CAST IS CAPABLE

The capacity of Benson for variety in makeup and characterization is remarkable. Howard Hickman's Star Skinner was a realization of the country youth, Charles Gunn was the bar-tender, and the other cast members played Rome Preston with glib amiability, and A. Burt Wesner was a scintillating, puffing villain in the part of the village lawyer.

TAFT PLACIDLY DEFIES POLICY WITH MEXICO

Any Rupture With the Diaz Government Must Start Across Border

President Anxious to Preserve Friendly Relations With Sister Republic

The following dispatch, sent out by the Associated Press last night, undoubtedly may be regarded as having been inspired by the White House and as accurately indicating the policy and motives of the administration:

Washington, March 21.—The Mexican situation cleared considerably today. The attitude of the United States government has been made plain, and there need be no longer any doubt, it was said by administration officials, regarding the president's policy.

Mr. Taft has announced that he will do everything possible to maintain friendly relations between this country and Mexico. Any rupture must come as the result of some overt act on Mexican soil.

The United States has no desire to interfere in the internal affairs of Mexico, and President Taft will not recommend any such interference to congress unless circumstances permit of no other possible course.

The American troops were sent to Texas as a preparation for any emergency on the strength of reports that conditions in Mexico were approaching such a crisis that at any time might threaten American lives and property.

CONGRESS MUST CONCUR

There will be no move toward the Mexican border unless outrages so flagrant as to call for the presence of a protecting force occur. Even then, President Taft would not think of acting without the consent of congress.

The limitations upon the power of the president to commit an act that might be interpreted as an act of war so well defined that Taft has been amazed at any suggestion as to what he proposed to do with the army after it was mobilized.

How long the troops will remain in Texas depends on the developments. The United States government has determined to give President Diaz every chance to restore order. President Taft has determined that this government shall fulfill its international obligations in stopping the smuggling of arms and ammunition across the border.

TROOPS TO ENFORCE LAWS

The enforcement of the neutrality laws called for the presence of many American troops, and was one of the causes of the recent army movements.

Mexico has made no protest against the presence of troops in Texas. Such a protest would have been regarded as a challenge, inasmuch as the troops are on American soil and must remain on American soil until congress shall otherwise direct.

SAME AS FLEET TRIP

In a way the sending of troops to Texas will give to the army instruction and experience similar to that which came to the navy as a result of the cruise of the battleship fleet around the world.

President Taft hopes the sending of the army to Texas will prove to have been a peace movement. He told several members of the White House that he ought to be the last person in the world to be suspected of jingoism—that nothing was further from his mind.

TAFT PEACE PROPOSAL BRINGS FRENCH REPLY

Ambassador Jusserand Confers With President

PARIS, March 21.—Conversations have been held between President Taft and M. Jusserand, French ambassador at Washington, representing a comprehensive agreement for arbitration between the United States and France.

Up to Senate

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The conversations referred to in the Paris dispatch are among many which President Taft has had with representatives of foreign powers, as a result of his speech last December at the banquet of the American society for the judicial settlement of international disputes.

More definite arrangements have been made to draft a treaty, either with France or with Great Britain, as the president will not move until he is apprised of the probable reception of such measures by the senate.

It was as a jury lawyer that Dunne forced himself to the fore among the members of the legal profession in this city. He made the leading argument of involved legal problems has brought him national recognition.

Among the cases in which Dunne has taken a leading part have been many involving constitutional questions as well as those growing out of private litigation. He made the leading argument for the defense in the case of the United States against the Oregon and grants, and also argued the Shogren case, the switching case, the orange growers in behalf of the railroad.

As special attorney general for the federal government, Dunne secured a conviction in the famous Dimmick case, involving a $20,000 theft from the local mint, after two mistrials had been had. He also was offered employment by the government in the land fraud case, but declined to take up this work.

EGG DEALERS WANT FISHER MODIFIES BALLINGER'S ORDER TO FIX THE PRICES

Members of Exchange Disagree as to Methods and Several of Them Resign

competition naturally tends to boost the price that is paid to the producer, an arrangement that is satisfactory to owners of hens. If not to speculators in foodstuffs.

Some of the big concerns thought they saw an opportunity to effect a change in conditions by revising the bylaws of the exchange. As things stand, the quotations are established daily by actual sales on the floor of the exchange, and the price paid in the closing transaction under the call is generally made the official quotation.

The members met for a general discussion of the proposed change Saturday morning, and after a stormy session the board of directors was instructed to draft the necessary changes in the bylaws. President Rousell, who, by virtue of his office, is a member of the board of directors, was against instructing the board to take such a step.

"Instead of ordering us to make this change," said Rousell, "recommend to the board that the matter be considered so that its legality may be determined." The majority, however, was against this course. Rousell thereupon notified the members that he would resign. Director Luhnmann's resignation followed a few days later.

President Rousell explained his attitude yesterday. He said: "I tendered my resignation as president and director because I would not abide by the proposition of being dictated to by the membership at large in respect to an action that in my judgment would not be legal. I and many other members of the exchange doubt whether a market established in the manner suggested would be a true one and one that could not be assailed under the statutes of the state."

"The exchange has been effective in maintaining the status of the local dairy produce trade on a broad, fair basis, and I would not like to see any of its work undone by ill advised action at this time."

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Secretary Fisher of the interior department today granted the request of the San Francisco authorities that the city be granted six months' time, till December 1, to show why the Hetch Hetchy portion of its Sierra water supply grants should not be abrogated.

"We will be able to present to Secretary Fisher the only absolute data which have ever been secured as to the rainfall and run off in the Hetch Hetchy valley itself, by reason of this extension of time," said City Engineer Mason yesterday.

"During the fall and winter the city has had two men gauging snowfall and the rainfall over the whole area for our own guidance, and in accordance with Ballinger's requirements. The date hitherto presented by all parties has been from observations made below at La Grande and deductions therefrom. The city will next fall be able to furnish Secretary Fisher exact scientific facts for over a year of observation on the ground."

"Upon City Attorney Long's contemplated journey to Washington, I believe, it is proposed to call to Secretary Fisher's attention the injustice of the requirement upon the city contained in the Ballinger order. The fact that the city has already expended over $500,000 in carrying out the federal government's conditions in the original Hetch Hetchy grants, including $13,000 paid into the federal treasury itself for timber, will be urged as reason for preserving to the city its full rights both to Lake Eleanor and Hetch Hetchy."

"We will, within the next 50 days, expend $35,000 more in purchasing private holdings—the Cherry creek, Ham Hall, claims—to solidify our watershed areas and reinforce the main supply, just as we have expended several hundred thousands in buying up private holdings for exchange with the government itself."
