

The suspension in no way affects the firm's dealings on the cotton exchange nor the continuance of its wire service carrying the quotations of the New York stock exchange. E. F. Hutton & Co. is generally understood here, and advices from New York yesterday bore out the belief, that the penalty will not be exacted in full and that the suspension will be withdrawn within six months.

FIRM EXPLAINS ACTION

Mulcahy yesterday received the following telegram from the New York office of the firm explaining the matter of the suspension:

New York City, May 25, 1910.

R. E. Mulcahy, local manager.

As a result of a case which was brought against us before the New York stock exchange, we have been suspended from the exchange. We are sorry that we were employing a man who was guilty of such a serious offense. We have taken our statement to imply that the salary which we gave him in 1909 was a result of the business which he created for E. F. Hutton & Co. during the three preceding years and accordingly has found us guilty of violating section 34 of the bylaws of the exchange and has accordingly suspended us for one year.

We are absolutely innocent of this charge, for we did not increase his salary as a result of the past business and we so explained to the committee, but it has found us guilty of being a man a salary for creating business.

We will continue our business as usual, and we hope that our friends will show their faith and consideration in continuing us their confidence.

Arrangements have been made for the same prompt executions of business as heretofore and we will continue to finance our business as heretofore so that people giving us their business will enjoy the same service and consideration as heretofore.

PATROLMAN ACQUITTED BY POLICE COMMISSION

Four Members of Force Divide Reward of $500

The police commissioners met yesterday afternoon and dismissed a charge against Policeman James E. Cottie of using unnecessary violence in arresting Emil Goldman, grocer, 1695 Geary street, on May 10, for dumping garbage in a vacant lot adjoining his store. The application of Detectives T. J. Bailey and George M. Geimann and Policemen E. G. Pligerson and L. J. Becker to accept a reward of $500 given by the state of Washington for the arrest of Charles J. Wertzler, charged with the murder of his mother in law, Mrs. Henry Schulz, at Gigg harbor last month, was granted.

O. A. Twitmore made the presentation speech.

It is learned that union men will construct the new building to be erected in San Quentin prison. A committee from sheet metal workers' union No. 216 is holding meetings Saturday night in the Building Trades temple. Members should make a note of this change.

HOOKWORM HELD HUSBAND AT HOME

Woman Says Spouse Remained in House and Refused to Try to Work

The hookworm as a disturber of matrimonial affairs made its appearance in Judge Graham's court yesterday.

"We were married in February, 1907," testified Mrs. Florence Jones in her suit for divorce from William H. Jones, "but my husband never worked. He just stayed around the house and refused to try to earn a cent. Finally I had to go to my father's to live."

"Why, this man must have the hookworm," exclaimed the Judge.

"Yes, I believe he has, though I never thought of that explanation before," said Mrs. Jones. She was granted a divorce.

The racy expressions of his business crept into the language used by George Henry Lewis, a stable proprietor, to his wife, Josephine, according to the testimony of the latter in her suit for divorce tried by Judge Morgan yesterday.

"The gates are open. You can drive out," said Lewis to his wife when she complained of his conduct relative to other women. Judge Morgan allowed her a divorce.

A difference of opinion developed between Judge Van Nostrand and Emil Steppenbeck, partner in a florist store, yesterday after Catherine Steppenbeck had been granted a divorce on the ground of desertion.

"In the matter of alimony $30 a month is as far as I will go," insisted Steppenbeck.

"You will go just as far as the court directs you," said Judge Van Nostrand. "Do you think $40 a month too much to give this woman and her child?"

"Yes, I think it is too much," the florist answered.

"Well, that's just where we differ," said the Judge. "You will pay $40 a month alimony."

Divorces were granted yesterday as follows:

By Judge Cabanis—Etta A. Whitmarsh from Frederick C. Whitmarsh, desertion; Mary Ogle from John Ogle, desertion.

By Judge Seawell—Victoria Neel from Frederick Elbert Neel, desertion.

By Judge Van Nostrand—Dorothea C. Desjardins from Arthur O. Desjardins, desertion; Anna J. Fearn from George Fearn, desertion; Elsie J. Venters from Sherman G. Venters, cruelty.

By Judge Sturtevant—Emma Cranford from James A. Cranford, cruelty.

Suits for divorce were begun yesterday by:

Sarah P. Grant against Edward P. Grant, desertion.

Margaret Millward against John Millward, cruelty.

Elva Twomey against Edward Twomey, cruelty.

Mary Dower against Joseph L. Dower, willful neglect.

Just Think! Not Even One-Tenth of Lard is Leaf Lard!

Here is what the leading lard packer says in a recent advertisement: "Leaf is the cream of lards. There is not enough of it to supply one-tenth of the people, and so it goes only to those who insist upon it."

Does it not stand to reason that if there is only enough of the proper fat produced to make pure leaf lard to supply one-tenth of the demand that the chances are ten to one against your getting pure lard? The only absolute protection against getting common hog fat when you buy lard is by buying Cottolene instead. Cottolene is a pure vegetable product—made from cotton seed oil, refined by our exclusive process. It contains no hog fat and makes palatable, nourishing food which will agree with the most sensitive stomach.
