

MOTHER HURLED TO DEATH WITH CHILD IN ARMS

Mrs. Bernard Garrity of Boulder Creek Killed by Motor Torpedo Train

Car Overtakes Family While Walking on Trestle Without Sounding Any Warning

Woman Claps and Saves Her Daughter When Thrown 40 Feet Below Track

SANTA CRUZ, June 19.—With her 6 year old daughter clasped in her arms, Mrs. Garrity, wife of Bernard Garrity, a prominent resident of Boulder Creek, was hurled to death from a 40 foot railroad trestle between Boulder Creek and Brookdale today, when she was struck by a motor torpedo train.

The child was seriously injured. Two other children were knocked off the trestle by the train, but escaped with minor injuries.

The mother, accompanied by her three children and husband, was walking along the track for an afternoon stroll. Garrity was in the lead and was followed by his daughter, Marjory, aged 12, and his son, George, 10 years of age. In the rear was the 6 year old daughter and the mother walked a few steps behind her.

New Service Installed

A new motor service was installed on the branch line last week, and of this fact the family evidently was in ignorance. The road is winding and made all the more dangerous by a heavy fringe of trees on either side.

None knew of the approach of the car until it turned a curve and was upon them from the rear. The father was the first to see the danger and shouted to his wife, calling to her to jump back from the trestle and to safety.

Elder Children Escape

The two elder children had not time to jump from the trestle, but with great presence of mind stepped to its edge and clung to a rail, holding each other's hands. The car in passing struck them slightly, but with sufficient force to loosen their precarious hold and knock them to the creek bottom 40 feet below. The father, who was far in the lead, had ample time to step off the tracks.

Engineer Martin Baker of the switch engine was seriously hurt and the brakeman on the car he was pushing was slightly injured. Five horses belonging to the circus were killed. There were no casualties on this train.

Girl Courted by Mail Tells Spouse She Does Not Love Him and Is Shot

CHICO, June 19.—At the meeting of the board of trustees of the Chico state normal school yesterday sensational charges were presented against Dr. C. C. Van Liew, president of the institution, by Miss Ada Clark, until recently a student at the school. Miss Clark told the trustees that President Van Liew, while she was in his office at the normal, placed his arm around her waist, attempted to kiss her, at the same time uttering words of endearment and telling her how impressed he was with her personal charms.

Dr. Van Liew denied the charges, and the board took no action upon them, but it is said that the end of the matter is not yet in sight. The charge and the appearance of Miss Clark before the board had re-elected Van Liew president for the ensuing year.

Beautiful Girl

Miss Clark is one of the most beautiful young women at the state normal. She is a sister of Rev. C. Todd Clark, pastor of the Broadway Methodist church, South, of this city, and he accompanied her before the meeting of the board and introduced her with a preliminary statement of the charge of misconduct against Van Liew.

When questioned by members of the board Miss Clark told a straightforward story, and after the executive session was over it was said that her story had made an impression upon the trustees. She said she was alone with Doctor Van Liew in his office a few weeks ago, and while they were seated on a lounge he leaned toward her, slipped his arm around her waist, at the same time expressing his admiration for her beauty. She said he tried to kiss her, pulling her toward him, but she sprang from his embrace, indignantly commanding that he keep his distance. She administered a severe reprimand to him and then fled from the office.

Formal Complaint

She told her brother, Rev. C. Todd Clark, and he persuaded her to appear before the board and tell her story and at the same time lodge a formal complaint.

The board held a lively session after hearing Miss Clark. For two hours the members argued the matter, but no official action was taken. At the end of the discussion the matter was dropped for the time being.

It is understood that Clark and his sister will press the charges and demand a full investigation. Teachers in the school, Professors Stamper and Johnson and Mrs. McQuade, Miss Jones and Miss Barkley, testified. They said that they had not seen or known of anything which would lend color to the charge against Van Liew.

IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS MAY STRIKE

Demand Sanitary Conditions in Peking Classrooms

PEKING, June 19.—All foreign professors in the imperial university, numbering 10 Europeans, 3 Americans and 4 Japanese, have signed a round robin declaring that they will refuse to continue their courses unless measures are taken at once to remedy the unsanitary conditions of the dormitories and class rooms. This has been sent to the Chinese administration.

A result of prevailing conditions there have been outbreaks of typhoid fever, diphtheria and smallpox. Up to the present time the Chinese authorities have paid no attention to the protests, which have several times been made by the foreign professors.

WITNESSES TRAGEDY

About the middle of the afternoon Mrs. Petrinovitch, who was sitting with her daughter in a room under that occupied by the couple, was disturbed when it did not cease and finally the elder woman went up stairs and knocked on the door.

"Let me in, Jerry," she said. "I cannot," he replied. The woman on the outside attempted to open the door, but found that it was locked. She persisted in her attempt and finally the young wife asked her husband to unlock the door. He opened it slightly and the old woman promptly forced her way in, walking by the husband. Hardly had she done this when Petrinovitch sprang forward and pulled a pistol out of a coat hanging on a chair. He began firing immediately at his wife, who was lying on a bed, and then cut his throat with a large knife, after slaying his bride.

A. T. HATCH FOUND DEAD IN RAVINE

Once Wealthy Fruit Grower Disappears Two Weeks Ago From Masonic Home

FOUR GOVERNORS NEAR TO DEATH

During Wild Auto Ride in Storm Lightning Showers Sparks Over Machine

DECATO, June 19.—In the bottom of a ravine near here there was found today the dead body of A. T. Hatch, at one time one of the wealthiest and foremost fruit growers of the Sacramento valley, but at the time of his death an inmate of the Masonic home, the years having stripped him of his fortune.

In the early days of the fruit growing industry of California Hatch was recognized as a leader, and he was one of the figures in the lobby of the old Palace hotel of San Francisco, where he transacted some of his biggest deals and where he met with the biggest growers in the state.

Meeting with a series of reverses, Hatch made a desperate effort to stave off oncoming poverty by joining in the rush to the Klondike. The effort proved futile. Worn out with the struggle and penniless, he came back to San Francisco. A short time ago he entered the Masonic home. The ill fate which had dogged his heels for the last years remained with him to his death. Two weeks ago he left the home for a walk, and the presumption is that, enfeebled and sick, he lost his footing and fell down the steep ravine. He lay where he fell for two weeks. His nonappearance resulted in a search, but it was not until today that his body was found.

Hatch was a pioneer of Suisun valley, where he once held extensive interests. He is survived by a daughter, the wife of Dr. P. C. Campbell of Richmond.

FIGHT TO BE HELD IN NEVADA

Tex Rickard Definitely Announces That Fight Will Go to Sagebrush State

SILENCE PRESERVED BY MAYOR MCCARTHY

Governor Gillett Denies Rumors That He May Have Change of Heart

TEX RICKARD NERVOUS, BUT KEEPS UP HOPE

Shortly after midnight this morning Tex Rickard announced that the fight will take place in Nevada July 4. Rickard will leave for Reno this morning at 10:40. He says he will decide upon the location of the battle ground as soon as he reaches the Sagebrush state and confers with the committee from Reno and Goldfield.

THOSE who had expected some announcement from Mayor McCarthy on the prize fight situation yesterday were doomed to disappointment, in spite of the tinfoil anxiety which has kept the sporting fraternity speculating on his probable action during the last 48 hours. The mayor has maintained a sphinxlike silence, in spite of the action of the labor council and of Acting Mayor Kelly in condemning Governor Gillett.

It was expected that an important meeting would be held yesterday between attorneys and officials and that McCarthy would make some announcement for publication last night. Instead, the mayor insisted that no conference had been arranged and that he had distanced the situation with nobody. Before reaching Sacramento, after leaving Reno on his way west, McCarthy had an hour's conference on the train with Attorney Cleveland L. Dam, who had hurried to meet him before he arrived at the Oakland mole. While nothing was announced at that time, Dam's dual position as counsel for the mayor and attorney for Blot, the promoter, raised the presumption that some declaration would be made by the city executive as soon as he had an opportunity to settle himself after his long journey. Further assurance of a probable statement was given when the Hotelmen's association, headed by Kirk Harris, who had declared Gillett's action ill advised, crossed the bay to Sixteenth street depot and conferred with him privately in his section on the overland.

The sporting men at the hotels and about the city, straining to hear one word of hope from McCarthy were forced to retire, with the prospect of moving on Reno considerably greater. "There is absolutely nothing for me to say now," said McCarthy last night at his home. "I have spent the day with my wife and friends and have attended no conference. I have only given my attention to a few social engagements and as yet have taken up nothing in the nature of municipal business. The entire day has been spent in taking a ride about the city and dining with company. I have nothing to announce on the prize fight situation or other matters of a civic nature."

This announcement was made at 9:30 o'clock. At that time the mayor was retiring. When it was learned that nothing new had developed visions of Reno became clearer to those who had expected something sensational or new from the lips of the city's chief executive.

"AW, WHAT'S THE USE," IS BLOT'S CONCLUSION

After mature consideration and much weighty consultation, Louis Blot, promoter of the unfought Langford-Kaufman fight, came to the conclusion yesterday that it would be an exceedingly unwise policy for him to attempt to force the hand of Governor James N. Gillett by having a test fight, as he originally planned, there having arisen a healthy doubt in his mind as to the weight the aforesaid hand carried and the direction it would fall. Accordingly he declared there would be no fight, for, quoth he:

"What's the use, anyways?" Blot's scheme was a marvel of simplicity. On being balked from holding the Langford-Kaufman battle he decided to have two third raters enter the ring this afternoon and pull off a contest according to the rules under which the big fight was arranged. Thereupon the governor, in accordance with his expressed opinions, was to declare martial law, break up the fight and allow an opening wedge for the courts to interfere. Then it was to
