

LEE HAS LOST THE CADILLAC AGENCY

Cole-Morrison Motor Car Company Secures the Much Prized Business

By R. R. L'HOMMEDIU
As foretold in The Call, Cuyler Lee has lost the Cadillac agency, although at the time of the announcement he professed not to know that any change was contemplated.

Yesterday a telegram was received from the Cole-Morrison motor car company, headed by Captain F. W. Cole and A. E. Morrison, dated Boston, which says:

We have signed contracts to handle Cadillac in the territory north of Bakersfield and in Nevada after July 1 under the firm name of the Morrison-Cole motor company. We will be able to deliver 1911 cars after July with marked improvement in car over 1910 models. We will have 500 cars for our share in above territory. We will return about July 1 and establish temporary quarters. Our permanent quarters will be in the new building of the Pacific motor car company.

The "wise ones" in automobilizeddom are now speculating on how soon there will be a change in the Packard agency, taking into consideration the reasons which caused the somewhat abrupt change of the Cadillac representation in this territory from Lee's hands to the new concern.

Henry D. McCoy of Chanslor & Lyon left yesterday on a little vacation trip to Los Angeles. Although going for pleasure, McCoy will attend to some business matters while in the southern city.

S. G. Chapman, who handles the Hippobline and Oakland cars, reports the sale of an Oakland "thirty" touring car to Pennington Nelson, the well known motor enthusiast of this city. Nelson has owned 16 automobiles, two of which have been Oakland cars.

Manager Kennedy of the Consolidated vehicle company reports that he has closed with Allen Bryant of San Jose for the agency of the McFarlan Six.

Black Crow for Santa Clara county and the firm will be known as the McFarlan sales company. Bryant took a McFarlan and two Black Crow demonstrators.

SAGE FOR DARKENING THE HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderful beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time, tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the brew. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready made product. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy. The Smart Set

THROUGH an unfortunate coincidence it is suspected that a young man in our local smart set knows the secrets of the boudoir in the home of one of our prominent girls, and all on account of an accidental exchange of suitcases. Both were invited down the peninsula for over Sunday visits by hostesses who live quite a distance apart.

Wishing to do a little shopping before her departure, the young woman made an early start and, selecting a shop on account of its proximity to the Third street car, asked permission to leave her suitcase for a short time. On finishing her errands she reached Kearny street as a car was approaching. Rushing into the shop, she seized the suitcase and was soon on her way to the train, chatting merrily on the car with a man friend, who gallantly relieved her of the cumbersome burden. On the train he pushed it under the seat and their conversation continued until they reached their destination.

Meanwhile pressure of business had detained a young man at his office until just time to pick up his suitcase, which he had left at the same shop, and not until he reached the home of his friends in the country did he notice his mistake. His discoveries and hers would prove that man has a great advantage over woman.

She found an evening suit, dress shirt, silk socks, a pair of pajamas, a razor and a few uninteresting accessories such as she had many times packed for her brother; but he could have found besides the dinner gown the laciest lingerie, bunches of pink ribbons, her best and longest switch, a few extra puffs, some pink powder—for the nails, I suppose—a stick of pink lip salve—for fever blisters—and many dainty bits of feminine apparel.

Of course, he laughed and thought it was a good joke, but she was in a desperate frame of mind and confided in her hostess, who found a familiar monogram which revealed the identity of the young man. A few telephone messages disclosed his whereabouts, an automobile was pressed into service and the suitcases were restored to their anxious owners.

The situation is still embarrassing, and every one concerned is sworn to secrecy.

The dinner parties given before the hop last evening at the Presidio were a series of charming affairs and more than usually elaborate. The hop was one of the most enjoyable given this season at the post and was in compliment to the officers of the Fifth field artillery and their wives. The officers' club was effectively decorated with flags and ferns, while scores of pretty gowns added to the attractive scene. The arrangements for the dance were under the direction of Captain John Burke Murphy of the coast artillery and Lieutenant George E. Goodrich of the Third infantry. The dinner parties that formed an important part of the festive program were given by Captain and Mrs. George Grimes, Lieutenant and Mrs. W. A. Carleton, Lieutenant and Mrs. Hillen Olin. There were several of the younger girls from town at the hop as well as many officers from the garrisons out of the city. Among those in the receiving line were Colonel and Mrs. John Lundene, Colonel and Mrs. Charles St. John Chubb, Major and Mrs. E. A. Miller, Captain and Mrs. Thomas Quincey Ashburn, Lieutenant and Mrs. C. J. Liniger.

Miss Helen Jones entertained several of the younger girls at an informal luncheon yesterday at her home in Buchanan street. The completed guest of the occasion was the sister of the hostess, Mrs. Webb Ballard, who is visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jones. Miss Jones is going to Seattle with Mrs. Ballard later in the month, and will remain in the northern city for an extended visit.

Mrs. Phebe Hearst entertained a few friends at an informal luncheon yesterday at the Fairmont. Among those entertained at other tables at luncheon on the same occasion were Miss Violet Buckley and Mrs. J. Parker Whitney.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gerber of Sacramento are in town for a few days, and are receiving a cordial greeting from their friends here. They will be at the Palace during their stay and will be entertained at an informal series of dinner and luncheon parties this week.

Mrs. Marcus Koshland has returned to town after an early summer outing at Yosemite, where she passed a fortnight with a party of friends. Among those who left the city are Mr. and Mrs. Emil Greenbaum, who have taken their family for a visit of several weeks.

CASH PAID OUT BY HER MOTHER IN LAW
Elizabeth Conway Sues Johanna Connell for $2,027

The trial began in Judge Graham's court yesterday of the suit in which Elizabeth G. Conway is endeavoring to recover from Johanna Connell $2,027.34 alleged to have been paid by the late Mary Conway while the latter was mentally unsound. The money was withdrawn from bank by Mary Conway February 13, 1907.

That date there was on file a petition to have her declared incompetent and 12 days later the superior court pronounced her mentally unsound and appointed a guardian.

The money was not definitely traced to Johanna Connell, but bank records were introduced showing that about the time the decedent withdrew her money the same sum was deposited to the account of "Johanna Collins," which is the maiden name of Johanna Conway.

Elizabeth G. Conway, who is suing for the recovery of the money, is a daughter in law of the decedent.

Secretary Emil Muri of the brewery workers' union is in Los Angeles. He reports that the struggle for better conditions for men in his craft is progressing favorably. He states that the State brewers' association has refused to supply the Newman brewery of Napa with malt because Napa beer has been sent into the southern city. Further, Muri asserts that the State brewers' association threatens to flood the entire Napa valley with outside beer and ruin Newman's trade. The labor unionists of Los Angeles are calling for the Newman beer, hence the action of the State brewers' association.

The labor organizations throughout the state will be asked to take this matter up and protect the Newman beer. The matter will probably be brought before the building trades council tonight and the labor council tomorrow night.

JEWS of THE LABOR of THE WORLD

All contracts have been signed for three years in the brewery business in Sacramento. The San Francisco wage scale prevails in the capital city.

The many friends in and out of the labor movement of W. W. Freeland, business agent of the bay counties district council of carpenters, will be pained to learn that he is lying dangerously ill in the hospital. About two months ago he was taken to the hospital, and the latest from his bedside was that he was in a very serious condition.

R. M. Uglov, the oldest member of the amalgamated society of carpenters and joiners in this country, died Sunday and was buried yesterday. He was a member for 48 years, joining two years after the birth of the organization. Uglov was a member of branch 1 and had held many responsible positions in the order, always filling them with credit to himself and the society. At the last meeting of branch 3 it adjourned in respect to his memory, and a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions and provide a floral piece for the funeral.

Branch 3 has elected the following officers: President, F. W. Merriman; vice president, J. Danahy; check steward, M. Duxbury and George Staff; door keeper, C. Schenck; delegates to the district council of carpenters, F. W. Merriman and D. F. Pemberton; delegates to the building trades council, George Staff and M. Duxbury.

Business agent Thomas White was chosen delegate to the international convention by stablemen's union Tuesday night. The convention is to begin the first Monday in August at Peoria, Ill. William Mathieson was chosen alternate. A donation of $20 was sent to the striking iron workers in Los Angeles. At the next meeting the subject of levying a monthly assessment to aid the men in the southern city fighting for an eight hour day will be taken up.

The social club, whose members are found in all branches of the amalgamated society of carpenters, will hold a smoker in sheet metal workers' hall June 26. A program is being arranged which will please the audience.

After the business meeting of branch 1, amalgamated society of carpenters and joiners next Friday night in Building Trades union, a women's party will be given at which members are invited to bring their lady friends.

Organizer Stuart Reid, who is representing the American federation of labor in Los Angeles, came up yesterday from the "seat of war" and makes an encouraging report as to the outcome of the struggle for a shorter work day in that city. He believes that with the "sneezes of war" promised by trade unionists the battle will be a decisive victory for the forces of organized labor.

Waitresses' union has decided to make a monthly donation to aid the men on strike in Los Angeles. At the last meeting Julia Haidigan was chosen a trustee and Letitia Smith, Maude Edwards and Julia Haidigan were appointed a committee to visit the sick. Twelve candidates were initiated and 18 applications received. At the next meeting non-union officers will be in order, the election taking place June 27.

Before going to the St. Francis hotel, Mrs. Haasler, who at one time was confined in the Clark sanitarium at Stockton, had gone to the Marx hotel and to the Stewart hotel, where she had created some disturbance by wandering aimlessly about the halls, refusing to go to bed and talking in an excited and unintelligible manner.

Max H. Greenberg, a local salesman, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday in the United States district court. His liabilities are scheduled at $2,970.61, with no assets.

DEMENTED WOMAN IN THE ST. FRANCIS

Wife of Santa Rosa Druggist, on Suicide Bent, Is Taken to Hospital

Mrs. Elvia Haasler, the wife of A. J. Haasler, a Santa Rosa druggist, was found wandering around the St. Francis hotel in an apparently demented condition by Police Officer W. Healy at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and removed to the city detention hospital.

From a letter found upon her, Mrs. Haasler, who is about 35 years old, may have intended taking her life. This letter, addressed to relatives in Albany, Ore., reads: "To Opla, and all: By the time this reaches you I will be no more, Elvie."

YOU CAN ORDER your COAL by TELEPHONE?

THE TELEPHONE is the coal man's best salesman.

Many of his customers he never sees, for their orders come by wire and their checks by mail.

If you move into a new house or have an unexpected need of fuel, you can often save a day's time by telephoning your order.

In the mining and shipping of coal, the Bell Telephone has become an important factor. The wholesale markets and sources of supply are kept in constant touch with the Bell Long Distance Service and the danger of a coal famine greatly reduced.
