WOMAN SLAIN AND HUSBAND WOUNDED

Lodger's Dread of Insane Asylum Leads to Tragedy in Oakland Home

Murderer Became Morose When Victim Laughed at Him and Shooting Resulted

OAKLAND, Aug. 4.—Dread of the insane asylum impelled William Cooper, 52 years old, an employe of a coal dealer, to kill Mrs. Margaret Buss in her kitchen at 1248 Myrtle street at 6 o'clock this morning and then mortally wound her husband, Hurley Buss, who had been the murderer's close friend for years.

There was one witness of the shooting of Buss, 16 year old Mabel Buss, who heard the screams and the shots and reached the kitchen just as Cooper fired point blank at her father. The wounded man staggered to the wall, and Mrs. Buss rushed to his aid. The murderer, who stood staring, took her arm by the arm and led him to her bedroom. There Buss fainted. His daughter barricaded the door with a chair. He recovered his senses just in time to hear a third shot, the one with which Cooper killed himself.

For several minutes Mabel Buss and her 10 year old sister, May, waited in the bedroom with the landlady, Mrs. P. McKay. When finally they ventured out, they found Mrs. Buss dead and Cooper gasping on the floor. Policeman Merrick, who heard the pistol reports in the street, arrived with several other policemen. Mrs. Buss' body went to the morgue, while Buss and Cooper were rushed to the receiving hospital.

If Cooper could have talked the police might have been able to close up their investigation at once, but as the murderer was uncooperative, his motive may be known only from his remarks days before the shooting. He came here from New York with Buss and family, and when they rented three rooms at the Myrtle street house he took one. Both men got work with E. P. Hughes, a coal dealer at Eighth and Market streets, brother in law of their landlady, Mrs. McKay.

Cooper, it seems, asked to win Mrs. Buss' regard, and became morose when she laughed at him. A few nights ago, according to the two daughters, he became angry because Buss had taken Mrs. Buss to a theater and left Cooper at home. This morning, when Mrs. Buss was preparing breakfast, the lodger went into the kitchen and talked with her a few minutes. Then suddenly she was heard to scream, and the first word was fired. The revolver report brought Buss into the kitchen. He was shot down, and aroused the daughters, who saw the closing acts of the tragedy.

Mabel Buss has told the police of how Cooper stood watching her help her father out of the kitchen, raising his pistol to his forehead. Five times he drew the trigger, but the weapon only clicked. When the bedroom door had been barricaded they heard Cooper talking to himself. Mabel believes he was reloading his revolver, for after short silence the third shot was heard and a few moments later the girl found the dying murderer on the floor.

Buss' former employer Cooper on his farm at Auburn, where he was familiarly known to the Buss children, who say that he has been moody only in the last few weeks. It was not to the girls, but to Mrs. McKay, that Cooper talked of his intended intention of the Buss family to try to send him to the insane asylum.

Buss is 35 years of age, and his wife was 38 years old.

AUXILIARY SYSTEM WILL BE EXTENDED

Salt Water Pipes Will Be Laid to Protect Oakland Estuary and Water Front

OAKLAND, Aug. 4.—City Engineer Turner has received a telegram telling him that several carloads of pipe for the extension of the salt water auxiliary fire system have been shipped from Oakland, and as soon as the consignment arrives the work of carrying the system from Oak street along the water front to Market street will be begun. The system is now in operation in the business district between Second, Fourth, Washington and Franklin streets.

With the present year the whole water front area from Oak to Market street will be covered and an additional pumping plant will be equipped at the foot of Webster street for fire tugs in case of a water front fire. This will make possible two supplies to the system at once, one on the estuary and the other at Lake Merritt.

The city engineer has prepared plans for the eventual extension of the system to the limits of the fire district, with a main out San Pablo avenue to Twenty-fifth street and mains in Telegraph avenue and in Broadway.

It is reported that the lad fell while attempting to ride on a brakebeam under the car. He was treated at St. Mary's hospital at Albany, but died in a few hours. The remains will be sent here for burial. The dead youth was of an adventurous disposition, but gained his father's consent before he went away with the circus.

FIRST AID TO BE TAUGHT TO POLICE

Chief August Vollmer to Inaugurate New Series of Lectures for Department

BERKELEY, Aug. 4.—Last year the Berkeley policemen were taught the first principles of the law by well known lawyers of this and other bay cities. Now Chief of Police Vollmer has made arrangements to have a series of lectures delivered by officers of the Red Cross society on the theory and practice of first aid to the injured. These lectures will be delivered as soon as the necessary first aid equipment can be sent to this city by the national society from Washington for the use of the Berkeley police. Arrangements for their transportation are now being made.

In all probability Dr. John N. Force, treasurer of the local society, will deliver the series of lectures to the police. He conferred with Chief Vollmer a few days ago in regard to the plan and the road seems to be clear for the inauguration of the lectures. The course will include the treatment of minor injuries as well as those of a more serious nature. It has been maintained by physicians that incompetent treatment of injured persons on their way to the hospitals accounts for many fatalities. This Vollmer seeks to avoid by the new instruction and by the use of equipment which will be placed in the policeman's belt along with the club, revolver and handcuffs.

STEAK, ONIONS, CATSUP; WAITER FEELS DELUGE

Undivided Tips Cause Cook to Open Batteries

Ephattanos Jorjephias, cook in a restaurant in Union street near Laguna, was charged in Police Judge Conlan's court yesterday with assault with a deadly weapon, but as no interpreter was in attendance the case was continued till today. The cook and a waiter, Gregorios Markopoulos, divided all tips and when a customer came in and looked like he might tip the waiter would tell the cook to prepare the meal as scientifically as possible. The cook became suspicious that the waiter was not playing fair and on Wednesday when the waiter was talking to a customer who had ordered steak and onions the cook brought in the dish and smashed it over the waiter's head. The cook followed this up by breaking a catsup bottle over the waiter's head. The waiter was besmeared with steak, onions, catsup and blood.

John S. Fox of Berkeley was robbed of a watch and a purse containing $10 last night by a pickpocket on a streetcar in Broadway. The watch was probably committed by a slender, well dressed young man who jostled Fox several times and suddenly left the car.

AFFIDAVITS DENY CHARGES OF SHAY

Former Governor Pardee Takes Hand in Dalton-Leslie Blackburn Dispute

OAKLAND, Aug. 4.—It was affidavit day for Henry P. Dalton today, and three sworn statements in his behalf were made public by way of denial of the charge made against him yesterday in the affidavit of Frank M. Shay, the county assessor's former deputy, to the effect that he paid Dalton $500 out of his salary in monthly installments of $25.

Former Governor George C. Pardee made one of today's counter affidavits to disprove Shay's charge. Assessor Dalton made another, while the third was made by Thomas M. Robinson, Dalton's chief deputy.

The two county officials deny that either of them ever received a cent from Shay out of the latter's salary. Shay's statement that he gave $300 personally to Dalton and another $300 to Robinson for Dalton's use is called by the assessor a "plain lie," while Robinson's denial is equally emphatic.

Pardee's affidavit recites that Shay told him, two days before he made the affidavit made public yesterday, that the story he had given Dalton or Robinson money was false. According to Pardee, Shay in his presence said last Friday that Leslie Blackburn, Dalton's former friend and present bitter enemy, who came out with a public statement last week that Dalton had taken money from Shay, was prevaricating. Shay was severe in his denunciation of Blackburn on that occasion, the former governor declares, and used bad language with reference to him. This was on July 29, Pardee says. On August 1, Shay made his affidavit in which he accused the assessor and his chief deputy of accepting $500 out of his salary of $125 monthly.

In addition to these affidavits, Dalton produced a signed statement by Shay, made also before he made the affidavit, to the effect he had never told Blackburn that he had given Dalton or Robinson money, and that Blackburn's statement, just previously, was a fabrication.

The grand jury is being impeached for the current year, and will probably be at work before the end of the month. It is not being called especially to investigate charges that have been made in the Dalton-Blackburn controversy, but it is not unlikely that its attention will be directed to them before long. No grand jury has been in session for several months. District Attorney Donahue, who will cooperate with the grand jury in its labors, said today that the grand jury would investigate any charges that were brought to its attention.

The fight over the county assessorship has developed more acrimony than has been seen in Alameda county politics for many campaigns. The struggle between Dalton and I. Harrison Clay, who seeks to displace him, and the republican nomination, has caused politicians to leave in the background the other contests for nomination. Signed statements on one side or the other of the controversy are being made public daily.

ATTACK ON DALTON Dalton was attacked by one such statement, signed by Karl E. Hanson, of 1089 East Twenty-fifth street. Hanson declares that Dalton is not sincere in the guise of an opposer of corporations on behalf of the people. He cites the present employment of Otto L. Hasse as a deputy under Dalton as a circumstance casting reflection on the assessor. Hasse was indicted in 1905 for accepting a bribe of $100 for the present employment of Otto L. Hasse as a deputy under Dalton as a circumstance casting reflection on the assessor. Hasse was indicted in 1905 for accepting a bribe of $100 for the present employment of Otto L. Hasse as a deputy under Dalton as a circumstance casting reflection on the assessor.

RICHMOND READY TO SPLIT COUNTY

Major D. W. McLaughlin Says That He Will Donate a Courthouse Site

RICHMOND, Aug. 4.—Major D. W. McLaughlin of this city is the man behind the proposition to give $30,000 worth of land as a public plaza and courthouse site for a new county of Richmond. It is his personal proposal, and according to his representatives, is independent of any interests in which he might be concerned.

The movement for county division has been launched by proponents of the good roads, who are chagrined over the defeat of the bonds Tuesday. Their plans are to form a new county, taking in the western part of Contra Costa county, south from Oleum, and covering as well the greater part of San Ramon valley.

William Vore, who has taken charge of the campaign, said today that the project would be worked out so that it could be presented to the next legislature which will convene in January, 1911. Vore commented as follows: "Major McLaughlin's gift is bona fide. If a new county of Richmond shall be formed he will personally deed over a large tract for park and courthouse use. He is reasonable and is in dead earnest. We deplore the defeat of the bonds by so narrow a margin but we propose to have good roads if we have to split the county. Today and they have authorized me to say that they are for county division. Among them are R. H. Handy, superintendent of the Union oil company; L. D. Dimm, superintendent of the Standard oil company, and C. A. Patterson of the Dupont-De Nemours powder company.

"We shall agitate this county division proposition from now until the legislature meets. We consider that it has merit and will appeal to that part of Contra Costa county which represents the bulk of population and industrial wealth."

CHIEF ISSUES ORDERS FOR PRIMARY ELECTION

Company Commanders Instructed as to Police Duties

Chief Martin yesterday issued his orders to company commanders for the primary election to be held Tuesday, August 16. They were ordered to instruct the officers of their respective commands that whether on election duty or not they must not take any active part in the election, nor against any candidate or candidates except to cast their votes.

Their attention was called to the provisions of section 1215 of the political code, which must be enforced. Officers detailed at the polling places are to be instructed not to allow electioneering of any kind within the 100 foot limit and not to allow any person to sit on a chair or solicit votes in the election booths or within the 100 foot limit. This includes election officers as well as others. This section must be strictly enforced against all alike, and discrimination must not be shown. Every assistance possible must be rendered the registrar and his deputies.

The law relating to the sale of liquor will be rigidly enforced. This applies to restaurants as well as saloons.

DOLLAR DEPOSITED IN '73 YIELDS $1.90 INTEREST

San Franciscan Forgot About His New Hampshire "Capital"

Back in 1873 George A. Batchelder deposited $1 in the Laconia savings bank of Laconia, N. H. The amount was small, but the passbook was almost as small, and as the years went by the money was forgotten and the book lost. Batchelder now resides at 1109 Church street, San Francisco. It recently occurred to him that he was $1 richer than he knew. He addressed an inquiry to the New Hampshire bank and learned that the single dollar mounted to $2.90 in the intervening 37 years. The news was conveyed to him by letter from Edmund Little, treasurer of the Laconia bank.

"Upon looking up the amount," wrote Little, "I find that the statement of fact agrees with our books and that the amount deposited was $1, which was made August 11, 1873. This deposit now amounts to $2.90 and we shall be pleased to make any disposition thereof which you may desire."

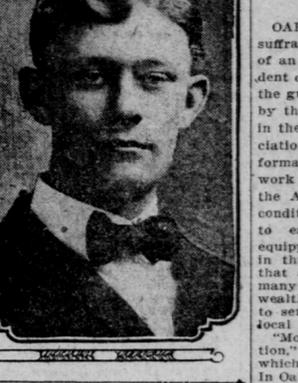

SECOND CASE DISMISSED AGAINST C. H. LAWRENCE

Promoter Freed From Criminal Charge in Police Court

Attorney Hugo D. Newhouse has failed to punish criminally Charles H. Lawrence, a promoter of Chicago, and it is now in order for Lawrence's attorneys to give effect to their threats to prosecute Newhouse civilly and criminally. The charge of grand larceny against Lawrence for stealing by trick and device three notes aggregating $20,000 given to him by Lawrence as security for a loan was dismissed by Judge Deasy on Wednesday, and yesterday Judge Shortall dismissed the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. It was alleged that Lawrence had falsely represented to Newhouse that he had funds on deposit with the C. H. Lawrence company of Chicago. The judge held that there was no proof that Lawrence did not have funds deposited with that company.

HANG THE HUSBAND SAYS SUFFRAGETTE

If a Woman Commits Murder Spouse Should Suffer, Avers Oakland Belligerent

OAKLAND, Aug. 4.—The Oakland suffrage amendment league is in search of an "angel." Mrs. Agnes Ray, president of the local branch, who was made the guest of honor at a reception given by the members today at their rooms in the Young Women's Christian association, instigated the hunt in an informal talk in which she reviewed the work and workers along these lines on the Atlantic coast. She deplored the conditions which made it impossible to establish comfortable and well equipped headquarters for the league in this country and voiced the ambition that "angels" had been found for many of the eastern organizations, a wealthy man or woman should be found to serve in the same capacity for the local branch.

"Money, organization and co-operation," said Mrs. Ray, "are the factors which will bring success in our work. In Oakland there are 5,000 persons who believe in woman suffrage and with their assistance we ought to be able to do splendid things in the coming year."

Mrs. Ray described the various philanthropic and charitable institutions which she visited this summer on her tour of the larger cities of the middle west and east. "If a woman commits murder in California her husband ought to be hanged for it." Such was the conclusion of Mrs. Minnie Rutherford, national superintendent of the juvenile court work and a member of the legislative committee in Arkansas. Mrs. Rutherford is an ardent suffrage worker. Her statement was made after citing a number of the laws of California regarding contracts and a woman's responsibility in committing a misdemeanor in the presence of her husband.

In referring to the recent petition sent to congress asking for a national suffrage commission and bearing the names of 1,000,000 women of the United States, Mrs. Rutherford said: "If 1,000,000 men had sent a petition to Washington asking for anything the petition would not have reposed so peacefully as our plea now rests with congress."

Mrs. Sarah A. Borland presided as chairman at today's rally of suffrage forces.
