

Santa Rosa Prisoner Misdled Police to Aid Slayer

WITNESS SAYS JAPANESE WAS SENT AS SPY

Sensational Testimony Is Given at Coroner's Inquest in the Kendall Ranch House

Suspect Was Highly Excited When Seen at Station Day After Crimes

on July 25 by J. E. Cross. From that it was presumed that the Kendalls had not been at the place since prior to that date. The garden was overrun by hogs. A horse was loose inside the stable. When the party returned from their hunt toward evening they found the same conditions.

Cockrill told Justice of the Peace Trosper of the conditions at the house and the next day he and Trosper went to the place and made the first examination, which led to the discovery of traces of the murder. Cockrill said that subsequently he found on a cot mattress on the porch traces of what appeared to be a blood stain that had been washed away.

YAMAGACHI'S CHUM MAY HAVE MISLED POLICE

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 5.—The arrest of a Japanese in Oakland this afternoon who says his name is Mayada, but who acknowledges that the picture on which he was identified and arrested is his, has caused a curious muddle. The picture sent to the Oakland police in the center of three Japanese was positively identified here by Harry Misawa as Henry Yamaguchi, a man who is being sought for the murders.

Saturday morning a Japanese will be taken to Oakland for this city who can identify the man.

Misawa is the closest personal friend Yamaguchi had in this section and the presence of Assistant District Attorney G. W. Hoyle, Chief of Police John M. Boyes and newspaper representatives Thursday afternoon, Misawa picked out the picture as that of the man who had been in the waiting room one of the group of three Japanese in the picture. The third man in the picture is Myeda. Either Misawa's identification is correct or he has purposely misled the officers by extreme nervousness and asked what opportunity he would have to reach San Francisco that afternoon. Carlisle told him there was another train to leave at 4:35, a little more than two hours later. This information was decidedly pleasing to the Japanese and he seemed greatly relieved. During his wait for the train the Japanese, who has been identified as Yamaguchi, occupied one of the rear seats of the train.

The man had a bundle of clothing and bedding and a small bundle of tools. His baggage was checked to Santa Rosa, and he remained here over night. Carlisle is positive that there were no marks on the face of the Japanese as if he had been beaten, as stated by Mrs. Starbuck. He talked with the man at intervals for two hours and declared that if Yamaguchi's face had been cut he could not have failed to notice it.

Harry Misawa and Yoshio Yoshida also say with equal positiveness that Yamaguchi's features bore no marks.

Chairman H. W. Austin and the other members of the board of supervisors, together with a number of the county officials, joined in a petition this afternoon to Governor James N. Gillett. In this the governor is requested to offer a suitable reward for the apprehension and conviction of the murderer of the Kendalls. This evening Governor Gillett was reached over the telephone by Assistant District Attorney Hoyle at Bohemian Grove. Gillett promised to take the matter up Monday. He gave the matter up for postponement, saying action at this time that he was not familiar with the amount of money on hand in the fund for such purpose. That a reward will be offered if the Oakland suspect proves to be the wrong man is felt certain.

Another interesting development of the day here was the report made Friday regarding three Japanese who came from the direction of Cazadero the day after the date the crime is thought to have been committed. These men entered a Guerneville barber shop and each had his mustache shaved off and his hair trimmed closely. This may have been done as a disguise.

It is a common belief here that if the Kendall family was murdered by Japanese, which is the only theory in the case, that several members of that race were guilty of the crime. It is not believed that one Japanese could have slain three members of the family alone.

For this reason much importance is attached to the theory of the three men having their mustaches removed, and they may have been concerned in the crime. This matter is being carefully investigated, and it is said the officers have been known to attend a dance at Miller's in Cazadero, where he met Kendall with three young women from Trosper's hotel, a place about one mile from the Kendall ranch.

Misawa has known Kendall for the last two years. His family is at their summer home near Cazadero and he has been making week end visits there all summer. When he last saw Kendall at the Miller dance, he made an engagement to go deer hunting with him July 30, but because of business reasons could not keep it.

"Kendall was at Miller's dance with three young women from the city who were stopping at Trosper's," said Mohr. "I have known him for a couple of years and have been out with him dozens of times. The dance was given by Miller on the evening of July 23, and Kendall was there until 11 p. m. He took the girls to the Trosper ranch and that is the last I have seen of him. We made an engagement to go deer hunting July 30, but we didn't keep it."

STUDENTS RETURN TO STANFORD QUADRANGLE

Fall Rushing Season Already Inaugurated by Fraternities

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 5.—With the fall examinations less than three weeks away, a number of students who have spent the summer in mining camps and surveying positions have returned to gladden the hearts of Palo Alto merchants. Already a large number of the collegians are on the ground and they continue to flock in with ever increasing numbers.

The fraternity men have returned especially early in order to begin the strenuous rushing season which has become such a factor in the college life here. The trains are carefully watched for promising freshmen and no new student with the earmarks of a "frat" man is allowed to pass the scrutiny of rishers without receiving numerous invitations for automobile rides and dinner parties. The summer residents of the various clubhouses are picking up their belongings and preparing for hurried exits.

Encina hall, the men's dormitory, has undergone a thorough cleaning. The football field has been kept in splendid shape and should be faster this fall than at any period since its completion. The summer dances, which have been so popular, are to be concluded by a large dance at the Armory hall. The party is planned for the last Friday of the month and is to be known as the "midnight moon special."

The arrival of many students from eastern institutions of learning indicates that Stanford will have one of the largest registration periods in its history.

Advertising Talks

"We have an inviolable principle," said a successful merchant in talking of his business not long since, "that of giving everybody a 'square deal.' We have talked this for years in our advertising to the public. We are still talking it, and will continue to talk it as long as I am at the head of this business.

"When a man or woman reads this sort of advertising and is persuaded to make a purchase and finds that our statements of a 'square deal to everybody' are true, that we back up every word we say with the goods, with courteous treatment, with fair prices, we have not only made a sale to an individual, we have proved our right to his or her consideration; we have made a friend who will think of us and remember us and look for our store news in the newspapers.

This man has the quality idea fully developed. He knows his goods and prices are right and his advertising makes others know.

Mr. Merchant, you can make friends of the 150,000 readers of The Call if you will tell them about the quality of your goods, your prices, the "square deal" you offer them.

Our advertising columns are open to you, the services of our advertising department are at your disposal, and we have advertising copy and illustrations that will help to increase the value of your advertising space. Phone Kearny 86 for an appointment.

Trosper are shown searching the stove in the ranch house for the remains of the murdered family. At the right is the sitting room of the house, showing the confusion it was in when the authorities arrived.

WEALTHY WOMAN DROWNS IN TAHOE

Body of Mrs. John J. Bowen of Seattle and Empty Boat Found Adrift

GLENBROOK, Aug. 5.—Mrs. John J. Bowen of Seattle was drowned in Lake Tahoe some time yesterday. She rented a boat, which was afterward found drifting about the lake, and the woman's body was discovered today in the water near the shore, about six miles from Glenbrook. Mrs. Bowen was about 60 years of age and evidently a woman of considerable means.

Relatives in Ignorance
SEATTLE, Aug. 5.—Mrs. John J. Bowen, who was drowned in Lake Tahoe, was 61 years old, the wife of a wealthy machinery dealer of Seattle. She traveled a great deal, was fond of outdoor sports and always carried much money and jewelry with her.

Mrs. Bowen's husband, aged 71, and her son, aged 27, are ill at their home in this city, and on account of their condition the news of Mrs. Bowen's disappearance has been withheld from them.

In a letter received from Mrs. Bowen three days ago, dated Carson City, she said that she greatly enjoyed the boating on Lake Tahoe, often going out alone. Friends of Mrs. Bowen say that she could have had no reason for suicide.

HONOLULU THREATENED WITH A MILK FAMINE

Many Cows With Tuberculosis Are Ordered Killed

[Special Correspondence of The Call]
HONOLULU, July 30.—The carrying out of the provisions of a recently enacted city milk ordinance has brought Honolulu face to face with a threatening milk famine through the compulsory destruction of more than one-third of the cows in the local dairies. The ordinance provides for the licensing of dairies after the cows have been examined by the territorial veterinarian and pronounced clean from disease, while an examination has led to the discovery that 350 out of the first 1,122 tested are affected with tuberculosis.

These tests were conducted by Dr. N. Nordmark, who finds that in some of the city dairies 75 per cent, and in one instance 100 per cent, of the milk stock is affected. He has, accordingly, ordered the destruction of the animals.

As the federal law allows the sale of the meat of tubercular cattle for food, provided the disease has not reached certain organs, it has been arranged to delay the slaughter so that the local beef market will not be glutted.

MRS. MAPES LEAVES SAN MATEO IN A HURRY

[Special Dispatch to The Call]

SAN MATEO, Aug. 5.—Coming as a sequel to the sensational preliminary hearing yesterday of R. P. Lewis, a millhand, charged with attacking Mrs. Theresa S. Mapes, his landlady, was the announcement that the household effects of the complaining witness were shipped to Eureka yesterday morning and that Mrs. Mapes and her two sisters boarded a train late last night for the same destination.

Lewis testified yesterday that he had been on friendly terms with Mrs. Mapes for some time past. The testimony of an employe of a local restaurant, who lived in the same house, bore this out in several respects.

Lewis was held over to answer to the superior court, with bail fixed at $2,000, by Justice of the Peace W. G. Loveland yesterday. He was locked up

ABUNDANT WATER TO COVER ALL LAND

Great Opportunities Awaiting Those Who Will Develop Irrigated Land in State

California has more water than she ever possibly use for irrigation purposes. Statistics from the United States geological survey show that there are 45,150,000 acres feet of water available in this state today, or enough to irrigate the 14,000,000 acres of agricultural land in California to a depth of 38 inches, which is more than ample for the growth of all crops.

The best idea of the possibilities of irrigated farm land business in the west can be had by an examination of the natural conditions, said J. E. Green, manager of the wholesale farm land department of Baldwin & Howell.

"Figures show that there are approximately 2,500,000 acres being watered at the present time, which is less than 20 per cent of the irrigable acreage. Good land can be bought for $10 or $20 an acre, and there are probably 10,000,000 acres in the state that could be had at an average of $15. Under water this land will bring an average of $150 an acre. This increase on 10,000,000 acres would in itself add $1,400,000,000 to realty values in this state and at least $700,000,000 to the assessed value, which figure an increase of 55 per cent over the total assessed valuation of $2,337,273,720 in 1909.

"What this, in itself, means to the state is of wonderful import," added Green. "The additional revenue from taxes alone will be a tremendous factor in California's favor, but the greatest benefit will come from added products of the soil and will be most noticeable in San Francisco, where bank clearings and increasing realty values will prove the importance of the metropolis and its dependence upon the prosperity of the farmer.

"What we need right now is about half a dozen big land companies with millions of dollars and years of experience in colonization work. I see that the Canadian projects are proving a disappointment and it may be that some of the bigger people will turn to California, who think he can hold them up for fancy prices is going to get badly led."

Green is now in correspondence with several of these concerns, one or two of which have already sent their men out to California to consult with him.

PENINSULA LANDS GOOD INVESTMENT

Eastern Expert Thinks People Here Do Not Realize South Shore Advantages

After devoting two days to an automobile trip covering the entire peninsula territory as far south as Palo Alto, J. P. Alvord, a well known Illinois land operator, has concluded that the greatest opportunities for realty advancement now existing in the state are to be obtained between San Mateo and Palo Alto.

Alvord recently visited the offices of Baldwin & Howell with the intention of purchasing as a pure investment, some lots in Dinges park. He was greatly enthused over peninsula possibilities, particularly in and around Redwood City, where he figures that the activities will first be noticed.

"I arrived from Los Angeles a week ago and came upon this peninsula proposition in a most unexpected manner," said Alvord. "In motoring to San Mateo I took a run down to Redwood simply out of curiosity. Arriving at Redwood I was simply dumfounded at the possibilities of the place and at the fact that the public had not discovered the true conditions. They have a harbor there that some day will make Redwood a city of 100,000 people. It is the first navigable harbor south of San Francisco and I understand, before the railroad cut into the country, was an important shipping point. The railroads have come into line now, however, and with the spur track facilities that have been planned, Redwood City will have the facilities to command the attention of the manufacturers all over the United States.

"The people of San Francisco do not seem to realize this and I am surprised at the prices at which property is offered. In Dinges Park I saw lots at $9 a foot which, they tell me, can be bought for from $5 down and $10 a month. Small speculators ought to jump at such an opportunity. I, myself, am going to get some, although I expect to return home and simply hold my lots for investment."

Alvord stated he had been traveling leisurely across the country for three months and that he found nothing in the real estate line that interested him as much as this property. He is to rush the land grabbers just before the advance. I personally think the waiting game is a big mistake, and if I could arrange my affairs to be here right along I would put all the money I could get my hands on in peninsula properties."

Baldwin & Howell are having a steady call for Dinges park lots, and report considerable activity from their Redwood City office, where H. C. Tuchen is in charge.

HAMON NAMES GORE FOR ANANIAS CLUB

Sweeping Denials of Bribery Charges Made Before the House Committee

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Aug. 5.—With Senator Thomas P. Gore reasserting his charge that he had been offered a bribe of $25,000 or $50,000 to influence his action in congress and with Jake L. Hamon, accused by the senator of having offered the bribe, denying he had ever done any such thing, the investigation of the Oklahoma Indian lands by a committee of the house of representatives today simmered down to a mass of denials.

For four hours Hamon, former chairman of the Oklahoma republican state committee, entered a continuous series of denials as to his alleged relation with what are known as the McMurray contracts, by which, according to Senator Gore, $3,000,000 or 10 per cent of $30,000,000 to be realized from the sale of Indian lands to a New York syndicate, was to be diverted from the Indians in the shape of "attorney's fees."

Hamon testified: "I was down here in Oklahoma attending to my business when a friend told me Creager said I had approached him improperly in regard to the McMurray contracts. So I hopped on a train and went to Washington. I got hold of Creager and said: 'Look here, you know I never said any such thing, and I saw him frequently, but at this time I certainly was the impression I got that you suggested I might set an interest in the contracts.' I replied: 'You certainly are mistaken.' Then Creager said: 'Well, if you say I shouldn't, I won't go before that investigating committee down at Muskogee and testify that you approached me.'"

Interrogating the witness, Congressman E. W. Saunders, a member of the committee, asked Mr. Hamon, if he would appear from your denial that a conspiracy had been entered into grossly to misrepresent you: How do you account for that?"

SENATOR GORE WANTED MONEY

"That's beyond my power to conjecture," replied Hamon. "I never had one penny's worth of interest in the McMurray contracts and never offered a bribe to any one."

"It is barely possible that I did see Senator Gore on May 6 last, when he says the offer of a bribe was made. I believe he took me up into the library of the senate and closed the door. He wanted to talk over with me his coming campaign and see how I could help him. You and Senator Gore had been good friends, had you not?" asked Chairman Burke.

"Yes, I had known him as a friend for about nine years and had business dealings with him."

QUEER LAND DEAL

Hamon said that several years ago, at Lawton, Okla., when the government decided to sell at public auction some lands belonging to the Indians, he, Senator Gore and others entered into a combination not to bid against each other, so that the property might be obtained cheaply.

All of them secured, some of the land, he said. Chairman Burke: "Don't you know that there is a federal statute against a combination to prevent competition in bidding?"

Hamon: "I did not know of that law then, but I have since thought of it." It was just a desire on the part of all of us to get the land as cheaply as possible.

Congressman Miller: "You knew that the proceeds from that sale were to go to the Indians. Do you think that was honorable toward the Indians?"

Hamon: "We did not look at it that way. In fact, we don't do things out west just in the same way you do in the east."

In some of his business transactions with Senator Gore, Hamon testified, money loans were involved.

"Just before congress adjourned," said Hamon, "the senator came to me and said he had to pay $6,000, which he owed to Senator Owen. He had $1,000 of cash and wanted me to raise the other $5,000 for him from a client of mine."

More evidence from Senator Gore probably will be heard. The senator announced he intended to accompany the committee to Muskogee, where sessions will be held Monday. Senator Curtis and Congressman McGuire probably will testify tomorrow.

Detailing the plans of the investigation committee, Chairman Burke tonight said:

MANIFESTATION AGAINST STATE IS ABANDONED

Government Rushes Troops Into San Sebastian to Prevent Uprising

Proposed Demonstration Given Up When Bloodshed Is Threatened

MADRID, Aug. 5.—It is officially announced that the manifestation scheduled to be held at San Sebastian Sunday has been abandoned.

The Catholic newspapers will publish manifestos explaining the decision. Alarmed by fears that the proposed demonstration of the clerical forces at San Sebastian, the summer capital, would assume the character of an uprising, the government today began to rush troops into San Sebastian. A regiment of hussars left Madrid this morning, followed by another regiment of cavalry and two battalions of chasseurs. A regiment of infantry also was ordered from Vittoria.

Weyler in Command
Both Captain General Weyler, the captain general of Catalonia, and Count Sagasta, the minister of the interior, will go to San Sebastian to be in immediate command in case of disorder. The government believes the Carlists and the members of the legions orders, which are numerous in northern Spain, are openly inciting their followers to violence. The governor of the Basque provinces and the adjoining provinces of Navarra today issued orders to the mayors of all the municipalities in these provinces to warn the Roman Catholics against assembling or entering the city of San Sebastian with arms and that the most energetic measures would be taken to repress any attempt at a manifestation.

Simultaneous with the rushing of troops to San Sebastian to cope with an uprising which the government feared might grow out of the proposed demonstration of the clerical forces in protest against the government's stand in its dispute with the Vatican, Premier Canalejas today issued a statement outlining his policy.

CANALEJAS EXPLAINS
Senator Canalejas declared that the demonstration would have been permitted elsewhere than at San Sebastian or Bilbao, in fact that he desires it to be held in order that its strength may be shown. The demonstration, however, has been abandoned since the Premier's statement came out.

The statement of the premier follows: "I would have allowed the manifestation if it had been announced to have been held elsewhere than at Bilbao, where it is held by coal miners in progress, or at San Sebastian, which is crowded with visitors on Sundays."

"I know that priests are distributing arms, and also that the manifestation is intended to bring women and children with them in order to prevent military intervention. But I am determined to enforce respect for the law. Troops will be distributed at strategic points and the railway will be held for reinforcements. If my adversaries want a lesson they shall have it. They will be responsible for whatever happens."

PROSECUTOR FLEES WITH PRISONER IN AUTO

Takes Alleged Embezzler Out of Court's Jurisdiction

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 5.—With George H. Lambert in an automobile, A. S. Golden, assistant district attorney, and Detective Leroy Armstrong, both of Schenectady, N. Y., and Detective Fial of San Diego are speeding northward to escape the jurisdiction of the San Diego courts. The Schenectady officials arrived here this morning with extradition papers, and immediately secured an automobile, in which they placed Lambert and fled. The prisoner is accused of embezzling $3,100.

It is the intention of Golden and the other officials to take Lambert to the machine and then board the first eastbound train that overtakes them. Lambert's attorney, it was believed, was preparing to seek a writ of injunction from the local courts preliminary to an active fight against extradition.

Lambert, according to the Schenectady officials, is not only an embezzler, but a bigamist as well. They deny that Lizzie Haysman of Schenectady, from whom Lambert is said to have stolen $3,100, is his sister.
