Defeat of Improvement Projects Attributed to the Council's Broken Promises

[Special Dispatch to The Call] STOCKTON, Jan. 24.—The proposed bond issue for the expenditure of $507,670.76 for public improvements, involving four different projects, was defeated at the election held here today.

The city council submitted four propositions to the voters. The first was $230,670.76 for street work. It was defeated by a vote of 1,195 to 668.
The second was for $100,000 for the fire department and was defeated 1,038 to 323. The third called for $40,000 for sanitary sewers. It was defeated, 1,127 to 705. The fourth was for $77,000 for rain water sewers and was defeated, 1,170 to 679.

A determined fight was made against the bonds because the city council had failed to call a freholders' charter election, as the members promised when elected six months ago. The chamber of commerce asked the councilmembers to carry out their promise and their refusal caused a lot of ill feeling.
Two of the three newspapers fought the bonds.

WOMAN SAVED HERSELF
BY "DODGING" BULLET

Judge Doubts Story, but Grants
Her a Divorce

When Anita Breslin informed Judge Morgan yesterday that she "dodged" a bullet fired at her by her husband, James Breslin, the judge sat back in his chair with astonishment.

"What?" exclaimed his honor, "do you mean to tell me you moved quicker than a bullet from a pistol and caused it to miss you?"

Yes, Judge, I dodged so quick that the bullet went by me," insisted Mrs.
Breslin. The shooting, she said, occurred after she emerged from a clothes closet. Thinking her husband had left the room she opened the closet door, but immediately the bullet winged its way toward her, and would have hit her but for her "dodge," she said.
Mrs. Breslin, who also testified that her husband chased her around the house with a knife and falsely accused her of preference for a man named Burns, was granted a divorce.

Divorces were granted as follows:
By Judge Sewall—Dora M. Ritter from George Ritter, desertion.
By Judge Van Nostrand—Eugene H. Myers from Freda Myers, desertion; Adeline T. Talbot from William T. Talbot, desertion; William H.
Woland from Alice Woland, cruelty.
By Judge Marsky—Cora Cummings from James A. Cummings, cruelty.
By Judge Stewart—Valerie Lesure from Alfred Lesure, cruelty.
Suits for divorce were begun by:
Georgetta B. Battily against Joseph Battily, desertion.
Winifred Parren against John Parren, cruelty.
Marie Grant against Robert Grant, desertion.

May Be a Theater, Supervisors' Committee Hears

An amendment to the present nickelo-dion ordinance was taken up by the supervisors' police committee yesterday. The amendment makes the law apply not only to picture shows but also to places intermixing vaudeville.
It was alleged that some of the picture show places were trying to pass themselves off as "theaters." Instead of "kinetoscopes"—the word of the ordinance—to evade its provisions.

Rev. J. D. Guthrie of the First Presbyterian church in Washington street near Polk, protested that a nickelodion was about to be opened in Polk street 35 feet from the rear of the church property, the ordinance forbidding them within 100 feet.

Norman Hall, representing the Moving Picture owners' association, also spoke for the amendment and denied that the members of the association were seeking to keep out competition, but merely wanted the law lived up to.
The committee took the bill under advisement. It also considered a bill requiring all vehicles in use after dark to display lights, the law now applying only to automobiles, but took no action.

Order Issued Against Discrim- ination in Favor of Out- side Products

No longer will the specifications for government buildings contain reference to the exclusion of California materials. The fight made by State Mineralogist Aubrey, the home industry leagues of San Francisco and Sacramento, the California development board, the chamber of commerce of San Francisco and the Merchants' association of San Francisco to secure the use of California products in federal buildings erected in this state is well on its way toward victory. An order was issued by former Secretary of the Treasury J. G. Carlisle, which is still in force, which prohibits the supervising architect from including in specifications the designation of the products of any particular quarry or manufacture, or in any way discriminating in favor of one specific make or brand of goods as against similar materials of equal quality.

The enforcement of this rule will work materially to the advantage of California, for now contractors will be at liberty to select California materials for their work on federal buildings.

In discussing the order J. S. Taylor, supervising architect of the treasury department, has written to the Merchants' association in part as follows:
"After the bids on public buildings are accepted the contractors have the right to select samples of material wherever, in their judgment, they can be best obtained, and, if such samples meet the contract requirement, this office approves them, irrespective of the localities from which they were obtained. It is, however, a matter of satisfaction to this office whenever materials are submitted from localities in which structures are to be erected; should contractors for buildings in California, or any adjoining state, submit for approval any material produced in California which meets the contract requirements, it will be very promptly approved."

were charged with having placed ben-

Navigator of Schooner Lakme Admit That Capt. O'Brien
Tried to Help

The misfortunes of the waterlogged steam schooner Lakme were the subject of federal inquiry yesterday before Inspectors Bolles and Bulger, particularly in regard to the attempt at rescue made during the storm off Coos bay by the steamer Watson. The officers of the Lakme had criticized Captain O'Brien of the Watson for not standing by longer during the storm.
But under cross examination they admitted that O'Brien had done all that was possible.

The Lakme, according to the testimony, left Coos bay for San Pedro with a cargo of lumber. Outside the heads, the little vessel ran into a hurricane.
Heavy seas strained its timbers and opened seams, through which the water poured. It arose to 42 inches in the engine room, and extinguished the fires.
The Watson answered the Lakme's signals for help and shot several lines, one of which parted immediately after being made fast. As danger of collision came with darkness, the Watson steamed on.

With the rush of water, the schooner took a list to starboard. To relieve this, the captain ordered that side to be cleared of lumber. Then the entire deckload went over.

The vessel went under her own sail until taken in tow by the steamer Nann Smith.

The witnesses were Captain William Malmgren, Chief Engineer Frank Lukins, Chief Mate H. K. Hanson and Second Mate Johann Johnson. The case was submitted.

Delmas was showing an apartment to a prospective lodger.

Thieves entered the store of Fred J.
Hordholz at Twenty-fourth and Howard streets, through a transom Monday night and stole $71 from a cash till.

Jerome Lewis of 174 Church street

"Oakland, California, Jan. 23, 1911.

"I have spent many years ranching in California, am familiar from experience, with all kinds of California soil, and know just what can be accomplished with the right soil and abundant water for irrigation. Have been looking for a long time for irrigated land, where the rancher has all the conditions in his favor.

"I HAVE FOUND THE LAND, in The Call Colonies, and am moving on to the piece I have purchased.

"The conditions in The Call Colonies are even more favorable than as stated by The San Francisco Call.

"The soil is all that can be desired, the drainage facilities excellent, irrigating water abundant, and sure markets for everything to be raised. Moreover, the country is beautiful, dotted with live oak trees, with magnificent views of the Sutter County Buttes and the Coast and Sierra Nevada ranges in the distance.

"The Call Colonies and surroundings are ideal for a country home, and success is certain for the man who takes advantage of all the conditions. Yours truly,

"C. G. CHAMBERLAIN."

"I Have Found The Land"

You also may be a land seeker, you may be looking for a small tract where the combination of good soil, abundant water and your efforts will result in a prosperous country home, one that will rise in value and always be something you can absolutely depend on; or you may be an investor, confident in California's future, and looking for land which is being developed rapidly and where population is increasing. If you want land, land good enough for The San Francisco Call to approve of, land that will stand the severest investigation, follow the example of C. G. Chamberlain, ex-land seeker, find your land in

The Call Colonies

Located in the Sacramento Valley, two and one-half miles west of Live Oak, Sutter County. On the lines of The Southern Pacific and Northern Electric Railroads. In a section famous for Alfalfa, Peaches, Oranges, Nuts, Figs, Olives, Grapes, Vegetables, Dairy Cows and Hogs. North of the Colonies are the towns of Gridley, Biggs, Chico, Oroville; south, Yuba City, Marysville and Sacramento. All these towns assure good markets, while the satisfactory service of The Southern Pacific and Northern Electric Railways insures quick transportation and a ready outlet for products.

There is more water in the irrigation system of the Butte County Canal Company (supplying The Call Colonies) than in all the irrigation systems of that part of California south of the Tehachapi Mountains. It is one of the few systems with no measure on the water. Water is brought to each farm, the farmer taking as much water as he wants. This water abundance, with the rich soil and unexcelled climate, makes a farming combination not surpassed anywhere in California.

The San Francisco Call

Is selling land in The Call Colonies with approved soil and approved irrigation system, at low prices and on such reasonable terms that the returns from the land should pay for it before the contract period expires and still leave a surplus.
