LAFE YOUNG MAKES U.S. SENATE LAUGH
Iowa Editor Steps on Cummins' Toes in Maiden Speech on Tariff

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Senator LaFayette Young of Iowa today gave the legislative body of which he has been a member exactly 10 days the surprise of his existence.

He had prepared to make an attack on his colleague, Senator Cummins, who seeks the passage of a concurrent resolution changing the rules of the senate and house so as to permit piecemeal revision of the Payne-Adrich tariff law. This he did, and more.

Standing in Senator Tillman's place, Young attracted general attention when he arose, not only because of the novelty involved in a set speech from so new a senator, but because of the quaintness and forcefulness of his language.

Young opposed all efforts at revision of the existing tariff because, as he contended, the law protected the farmer. He had great fear, he said, that ultimately the adoption of the Cummins resolution would prove injurious to the great agricultural interests.

The senate gasped and then laughed when Young told it that the country would feel relieved were congress to abolish altogether for two "solid" years.

It gasped again when he alluded to its members in breezy fashion as "boys," and when he declared that the editors and not congress ruled the country, the galleries joined with the senators in general hilarity.

Young contended that the use of the word "progressive" was inadmissible. "It's an apology for being caught with the gun," he said.

Addressing the insurgents directly, he said: "You've got to come back to your father's house. You're the keeper of the ark of the covenant, and I tell you that when democrats are elected to the seats of William McKinley and James A. Garfield, the circumstance should give you pause. Now if any progressive here wishes to recant, I'll see him after the meeting is over."

Imperial Valley Work
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Mexico has given its consent for the construction by the United States of a levee in Mexican territory to control the waters of the Colorado river for the protection of Imperial valley, Cal.

Congress at its last session appropriated $1,000,000 for the project but it was necessary to secure the sanction of Mexico, because the work will be done in that country. All the necessary authority for the dispatching of laborers to the scene has been granted.

The home of Joseph Lodge, U. S. senator today telegraphed the state department that Mexico had appointed Fernando Beltran y Puga as its engineer in connection with the construction of the levee.

Senate Confirms Judges
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The appointment of Judge Willis Vandevanter of Wyoming and Joseph Hucker Lamar of Georgia to be associate justices of the United States supreme court was concurred in by the senate today. Wade Ellis of Ohio today declined an appointment to a judgeship in the supreme court of Mexico, tendered him by President Taft, to fill a vacancy caused by the promotion of Judge William H. Hunt to the commerce court.

UNDERTAKER'S HOME RIFLED BY BURGLARS
H. F. Suhr Loses Jewelry and Cash Amounting to $1,047.50

Making their entrance by climbing up a pipe in the rear of the house and cutting their way into the bathroom through a window screen, burglars entered the home of H. F. Suhr, the undertaker, at 236 San Jose avenue on Wednesday night and obtained jewelry and cash to the amount of $1,047.50. They ransacked every room and took practically everything of value.

Florence Hall reported to the police yesterday that some one had entered her room and had cut three long wavy plumes from a new hat. They were valued at $50.

Mrs. Morris Levin of 3403 Sixteenth street reported the theft of a 10 gallon keg of wine from her basement.

The home of Joseph Lodge, 231 Frederick street, was ransacked Wednesday night. Every room in the house was entered, but as far as could be learned, nothing was taken.

Other burglaries reported were: Charles Haufe, 2960 Bush street, vest with gold watch and chain stolen from wall at bowling alley, O'Farrell and Steiner streets.

Mrs. T. C. Switzer, 2268 Jackson street, clothes worth $150, clock worth $25, two suitcases and a silk pongee waist.

John Rayner, manager Eddy street bowling alley, four sets of billiard balls worth $185.

LANDLORD BREAKS RIBS OF HIS FORMER LODGER
Prisoner Denies Using Gaspipe; Threw Victim Downstairs

Frank Meyer, 288 Clementina street, denied to Policemen Koegel and Krueger yesterday that he had beaten his former lodger, Berthold Rohrdanz, with a gaspipe. He said that he only picked him up and threw him down three flights of stairs. Meyer was charged with assault to commit murder. Rohrdanz was taken to the central emergency hospital suffering from three fractured ribs and severe lacerations of the scalp. He said that Meyer attacked him with a gaspipe. Meyer declared in extenuation that he had ordered Rohrdanz out of his house, but found he had returned for dinner time. Then he threw him out.

MURPHY AND RUEF COMPROMISE SUIT
Convicted Boss and His Former Attorney Settle Claim for Legal Services

After two days' negotiations Frank J. Murphy and Abe Ruef reached a basis of agreement yesterday and the suit of Murphy for nearly $27,000, as legal fees, was compromised and dismissed from the records. Neither Murphy nor Ruef would divulge the terms of the settlement of their financial dispute, but each said that it was "very satisfactory."

Murphy sued on a promissory note for $25,000 signed by Ruef and his sister, Henrietta Stittenden, in December, 1908, and for a further sum of $1,500 on a contract. The jury had been drawn when Walter Linforth, attorney for Murphy, announced the settlement.

Murphy represented Ruef during the first part of the trial in which the boss was convicted. He dropped out when allegations were made that he had attempted to bribe Martin J. Kelly, a prospective juror. Murphy was tried on that charge and acquitted.

The Mart

WHILE her friends are commiserating Miss Dorothy Collier on the theft of her purse, Miss Collier is extending sympathy to the thief. The polite looking pickpocket who sat next to Miss Collier on a Jackson street car Tuesday was an artist in her line, and for all her clever legerdemain she secured only 80 cents—a sadly insufficient reward for a brilliant bit of work, as the achievements of a Raiffes are reckoned.

Only an artist could have sustained her pose of the perfect lady, reserved, slightly aloof and disinterested in those about her, while skillful fingers worked quickly with clasps and extracted a purse from Miss Collier's chataleine. It was done under cover of furs. The silver bag hung from its owner's wrist, and her own muff and that of the thief served as shields. At Fillmore street the young woman alighted, but there was nothing unbecoming in her deporture; no uneasiness or haste made it noticeable. When she reached her own corner at Steiner street Miss Collier discovered that the silver bag was open and her purse missing. It had rested in a fitted pocket, and only a decided movement could have withdrawn it. The adjoining young woman with the muff was the one person who could have taken it. Miss Collier tried to remember her, but she had been one of those indefinite figures that are found in streetcars, with nothing to distinguish her from others. The rare gifts as a sleight of hand artist had been well concealed. Miss Collier has no thought for the few pieces of silver, but she pictures the polite pickpocket's disgust when she counted it.

There was once another perfect lady thief whose work was equally clever, and proved more profitable. She was well gowned, and spoke with distant, kindly courtesy to a girl arranging her hair before a mirror in the St. Francis.

"You are losing your collar pin; shall I clasp it for you?" she said, smiling.

"Oh, thanks, if you will," the girl answered, and thanked her again when it was done.

Hours later, when she removed her gown at home, she found a small brass pin in place of a gold bar set with pearls. It had been so deftly done, with such quiet assurance and poise, that with her regrets for the pin she almost felt it had been a pleasure to assist in so finished an effort.

One of the weddings of the week that was celebrated quietly, but has none the less interesting to society, was that of Miss Sarah Louise Blake and Dr. Wallace Bruce Smith, Wednesday morning at St. Mark's church in San Mateo. It was attended only by the relatives of the couple. The bride wore a gown of white satin elaborated with pearls and finished with a lace over-dress. The only attendant was little Betty Smith, who acted as flower girl. There was a wedding breakfast after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Blake. Dr. Smith and his bride have gone south on their wedding trip but will return to reside at San Mateo. Dr. Smith is one of the popular officers in the navy and a brother of Dr. Reginald Knight Smith. He comes from a well known Alabama family and has a large acquaintance in local society. After the holidays Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Blake, parents of the bride, are going to New York. Blake has business interests in Shanghai and will return to the orient next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Carolan will pass the holidays in Paris, but expect to leave about January 7 for a tour of Egypt. They have been entertaining at a series of informal musicales this season in their apartment in Rue de Berri near Champs Elysees, and several of the local society set have enjoyed the reunions. Among the guests at a recent affair given by Mr. and Mrs. Carolan were: Mrs. Walter Hobart, Mrs. C. O. Alexander, Miss Harriet Alexander, Charles Fage Bryan, Richard Owen, Dr. H. E. de Marville, Richard Stimkus, Edgar Mills.

The sale held Tuesday for the benefit of the Reading room and Library for the Blind was a success, a nice sum being realized from the holiday novelties. The proceeds were given to the individual workers among the blind and not to the fund for the organization. Wooden toys, Christmas boxes and fancy work found a ready sale. Among the group of society women who are interested in this phase of charitable endeavor are: Mrs. J. C. Buckhall, Mrs. Andrew S. Rowan, Mrs. Ralph Harrison, Mrs. John F. Merrill, Mrs. E. J. Hickey, Mrs. Fred Vaughn, Mrs. George Billings, Mrs. J. J. Young, Mrs. John C. Hall, Mrs. Wyatt Caswell, Mrs. William Manning, Mrs. Samuel Backus.

Mrs. Richard Bayne entertained a score of guests at luncheon yesterday at her home. The feted guests were Mrs. Lora McCreary and her sister, Miss Minnie Clark, who returned from abroad recently. Among those who met Mrs. McCreary and Miss Clark at the luncheon were: Mrs. W. C. Van Fleet, Mrs. Fanny McCreary, Mrs. Charles Stetson Wheeler, Mrs. J. J. Young, Mrs. W. F. McNutt, Mrs. James Ellis Tucker, Mrs. W. C. Clark, Mrs. George Bates, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. W. C. Clark, Mrs. Beck.

The series of receptions that Mrs. Caroline Rixford Johnson will give at her studio in Pierce street will begin tomorrow afternoon and the hours will be from 2 to 5 o'clock every day until next Wednesday. The hostess will be assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Mrs. G. P. Rixford, Mrs. Phillips Wynne and Mrs. Helen Homberg. Mrs. Edward de Witt Taylor will preside at the tea table.

LIEUTENANT BOWIE ADMITS HIS GUILT
Court Martial of Officer Ended, but Findings of Judges Not Made Public

The court martial of Lieutenant Hamilton Bowie, Ninth cavalry, who has been on duty at the recruit depot, Fort McDowell, Angel Island, for absence from duty without leave on November 2, was finished at one session of the court yesterday morning. Lieutenant Bowie pleaded guilty to the charge and, although the findings of the court have not been made public, it is believed that the sentence will be a light one in view of his record as an efficient and able officer.

The three specifications of the charge allege that he was absent without leave from 7:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m.; that he had been detailed as witness for the issuance of clothing for that week and was absent on that day, and that he had been tried about a month before on a similar charge and had at that time written a letter to the commanding officer, stating that if he were given another opportunity he would not repeat his offense.

Lieutenant Bowie objected to the introduction of the latter clause on the ground that he had been tried already on the previous charge and that it in no way bore on the later offense. The court did not sustain his objection, but he pleaded guilty to the first two specifications only.

Captain George W. Helms, Nineteenth Infantry, Fort McDowell, was the only witness examined and he merely testified as to the absence of Lieutenant Bowie.

Colonel Charles St. J. Chubb, Thirtieth Infantry, was the presiding officer of the court; Captain Theophilus B. Steele, coast artillery corps, was the judge advocate and Captain J. B. Moore, First cavalry, counsel for the accused.

Major Arthur W. Chase, coast artillery corps, has been granted leave of absence for one month.

Lieutenant Henry L. Watson, First cavalry, and Lieutenant James G. Ord, Thirtieth Infantry, have been selected for a course of instruction at the school of musketry, Presidio of Monterey, and will report to the commandant of the school not later than January 12.

The lad was taken out unconscious and died on the operating table at the central emergency hospital. He was employed as a shipping clerk at the warehouse.
