And Hogan was no wonder at that.
The veterans of the game were agreed that he left his speed and his stamina over at his training quarters. He could not punch as hard as he has punched in other fights and he could not come on with the steam that he should have in his makeup. Still, his training faults should not have counted against him in the ring.

Burns was a bitter disappointment. The best thing he did was to cover up his head with both hands, back around the ring and wait for Hogan to do all the work. Occasionally he opened up, and twice staggered Hogan with lefth hand crosses to the law, but he took a three to one beating from his opponent while it lasted.

The contest was spectacular and interesting as well as disappointing and distressing. Hogan falled to display the dash and the speed which is supposed to be included in his makeup. Burns was great on the coverup and the defense, but as an aspirant for lightweight honors, his stock dropped several points in the opinions of the experts.

SEATTLE, Jan. 27.—C. D. Hillman, the millionaire real estate dealer, was found guilty of contempt of court by United States. District Judge George Denworth today for having sent circulars to the contempt of Denworth today for having sent circulars to men summoned to serve on the jury that will try Hillman Tuesday on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The circulars which many of the jurors received alleged that the prosecution of Hillman by the federal government was part of a scheme of persecution instigated by rival real estate men. Judge Donworth suspended sentence on Hillman pending his trial on the criminal charge and Hillman was permitted to go under bonds of $2.500. The court said that it would not be fair to prejudice Hillman's case next week by sending him to jail now.
