

LIAR'S GOING TO BE BATTLE

Wickersham, Alaska Delegate, Starts Off With Shower of Right Hand Jabs

Mondell of Wyoming Ducks Onslaught and Rushes as Time Is Called by Speaker

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Another bloodless battle was fought on the floor of the house of representatives today. It came during a somewhat heated debate on a bill for the leasing of coal lands in Alaska. The lie was passed, and as the short and ugly word rang out Delegate James Wickersham of Alaska made a rush for Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, who was seated at a nearby desk.

The Alaskan's right arm shot out twice in the direction of the gentleman from Wyoming, but members who surrounded the disputants at the time say that both blows fell short.

Members rushed toward the group from every part of the chamber, and soon there were nearly a hundred men in the crowd of struggling legislators. Meantime, Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania, who was acting as speaker, called upon the sergeant at arms to preserve order by the use of force if necessary.

Members, however, had taken the matter in hand and had succeeded in bringing both Wickersham and Mondell to a cessation of hostilities.

When the room was fairly quiet, Wickersham clamored for recognition. "I want the record to show that I apologize to the house, but (his voice rose to a shout) I also want it to show that I was called a liar."

Representative Olmstead called attention to the fact that the language used by the disputants was clearly unparliamentary and that there should be an apology.

"I do apologize," Wickersham said. "He sat down and Mr. Mondell arose. "My remark was not directed toward the gentleman from Alaska," Mondell said, "and was made in debate, but to a gentleman who stood before me. I realize, however, that I should not have used the word here, or anywhere, for that matter, and I apologize to the house."

During the applause which followed Mondell's statement, Tawney moved that the house adjourn. On a standing vote, the motion apparently was carried, but the speaker, Mr. Wickersham, leaping to his feet, demanded a roll call.

Representatives Madison of Kansas, and Ollie James of Kentucky, both members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee, led the attack against the bill. Wickersham had joined forces with them. Mondell occupied practically all of the time in favor of the bill.

The bill provided for the leasing of coal lands not to exceed 2,500 acres on a royalty basis of from 2 to 10 cents a ton. The debate had been surcharged with acrimony.

MILLER'S CONDITION REMAINS UNCHANGED

OAKLAND, Feb. 23.—The condition of Joaquin Miller, the poet, who is ill at Fabiola hospital, was unchanged today. He is holding his own in his fight with death. Miller passed an easy night and gave signs of vitality today which pleased his physicians and made them hopeful that there was no immediate danger.

Although his daughter, Juanita, is anxious to have him removed to his home on the heights, it is thought advisable to keep him in the hospital for some time longer. He may not be moved for a week at least.

Dr. L. C. Cunningham, who has been in charge of Miller since his removal to the hospital, withdrew from the case today and in future Miller will be under the care of Dr. Esther Sutherland, resident physician at the hospital.

Cunningham said that the services of a surgeon were not required and he could not see that he aided the sick man.

HOME INDUSTRY EXHIBITS JUDGED

District Reports Received by League and Prizes Will Be Awarded to Merchants

Increase in Sales of State Products Follows Campaign of "California Week"

The 11 district judges in the 11 different districts have reported to the Home Industry League the names of the merchants who had the best displays of California made goods in their store windows during the last week. The three deciding judges, consisting of A. C. Rulofson, H. L. Owensby and Hiram G. Vaughn and H. M. Owens, will visit the merchants who had been reported on favorably by the district committees and will then name the winners. The result will be announced early next week, when 273 prizes will be awarded.

The league has received reports from merchants in all parts of the city that the "California week" display has increased the sale of goods made in this state. Not only has the week been a success in this city but throughout the entire state. Letters have been received by the committee of the league from a large number of manufacturers who said that retailers had made big demands on them for more goods.

One of the largest flour manufacturers in this state informed the secretary of the league that its business for last month had been doubled. His letter said that the total business of the last four weeks amounted to $350,000. The increase is attributed to people being urged to buy "made in California" goods.

A meeting will be held at noon today at the Palace hotel. Committees from the various districts will be present to report on their work. The banquet room will be turned into a regular country fair for the day. A large number of manufacturers will exhibit their goods in booths and all the whistles in the business district of the city will shriek at 10 o'clock to advise the people that "California week" for the display of home industry products is still on.

GRAND JURY EXAMINES LAND FRAUD WITNESSES

Udell's Charges Against Lake Are Sifted

OAKLAND, Feb. 23.—A number of witnesses were examined by the grand jury today during the investigation of the charges made by Alva E. Udell that Frederick W. Lake and others have conspired to obtain public lands by fraud.

Most of the witnesses were what Udell says are dummies in Lake's scheme to obtain state-owned lands. It is alleged that they were induced by Lake to make formal application for public lands, and then assign their claims to him. Lake declares that his scheme was perfectly regular.

Udell first made his charges several months ago, but District Attorney Donahue refused to take them up because of lack of sustaining evidence. Udell said he had certain affidavits, which he declined at first to make public. He had obtained them from Lake, who says he tried to hold him up by selling them back to him.

The investigation is being conducted by Assistant District Attorney Hynes.
