KAHN FUNERAL IS IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Hundreds Gather to Pay Last Tribute to Departed Pioneer Oakland Merchant

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—With solemn Masonic rites and special ceremonies, Solomon Kahn, senior member of the firm of Kahn Brothers, prominent as a member of both civic and fraternal organizations of the community, and for years devoted to the progressive interests of Oakland, was laid to his final rest this afternoon in Mountain View cemetery.

AT MASONIC CATHEDRAL

The funeral ceremony took place under the direction of Alcatraz lodge No. 244, Free and Accepted Masons, at the Scottish Rite cathedral, Madison and Fifteenth streets, at 2 o'clock, where several hundred persons, including prominent merchants, business men, representatives of civic and fraternal organizations, relatives, friends and employees of the former merchant, gathered to pay their last respects to a man who had gained and deserved the esteem of the citizens of Oakland. Seldom have such impressive services been held. Through the day, a large crowd waited in the street for the funeral ceremonies to end, as the cathedral was crowded.

RABBI DELIVERS EULOGY

Rabbi M. Friedlander of the First Hebrew congregation delivered the eulogy in an eloquent sermon, paying glowing tribute to the departed merchant, who, he declared, had been summoned in the providence of God at the zenith of his usefulness. Rabbi Friedlander referred to Kahn's sound judgment, broad tolerance, genial sympathies, high ideals and loyal citizenship, relating many of the incidents in the life of the late merchant which won him prominence, respect and love among thousands.

At the close of the funeral services the body was borne to the cemetery and interred according to the ritual of the Masonic order. The funeral procession was one of the largest seen in this city in years and included 42 caissons, besides three special street cars that had been secured for employees of the firm of Kahn Brothers.

The honorary pallbearers were Charles E. Sneed, Frank Rittigstein, representing Alcatraz lodge; Abraham Jonas and H. C. Capwell, representing the chamber of commerce; Kasper Cohn of Los Angeles and Dr. W. S. Porter, representing the family; E. Schwartzbaum, James E. Field and M. C. H. Pearson, representing the firm of Kahn Brothers, and J. P. Taylor and Max Marcuse. The active pallbearers were D. Magee, Frank Betton, Walter Bartiss, James Mitchell, W. B. Sells and Richard O'Donnell.

LODGE OFFICERS

The officers of Alcatraz lodge, who conducted the funeral exercises, were: A. Meese, worshipful master; Arthur D. Hughes, chaplain; C. H. Sommer, senior warden; J. G. Sjoerdsma, junior warden; W. G. Mohley, treasurer; H. A. Glines, secretary; J. L. Vandenberg, senior deacon; A. J. Jeffries, junior deacon; A. P. Soderstrand, steward, and A. H. Farrell, scribe.

Representatives of many fraternal orders in which the late merchant had been a member were present, including the Independent Order of Elks, the Eastern Star, Woodmen of the World and Maacabees. The business world was represented by many men of prominence, and the directors of the chamber of commerce attended in a body.

Baley, who is the senior member of the firm of Baley & Simpson, makes a specialty of building public buildings and schools. It was while he was at work on a school in Modesto that he met Mrs. Myers, according to the wife. Mrs. Baley asks the court to give her $100 a month alimony and to divide their community property.

PENURY MAY HAVE DRIVEN GIRL TO THEFT

Pretty Young Woman Will Not Be Prosecuted

BERKELEY, Aug. 8.—Shamed by her capture by the police for a theft of $40 from the Max Hirschfeld store, 2100 Shattuck avenue, Miss Agnethe Koller, a pretty young woman who came to this city a few days ago from Portland, is making plans to return to her home in New York Mills, Minnesota.

She was suspected of the theft of the money the first day she was employed as a saleswoman by Hirschfeld, and a report to the police followed. She was released this afternoon when the dry goods merchant refused to prosecute. It is believed that penury drove the girl to the act.

Miss Koller, under the name of Nett Cole, took the position in the store last Saturday in answer to an advertisement. She was assigned to the silk department and soon afterward asked Miss Busshee, the cashier, for change at once. Miss Busshee referred her to the till from which she extracted $40.

CASHIER ANSWERS CHARGE IN COURT

Leland Barnard, Who Embezzled $34,000 From Flour Company, Under Examination

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—The preliminary examination of Leland H. Barnard, former cashier of the Sperry flour company, who embezzled $34,000 from the Oakland branch, was begun this morning before Police Judge Samuels. Testimony was heard from Chester L. Parker, manager of the company's Oakland office, and the hearing was continued until next Wednesday.

Parker testified that Barnard had stolen from the check the cashier embezzled $500, for which a check had been given him as cashier by Jules Vieguer, paymaster, who obtained $500 in money from Barnard with which the office expenses were paid. Instead of turning in the check the cashier embezzled it.

Attorney Hugh Goodfellow, counsel for the Sperry concern, was associated with the prosecution. Barnard was represented by Attorneys Fletcher A. Cutler and Frank McGowan of Eureka, who were retained by the prisoner's father.

There has been no explanation of the manner in which Barnard disposed of the $34,000 he got in two years. He told the police he had "spent the money," but the police can account for only a small part of the total amount.

PARDEE ANSWERS SHAY'S AFFIDAVIT

Declares that Assessor Dalton's Former Deputy Should Join Ananias Club

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—No affidavits were filed today in the Dalton-Blackburn-Shay controversy, but in the place of the sworn statements that appeared daily for a while, former Governor Pardee today made public a declaration that Frank M. Shay, Dalton's former deputy, lied.

It was Shay's affidavits and statements that he paid County Assessor Henry P. Dalton $25 a month out of his salary of $125 a month that began the war of affidavits that endured last week. Shay had hardly made public this charge before it was met by affidavits by Dalton and by his chief deputy, Thomas M. Robinson, to the effect that they had never so taken money from him. This was accompanied by an affidavit by Pardee to the effect that Shay had told him only two days before he accused Dalton that he had never paid him or Robinson money and that he had never told any one that he had done so.

In his turn, Shay then made another affidavit in which he said that Pardee was not telling the truth and in which he reiterated his charges that he had been compelled to pay an assessor's fee with a percentage of his salary every month.

Pardee in his statement of today accuses Shay of deliberate and willful lying in so many words. He also goes on to relate a conversation had between himself and Dalton's former deputy. In which the latter told of the attempts of Leslie Blackburn, Dalton's former henchman but now bitter enemy, to induce Shay to betray his master. It was Blackburn, Pardee says, who said, who tried to hold him up for a part of his salary, on the ground that he had secured employment for him. And it was Blackburn, Pardee says, who told him that he tried to induce Shay to perjure himself under the assessor's office certain official documents by which Blackburn intended to make money.

County Auditor Lutgen entered the lists today against Dalton. He has stated that the assessor was playing a "dog in the manger" policy. Lutgen declares that he asked Robinson, Dalton's chief deputy, for certain footings of the assessment rolls, as he (Lutgen) wanted to include them in his report to the state controller. Dalton refused to state to give them to him, Lutgen says, and today when he sent one of his deputies to Robinson the latter told him that the footings had been destroyed. Lutgen's office will be put to some practical work as the result. The auditor says that it has always been the custom for the assessor to give the auditor his figures and thereby save the latter "much work."

TIP TO MOTHERS IS QUALITY, NOT QUANTITY

Race Suicide Theory Is Thus Handed Solar Plexus

BERKELEY, Aug. 8.—Taking issue with Colonel Roosevelt in his race suicide theories, Mrs. Minnie Rutherford, graduate of Sullins college, Virginia, declared tonight in the Town and Gown club, under the auspices of the Child Welfare league of Alameda county, that what is wanted in families nowadays is quality and not quantity. She said:

"I can not agree with the doctrines that the former president has been preaching in London, Berlin, Paris and other places in regard to race suicide. I believe that the modern problem is the making of the better man and woman, not the rearing of large families. Quality is not quantity should be the keynote in the rearing of families."

Mrs. Rutherford talked under the title of "Modern Child Saving Doctrines," and declared that the playgrounds and the juvenile courts were the two greatest child saving agencies in the country today. She advised the acquisition of playgrounds by every city and the inauguration of the juvenile court where young offenders were separated from the hardened criminals.

After advocating a national bureau for the collection of statistics in regard to children, Mrs. Rutherford praised the New York child saving home, and said that more such institutions should be erected.

PRETTY SWIMMER ATTRACTS CROWD

"Diving Venus" Splashes in Tank and Delights Patrons of the Orpheum

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—Annette Kellermann, famous in the theatrical field as the diving Venus, and accounted as "the greatest vaudeville attraction in the world," has carried off the honors at the Oakland Orpheum.

No less a personage than Prof. Dudley Sargent, physical instructor at Harvard, has pronounced her the "perfect woman." Fascinating in her glad, some, inspiring physical perfection, the "diving Venus" pleases from the moment she dances on the stage to the last view of her, smiling and dripping from her frolics in the tank.

Harry Atkinson, an Australian like Miss Kellermann, is also like her in that he has attained to perfection in his art. His imitations of different musical instruments are little short of marvelous. The Four Chiffons, direct from European triumphs, are all that the program claims for them, models of physical culture and Herculean strength. Clifford and Burke are also their minstrel jokers and songers.

Edwards Davis and his company present "The Picture of Dorian Gray." Davis and Miss Blood have proved themselves artists of talent, and Saxo is as good an actor as he is a singer.

Other holdovers are Adale's trained animals, which continue to delight the throngs; James Thornton, the droll monologist, and the Imperial Mufficians.

FUNDS SHORT, BUT NERVE TAKES PLACE OF CASH

Former Convict Cuts Brief Dash as Wealthy Army Officer

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—Two days out of Folsom prison, L. H. Mendall, 40 years old, whose record the police are investigating, cut a wide swath during his brief liberty in the role of a rich army lieutenant at the St. Mark hotel, where he brought little baggage with him on entering the place, but explained that his luggage would follow. He rented the best suite at the hostelry.

Coffee was not good enough at meals, so Mendall had champagne served at his table and passed his two afternoons in the bar. Where he got what ready money he had is not known, but he distributed just enough to make his role seem true.

Mendall had won confidence from the hotel attaches and was using his credit with small discretion when his ideal existence was broken. A hotel guest recognized him as a jailbird, the police were notified and Mendall was arrested today for defrauding an inn keeper. He owes the hotel $100 for his two days.

He will be at home in the county jail for the next 30 days.

Two Members Return From Jinks on Crutches

Knowles, one of the Bohemian club members who attended the jinks at the Redwood grove, returned on crutches and sits in an easy chair at his home, 1167 Oak street, with his right foot raised to protect the great toe, which Knowles stubbed when he was taking part in the famous "log race." The little member of Knowles' anatomy was thrown out of joint and the whole foot is consequently out of commission. Knowles was one of the injured of that gallant occasion. The other was Courtney Ford of San Francisco, who also broke a toe. These two men were on opposing teams in the "log race."

This is the season of the year when beer is apt to get hot under the collar.

COMPANY ORDERS SHERIFF TO MOVE

Builders of County Jail Angered at Action of Board of Supervisors

OAKLAND, Aug. 8.—Retailatory measures have been adopted by the Pacific construction company, which is building the county jail, for the refusal on the part of the county authorities to pay the company about $1,900. As a result, Sheriff Barnett today received a communication from the company, ordering him to vacate certain parts of the jail that is being built.

A few weeks ago the representatives of the company put in a bill for $1,900 more than the contract price of the new jail, saying that certain old iron from the old jail had been sold by the supervisors after they had agreed to let the company have it for use in the new building. Acting on the advice of District Attorney Donahue the supervisors refused to allow this extra amount.

In retaliation the company has now revised an old agreement, the enforcement of which will cause the sheriff and the jailers much annoyance. When the old jail was torn down it was necessary to house prisoners and their jailers in the new building before it was finished.

The county, the Pacific construction company and the Pauly jail building company, which is putting in the cells, made an agreement to the effect that the jail could be occupied before it was finished and formally accepted, but that the sheriff and jailers would have to move out of those parts of the jail whenever it became necessary for the purposes of construction.

Today's communication to Barnett says that it is now necessary to do some plumbing in the quarters occupied by Mrs. White, matron of the jail, and that Mrs. White must move out. Certain stores that have been placed in the administration part of the building must also go out.

[Special Dispatch to The Call] Berkeley, Aug. 8.—The felony charge against Chester Murray for failure to provide for his young wife was dismissed today by Judge Edgar, as Mrs. Murray refused to prosecute. A suit which he brought for divorce probably also will be dropped.
