WOMEN TO MAKE CONVENTION PLANS

Officers of Alameda District Federation to Hold Preliminary Meeting Wednesday

OAKLAND, Jan. 1.—The officers of the Alameda District Federation of Women's clubs will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Annie Little Barry in Berkeley to discuss arrangements for the annual district convention in Stockton in February. The gathering will be in the nature of reorganization after the holiday vacation. Mrs. Barry will issue the president's call for the convention within a fortnight. Although the program is assuming definite shape it will not be ready for publication until the end of this month.

Living Gibson pictures posed by members of the Adelphean club, with incidental music, will be the unique feature of the union meeting Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Charles A. Bradford will preside as hostess. A musical program will be rendered by Bentley Nicholson, tenor; Mrs. Edgar J. Malmgren, soprano, and the Harmonie trio, composed of Miss Alice Davies (violin), Miss Florence Fernhoff (piano), Miss Alice Johnson (cello). Under the patronage of the current events section Mrs. Eleanor Bingham will give a lecture Thursday afternoon on "Tennyson and His Friends."

Ebell will begin the new year Tuesday afternoon with a business session, which will be followed by informal reports of recent conventions to which the club sent delegates. Mrs. C. W. Kinsey and Mrs. Cora E. Jones will review the meeting of the playground convention, and Mrs. Bunnell will give a resume of the annual meeting of the Child's Welfare League. A luncheon and a dance are being arranged for the next two meetings, and Tuesday, January 23, Miss Mabel Thayer Gray will lecture on "Athenian Memories."

The choral section of Ebell has disbanded. The reason announced was that the members had too many counter interests to give their attention to the work. The choral section was one of the most active of the various classes of the big club and for a number of seasons was under the direction of Paul Steindorff. Mrs. Harry J. Kiewit was curator. At the recent Christmas links the members had an important place in the program. Section announcements for the coming week follow: Tuesday, "Civic Section," Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, curator; Thursday, "Original Writers," Mrs. Albert Smith, curator; story by Mrs. C. H. Rowe, travel letter by Miss A. G. Wilkinson; Friday, "Living Issues," Mrs. Louis Berkoff, curator, review of leading events of the year; January periodicals.

The women of the Twentieth Century club will devote Tuesday afternoon to a consideration of household economics. "The Pure Food Law for Housekeepers" will be the theme presented by Mrs. M. E. Jaffa, district chairman of the committee on economics. The program of song will be given by Mrs. George Polson, soprano, and Harry Washburn Baldwin, baritone. The musicale, which is planned for Tuesday afternoon, January 17, at which the club will present Edgar Stannard Thomas, will be a brilliant event. Thomas recently returned to California after an absence of several years abroad, where he studied under the best known masters of the voice.

The Etude club, which is made up of 30 talented women musicians, will devote the first gathering of the new year to the compositions of MacDowell. All the program being planned in honor of his birthday anniversary.

A series of luncheons are being planned by the various chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution about the bay to bring members closer together in purpose and friendship. The first of these affairs will be given Saturday, January 14, at the St. Francis, with Mrs. F. G. Baker of Alameda presiding as hostess. The other luncheon program will be given by Mrs. L. L. Gillogly, who will speak on England in 1776; Miss Lucile Knowland, whose subject will be "The Atlantic Coast and the United States in 1776," and Mrs. Baker, who will present "The Pacific Coast and the Mission Dolores as it was in 1776."

The Wednesday club will meet January 4, Mrs. Samuel Davis presiding as hostess. The program is being arranged by Mrs. J. Sherman McDowell.

The Tea club will meet Tuesday, when an interesting program will be contributed by the members.

"The Comedy of Errors" will be the subject Wednesday for the members of the Critteron club, who will meet with Mrs. W. H. Foster.

The women of the Shakespeare club will devote their attention Wednesday afternoon to the book of Job.

The Original Shakespeare club will meet Wednesday also, with Miss Ruth Van Brunt presiding as hostess.
