

Number of Sports Items in the papers yesterday morning:
 The Call ..... 36
 Chronicle ..... 32
 Examiner ..... 25
 The Call Leads in Sporting News.

ISSUE INCOMPLETE

THE CALL

THE WEATHER
 YESTERDAY—Highest temperature, 44;
 lowest Sunday night, 38.
FORECAST FOR TODAY—Light snow or rain; continued cold, light east wind.

VOLUME CIX.—NO. 90. TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES—SAN FRANCISCO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1911.—PAGES 13 TO 28. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

City's Glorious Past Buried in Resplendent Future

SCENE AT THE BANQUET GIVEN IN THE ST. FRANCIS HOTEL LAST NIGHT IN HONOR OF THE COMMITTEE THAT WENT TO WASHINGTON TO WORK FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR. PHOTO BY GABRIEL MOULIN.

ANOTHER WOMAN WANTS PART OF BALDWIN HOARD

Laura P. Alsip of Illinois Files Petition Alleging She Is Daughter of Horseman

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
 LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Surprising every person connected with the contest for the millions of E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, another claimant, Mrs. Laura P. Alsip, who resides in Illinois, today filed in the probate department of the superior court an instrument in which she asserts that she is the dead turfman's legitimate daughter, and being born August 13, 1848, and being known before her marriage as Miss Laura P. Baldwin.

The new claimant alleges that before 1850 the millionaire horseman was known as William H. Baldwin and that under that name he married one Ophelia Henderson at Chillicothe, O., September 9, 1845. She alleges that she is the issue of that marriage, being born August 13, 1848, and being known before her marriage as Miss Laura P. Baldwin.

Changed Name in 1853
 Baldwin and her mother, she alleges, lived together as man and wife until 1853, when the horseman abandoned his wife and took the name of Elias Jackson Baldwin.

She states that because no provision was made for her in the will of Baldwin, it does not necessarily appear that such an omission was anything other than unintentional.

Mrs. Alsip states that she is elderly and in ill health, and as she lives in Illinois she did not learn of her alleged father's death until January 11, 1910, or of the present proceedings in court to determine the heirs until February 14 of the same year.

Being ignorant of the laws of California, Mrs. Alsip asks the court to grant her three months in which to prepare her claims for proper presentation.

Meantime, through her attorney, Fred W. Fry of Oakland, who made a special trip to Los Angeles in her behalf, she formally contests any order for the distribution of the Baldwin estate, in whole or in part.

Closing Arguments Today
 Closing arguments will be begun tomorrow in the contest for the millions of "Lucky" Baldwin, which has been occupying the attention of the probate department of the superior court since December 12.

The Call's Panama-Pacific International Exposition Site Coupon

The Panama-Pacific International Exposition should be located at Name .....

Address .....

Mail to Exposition Editor
 The Call, San Francisco

See Page 16

ELOPING ACTRESS IN MARRIAGE PLAY

Heroic Daughter of J. Stitt Wilson Answers Problem of Comedy She Is Cast In

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Wishing to answer the question for herself, Miss Viola Barry, playing with the Burbank stock company in "Is Matrimony a Failure," eloped to Santa Ana and became the bride of John Conway, a moving picture actor. Miss Barry is the daughter of J. Stitt Wilson, socialist candidate for governor at the last election, and she formerly resided with her parents in Berkeley.

Conway says that when he proposed, Miss Barry told him that she had made up her mind if ever she should be married to make a runaway match of it. Conway wanted to know why, and he was told "because." And that settled it. The young people went to Santa Ana last Tuesday, where the knot was tied. They returned to Los Angeles and went to keeping house.

"You see," Miss Barry explained, "this play is responsible. I've always been curious. Curiosity has been my besetting sin, and so when I was cast for a part in 'Is Matrimony a Failure' and when Mr. Conway begged me to marry him—yes, he did, and he begged hard, too—I just made up my mind to find out for myself whether it was a failure or not. Now I know it's not a failure. I am very happy."

DAUGHTER, SON AND WIFE ACCUSE HIM

Louis Jensen Charged in Court With Immorality and Gross Misbehavior

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
 REDWOOD CITY, Feb. 27.—Wife, son and foster daughter combined today in charging Louis Jensen, a wealthy cement contractor of Dingee park, with acts of immorality and gross misbehavior during the hearing of the divorce suit brought against him by Mrs. Wilhelmina Jensen.

So sensational were the charges and so bitter the animosity displayed that Judge Buck severely reprimanded the son, Harry W. Jensen, and the foster daughter, Miss Irene Kohler, the former for his denunciations of his father, and the latter for laughing at Jensen in court. The charges were cruelly and indignantly, among the specific accusations being that Jensen's attitude toward his foster daughter was highly improper.

"At various times," said Miss Kohler, "Jensen tried to put his arm around me, and one morning he even dared to come into my room and pinch my cheeks. I ordered him to leave and after a little while he did so. On another occasion I returned home late one evening and found Jensen asleep in my room. I ordered him out, but he refused to go, and ultimately I went to sleep in Mrs. Jensen's room."

Harry Jensen, the son, declared from the stand that his father "was useless and not fit for anything." The young man lost his temper in giving his testimony and spoke in such a disrespectful manner that Judge Buck reprimanded him.

"No man," said the court, "has a right to use such language in speaking of his parent. I consider it highly improper."

Jensen denied the allegations flatly. His wife had charged that he was suffering from the effects of a dissipated life, and he produced Dr. H. W. Taggart, who testified that he had examined Jensen a short time ago and found him in good physical condition. While Jensen was on the stand denying the allegations Miss Kohler began to smile broadly. So pronounced became her merriment that Judge Buck checked it publicly.

"Young lady," he said, "this is no nickelodeon. While I like to see young people smile and be happy, this is no place for such an exhibition. If you find it necessary to smile you must step outside."

Jensen's attorneys did not argue the case. Judge Buck took it under advisement.

ERRING HERING IS SUBJECT OF SUIT

Former Wife of Indiana Politician Sues Present Incumbent for Alienation

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
 SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 27.—For the alleged alienation of the affections of Frank E. Hering, former national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles and democratic politician, Mrs. Clarabelle Orton Hering, his wife, has been sued for $50,000 by Mrs. Florence M. Hering, who was wife No. 1.

The complaint, filed in the St. Joseph circuit court here today, charges that the defendant broke up the plaintiff's home and then married Hering herself. Hering was democratic candidate for lieutenant governor of Indiana several years ago, and has just retired as head of the national order of Eagles. The troubles of the Herings have furnished sensation after sensation in this place. Hering married soon after coming here from Notre Dame, where he had been teaching. Discord first began to creep into his home when he took up the fraternal work. He gave his wife's attention to this, and it took him away from home on more or less long trips.

Many rumors began to be circulated about the Herings, and it finally became public talk that Mrs. Hering was much displeased with her husband's conduct, and the next thing the friends of the Herings knew, Mrs. Hering had filed a suit for divorce against her husband.

The trial caused a sensation when Mrs. Hering made charges of infidelity and testified that he had been paying attention to another woman. Hering did not make much of a defense, and the decree was duly granted to the wife.

The circles in which they moved were given a fresh thrill in a short time when Hering married Miss Orton, the woman whom the first Mrs. Hering had accused of being at the bottom of her trouble. From time to time since Hering's second marriage reports have been in circulation that the present action would be taken but it was not until today that the suit materialized.

Hering was in Indianapolis tonight, and entertained about 20 members of the legislature at a dinner at the Denison hotel in honor of Theodore A. Bell of California, a former congressman.

SHASTA LIMITED SCENE OF MYSTERIOUS DIAMOND THEFT

[Special Dispatch to The Call]
 PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 27.—Diamonds worth $300 were stolen from a Pullman sleeping car in the Shasta Limited, at or near this city on February 24. The loss came to light today, when the Pullman officials requested Captain of Detectives Moore to have his men but a short time and is confident that it was within this period that his valuables were taken. He announced the loss to the train officials.

INVITATION CARDS GO WITH A RUSH

4,000,000,000 Printed, but Will Not Be Enough for Fair Boosters

Another installment of the "California invitation day" postcards was distributed yesterday. Every business house, hotel and other places where people congregate were, or will be, supplied with a sufficient number of cards for everyone. The railroad offices have received them in sets and all that is necessary to get the cards is to inquire at any railroad office.

Demand for the cards made yesterday indicated that the idea of the advertising department of the Southern Pacific had caught on. Although 4,000,000,000 of the cards have been printed, there is doubt if the demand will not exceed the supply. About 20 San Francisco scenes are being distributed in this city.

In other cities and counties the railroad is distributing different views. Tomorrow is the day that everyone in the state is expected to mail a card to a friend or relative. On the part of the postal that is set aside for writing is a personal invitation to visit California. Provision is made for the signature of the sender. The invitation announces special low rates between March 16 and April 10 with the idea that persons who contemplate a visit here will take advantage of these low rates.

Among the scenes of this city that are being distributed on the cards are: Water front, Chinatown, the reconstructed part of the business district, Market street views, the St. Francis and Palace hotels, Cliff house, beach, flower vendors, Golden gate, boats, crossing the bay, Golden Gate park, bandstand, Union square, ferry building and other places of interest. The cards are being given away to all who will send them to a friend. The railroad is contemplating putting a clerk in each ticket office who will address the cards.

SCRATCH CAUSES DOCTOR'S DEATH

W. A. Whitlock Sustained Slight Hurt While Operating on Patient

Dr. W. A. Whitlock of Ukiah died at St. Winifred's hospital early Sunday morning from a cerebral disease which developed from an infection contracted while performing an operation four months ago. Doctor Whitlock was taken ill last October soon after he had operated on a patient at St. Winifred's hospital. His physicians decided that the illness was due to an infection received when he had scratched his cheek during the operation. Erysipelas developed from which Doctor Whitlock recovered in a short time. He returned to Ukiah and resumed his practice in that city. Two weeks ago Doctor Whitlock complained of severe headaches and suffered recurring attacks. He was sent from Ukiah to the Miles hotel in this city a week ago, where his daughter, Ola, a trained nurse, attended him.

The physician's case developed such alarming features soon after his arrival in San Francisco that his son, Dr. W. A. Whitlock Jr., was summoned from Salt Lake City to take charge. Doctor Whitlock remained in a semiconscious condition until his death Sunday morning.

Doctor Whitlock was 53 years old and was born in Arkansas. He came to Ukiah many years ago and was well known in medical circles throughout the northern part of the state for 26 years. At the time of the fire in 1906 Doctor Whitlock was in charge of a medical corps stationed in the Precita park district.

He is survived by two sons, Dr. W. A. Whitlock and Rial A. Whitlock of Vancouver, and three daughters—Mrs. F. L. Staker of Butte, Mont.; Mrs. C. M. Mooney of Blue Lake, Cal., and Miss Ola Whitlock.

FAVORITE SONS BLOW REVEILLE FOR NEW CITY

In Colonial Ballroom of the St. Francis Exposition Bugle Is Sounded

Distinguished Gathering Listens to Story of San Francisco's Great Battle for Fair

A PAGE was turned last night in the great book in which is set down the history of the metropolis of the west. A past was glorified in cheers and speech, and then consigned to oblivion. In its place a future was born. San Francisco waded a kiss of fondest remembrance to the days just gone. Then it rolled up its sleeves and declared itself ready for work.

Last night San Francisco rejoiced in the full realization of triumph and victory. This morning San Francisco will begin to lay bricks. In the colonial ballroom of the St. Francis hotel 500 loyal citizens of California sounded the final note last night in celebration of the winning of the Panama-Pacific international exposition. This morning those 500, and several additional thousands, will set themselves to the task of making that exposition a reality.

At a long table across the head of the great banquet room there were seated last night 25 men. They represented, and formed the majority of the delegation of veteran volunteers who won the battle in the halls of congress and carried off the prize that has added lustre to the glory of San Francisco and added to its designation as "The Golden Gate City," the special rank of "Exposition City."

Determination the Keynote
 The 25 at the raised table were the guests of honor. At smaller tables throughout the room were seated 500 other San Franciscans, there to do them honor. Over the heads of the 25 glowed a great electric sign, spelling out "California." At the base of the balconies around the room the incandescent formed a continuation of the sentiment that this first word embodied—the sentiment that for the next four years will speak to every nation of the globe—"California Invites the